Foreword

Overview

The aim of this book is to present a compilation of the Bible's teachings in a clear and readable order, using the Bible itself – i.e. verses taken from the Bible. The structure provides a practical framework for assimilating the Bible's teachings. Volume I: What to Know covers basically the same themes as a theological text. Volume II: What to Do is more like a manual or a "practical theology" text – mainly giving directions on how to relate to God and to other people.

Each chapter is divided into two parts. Both of these parts contain major headings, which in turn contain groups of subheadings. Each subheading states a teaching derived from the common theme of the verses that follow it. (Thus the subheadings are based on the verses, rather than the verses being selected to support the subheadings.) The parts of the verses that the subheadings reflect are in italics. Many of the verses are followed by a comment, which are indented.

The Selection and Order of Verses

Rather than including all pertinent verses under each subheading, if two or more verses say something using the same or very similar wording, often only one has been used.

Under the subheadings, the verses (or passages) have been ordered according to content, with biblical order being a secondary consideration. This has been done to attempt to produce a smoother flow of thought from verse to verse.

The listing of verses under some subheadings begin with a verse/s that is right on the subheading's theme, followed by others that expand on the theme. Often where subheadings contain a command or instruction, the initial verses contain comparable instructions – with latter verses containing examples of people following the instructions or outcomes of following or not following the instructions.

Contemplating Verses

Much care has been taken to interpret the verses both in the context of the passage that they are from and in the light of Scripture as a whole. Nevertheless, if you have doubts about the usage of a verse then:

- read the section in the Bible from which it is taken, and consider how it is used in its context.
- consider how the verse fits in with Scripture as a whole. (For example, interpret OT teaching in the light of NT teaching.)
- read commentaries on the verse and its passage.

Symbols

The symbol ¶ denotes an additional point. It occurs at the end of some subsections, where it introduces the last verse or passage. An additional point introduced by the symbol will have a closely related theme to that of the subsection that it and the accompanying verse are "tacked on to".

Thick arrows pointing up or down occur in some cross references and comments, e.g. Ex 40:38 ↑; Ex 13:21 ↓. These indicate that the verse or passage has been included in the previous subsection or the following subsection.

Thin arrows pointing up or down occur in some comments, e.g. Ex 24:9-11 ↑; Ex 6:3 ↓. These indicate that the verse or passage has been included above or below, in the same subsection as where they are used.

Occasionally ". . ." appears at the end of a subheading and at the beginning of the following one. This indicates that the teaching in the second subheading's verses follows on closely from that of the first. (Likewise when a subheading begins with a phrase or word like "As such" or "Thus", the implication is that its teaching follows on closely from that of the previous one.) In such cases the reader may at times find it beneficial to first reread the preceding subheading.

Abbreviations

Abbreviations in comments denoting quotations from Bible translations other than the English Standard Version are identified on the copyright notices page, at the beginning of this book.

Abbreviations for books of the Bible are standard ones. "OT" is used for "Old Testament" and "NT" for "New Testament".

Where a comment was notably influenced by a particular commentary or study bible, the source is acknowledged with an abbreviation. (Further publication details for each of these are available in the Bibliography, along with other books that have influenced the author.) These abbreviations are:

- BBC = Believer's Bible Commentary
- BKC = The Bible Knowledge Commentary
- ESB = ESV Study Bible
- NBC = New Bible Commentary
- NEL = The Nelson Study Bible
- NSB = NIV Study Bible
- ZBC = Zondervan NIV Bible Commentary

Endorsements

Note that some of the following endorsements are for The Bible Unpacked series in general or for editions other than this one.

The author has done a great job in collecting and arranging texts under doctrinal and practical headings.

Dr Paul Barnett, Bishop and noted author

I highly recommend The Bible Unpacked for its use both in evangelism and helping people grow in their Christian faith.

Dr Peter Ralphs, Former Principal of Bible College of Queensland

Paul Mallison has compiled an excellent resource for the seeker through to mature Christians.

Glyn Henman, CEO of Young Life Australia

I am a big fan of the Intermediate level one. I carry it everywhere with me.

Gary Irvine, YWAM Leader

About the Author

Paul Mallison has a BA Dip Ed from Macquarie University, Sydney. He has spent most of his working life teaching students from a cross section of ages and backgrounds. In his work he has composed numerous teaching materials.

Paul is a son of best-selling Australian author and international educator, the late Rev. Dr John Mallison. He is credited with extensive work on the final draft of the last two of his father's 20 published books.

He considers the theology of his The Bible Unpacked material to be "evangelical". As for a statement of faith, he adheres to the Apostle's Creed.

Paul lives in Sydney, Australia.

Paul wishes to thank the publishers of the ESV for their generosity in allowing such a large number of verses from the ESV to be used in this In-Depth Edition.

Navigating This File

General

In this file almost all instances of colored text are hyperlinks.

If using Adobe Reader, to ensure that the target of a hyperlink will always be displayed at the top of the screen, from the View menu select Page Display and then Enable Scrolling – or Two Page Scrolling. (Note that this file may not display correctly if it is opened in Preview, an Apple program.)

After clicking a hyperlink, to return to it, use Alt + ← (i.e. hold down the Alt key and press the left arrow key). On an Apple computer use Command + ←. If the focus has since moved to another page in the meantime, you will need to do this more than once.

The Quick Navigation Page is located at the end of the file. It has hyperlinks to:

- each of the book's 8 units and all the chapters;
- each of the 8 units' listings in Major Headings;
- each chapter's listing in All Headings;
- each book of the Bible in the Scripture Index;
- each letter in the Subject Index; and
- the main headings in the introduction and reference sections.

The bottom of most pages have hyperlinks to the main sections of the Quick Navigation Page, as per the following:

A – B – C – D – E – F – G – H – OT – NT – Subj

Hyperlinks in Contents

In addition to the Contents near the start, there is a contents at the beginning of both each chapter and each group of chapters (i.e. the eight units). Each heading listed in a contents is a hyperlink to the heading.

Each chapter is divided into two parts, which in turn contain major sections. Under each major section there is a list of hyperlinks to the subheadings that follow (effectively a contents). These lists enable users to see what lies ahead, as well as to jump directly to any subheading.

Hyperlinks to the ESV Bible Website

To enable quick checking of a passage's biblical context, the reference at the start of a passage is a hyperlink to the first verse in the passage in its chapter on the ESV Bible website.

(If your web browser is not already open, allow a few extra seconds for the website to appear.)

If a security warning appears asking whether you trust the website, ensure Remember this action for this site for all PDF documents is checked and then click Allow. If you are using Adobe Reader and it will not allow you access, click the Edit menu (Windows) or the Reader menu (Mac OS), and then click Preferences. In the subsequent dialog box, click Trust Manager on the left and then click the Change Settings button. This will open a dialog box that will enable you to allow access to the website.

Users should note the generosity of the publishers of the ESV, in allowing such a large number of verses from the ESV to be used in this In-Depth Edition.

Hyperlinks in Headers and Footers

Each chapter is divided into two halves or parts. The headers in the main text have the name of the chapter and the name of the chapter part on alternate pages. The chapter names are hyperlinks to the corresponding chapter names in the Major Headings list. And the chapter part names are hyperlinks to the corresponding names in the All Headings list.

At the start of footers in the main text is an arrow (↗). This links to the start of the second column on the page, to allow mobile users to easily move there.

The footers also have hyperlinks to the main sections of the Quick Navigation Page (as referred to above).

Hyperlinked Indexes

There is both a Scripture Index and a Subject Index. Each of these contains hyperlinks to the verses and topics listed.

Following each verse or passage in the text is the symbol . Clicking it will take the user to the entry for the verse or passage in the Scripture Index. From there the user can navigate to other occurrences of the verse / passage in the text.

Hyperlinked Headings and Lists of Headings

There are two lists of the headings in the main text – Major Headings and All Headings. The first contains the major headings in each chapter and the second contains all headings including every subheading. All the headings in these lists are hyperlinks to the corresponding headings in the text.

Conversely, all the headings in the text are also hyperlinks to the corresponding headings in the All Headings list. This allows users to quickly view the headings within a chapter, enabling them to see what headings lay ahead or to see the context of a heading that they have arrived at by clicking on a cross-reference hyperlink.

Additionally, there are also links between key corresponding headings in the Major Headings and All Headings lists – indicated by upward and downward pointing triangles (△, ▽).

Bookmarks

Depending on the readers device, this file should open with a bookmark pane. If using Adobe Reader on a computer, it can be displayed by pressing F4 or selecting from the View menu: Show/Hide > Navigation Panes > Bookmarks.

Clicking on a bookmark will navigate to and display the corresponding heading in the document.

Adobe Reader View Options

Bear in mind the options available through the Adobe Reader View menu's Zoom submenu, notably the options: Actual Size (Ctrl + 1), Fit Width (Ctrl + 2) and Fit Width (Ctrl + 3). These can also be added to the toolbar by selecting from the View menu: Show/Hide, Toolbar Items, Show Select & Zoom Tools and then clicking the appropriate option.

By using shortcut keys or the submenus under Show/Hide, the user can get extra space for viewing the document by hiding objects on the Adobe Reader screen. The user can hide (and later show) the Menu Bar (F9), Toolbars (F8) and/or the Navigation Pane (F4).

I. Basics

The concepts in the first half of this chapter are fundamental to understanding what God is like, as they concern basic attributes of his being. These include attributes which show God to be very different to us, but also attributes which indicate that he is like us in that he is a personal being.

a) God's Form

See also:

- God's glory is an integral aspect of God's presence, p. 14

Subsections

- God is one
- God is spirit
- God cannot be seen by people . . .
- . . . In some sense, God is said to have been "seen"
- God is everywhere, not just in temples
- Visions of God
- God's presence has been manifested in a cloud
- God's presence has been manifested with fire
- Note: God primarily dwells in heaven . . .
- . . . God's temple is in heaven

God is one

See also:

- a) The LORD Is God – the Only God, p. 246

In teaching that God is one, the Bible indicates that God is a single entity or being.

Deut 6:4 Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one.^a

^a Or The LORD our God is one LORD; or The LORD is our God, the LORD is one; or The LORD is our God, the LORD alone

Mark 12:29, 32 Jesus answered, "The most important is, 'Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one.' ...³²And the scribe said to him, "You are right, Teacher. You have truly said that he is one, and there is no other besides him."

Rom 3:29-30 Or is God the God of Jews only? Is he not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also,³⁰since God is one—who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith.

Gal 3:20 Now an intermediary implies more than one, but God is one.

James 2:19 You believe that God is one; you do well. Even the demons believe—and shudder!

God is spirit

God's nature is spirit; he is a spiritual being. So God is not a physical being, in contrast to people and particularly to idols.

John 4:24 God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth.

Isa 31:3a The Egyptians are man, and not God, and their horses are flesh, and not spirit.

The parallel phrases "man, and not God" and "flesh, and not spirit" imply that, in contrast to men, God is spirit.

Job 10:4 Have you eyes of flesh? Do you see as man sees?

The direct implication here is that God does not have eyes of flesh. This points to the fact that God as a whole is not flesh – he is spirit.

Ps 139:7 Where shall I go from your Spirit? Or where shall I flee from your presence?

The correlation of "your presence" with "your Spirit" (cf. Ps 51:11) – or "your spirit" (NLT, NRSV) – arguably points to God being spirit.

‡ God is not a metal or stone image made by man:

Acts 17:29 Being then God's offspring, we ought not to think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of man.

God cannot be seen by people . . .

Deut 4:12, 15 Then the LORD spoke to you out of the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of words, but saw no form; there was only a voice.  ...¹⁵"Therefore watch yourselves very carefully. Since you saw no form on the day that the LORD spoke to you at Horeb out of the midst of the fire, ...

God has no physical, observable form.

Job 9:11 Behold, he passes by me, and I see him not; he moves on, but I do not perceive him. 📖

Matt 6:6 But when you pray, go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father who is in secret. And your Father who sees in secret will reward you. 📖

One implication of God being “in secret” is that he is “unseen” (GNT, NIV).

John 1:18 No one has ever seen God; the only God,^b who is at the Father’s side,^c he has made him known. 📖

^b Or the only One, who is God; some manuscripts the only Son

^c Greek in the bosom of the Father

1 John 4:12a also states: “No one has ever seen God...”

John 5:37 And the Father who sent me has himself borne witness about me. His voice you have never heard, his form you have never seen, ... 📖

In saying that they had never seen God’s form, Jesus may well have been meaning that like all people they had not “seen him face to face” (CEV, NLT; cf. GNT). As such it is pertinent to this subsection. But given the context, the second part of this verse may be referring more to the Jews’ lack of spiritual perception (cf. AMP), in particular in the face of God’s revelation through Jesus.

John 6:46 ... not that anyone has seen the Father except he who is from God; he has seen the Father. 📖

Col 1:15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation. 📖

1Tim 6:15-16a ... which he will display at the proper time—he who is the blessed and only Sovereign, the King of kings and Lord of lords, ¹⁶who alone has immortality, who dwells in unapproachable light, whom no one has ever seen or can see. 📖

... In some sense, God is said to have been “seen”

See also:

- Visions of God, p. 9
- God’s glory manifests his presence . . ., p. 15
- ... God’s glory is spoken of as manifesting his presence in his temples, p. 16

Gen 16:13 So she called the name of the LORD who spoke to her, “You are a God of seeing,”^d for she said, “Truly here I have seen him who looks after me.”^e 📖

^d Or You are a God who sees me

^e Hebrew Have I really seen him here who sees me? or Would I have looked here for the one who sees me?

Verse 11 indicates that it was “the angel of the LORD” who spoke here to Hagar, rather than necessarily God himself. (Regarding the relationship to God of “the angel of the LORD”, see the comment below on Judg 6:22-23.) The rendering in the text note provides a further possible meaning.

Gen 32:30 So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel,^f saying, “For I have seen God face to face, and yet my life has been delivered.” 📖

^f Peniel means the face of God

Verses 24-30 appear to speak of Jacob encountering a manifestation of God, possibly in the form of an angel.

Ex 24:9-11 Then Moses and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel went up, ¹⁰and they saw the God of Israel. There was under his feet as it were a pavement of sapphire stone, like the very heaven for clearness. ¹¹And he did not lay his hand on the chief men of the people of Israel; they beheld God, and ate and drank. 📖

The fact that the description of what they saw of God is restricted merely to what was under his feet, arguably suggests that they did not see the whole of God.

Ex 33:11, 20 Thus the LORD used to speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. When Moses turned again into the camp, his assistant Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, would not depart from the tent. 📖 ... ²⁰But, he said, “you cannot see my face, for man shall not see me and live.” 📖

The phrase “face to face” (v. 11) may be a figure of speech emphasizing the directness and clarity of God’s communication with Moses. This is supported by v. 20, with God saying to Moses “you cannot see my face” (and v. 23 – “my face shall not be seen”). Note that like v. 20 there are other verses that refer to seeing God resulting in death (cf. Gen 32:30 ↑; Ex 24:9-11 ↑; Judg 6:22-23 ↓; Judg 13:21-22 ↓; Ex 19:21; 1Sam 6:19-20; Isa 6:5-7). Sinful, unworthy people cannot look upon the holy, almighty God and live.

Num 12:7-8 Not so with my servant Moses. He is faithful in all my house. ⁸*With him I speak mouth to mouth*, clearly, and not in riddles, and he beholds the form of the LORD. Why then were you not afraid to speak against my servant Moses? 📖

The phrase “mouth to mouth” (v. 8) is often translated “face to face”. Note that Moses is said to behold – or see (cf. GNT, NCV, NIRV, NIV, NKJV, NLT) – God’s “form”, which quite likely implies that he did not: see God in all his fullness; or necessarily see God's face (cf. Ex 3:20 ↑).

Judg 6:22-23 Then Gideon perceived that he was the angel of the LORD. And Gideon said, "Alas, O Lord GOD! For now I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face."²³ But the LORD said to him, "Peace be to you. Do not fear; you shall not die."

Here and in 13:21-22 immediately below, it is the angel of the LORD who is seen. Although he is correlated with God (v. 23), possibly this is only in the sense that he is speaking on behalf of God (cf. Note: "The angel of the LORD" is identified with God, p. 172).

Judg 13:21-22 The angel of the LORD appeared no more to Manoah and to his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of the LORD.²² And Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, for we have seen God."

Heb 11:27 By faith he left Egypt, not being afraid of the anger of the king, for he endured as seeing him who is invisible.

This may allude back to the expression earlier in Hebrews 11 of being "the conviction of things not seen" (v. 1), possibly meaning that Moses persevered "as if he could see" God (NCV; cf. GNT). Alternatively it may refer to Moses' encounter with God at the burning bush and his ongoing close communication with God (cf. Ex 3:11, 20 ↑; Num 12:7-8 ↑).

✦ The LORD's visible appearance to Abraham, conversing with him:

Gen 18:1-2, 13-14, 25-26 And the LORD appeared to him by the oaks^g of Mamre, as he sat at the door of his tent in the heat of the day.² He lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, three men were standing in front of him. When he saw them, he ran from the tent door to meet them and bowed himself to the earth  ...¹³ The LORD said to Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh and say, 'Shall I indeed bear a child, now that I am old?'¹⁴ Is anything too hard^h for the LORD? At the appointed time I will return to you, about this time next year, and Sarah shall have a son."  ...²⁵ [Abraham:] Far be it from you to do such a thing, to put the righteous to death with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?"²⁶ And the LORD said, "If I find at Sodom fifty righteous in the city, I will spare the whole place for their sake."

^h Or wonderful

As well as the use of the title "the LORD", the content of the conversation suggests that this was an appearance of the LORD. Many commentators consider that this was quite likely the angel of the LORD.

God is everywhere, not just in temples

▪ a\) God Is Always with His People, p. 802

Ps 139:5-10 You hem me in, behind and before, and lay your hand upon me. ⁶Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high; I cannot attain it. ⁷Where shall I go from your Spirit? Or where shall I flee from your presence? ⁸If I ascend to heaven, you are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there! ⁹If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, ¹⁰even there your hand shall lead me, and your right hand shall hold me.

Prov 15:3 The eyes of the LORD are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good.

Jer 23:23-24 Am I a God at hand, declares the LORD, and not a God far away? ²⁴Can a man hide himself in secret places so that I cannot see him? declares the LORD. Do I not fill heaven and earth? declares the LORD.

Num 14:21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, ...

God's glory is often linked with his presence, and as such the sense of the latter part of the verse may be: "...my presence fills the earth" (GNT). With the future tense of the verse as it here (cf. AMP, NASB, NKJV, NRSV), the meaning may be that God's glory and presence will become clearly manifested throughout the earth.

1Ki 8:27 But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain you; how much less this house that I have built!

Acts 7:48-50 Yet the Most High does not dwell in houses made by hands, as the prophet says,⁴⁹ "Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. What kind of house will you build for me, says the Lord, or what is the place of my rest?"⁵⁰ Did not my hand make all these things?

The first statement in v. 49 speaks of God being present in and even throughout heaven and earth – as opposed to merely within temples (vv. 48, 49b). Note that the fact that God has made all things (v. 50) points to the absurdity of any notion of him being confined to a building (cf. Acts 17:24 ↓).

Acts 17:24 The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man,ⁱ ...

ⁱ Greek made by hands

Acts 17:27-28 ... that they should seek God, in the hope that they might feel their way toward him and find him. Yet he is actually not far from each one of us, ²⁸for “In him we live and move and have our being”;^j as even some of your own poets have said, “For we are indeed his offspring.”^k

^j Probably from Epimenides of Crete

^k From Aratus’s poem “Phainomena”

Following his assertion that God “he is actually not far from each one of us” (v. 27b), in v. 28a Paul appears to be quoting the Cretan poet Epimenides to illustrate that our existence and its continuation are dependent on God enveloping us.

Eph 4:6 ... one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

Here “all” may well be speaking of all things (cf. NCV) – making the verse particularly pertinent to this subsection. However it may instead primarily be speaking of all believers.

Visions of God

Isa 6:1-4 In the year that King Uzziah died I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up; and the train¹ of his robe filled the temple. ²*Above him stood the seraphim. Each had six wings: with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew.* ³*And one called to another and said: “Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!”^m* ⁴*And the foundations of the thresholds shook at the voice of him who called, and the house was filled with smoke.*

^m Or may his glory fill the whole earth

The “seraphim” (v. 2) are apparently a high order or class of angelic beings. Their presence and activity (vv. 2-4) accentuates God’s glory.

Ezek 1:26-28 And above the expanse over their heads there was the likeness of a throne, in appearance like sapphire;ⁿ and seated above the likeness of a throne was a likeness with a human appearance. ²⁷*And upward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were gleaming metal, like the appearance of fire enclosed all around. And downward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and there was brightness around him.^o* ²⁸*Like the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud on the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness all around. Such was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD.* And when I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard the voice of one speaking.

ⁿ Or lapis lazuli

^o Or it

God is described in like-terms in 8:2 as part of another vision of God – “Then I looked, and behold, a form that had the appearance of a man. Below what appeared to be his waist was fire, and above his waist was something like the appearance of brightness, like gleaming metal.”

Ezek 43:1-3 Then he led me to the gate, the gate facing east. ²*And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was coming from the east. And the sound of his coming was like the sound of many waters, and the earth shone with his glory.* ³*And the vision I saw was just like the vision that I had seen when he^p came to destroy the city, and just like the vision that I had seen by the Chebar canal. And I fell on my face.*

The other visions referred to are in chs. 8-11 and chs. 1-3 (cf. Ezek 1:26-28 ) respectively.

Dan 7:9-10 As I looked, thrones were placed, and the Ancient of Days took his seat; his clothing was white as snow, and the hair of his head like pure wool; his throne was fiery flames; its wheels were burning fire. ¹⁰*A stream of fire issued and came out from before him; a thousand thousands served him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him; the court sat in judgment, and the books were opened.*

Rev 4:2-5 At once I was in the Spirit, and behold, a throne stood in heaven, with one seated on the throne. ³*And he who sat there had the appearance of jasper and carnelian, and around the throne was a rainbow that had the appearance of an emerald.* ⁴*Around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and seated on the thrones were twenty-four elders, clothed in white garments, with golden crowns on their heads.* ⁵*From the throne came flashes of lightning, and rumblings^q and peals of thunder, and before the throne were burning seven torches of fire, which are the seven spirits of God, ...*

^q Or voices, or sounds

The “twenty-four elders” (v. 4) are quite possibly a high order or class of angelic beings. The “seven spirits of God” (v. 5) is usually interpreted as referring to the Holy Spirit.

Ex 16:10-11 And as soon as Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the people of Israel, they looked toward the wilderness, and behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud. ¹¹*And the LORD said to Moses, ...*

This indicates that God spoke from the cloud (cf. Ex 19:9a ↓; Ex 24:16 ↓; Ex 33:9 ↓), affirming his presence within it.

Ex 19:9a, 16-17 And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, I am coming to you in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with you, and may also believe you forever.” ... ¹⁶*On the morning of the third day there were thunders and lightnings and a thick cloud on the mountain* and a very loud trumpet blast, so that all the people in the camp trembled. ¹⁷*Then Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet God, and they took their stand at the foot of the mountain.*

Ex 24:16 The glory of the LORD dwelt on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And on the seventh day he called to Moses out of the midst of the cloud.

Ex 33:9-10 When Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud would descend and stand at the entrance of the tent, and the LORD^r would speak with Moses. ¹⁰*And when all the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, all the people would rise up and worship, each at his tent door.*

Ex 34:5 The LORD descended in the cloud and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD.

Ex 40:34-38 Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. ³⁵*And Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting because the cloud settled on it, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.* ³⁶*Throughout all their journeys, whenever the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the people of Israel would set out.* ³⁷*But if the cloud was not taken up, then they did not set out till the day that it was taken up.* ³⁸*For the cloud of the LORD was on the tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel throughout all their journeys.*

The cloud of God's glory and presence, which had filled the tabernacle (vv. 34-35), guided the Israelites during all their travels (vv. 36-38).

Lev 16:2 ... and the LORD said to Moses, “Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat.”

1Ki 8:10-12 And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, a cloud filled the house of the LORD, ¹¹*so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.* ¹²*Then Solomon said, “The LORD^s has said that he would dwell in thick darkness.*

^s Septuagint The LORD has set the sun in the heavens, but

Just as the cloud of God's glory and presence had filled the movable tabernacle (cf. Ex 40:34-35 ↑) to accompany the Israelites in their travels, it likewise later filled the completed temple in Jerusalem. Note that “thick darkness” can be rendered “dark cloud” (CEV, NCV, NIRV, NIV, NKJV; cf. NASB).

Matt 17:5 He was still speaking when, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and a voice from the cloud said, “This is my beloved Son,^t with whom I am well pleased; listen to him.”

^t Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

Here God speaks from a bright cloud on the occasion of Jesus Christ's transfiguration.

Acts 1:9 And when he had said these things, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him out of their sight.

A number of commentators consider this cloud to be, as in the above references, a manifestation of God's presence.

Ps 18:11-12 He made darkness his covering, his canopy around him, thick clouds dark with water. ¹²*Out of the brightness before him hailstones and coals of fire broke through his clouds.*

The description here appears to be figurative, although the writer is possibly alluding to earlier manifestations of God's presence in a cloud (as per the above references).

God's presence has been manifested with fire

Ex 3:2-6 And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush. He looked, and behold, the bush was burning, yet it was not consumed. ³*And Moses said, “I will turn aside to see this great sight, why the bush is not burned.”* ⁴*When the LORD saw that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the bush, “Moses, Moses!”* And he said, “Here I am.” ⁵*Then he said, “Do not come near; take your sandals off your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy ground.”* ⁶*And he said, “I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of* Jacob.” And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

The “angel of the LORD” (v. 2) is identified with God (v. 4). God’s presence is here manifested in fire from within a bush.

Ex 13:21 And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them along the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, that they might travel by day and by night.

Ex 19:18 Now Mount Sinai was wrapped in smoke because the LORD had descended on it in fire. The smoke of it went up like the smoke of a kiln, and the whole mountain trembled greatly.

Ex 24:17 Now the appearance of the glory of the LORD was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the people of Israel.

Deut 4:11-12 And you came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, while the mountain burned with fire to the heart of heaven, wrapped in darkness, cloud, and gloom. ¹²Then the LORD spoke to you out of the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of words, but saw no form; there was only a voice.

Deut 5:22 These words the LORD spoke to all your assembly at the mountain out of the midst of the fire, the cloud, and the thick darkness, with a loud voice; and he added no more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me.

Lev 9:24 And fire came out from before the LORD and consumed the burnt offering and the pieces of fat on the altar, and when all the people saw it, they shouted and fell on their faces.

This is not necessarily saying that the fire was a manifestation of God’s presence, but it does at least associate the fire with God’s presence (cf. NIV, NLT).

✦ God’s Holy Spirit was manifested in what looked like “tongues of fire”:

Acts 2:3-4 And divided tongues as of fire appeared to them and rested^u on each one of them. ⁴And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance.

^u Or And tongues as of fire appeared to them, distributed among them, and rested

Verses which speak of God being in heaven are not understood to indicate that he is in any way confined to one location. Note that some verses suggest that God is present throughout the earth through his Holy Spirit (cf. The Holy Spirit is correlated with God’s presence, p. 143).

Deut 26:15 Look down from your holy habitation, from heaven, and bless your people Israel and the ground that you have given us, as you swore to our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.

Jacob was speaking after having a dream of a stairway reaching up to heaven, with God being above the stairway (cf. vv. 12-13).

Isa 40:22 It is he who sits above the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to dwell in; ...

... God's temple is in heaven

There have been earthly temples of God. But as heaven is where God primarily dwells, that which is spoken of as ultimately being God's temple is in heaven.

Ps 11:4 The LORD is in his holy temple; the LORD's throne is in heaven; his eyes see, his eyelids test the children of man.

Heb 8:5 They serve a copy and shadow of the heavenly things. For when Moses was about to erect the tent, he was instructed by God, saying, "See that you make everything according to the pattern that was shown you on the mountain."

The priests served at a sanctuary – initially in the tabernacle and then later the temple – which was set up to reflect God's heavenly sanctuary or temple.

Rev 11:19 Then God's temple in heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen within his temple. There were flashes of lightning, rumblings,^y peals of thunder, an earthquake, and heavy hail.

^y Or voices, or sounds

The ark of the covenant signifies God's presence (cf. d) The Ark of the Covenant and God's Presence, p. 340). The background to this reference is the ark of the covenant that was made according to God's directions to Moses. It was kept in the Most Holy Place in the tabernacle and later in the temple. It contained the stone tablets on which were written the Ten Commandments. Together these tablets were also referred to as the "witness" (cf. Rev 15:5 ↓) – or "testimony" (NIV®) – as they "witnessed" to God's covenant to Israel, which was based on the Ten Commandments.

Rev 15:5, 8 After this I looked, and the sanctuary of the tent^z of witness in heaven was opened,  ...⁸ and the sanctuary was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power, and no one could enter the sanctuary until the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.

This sanctuary appears to denote a/the temple of God (cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIRV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV).

Jonah 2:4, 7 Then I said, 'I am driven away from your sight; yet I shall again look upon your holy temple.'  ... ⁷When my life was fainting away, I remembered the LORD, and my prayer came to you, into your holy temple.

In v. 4, "temple" appears to refer to the temple in Jerusalem, with Jonah speaking of looking towards it. Contrastingly, in v. 7 "temple" may refer to God's heavenly temple, with Jonah speaking of his prayer rising to God and to his "temple". The Israelites closely correlated these two temples. Note that although the following references do not actually mention heaven, like v. 7 here they appear to be speaking of heaven as God's temple.

Ps 18:6 In my distress I called upon the LORD; to my God I cried for help. From his temple he heard my voice, and my cry to him reached his ears.

Mic 1:2 Hear, you peoples, all of you;^a pay attention, O earth, and all that is in it, and let the Lord GOD be a witness against you, the Lord from his holy temple.

^a Hebrew all of them

Hab 2:20 But the LORD is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before him.

† God dwells in heaven but is also present on earth:

Isa 57:15 For thus says the One who is high and lifted up, who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: "I dwell in the high and holy place, and also with him who is of a contrite and lowly spirit, to revive the spirit of the lowly, and to revive the heart of the contrite.

That God dwells in heaven but is present on earth too is also implied in 66:1a – 'Thus says the Lord: "Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool'.

b) God's Glory

See also:

- God's glory [reasons for which to exalt God], p. 1267

Scripture often speaks of God's glory in reference to his wondrous being. In doing so, it has in view God's essence and/or his attributes. Regarding his essence, God's glory pertains to his essential being itself, such that his presence is on occasions perceived as his glory and spoken of in terms of it. Regarding his attributes, God's glory emanates in part from his attributes – such as his power – which in a sense reflect the glory of God's essence and presence.

Subsections

- Glory is a prominent and key attribute of God
- God's glory is an integral aspect of God's presence
- God's glory manifests his presence . . .
- . . . God's glory is spoken of as manifesting his presence in his temples
- God is resplendent with light
- God has great splendor and majesty
- God's glory is reflected in his powerful deeds
- God's glory is evidenced throughout the earth and the heavens
- God's glory will be explicitly revealed throughout the earth, to all nations

Glory is a prominent and key attribute of God

Ps 24:7-8, 10 Lift up your heads, O gates! And be lifted up, O ancient doors, that the King of glory may come in. ⁸*Who is this King of glory? The LORD, strong and mighty, the LORD, mighty in battle!* ¹⁰*Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory!* Selah

The mighty God is “the King of glory” (cf. Acts 7:2b ↓; Eph 1:17 ↓), for his glory far exceeds that of anyone or anything else, and in him glory has its ultimate expression.

Ps 104:31 May the glory of the LORD endure forever; may the LORD rejoice in his works, ...

This points to the fact that God's glory will indeed endure forever.

Ps 138:5 ... and they shall sing of the ways of the LORD, for great is the glory of the LORD.

Jer 2:11 Has a nation changed its gods, even though they are no gods? But my people have changed their glory for that which does not profit.

The phrase “their glory” refers to God – “their Glory [God]” (AMP). Referring to God as such reflects that glory is a prominent and key part of his being.

Hab 2:14 For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

Acts 7:2b The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran, ...

“The God of glory” – as with the similar titles “the King of glory” (Ps 24:7-8, 10 ↑) and “the Father of glory” (Eph 1:17 ↓) – appears to indicate one or more of the following: glory is a central attribute of God, permeating or encompassing his entire being; God is the ultimate source of all glory; and God is the one to whom all glory belongs (cf. Rev 19:1 ↓).

Rom 3:23 ... for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, ...

In their sinful state, people are not compatible with God's wondrous glory. The fact that it is God's glory that people are measured by or compared to, underlines that glory is a key attribute of God.

2Cor 4:6 For God, who said, “Let light shine out of darkness,” has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

This is speaking of God enabling believers to know his glory through his revelation of himself in Jesus Christ, largely as seen in Jesus Christ's mission. Jesus Christ emulated and revealed God in his person, words and deeds; in a sense Jesus Christ personified God.

Eph 1:17 ... that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him, ...

Heb 1:3a He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power.

In speaking of Jesus Christ being like God, the only attribute of God that is specifically mentioned is his glory (cf. 2Cor 4:6 ↑). This highlights that glory is a prominent and key attribute of God.

Jude 1:25 ... to the only God, our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion, and authority, before all time and now and forever. Amen.

In ascribing glory to God (cf. Rev 19:1 ↓; [Reasons for which to exalt God:] God's glory, p. 1267) the writer appears to both acknowledge God's glory and bestow glory on God, the latter being akin to a blessing.

✦ Glory belongs to God:

Rev 19:1 After this I heard what seemed to be the loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, crying out, "Hallelujah! Salvation and glory and power belong to our God, ... 📖

Ultimately glory only truly belongs to God. No other glory is comparable or lasting.

God's glory is an integral aspect of God's presence

See also:

- Israel's glory will primarily be God, with the glory of his presence, p. 1017

Ps 26:8 O LORD, I love the habitation of your house and the place where your glory dwells. 📖

In speaking of where God's "glory dwells" – and also in view of the earlier reference to "your house" – this correlates God's glory with his presence.

Ps 85:9 Surely his salvation is near to those who fear him, that glory may dwell in our land. 📖

The reference to "glory" is likely to God's glory – "his glory" (NCV™, NIV®, NLT, NRSV). The verse may mean that on accomplishing their salvation, God's glorious presence – God himself – would remain with his people in the land (cf. AMP, GNT). Alternatively, or additionally, it could be speaking of God's glory being manifested in effecting his people's salvation.

Isa 58:8 Then shall your light break forth like the dawn, and your healing shall spring up speedily; your righteousness shall go before you; the glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard. 📖

This appears to allude to the cloud of God's presence, which guided and protected Israel during all their desert travels. The expression "the glory of the LORD" speaks of God himself, his very presence.

Ezek 3:12-13 Then the Spirit^b lifted me up, and I heard behind me the voice^c of a great earthquake: "Blessed be the glory of the LORD from its place!"¹³ It was the sound of the wings of the living creatures as they touched one another, and the sound of the wheels beside them, and the sound of a great earthquake. 📖

^b Or the wind; also verse 14

^c Or sound

The term "its place" likely denotes God's dwelling place (cf. NIV). The context (cf. Ezek 1:26-28 ↴; Ezek 3:22-23 ↴) further suggests that "the glory of the LORD" is correlated with God's presence.

2Pet 1:17 For when he received honor and glory from God the Father, and the voice was borne to him by the Majestic Glory, "This is my beloved Son,^d with whom I am well pleased," ... 📖

^d Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

Peter is speaking of Jesus Christ's transfiguration where God, "the Majestic Glory", spoke from a bright cloud that enveloped Jesus and the disciples with him (cf. Matt 17:5). The reference to God as "the Majestic Glory" speaks of and emphasizes the glory of his presence (cf. ESB).

Jude 1:24 Now to him who is able to keep you from stumbling and to present you blameless before the presence of his glory with great joy, ... 📖

Num 14:21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, ... 📖

As noted earlier, this may be linking God's glory with his presence – which may also be the case in Isaiah 6:3 below.

Isa 6:3 And one called to another and said: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!"^e 📖

^e Or may his glory fill the whole earth

Rev 21:2-3, 10-11 And I saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. ³And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Behold, the dwelling place^f of God is with man. He will dwell with them, and they will be his people,^g and God himself will be with them as their God.^h" ... ¹⁰And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great, high mountain, and showed me the holy city Jerusalem coming down out of heaven from God, ¹¹*having the glory of God, its radiance like a most rare jewel, like a jasper, clear as crystal.* 📖

^f Or tabernacle

^g Some manuscripts peoples

^h Some manuscripts omit as their God

God will dwell with his people in the new Jerusalem (v. 3). As such God's glory will be there (v. 11).

God's glory manifests his presence . . .

See also:

- God's presence has been manifested in a cloud, p. 9
- God's presence has been manifested with fire, p. 10

Ex 16:10-11 And as soon as Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the people of Israel, they looked toward the wilderness, and behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud. ¹¹*And the LORD said to Moses, ...*

Verse 1 indicates that God spoke from the cloud, affirming his presence in it – thus showing his glory to be a manifestation of his presence. Exodus 24:15-17, Numbers 14:10-11, Numbers 20:6-7, Ezekiel 1:26-28 and Ezekiel 8:4-5b below similarly speak of the appearance of God's glory along with God speaking, showing his glory to be indicative of his presence.

Ex 24:15-17 Then Moses went up on the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain. ¹⁶*The glory of the LORD dwelt on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And on the seventh day he called to Moses out of the midst of the cloud.* ¹⁷*Now the appearance of the glory of the LORD was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the people of Israel.*

Ex 33:18-22 Moses said, "Please show me your glory." ¹⁹*And he said, "I will make all my goodness pass before you and will proclaim before you my name 'The LORD.' And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy.* ²⁰*But," he said, "you cannot see my face, for man shall not see me and live."* ²¹*And the LORD said, "Behold, there is a place by me where you shall stand on the rock, ²²and while my glory passes by I will put you in a cleft of the rock, and I will cover you with my hand until I have passed by.*

Verses 19-20, 22b indicate that God's presence is in view. As such God's glory (vv. 18, 22) is here closely associated with God's presence, seemingly manifesting it.

Lev 9:4-6, 23-24 ... and an ox and a ram for peace offerings, to sacrifice before the LORD, and a grain offering mixed with oil, for today the LORD will appear to you." ⁵And they brought what Moses commanded in front of the tent of meeting, and all the congregation drew near and stood before the LORD. ⁶And Moses said, "This is the thing that the LORD commanded you to do, that the glory of the LORD may appear to you."  ... ²³And Moses and Aaron went into the tent of meeting, and when they came out they blessed the people, and the glory of the LORD appeared to all the people. ²⁴*And fire came out from* before the LORD and consumed the burnt offering and the pieces of fat on the altar, and when all the people saw it, they shouted and fell on their faces.

Verses 4, 6 correlate God's appearance with his glory by speaking of the "LORD" appearing and "the glory of the LORD" appearing as being the same thing. Verses 23, 24 similarly correlate "the glory of the LORD" (v. 23) with his presence (v. 24b; cf. NIV).

Num 14:10-11 Then all the congregation said to stone them with stones. But the glory of the LORD appeared at the tent of meeting to all the people of Israel. ¹¹*And the LORD said to Moses, "How long will this people despise me? And how long will they not believe in me, in spite of all the signs that I have done among them?"*

Num 20:6-7 Then Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly to the entrance of the tent of meeting and fell on their faces. And the glory of the LORD appeared to them, ⁷and the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ...

Ezek 1:26-28 And above the expanse over their heads there was the likeness of a throne, in appearance like sapphire; ⁱ*and seated above the likeness of a throne was a likeness with a human appearance.* ²⁷*And upward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were gleaming metal, like the appearance of fire enclosed all around. And downward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and there was brightness around him.* ^j²⁸*Like the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud on the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness all around. Such was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. And when I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard the voice of one speaking.*

ⁱ Or lapis lazuli

^j Or it

Ezek 8:4-5a And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, like the vision that I saw in the valley. ⁵*Then he said to me, "Son of man, lift up your eyes now toward the north."*

Ezek 3:22-23 And the hand of the LORD was upon me there. And he said to me, "Arise, go out into the valley,^k and there I will speak with you." ²³So I arose and went out into the valley, and behold, the glory of the LORD stood there, like the glory that I had seen by the Chebar canal, and I fell on my face.

^k Or plain; also verse 23

Acts 7:55 But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God.

Here "the glory of God" is correlated with "God" himself – and so God's presence.

... God's glory is spoken of as manifesting his presence in his temples

1Ki 8:10-12 And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, a cloud filled the house of the LORD, ¹¹so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD. ¹²Then Solomon said, "The LORD^l has said that he would dwell in thick darkness.

^l Septuagint The LORD has set the sun in the heavens, but

As noted earlier, the "thick darkness" (v. 12) refers to the cloud (vv. 10-11).

Ezek 43:1-5 Then he led me to the gate, the gate facing east. ²And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was coming from the east. And the sound of his coming was like the sound of many waters, and the earth shone with his glory. ³And the vision I saw was just like the vision that I had seen when he^m came to destroy the city, and just like the vision that I had seen by the Chebar canal. And I fell on my face. ⁴As the glory of the LORD entered the temple by the gate facing east, ⁵the Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; and behold, the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

^m Some Hebrew manuscripts and Vulgate; most Hebrew manuscripts when I

This is from Ezekiel's vision of a future temple in Jerusalem.

Rev 15:8 ... and the sanctuary was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power, and no one could enter the sanctuary until the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.

God's heavenly temple appears to be in view.

Ex 40:34-35 Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. ³⁵And Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting because the cloud settled on it, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle.

Prior to Solomon building the first temple of God, the tabernacle was the place of God's sanctuary. (It was a movable structure, which accompanied the Israelites in their travels.) It likewise signified God's presence and here God's glory is spoken of as manifesting his presence in it.

God is resplendent with light

One can infer from the following verses that one aspect or effect of God's glory is that God is resplendent with light.

1Tim 6:15-16 ... which he will display at the proper time—he who is the blessed and only Sovereign, the King of kings and Lord of lords, ¹⁶who alone has immortality, who dwells in unapproachable light, whom no one has ever seen or can see. To him be honor and eternal dominion. Amen.

Ps 104:2 ... covering yourself with light as with a garment, stretching out the heavens like a tent.

The use of "light" here may be figurative (cf. Ps 18:12 ↓), portraying God's interaction with his creation. But even if this is the case, it probably alludes to the actual light of God's glory and presence.

Isa 60:19-20 The sun shall be no more your light by day, nor for brightness shall the moon give you light;^a but the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your God will be your glory.^o ²⁰Your sun shall no more go down, nor your moon withdraw itself; for the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your days of mourning shall be ended.

^a Masoretic Text; Dead Sea Scroll, Septuagint, Targum add by night

^o Or your beauty

This speaks of the renewed Jerusalem, and is reflected in Revelation 21:11, 23 below, which speaks of the new Jerusalem of the afterlife.

Ezek 1:27-28a And upward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were gleaming metal, like the appearance of fire enclosed all around. And downward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and there was brightness around him.^p ²⁸Like the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud on the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness all around. Such was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD.

^p Or it

Ezek 43:1-2 Then he led me to the gate, the gate facing east. ²And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was coming from the east. And the sound of his coming was like the sound of many waters, and the earth shone with his glory.

The earth shone "with the dazzling light" (GNT) of God's glory.

Dan 2:22 ... he reveals deep and hidden things; he knows what is in the darkness, and the light dwells with him.

The meaning of the final clause is debatable, but it may well be speaking of the light that emanates from God's glory (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

Luke 2:9 And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear.

The angel who appeared to the shepherds to announce Jesus Christ's birth was accompanied by a manifestation of God's glory (cf. Rev 21:23 ↓), indicative of God's presence, which shone around them. Such was the light that, along with the angel, it evoked fear.

Rev 21:23 And the city has no need of sun or moon to shine on it, for the glory of God gives it light, and its lamp is the Lamb.

Rev 22:5a And night will be no more. They will need no light of lamp or sun, for the Lord God will be their light ...

Deut 33:2 He said, "The LORD came from Sinai and dawned from Seir upon us;^a he shone forth from Mount Paran; he came from the ten thousands of holy ones, with flaming fire^r at his right hand.

^a Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate; Hebrew them

^r The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain

The appearance of God's glory at Sinai is in view (cf. Ex 24:15-17). God "dawned" as in "rose like the sun" (GNT, NCV; cf. Hab 3:4 ↓). Psalms 50:2 also speaks of God shining forth – "Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God shines forth."

Ps 18:12 Out of the brightness before him hailstones and coals of fire broke through his clouds.

As in Habakkuk 3:4 below, the description here appears to be figurative, although quite possibly alluding to the writer's understanding of God's actual presence.

Hab 3:4 His brightness was like the light; rays flashed from his hand; and there he veiled his power.

✦ God is light:

1Jn 1:5 This is the message we have heard from him and proclaim to you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

Here "light" appears to be used as a metaphor for God's holiness and truth, but it may also allude to the light of God's presence (cf. ZBC) which would make the verse particularly pertinent here.

God has great splendor and majesty

Verses speaking of God's splendor and/or majesty are reflective of God's glory. Similar to and in conjunction with God's glory, God's splendor and majesty are spoken of as being descriptive of his presence and also on occasions as emanating from his pre-eminent attributes, partly in his exercising of them.

Ps 96:6 Splendor and majesty are before him; strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.

Ps 104:1 Bless the LORD, O my soul! O LORD my God, you are very great! You are clothed with splendor and majesty, ...

Ps 145:5 On the glorious splendor of your majesty, and on your wondrous works, I will meditate.

Isa 2:10, 19 Enter into the rock and hide in the dust from before the terror of the LORD, and from the splendor of his majesty.  ... ¹⁹And people shall enter the caves of the rocks and the holes of the ground,^s from before the terror of the LORD, and from the splendor of his majesty, when he rises to terrify the earth.

Hab 3:3 God came from Teman, and the Holy One from Mount Paran. His splendor covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise. Selah

Possibly the appearance of God's glory at Mount Sinai is in view here (cf. Ex 19:16-19). God's splendor is depicted as covering the heavens and bringing him praise and renown throughout the earth.

Deut 33:26 There is none like God, O Jeshurun, who rides through the heavens to your help, through the skies in his majesty.

This poetically depicts the dynamic power and majesty of God.

1Chr 29:11 Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and you are exalted as head above all.

Job 37:22 Out of the north comes golden splendor; God is clothed with awesome majesty.

Ps 29:4 The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

Ps 93:1a The LORD reigns; he is robed in majesty; the LORD is robed; he has put on strength as his belt.

Heb 1:3b After making purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, ...

As well as indicating that God has great majesty, the title "Majesty" alludes to God's supremacy (cf. GNT) and probably also his glory (cf. 2Pet 1:17 ↓).

Ex 15:7, 11 In the greatness of your majesty you overthrow your adversaries; you send out your fury; it consumes them like stubble. ... ¹¹"Who is like you, O LORD, among the gods? Who is like you, majestic in holiness, awesome in glorious deeds, doing wonders?

Akin to the theme of the following subsection, God's majesty is manifested in his great power (v. 7; cf. Isa 2:10, 19 ↑; Ps 8:1 ↓). It is also in part due to his holiness (v. 11). Note that this and the following references speak of God as being "majestic", indicative of his great majesty.

Ps 8:1 O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! You have set your glory above the heavens.

Ps 76:4 Glorious are you, more majestic than the mountains of prey.

2Pet 1:17 For when he received honor and glory from God the Father, and the voice was borne to him by the Majestic Glory, "This is my beloved Son,^t with whom I am well pleased,"

^t Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

- Israel's renewal will bring God glory, p. 1017

Note that the following two subsections in part also speak of God's glory being reflected in his powerful deeds. God's creation is largely in view in the following subsection and in the subsequent one God's emphatic intervention at the end of the age is prominent.

Ps 24:8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD, strong and mighty, the LORD, mighty in battle!

God's power seen in his deeds against enemies, exhibits his glory – pointing to him being the "King of glory".

Ps 66:2-3 ... sing the glory of his name; give to him glorious praise! ³Say to God, "How awesome are your deeds! So great is your power that your enemies come cringing to you.

This speaks both of God's glory being evidenced in his power and deeds and of him being glorified in people praising him because of his power and deeds.

Ps 138:5 ... and they shall sing of the ways of the LORD, for great is the glory of the LORD.

The "ways" of the LORD are inclusive of what he has done (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIRV) and reflect his great glory.

Ps 145:11-12 They shall speak of the glory of your kingdom and tell of your power, ¹²*to make known to the children of man your^u mighty deeds, and the glorious splendor of your kingdom.*

^u Hebrew his; also next line

These verses associate the glory and glorious splendor of God's kingdom with God's mighty acts, arguably suggesting that the latter evidences the former.

Ezek 39:6, 13, 21 I will send fire on Magog and on those who dwell securely in the coastlands, and they shall know that I am the LORD. ... ¹³All the people of the land will bury them, and it will bring them renown on the day that I show my glory, declares the Lord GOD. ... ²¹"And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.

John 11:40-44 Jesus said to her, "Did I not tell you that if you believed you would see the glory of God?" ⁴¹So they took away the stone. And Jesus lifted up his eyes and said, "Father, I thank you that you have heard me. ⁴²I knew that you always hear me, but I said this on account of the people standing around, that they may believe that you sent me." ⁴³When he had said these things, he cried out with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come out." ⁴⁴The man who had died came out, his hands and feet bound with linen strips, and his face wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, "Unbind him, and let him go."

God's glory was seen or reflected in the raising of Lazarus from the dead, with Jesus effectively calling on his Father in raising Lazarus.

Rom 6:4 We were buried therefore with him by baptism into death, in order that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life.

This indicates that God's glory – encompassing his "glorious power" (GNT, NLT; cf. AMP, NCV) – was evident in his raising of Jesus Christ from the dead.

Ex 15:6 Your right hand, O LORD, glorious in power, your right hand, O LORD, shatters the enemy.

Just as God's glory is reflected in his powerful deeds, God's power expressed in his deeds shows him to be glorious.

Luke 9:43 And all were astonished at the majesty of God. But while they were all marveling at everything he was doing, Jesus^v said to his disciples, ...

^v Greek he

Akin to his glory, God's majesty was reflected in Jesus Christ's powerful deeds, which were done with God's power.

✦ God's dealings with humankind make known "the riches of his glory":

Rom 9:22-23 What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience vessels of wrath prepared for destruction, ²³in order to make known the riches of his glory for vessels of mercy, which he has prepared beforehand for glory—

Paul may be saying that God makes "the riches of his glory" (v. 23a) known to those who are "vessels of mercy" by bearing with great patience those who are "vessels of wrath". Alternatively, Paul may mean that God makes "the riches of his glory" known by bestowing these riches on the "vessels of mercy" in contrast to the destruction that he will inflict on the "vessels of wrath".

God's glory is evidenced throughout the earth and the heavens

God's glory is evidenced throughout the earth and the heavens – for God so wonderfully created them, reflecting his glory.

Ps 8:1 O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! You have set your glory above the heavens.

Ps 19:1-4a The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky above^w proclaims his handiwork. ²Day to day pours out speech, and night to night reveals knowledge. ³There is no speech, nor are there words, whose voice is not heard. ⁴Their voice^x goes out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world.

Ps 97:4-6 His lightnings light up the world; the earth sees and trembles. ⁵The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of all the earth. ⁶The heavens proclaim his righteousness, and all the peoples see his glory.

This may well be simply speaking of dramatic physical occurrences in nature pointing to God's reign, illustrating that with the expression of his power in nature, God's glory is apparent to "all the peoples" (v. 6).

Isa 6:3 And one called to another and said: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!"^y

^y Or may his glory fill the whole earth

God's glory will be explicitly revealed throughout the earth, to all nations

- Israel's renewal will bring God glory, p. 1017

The following references either refer to or have an application to the end of the age when God will impose his authority over all the earth, unequivocally revealing his glory in his deeds and displaying to all nations the glory of his presence.

Num 14:21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, ...

Ps 57:11 Be exalted, O God, above the heavens! Let your glory be over all the earth!

The prayer here and the similar one in 72:19 below are in a sense anticipatory of what would or will happen in the future, expressing the desire that God's glory be revealed throughout all the earth.

Ps 72:19 Blessed be his glorious name forever; may the whole earth be filled with his glory! Amen and Amen!

Ps 102:15-16 Nations will fear the name of the LORD, and all the kings of the earth will fear your glory. ¹⁶For the LORD builds up Zion; he appears in his glory; ...

A future time appears to be in view (cf. Isa 24:23 ↓), as reflected in other translations.

Isa 35:1-2 The wilderness and the dry land shall be glad; the desert shall rejoice and blossom like the crocus; ²it shall blossom abundantly and rejoice with joy and singing. The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it, the majesty of Carmel and Sharon. They shall see the glory of the LORD, the majesty of our God.

In v. 2b, "they" quite possibly refers to the nations. In the future renewal of Israel, "they" would and/or will see the glory of Israel's God.

Isa 40:5 And the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together, for the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

This initially refers to God's deliverance of the Jews from captivity in Babylon. It is also understood to apply to his redemption that would come through Jesus Christ, in his first advent. It likewise is readily applicable to the consummation of this redemption at the end of the age.

Isa 66:18 For I know^z their works and their thoughts, and the time is coming^a to gather all nations and tongues. And they shall come and shall see my glory, ...

^z Septuagint, Syriac; Hebrew lacks know

^a Hebrew and it is coming

Ezek 39:21 And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.

Hab 2:14 For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

The revelation of God's glory in the destruction of Babylon (cf. vv. 12-13) may initially be in view, but the verse probably also has a final fulfillment at the end of the age. As such, some commentators assert that this is speaking primarily of the glory of God's presence being manifested throughout the earth.

✦ God's glory will be evident when he reigns in Jerusalem:

Isa 24:23 Then the moon will be confounded and the sun ashamed, for the LORD of hosts reigns on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and his glory will be before his elders.

Ps 93:2 Your throne is established from of old; you are from everlasting. 📖

God has "always existed" (NIRV®).

Hab 1:12a Are you not from everlasting, O LORD my God, my Holy One?

Job 36:26 Behold, God is great, and we know him not; the number of his years is unsearchable.

Isa 44:6 Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts: “I am the first and I am the last; besides me there is no god.

Rev 21:6a And he said to me, “It is done! I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end.

Alpha and Omega are the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. They are used here to emphasize that God is the beginning and end of everything – nothing exists or occurs outside or apart from him (cf. Isa 41:4 ↓).

Isa 41:4 Who has performed and done this, calling the generations from the beginning? I, the LORD, the first, and with the last; I am he.

... God existed before the world began

Ps 90:2 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God.

Gen 1:1 In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.

Prov 8:23 Ages ago I was set up, at the first, before the beginning of the earth.

The speaker here is Wisdom, set up by God before the world began. Thus the verse implies or indicates that God existed before the world began.

John 17:5, 24 And now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had with you before the world existed.  ... ²⁴Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world.

Eph 1:4a ... even as he chose us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and blameless before him.

God chose believers “in” Jesus Christ before the world began.

1Pet 1:20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you ...

That Jesus Christ was foreknown by God before the foundation of the world, indicates that God existed and was active before the world began.

^q Revocalization of verse 27 yields He subdues the ancient gods, and shatters the forces of old

Here “arms” is used figuratively to portray God’s support – as similarly is “rock” in Isaiah 26:4 immediately below. The term “everlasting arms” reflects the fact that God and his traits are everlasting.

Isa 26:4 Trust in the LORD forever, for the LORD GOD is an everlasting rock.

Ps 41:13 Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting! Amen and Amen.

Isa 40:28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

Ps 102:24-27 “O my God,” I say, “take me not away in the midst of my days— you whose years endure throughout all generations!" ²⁵Of old you laid the foundation of the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands. ²⁶They will perish, but you will remain; they will all wear out like a garment. You will change them like a robe, and they will pass away, ²⁷but you are the same, and your years have no end.

Dan 4:34 At the end of the days I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my reason returned to me, and I blessed the Most High, and praised and honored him who lives forever, for his dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom endures from generation to generation; ...

Dan 6:26 I make a decree, that in all my royal dominion people are to tremble and fear before the God of Daniel, for he is the living God, enduring forever; his kingdom shall never be destroyed, and his dominion shall be to the end.

1Tim 1:17 To the King of ages, immortal, invisible, the only God, be honor and glory forever and ever.† Amen.

^r Greek to the ages of ages

Rev 15:7 And one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God who lives forever and ever, ...

Isa 44:6 Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts: "I am the first and I am the last; besides me there is no god.

God is "the last" in that no one will outlast God. Nothing will exist beyond him, for he exists forever.

Rev 1:8 "I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty."

This emphasizes God's eternity. He is the beginning and end (cf. Rev 21:6a ↓); the one who perpetually exists, who always has been and who always will be – existing as the all-powerful God.

Rev 21:6a And he said to me, "It is done! I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end.

God transcends time

1Cor 2:7 But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, which God decreed before the ages for our glory.

God was active before time began. As well as operating in the world, in the realm of time, God operates outside of time.

2Pet 3:8 But do not overlook this one fact, beloved, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

God dwells outside of the limitations of time, not bound by its finite perspective. From his eternal perspective, diverse periods such as a day and a thousand years are both small, even insignificant (cf. Ps 90:4 ↓). To God the distinction between them is merely relative. Note that with the use of "Lord", Peter may be referring primarily to Jesus Christ.

Ps 90:4 For a thousand years in your sight are but as yesterday when it is past, or as a watch in the night.

God is self-existing

John 5:26 For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself.

Ex 3:14 God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM."^s And he said, "Say this to the people of Israel, 'I AM has sent me to you.'"

^s Or I AM WHAT I AM, or I WILL BE WHAT I WILL BE

God's name – "I AM WHO I AM" and its shortened form "I AM" – implies that God is self-existent and self-sufficient. This is perhaps more clearly implied by the alternative rendering in the text note.

Acts 17:25 ... nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything.

God is never in need. He is not dependent on anyone for anything, for after all he is the one who gives everything to all people.

Hab 3:6 He stood and measured the earth; he looked and shook the nations; then the eternal mountains were scattered; the everlasting hills sank low. His were the everlasting ways.

God does not change his ways. They are the same now as they were throughout the past and will be throughout eternity.

Isa 40:28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

God does not ever get tired out; his strength and alertness do not vary.

God is exalted above all others

See also:

- Isa 40:17 ↓

God is exalted above all others in greatness and authority. He is also exalted above all others in the sense that he exists beyond the universe, "high above" all things.

1Chr 29:11 Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and you are exalted as head above all. 📖

Mark 5:7a And crying out with a loud voice, he said, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God?" 📖

The title "the Most High God" (cf. Gen 14:18-20 ↓) refers to God's exalted position over all. But perhaps more specifically his superiority over all other "gods" is the primary reference.

Gen 14:18-20a And Melchizedek king of Salem brought out bread and wine. (He was priest of God Most High.) ¹⁹And he blessed him and said, "Blessed be Abram by God Most High, Possessor^e of heaven and earth; ²⁰and blessed be God Most High, who has delivered your enemies into your hand!" 📖

The gods of Israel's enemies were not like God. Note that "Rock" (cf. 1Sam 2:2 ↓; 2Sam 2:32 ↓) poetically portrays God as an incredibly strong, mountain-like refuge and support.

1Sam 2:2 There is none holy like the LORD; there is none besides you; there is no rock like our God. 📖

2Sam 22:32 For who is God, but the LORD? And who is a rock, except our God? 📖

Job 36:22-23 Behold, God is exalted in his power; who is a teacher like him? ²³*Who has prescribed for him his way, or who can say, 'You have done wrong'?*

In addition to there being no one who is a teacher like him (v. 22), unlike all others God has never been subject to direction or correction (v. 23). Similarly Isaiah 40:13-14 below indicates that God has never had anyone instruct or teach him; he has never needed it nor would anyone be capable of doing it.

Ps 71:19 Your righteousness, O God, reaches the high heavens. You who have done great things, O God, who is like you?

Ps 89:6-8 For *who in the skies can be compared to the LORD? Deut 33:26 There is none like God, O Jeshurun, who rides through the heavens to your help, through the skies in his majesty.

One aspect of God's unique greatness is that he "rides through the heavens" to help his people. This imagery implies that God does so swiftly and cannot be impeded.

Ps 35:10 All my bones shall say, "O LORD, who is like you, delivering the poor from him who is too strong for him, the poor and needy from him who robs him?"

Ps 40:5 You have multiplied, O LORD my God, your wondrous deeds and your thoughts toward us; none can compare with you! I will proclaim and tell of them, yet they are more than can be told.

The phrase "your thoughts toward us" appears to refer to – or at least be inclusive of – God's plans for his people (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). The multitude of his wondrous deeds and plans for his people show that there is no one comparable to him.

Ps 113:5-6 Who is like the LORD our God, who is seated on high, ⁶who looks far down on the heavens and the earth?

Isa 40:12, 22-26 Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens with a span, enclosed the dust of the earth in a measure and weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance?  ... ²²*It is he who sits above the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to dwell in;* ²³*who brings princes to nothing, and makes the rulers of the earth as emptiness.* ²⁴*Scarcely are they planted, scarcely sown, scarcely has their stem taken root in the earth, when he blows on them, and they wither, and the tempest carries them off like stubble.* ²⁵*To whom then will you compare me, that I should be like him? says the Holy One.* ²⁶*Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing.*

Isa 44:7 Who is like me? Let him proclaim it.^h Let him declare and set it before me, since I appointed an ancient people. Let them declare what is to come, and what will happen.

^h Or Who like me can proclaim it?

As well as implying that no one can “tell and explain” (NCV™) all that has happened – and all that will come – this may also be alluding to the fact that no one else could bring all these things about (cf. GNT; Isa 46:9-10 ↓).

Isa 46:9-10 ... remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like me, ¹⁰declaring the end from the beginning and from ancient times things not yet done, saying, ‘My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose,’ ...

Verse 9 points to what God has done “throughout history” (NLT) as evidence that he is God and there is no other.

Dan 3:29 Therefore I make a decree: Any people, nation, or language that speaks anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego shall be torn limb from limb, and their houses laid in ruins, for there is no other god who is able to rescue in this way.

^j Hebrew The heights of heaven

Ps 106:2 Who can utter the mighty deeds of the LORD, or declare all his praise?

No one can adequately either tell of God's acts or praise him. This illustrates that God and what he does are beyond comprehension.

Isa 40:28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

Rom 11:33-34 Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways! ³⁴“For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who has been his counselor?”

Particularly in the light of v. 33, v. 34 implies that not only do we not know God's mind and thoughts, but they are – for the most part at least – beyond our knowledge and understanding.

✦ The angel of the LORD's name was incomprehensible:

Judg 13:18 And the angel of the LORD said to him, “Why do you ask my name, seeing it is wonderful?”

The speaker here is “the angel of the LORD”, who is identified with God in v. 22 and also possibly in v. 19. As in ancient times one's name was correlated with one's person, this verse arguably implies that God was “too wonderful” (NRSV) to comprehend.

God's power is so mighty that he is able to do "much more than anything we can ask or imagine" (NCV™).

Col 1:11 May you be strengthened with all power, according to his glorious might, for all endurance and patience with joy, ...

In this context the phrase "all power" points to God as being all-powerful and having ultimate power, in accordance with "his glorious might".]

The words translated as "Almighty" convey God's all-surpassing, infinite power (or omnipotence) and his sovereignty.

Rev 11:17 ...saying, “We give thanks to you, Lord God Almighty, who is and who was, for you have taken your great power and begun to reign.”

Note that the reference appears to be to God imposing his rule on all, with the manifestation of his kingdom (cf. v. 15).

✦ God's power is eternal:

Rom 1:20 For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse.

God can do all things – nothing is too hard

Job 42:2 I know that you can do all things, and that no purpose of yours can be thwarted.

Mark 10:27 Jesus looked at them and said, “With man it is impossible, but not with God. For all things are possible with God.”

Mark 14:36 And he said, “Abba, Father, all things are possible for you. Remove this cup from me. Yet not what I will, but what you will.”

Gen 18:13-14 The LORD said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh and say, ‘Shall I indeed bear a child, now that I am old?’ ¹⁴*Is anything too hard^o for the LORD?* At the appointed time I will return to you, about this time next year, and Sarah shall have a son.”

^o Or wonderful

The fulfillment of this promise is recounted in 21:1-2.

Jer 32:17, 27 Ah, Lord GOD! It is you who have made the heavens and the earth by your great power and by your outstretched arm! Nothing is too hard for you.  ...²⁷“Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh. Is anything too hard for me?”

Luke 1:36-37 And behold, your relative Elizabeth in her old age has also conceived a son, and this is the sixth month with her who was called barren. ³⁷*For nothing will be impossible with God.*

Num 11:21-23, 31 But Moses said, “The people among whom I am number six hundred thousand on foot, and you have said, ‘I will give them meat, that they may eat a whole month!’ ²²*Shall flocks and herds be slaughtered for them, and be enough for them? Or shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them, and be enough for them?’* ²³*And the LORD said to Moses, “Is the LORD’s hand shortened? Now you shall see whether my word will come true for you or not.”*  ... ³¹*Then a wind from the LORD sprang up, and it brought quail from the sea and let them fall beside the camp, about a day’s journey on this side and a day’s journey on the other side, around the camp, and about two cubits^p above the ground.*

^p A cubit was about 18 inches or 45 centimeters

“Is the LORD’s hand shortened?” (v. 23) is a rhetorical question asking if the LORD’s power is limited (cf. GNT, NASB, NLT, NRSV).

Zec 8:4-6 Thus says the LORD of hosts: Old men and old women shall again sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with staff in hand because of great age. ⁵And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in its streets. ⁶*Thus says the LORD of hosts: If it is marvelous in the sight of the remnant of this people in those days, should it also be marvelous in my sight, declares the LORD of hosts?*

God’s wonderful renewal of Jerusalem (vv. 4-5) may have seemed “impossible” (CEV, GNT, NLT) and so “too difficult” (NCV™) to the Jews of Zechariah’s day – but not to God.

✦ The seemingly impossible is easy for God:

2Ki 3:17-18, 20 For thus says the LORD, ‘You shall not see wind or rain, but that streambed shall be filled with water, so that you shall drink, you, your livestock, and your animals.’ ¹⁸*This is a light thing in the sight of the LORD.* He will also give the Moabites into your hand,  ... ²⁰The next morning, about the time of offering the sacrifice, behold, water came from the direction of Edom, till the country was filled with water.

Note that the title "the LORD of hosts" speaks of God's power or authority over all things or all forces, though some understand "hosts" to refer in particular to Israel's army or angels.

Isa 43:13 Also henceforth I am he; there is none who can deliver from my hand; I work, and who can turn it back?

Verse 21 reflects God's power over all other powers, in accordance with "the immeasurable greatness of his power" (v. 19).

Power in fact belongs to God

Verses which speak of power as belonging to or being with God, point to him as having ultimate power and being all-powerful (or omnipotent). Possibly they also allude to God as ultimately being the source of all power, in part due to him being creator of all creatures and their power.

Rev 19:1 After this I heard what seemed to be the loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, crying out, “Hallelujah! Salvation and glory and power belong to our God, ...

1Chr 29:11 Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and you are exalted as head above all.

^w Hebrew him

Rev 4:11 “Worthy are you, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you created all things, and by your will they existed and were created.”

In line with the assertion that power belongs to God, he is worthy to “receive” power or to have ultimate power attributed to him.

But the thunder of his power who can understand?* 📖

In v. 14 Job says that the awesome deeds previously mentioned are only a glimpse of what God does, and in fact the actual extent of his power is beyond our comprehension. One can infer from this that God's deeds – like his power that is expressed in his deeds (v. 14) – is beyond our comprehension. Note that Rahab (v. 12) and “the fleeing serpent” (v. 13) refer to a mythical monster/s or force/s of the sea, associated with chaos and evil.

Ps 106:2 Who can utter the mighty deeds of the LORD, or declare all his praise? 📖

The reason why the psalmist says we cannot tell of the mighty acts of the LORD is probably either because there are too many (cf. GNT, NLT) or because they are beyond our comprehension. Possibly both reasons are in view.

✦ God's deeds are incomparable:

Ps 86:8 There is none like you among the gods, O Lord, nor are there any works like yours. 📖

The fact that God's deeds are incomparable is borne out earlier, in . . . No being can do what God can do, p. 35.

^d Or its chariot; also verse 21

In speaking of God being “glorious in power” in conjunction with his deeds, v. 6 reflects the fact that God's deeds are glorious – a fact shown in v. 1 and explicitly indicated in v. 11.

Isa 12:5 Sing praises to the LORD, for he has done gloriously; let this be made known^e in all the earth. 📖

^e Or this is made known

Ps 111:3 Full of splendor and majesty is his work, and his righteousness endures forever. 📖

✦ God's power is glorious:

Ps 90:16 Let your work be shown to your servants, and your glorious power to their children. 📖

Job 36:22 Behold, God is exalted in his power; who is a teacher like him? 📖

Ps 46:8-10 Come, behold the works of the LORD, how he has brought desolations on the earth. ⁹He makes wars cease to the end of the earth; he breaks the bow and shatters the spear; he burns the chariots with fire. ¹⁰Be still, and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth!" 📖

Isa 2:11 The haughty looks of man shall be brought low, and the lofty pride of men shall be humbled, and the LORD alone will be exalted in that day. 📖

God's awesome acts of judgment are in view (cf. vv. 12-18).

Isa 12:4 And you will say in that day: "Give thanks to the LORD, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the peoples, proclaim that his name is exalted." 📖

Isa 63:11b-14 Where is he who put in the midst of them his Holy Spirit, ¹²who caused his glorious arm to go at the right hand of Moses, who divided the waters before them to make for himself an everlasting name, ¹³who led them through the depths? Like a horse in the desert, they did not stumble. ¹⁴Like livestock that go down into the valley, the Spirit of the LORD gave them rest. So you led your people, to make for yourself a glorious name. 📖

Ex 14:17-18, 28 And I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians so that they shall go in after them, and I will get glory over Pharaoh and all his host, his chariots, and his horsemen. ¹⁸*And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I have gotten glory over Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen."* 📖
 ... ²⁸The waters returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen; of all the host of Pharaoh that had followed them into the sea, not one of them remained. 📖

Ps 66:2-3 ... sing the glory of his name; give to him glorious praise! ³*Say to God, "How awesome are your deeds! So great is your power that your enemies come cringing to you.*" 📖

This speaks both of: God's glory being evidenced in his power and deeds; and God being glorified in people praising him because of his power and deeds.

Ps 86:9-10 All the nations you have made shall come and worship before you, O Lord, and shall glorify your name. ¹⁰*For you are great and do wondrous things; you alone are God.* 📖

Ex 9:16 But for this purpose I have raised you up, to show you my power, so that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth. 📖

God would show his power in (further) great plagues amongst the Egyptians, so that his name would be proclaimed throughout the earth (cf. Jer 32:20 ↓) – thus bringing him glory.

Jer 32:20 You have shown signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, and to this day in Israel and among all mankind, and have made a name for yourself, as at this day. 📖

Dan 2:22 ... he reveals deep and hidden things; he knows what is in the darkness, and the light dwells with him. ☞

The phrase "sees in secret" may well be speaking of God seeing what is done in secret (cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV).

2Ki 19:27 But I know your sitting down and your going out and coming in, and your raging against me.

God knew Sennacherib's every movement.

Ps 139:11-12 If I say, "Surely the darkness shall cover me, and the light about me be night,"¹²even the darkness is not dark to you; the night is bright as the day, for darkness is as light with you.

Jer 23:24 Can a man hide himself in secret places so that I cannot see him? declares the LORD. Do I not fill heaven and earth? declares the LORD.

^b Hebrew he

Verse 23 asserts that God does not need to examine men any further, as he already knows all about them. For God sees – and evaluates – all their deeds as they are being carried out.

Isa 29:15 Ah, you who hide deep from the LORD your counsel, whose deeds are in the dark, and who say, "Who sees us? Who knows us?"

The Hebrew translated here as "Ah" is sometimes translated as "Woe" (AMP, NASB, NIV, NKJV). It points with a sense of alarm to coming grave trouble and misery.

Jer 16:17 For my eyes are on all their ways. They are not hidden from me, nor is their iniquity concealed from my eyes.

† Even the dead and the realm of death lie open before God:

Job 26:5-6 The dead tremble under the waters and their inhabitants. ⁶*Sheol is naked before God,^k and Abaddon has no covering.*

^k Hebrew him

Verse 5 appears to imply that the dead "tremble" as they and their deeds are exposed before God (v. 6). In v. 6 "Sheol" is a name used for the place of the dead; and "Abaddon" denotes destruction or the place thereof. Note that Proverbs 15:11 in the following subsection reflects the teaching of v. 6.

God knows all people's "hearts" and minds

See also:

- God takes into account thoughts and motives, p. 429

Bear in mind that in the Bible "heart" is often used to refer to a person's thoughts and feelings.

Acts 15:8 And God, who knows the heart, bore witness to them, by giving them the Holy Spirit just as he did to us, ...

1Ki 8:39 ... then hear in heaven your dwelling place and forgive and act and render to each whose heart you know, according to all his ways (for you, you only, know the hearts of all the children of mankind), ...

Ps 44:21 ... would not God discover this? For he knows the secrets of the heart.

Prov 15:11 Sheol and Abaddon lie open before the LORD; how much more the hearts of the children of man!

Ezek 11:5 And the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and he said to me, "Say, Thus says the LORD: So you think, O house of Israel. For I know the things that come into your mind.

Gen 6:5 The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

2Sam 7:20 And what more can David say to you? For you know your servant, O Lord God!

God knew David so well that there was no thought of his that he could voice that God did not already know (cf. Ps 38:9 ↓; Ps 139:4 ↓).

Ps 38:9 O Lord, all my longing is before you; my sighing is not hidden from you.

Prov 21:2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes, but the LORD weighs the heart.

God examines and evaluates people's hearts, knowing them fully.

Deut 31:21 And when many evils and troubles have come upon them, this song shall confront them as a witness (for it will live unforgotten in the mouths of their offspring). For I know what they are inclined to do even today, before I have brought them into the land that I swore to give.

Effectively God is saying: "I know their strong desire and the purposes which they are forming even now..." (AMP)

Job 11:11 For he knows worthless men; when he sees iniquity, will he not consider it?

God knows which people are deceitful and evil, knowing all people's "hearts" and minds.

Ezek 20:32 What is in your mind shall never happen—the thought, 'Let us be like the nations, like the tribes of the countries, and worship wood and stone.'

Whether or not they had verbalized this thought, God still knew it.

† God knows us completely:

Ps 139:1-2, 4-5 O LORD, you have searched me and known me!
²*You know when I sit down and when I rise up; you discern my thoughts from afar.* ... ⁴*Even before a word is on my tongue, behold, O LORD, you know it altogether.* ⁵*You hem me in, behind and before, and lay your hand upon me.*

Verse 5b may allude to God's care or protection (cf. CEV, GNT), but in keeping with the context it seems to primarily be speaking of people being unable to get away from God, along with his awareness and discernment of them. Note that God's complete knowledge of people is also alluded to in 1 Corinthians 13:12, with Paul saying, "I have been fully known."

God knows the future

Isa 42:9 Behold, the former things have come to pass, and new things I now declare; before they spring forth I tell you of them.

The "former things" that "have come to pass" were things that God had "said would happen" (NIRV®).

Isa 44:7-8 Who is like me? Let him proclaim it!¹ Let him declare and set it before me, since I appointed an ancient people. Let them declare what is to come, and what will happen. ⁸*Fear not, nor be afraid; have I not told you from of old and declared it? And you are my witnesses! Is there a God besides me? There is no Rock; I know not any.*

¹ Or Who like me can proclaim it?

Note that in the first part of v. 7 God appears to be challenging anyone to be able to declare all that has happened since he "appointed an ancient people", referring either to his creation of Israel or of humankind. However, the Hebrew is unclear (cf. GNT text note) and it may be that God's knowledge of the future is in view, as per the last statement in v. 7 and the subsequent verse (v. 8).

Isa 46:9b-10 I am God, and there is none like me, ¹⁰*declaring the end from the beginning and from ancient times things not yet done, saying, 'My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose.'*

Like most of the other references in this subsection, this implies that God knows what will happen in the future because he himself has ordained it.

Isa 48:5-8 I declared them to you from of old, before they came to pass I announced them to you, lest you should say, 'My idol did them, my carved image and my metal image commanded them.' ⁶*"You have heard; now see all this; and will you not declare it? From this time forth I announce to* you new things, hidden things that you have not known. ⁷They are created now, not long ago; before today you have never heard of them, lest you should say, 'Behold, I knew them.' ⁸You have never heard, you have never known, from of old your ear has not been opened. For I knew that you would surely deal treacherously, and that from before birth you were called a rebel.

The final clause, particularly in light of the preceding clause, suggests that God knew from before the nation of Israel was born that it would be rebellious.

Jer 1:5 "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you; I appointed you a prophet to the nations."

Dan 2:28-29, 45b ... but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and he has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar what will be in the latter days. Your dream and the visions of your head as you lay in bed are these: ²⁹To you, O king, as you lay in bed came thoughts of what would be after this, and he who reveals mysteries made known to you what is to be.  ... ⁴⁵ ... A great God has made known to the king what shall be after this. The dream is certain, and its interpretation sure.

Dan 8:26 The vision of the evenings and the mornings that has been told is true, but seal up the vision, for it refers to many days from now.

Daniel was given a vision from God, about the distant future.

Mark 13:32 But concerning that day or that hour, no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father.

This is speaking of the time of Jesus Christ's return.

Acts 2:23 ... this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men.

Acts 15:17-18 ... that the remnant^m of mankind may seek the Lord, and all the Gentiles who are called by my name, says the Lord, who makes these things ¹⁸*known from of old.*

^mOr rest

Verse 18 indicates that God made known "these things" (v. 17) long ago (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

Rom 8:29 For those whom he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, in order that he might be the firstborn among many brothers.

Here "foreknew" may mean more than just prior knowledge, quite possibly implying foreordination. (The same applies to "foreknowledge" in Acts 2:23 above.)

God has incredible wisdom

Job 9:4 He is wise in heart and mighty in strength —who has hardened himself against him, and succeeded?—

Job 11:5-6a But oh, that God would speak and open his lips to you, ⁶*and that he would tell you the secrets of wisdom! For he is manifold in understanding.*ⁿ ⁿ The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain

Job 36:5 Behold, God is mighty, and does not despise any; he is mighty in strength of understanding.

Ps 147:5 Great is our Lord, and abundant in power; his understanding is beyond measure.

One can infer from this that God's "wisdom cannot be measured" (GNT).

Isa 28:29 This also comes from the LORD of hosts; he is wonderful in counsel and excellent in wisdom.

Jer 32:18b-19 O great and mighty God, whose name is the LORD of hosts, ¹⁹*great in counsel* and mighty in deed, whose eyes are open to all the ways of the children of man, rewarding each one according to his ways and according to the fruit of his deeds.

Rom 11:33a Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God!

Rom 16:27 ... to the only wise God be glory forevermore through Jesus Christ! Amen.

This intimates that God "alone is all-wise" (GNT; cf. NLT).

Eph 1:7-8 In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of his grace, ⁸*which he lavished upon us, in all wisdom and insight ...*

Commentators and translations differ over whether "wisdom and insight" (v. 8) are referring to: (a) God's comprehensive wisdom and understanding, with which he has lavished his grace on us; or (b) wisdom and understanding that he has given to us along with his grace. If the former is the case, this would be speaking of God having "all wisdom and insight".

Eph 3:10 ... so that through the church the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places.

God's "manifold" wisdom has a "rich variety" (NLT, NRSV) of forms or aspects.

Job 12:16 With him are strength and sound wisdom; the deceived and the deceiver are his.

Ps 92:5 How great are your works, O LORD! Your thoughts are very deep!

Ps 139:17-18a How precious to me are your thoughts, O God! How vast is the sum of them! ¹⁸*If I would count them, they are more than the sand.*

The Hebrew translated here as "precious" (v. 17a) has also been translated "difficult" (GNT) and "weighty" (NASB). As such it implies that God's thoughts are beyond the psalmist's understanding (cf. CEV), such is God's wisdom and intelligence. Moreover, God's thoughts are innumerable (vv. 17b-18a).

✦ God is the ultimate source and possessor of wisdom:

Job 12:13 With God^o are wisdom and might; he has counsel and understanding.

^o Hebrew him

God's knowledge and wisdom is far superior to that of people – beyond our comprehension . . .

See also:

- Worldly wisdom is flawed and inferior to the wisdom of God, p. 1633

Job 21:22 Will any teach God knowledge, seeing that he judges those who are on high?

The second clause indicates that God judges even the greatest of people (cf. CEV, NCV) – or beings (cf. NIV). He is in a position to do this as he knows and understands everything about them, including what they do and know. The point of the verse as a whole is that no one can teach God anything that he does not already know (cf. Isa 40:13-14

Ps 94:11 ... the LORD—knows the thoughts of man, that they are but a breath.^p

^p Septuagint they are futile

Isa 40:13-14 Who has measured^q the Spirit of the LORD, or what man shows him his counsel? ¹⁴Whom did he consult, and who made him understand? Who taught him the path of justice, and taught him knowledge, and showed him the way of understanding?

^q Or has directed

The first clause (v. 13) appears to be speaking of no one being able to direct (cf. AMP, NASB, NKJV, NRSV) God, or more particularly his Spirit. As such, like the rest of vv. 13-14, it is implying that God's knowledge and wisdom is far superior to anyone else's.

Isa 55:8-9 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, declares the LORD. ⁹*For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts.*

Jer 10:7 Who would not fear you, O King of the nations? For this is your due; for among all the wise ones of the nations and in all their kingdoms there is none like you.

Dan 1:20 And in every matter of wisdom and understanding about which the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters that were in all his kingdom.

The wisdom that God gave to Daniel and his friends was far superior to the wisdom of the wise men of the kingdom, illustrating that God's wisdom is far superior to that of people. This is also shown by the wisdom that God gave to Solomon, who was "wiser than all other men" (1Ki 4:31).

1Jn 3:20 ... for whenever our heart condemns us, God is greater than our heart, and he knows everything.

God's knowledge is superior to our perception, even our perception of ourselves.

Ps 139:6 Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high; I cannot attain it.

Here David speaks of God's knowledge (cf. vv. 1-5) as being beyond him and his comprehension.

Isa 40:28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

Rom 11:33b-34 How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways! ³⁴*“For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who has been his counselor?”*

... God knows much that people do not know

Gen 41:15-16 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I have had a dream, and there is no one who can interpret it. I have heard it said of you that when you hear a dream you can interpret it.” ¹⁶Joseph answered Pharaoh, “It is not in me; God will give Pharaoh a favorable answer.”^r

^r Or (compare Samaritan, Septuagint) Without God it is not possible to give Pharaoh an answer about his welfare

Joseph indicates that God can interpret dreams (v. 16) – even if no one else can (v. 15).

Deut 29:29 The secret things belong to the LORD our God, but the things that are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law.

There is much that God has kept secret from us, and the things people know are in a sense at least only what God has revealed to them. Here the “secret things” probably primarily refers to the future. The “things ... revealed” appears to primarily be speaking of God’s law – then unknown to nations other than Israel.

1Ki 8:39 ... then hear in heaven your dwelling place and forgive and act and render to each whose heart you know, according to all his ways (for you, you only, know the hearts of all the children of mankind), ...

Job 38:16-18 Have you entered into the springs of the sea, or walked in the recesses of the deep? ¹⁷*Have the gates of death been revealed to you, or have you seen the gates of deep darkness?* ¹⁸*Have you comprehended the expanse of the earth? Declare, if you know all this.*

The rhetorical questions (cf. v. 37a ↓) imply that God is the only one who has done or can do these things – and thus the only one who knows and understands such things.

Job 38:37a Who can number the clouds by wisdom?

Job 42:3 ‘Who is this that hides counsel without knowledge?’ Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand, things too wonderful for me, which I did not know.

Here Job begins by quoting God’s earlier question in 38:2, which indicated that Job had detracted from God’s counsel without having any comparable knowledge or wisdom to be able to do so. Job then responds to God’s question by acknowledging that he was in no position to question or interpret God’s counsel, particularly regarding the matters at hand which were in fact beyond his comprehension and knowledge.

Mark 13:32 But concerning that day or that hour, no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father.

2Cor 12:2-4 I know a man in Christ who fourteen years ago was caught up to the third heaven—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows. ³*And I know that this man was caught up into paradise—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows—* ⁴*and he heard things that cannot be told, which man may not utter.*

Paul is speaking of an experience of his own, the exact nature of which he did not know – in contrast to God, who did know. In this experience he was caught up to heaven where he was given revelations from God that were unknown to humans, even inexpressible.

† People do not know what is best for them in life:

Ecc 6:12a For who knows what is good for man while he lives the few days of his vain life, which he passes like a shadow?

This illustrates the fact that people’s knowledge and wisdom is markedly inferior to that of God.

Note: God can frustrate and take away worldly wisdom – and bring down the wise

Job 5:12-13 He frustrates the devices of the crafty, so that their hands achieve no success. ¹³*He catches the wise in their own craftiness, and the schemes of the wily are brought to a quick end.*

Job 12:17, 20, 24 He leads counselors away stripped, and judges he makes fools. ... ²⁰*He deprives of speech those who are trusted and takes away the discernment of the elders.* ... ²⁴*He takes away understanding from the chiefs of the people of the earth and makes them wander in a pathless waste.*

Isa 19:11-14 The princes of Zoan are utterly foolish; the wisest counselors of Pharaoh give stupid counsel. How can you say to Pharaoh, “I am a son of the wise, a son of ancient kings”? ¹²*Where then are your wise men? Let them tell you that they might know what the LORD of hosts has purposed against Egypt.* ¹³*The princes of Zoan have become fools, and the princes of Memphis are deluded; those who are the cornerstones of her tribes have made Egypt stagger.* ¹⁴*The LORD has mingled within her a spirit of confusion, and they will* make Egypt stagger in all its deeds, as a drunken man staggers in his vomit.

Egypt's officials and supposed wise counselors were rendered as fools by God, as v. 11a clearly implies. As such they not only knew nothing of his plans against Egypt (v. 12) but they also caused Egypt to stumble (vv. 13-14).

Isa 44:24b-25 I am the LORD, who made all things, who alone stretched out the heavens, who spread out the earth by myself, ²⁵*who frustrates the signs of liars and makes fools of diviners, who turns wise men back and makes their knowledge foolish, ...*

Jer 8:9 The wise men shall be put to shame; they shall be dismayed and taken; behold, they have rejected the word of the LORD, so what wisdom is in them?

Here "taken" refers to being taken captive (cf. AMP, NLT); the exile is in view.

Jer 51:57 I will make drunk her officials and her wise men, her governors, her commanders, and her warriors; they shall sleep a perpetual sleep and not wake, declares the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.

Obad 1:8 Will I not on that day, declares the LORD, destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding out of Mount Esau?

1Cor 1:19-21, 25-27 For it is written, "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and the discernment of the discerning I will thwart." ²⁰*Where is the one who is wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world?* ²¹*For since, in the wisdom of God, the world did not know God through wisdom, it pleased God through the folly of what we preach to save those who believe.*  ... ²⁵*For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.* ²⁶For consider your calling, brothers: not many of you were wise according to worldly standards,^s not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth. ²⁷*But God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise; God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong; ...*

^s Greek according to the flesh

The context indicates that Paul is showing how the wisdom of man is hopeless as a means of salvation. In regard to this, God renders worldly wisdom as foolish (vv. 19-20) – useless as a means of knowing him (v. 21a). In conjunction, God's way of salvation that appears to man as folly or foolishness (v. 21b), is actually wiser than man's wisdom (v. 25). God has further shamed the wise of this world by choosing mostly people who are not seen as wise by human standards (vv. 26-27).

✦ God has hidden the truths of the kingdom from the wise and learned:

Matt 11:25 At that time Jesus declared, "I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and revealed them to little children; ...

The "things" probably primarily refers to the significance of Jesus' mission and other matters of the kingdom. God chooses to reveal these things to those who are humble and open like "little children", rather than to those who are "wise and understanding" by the standards of this world – particularly those who see themselves as such.

e) Addendum: God's 'Name'

In biblical times, a person's name represented or embodied their whole person – including their nature, authority and even their purpose or significance. This is highlighted by references to the "name" of the person.

Thus when used in regard to such things as God's interaction with his people, references to God's "name" are understood as being synonymous with God himself. For example, God's "name" is used in expressing God's presence amongst his people and also his care of them. Furthermore, God's people are said to do such things as trust in, fear, love and praise his "name".

Subsections

- God's "name" is synonymous with God himself
- God's "name" is synonymous with his presence
- God's "name" is synonymous with God in him helping his people
- God's "name" is synonymous with God in people relating to him
- God's "name" is correlated with his authority and power
- God's "name" is holy
- God's "name" is great

- God's "name" is glorious and exalted
- God's "name" is praised and blessed
- God acts for the sake of his "name"
- Note: God declared his actual name to be the "LORD"

God's "name" is synonymous with God himself

In this subsection God's "name" is shown to be synonymous with God himself by what are virtually the same things being said in regard to God and also to his "name".

Ps 18:49 For this I will praise you, O LORD, among the nations, and sing to your name.

Ps 44:5 Through you we push down our foes; through your name we tread down those who rise up against us.

Isa 50:10 Who among you fears the LORD and obeys the voice of his servant? Let him who walks in darkness and has no light trust in the name of the LORD and rely on his God.

The terms "trust" and "rely" are virtually identical. Here God's "name" and God himself are both spoken of as the object of one's trust (or reliance), illustrating that God and his "name" are synonymous.

Isa 48:9, 11a "For my name's sake I defer my anger, for the sake of my praise I restrain it for you, that I may not cut you off.  ... ¹¹*For my own sake, for my own sake, I do it, for how should my name^t be profaned?*

^t Hebrew lacks my name

The virtually identical use of "my name's sake" (v. 9) and "my own sake" (v. 11a) points to God's "name" being synonymous with God himself.

Jer 10:6 There is none like you, O LORD; you are great, and your name is great in might.

Ezek 36:23 And I will vindicate the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, and which you have profaned among them. And the nations will know that I am the LORD, declares the Lord GOD, when through you I vindicate my holiness before their eyes.

God's "name" is synonymous with his presence

Deut 12:5, 11 But you shall seek the place that the LORD your God will choose out of all your tribes to put his name and make his habitation^u there. There you shall go,  ... ¹¹*then to the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name* dwell there, there you shall bring all that I command you: your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, and all your finest vow offerings that you vow to the LORD.

^u Or name as its habitation

God would choose a place to put his "name", signifying his presence, where the people were to "come into his presence and worship him." (GNT)

1Ki 5:5 And so I intend to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD said to David my father, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, shall build the house for my name.'

Solomon tells of his intention to fulfill God's words that David's son would build a house/temple for "My Name and Presence" (AMP).

1Ki 8:29 ... that your eyes may be open night and day toward this house, the place of which you have said, 'My name shall be there,' that you may listen to the prayer that your servant offers toward this place.

The reference to God hearing prayer prayed toward the temple indicates his presence there, in accordance with the statement: "My name shall be there."

1Ki 9:3 And the LORD said to him, "I have heard your prayer and your plea, which you have made before me. I have consecrated this house that you have built, by putting my name there forever. My eyes and my heart will be there for all time.

Ps 75:1 We give thanks to you, O God; we give thanks, for your name is near. We^v recount your wondrous deeds.

^v Hebrew They

Isa 30:27 Behold, the name of the LORD comes from afar, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke;^w his lips are full of fury, and his tongue is like a devouring fire; ...

^w Hebrew in weight of uplifted clouds

Similar to the references to God's eyes and heart in 1 Kings 9:3 above, the references to God's lips and tongue emphasize that "the name of the LORD" speaks of God himself and his actual presence.

God's "name" is synonymous with God in him helping his people

Ps 20:1 May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble! May the name of the God of Jacob protect you!

Ps 44:5 Through you we push down our foes; through your name we tread down those who rise up against us.

Ps 54:1 O God, save me by your name, and vindicate me by your might.

Although the phrase “by your name” could well also be a reference to God’s “might” (GNT, NLT), more precisely David may be calling on God to save him in accordance with his character or nature – “because of who you are” (NCV™).

Ps 124:8 Our help is in the name of the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

Prov 18:10 The name of the LORD is a strong tower; the righteous man runs into it and is safe.

God's “name” is synonymous with God in people relating to him

Ps 5:11 But let all who take refuge in you rejoice; let them ever sing for joy, and spread your protection over them, that those who love your name may exult in you.

Ps 33:21 For our heart is glad in him, because we trust in his holy name.

Ps 52:9 I will thank you forever, because you have done it. I will wait for your name, for it is good, in the presence of the godly.

Ps 61:5 For you, O God, have heard my vows; you have given me the heritage of those who fear your name.

Ps 106:47 Save us, O LORD our God, and gather us from among the nations, that we may give thanks to your holy name and glory in your praise.

Ps 116:13 I will lift up the cup of salvation and call on the name of the LORD, ...

God's “name” is correlated with his authority and power

Note that most of the verses in the previous two subsections similarly associate God’s “name” with his power.

Ex 23:21 Pay careful attention to him and obey his voice; do not rebel against him, for he will not pardon your transgression, for my name is in him.

The final phrase appears to refer to God’s authority (“I am giving him complete authority” – CEV) and power (“my power is in him” – NCV). While it certainly encompasses God’s authority and power, note that some commentators think it has a deeper meaning, believing it to quite likely indicate that the angel to whom it refers (cf. v. 20) is in fact the pre-incarnate Christ.

Deut 10:8 At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD to stand before the LORD to minister to him and to bless in his name, to this day.

In pronouncing blessings “in his name”, the priests were acting on God’s behalf and on his authority. The same applies to the prophets who spoke in God’s “name” in Daniel 9:6 immediately below.

Dan 9:6 We have not listened to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

1Sam 17:45 Then David said to the Philistine, “You come to me with a sword and with a spear and with a javelin, but I come to you in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have defied.

David came as one acting on God’s authority (cf. Ps 118:26a ↓) – with and in reliance on God’s power.

Ps 118:10-12 All nations surrounded me; in the name of the LORD I cut them off! ¹¹They surrounded me, surrounded me on every side; in the name of the LORD I cut them off! ¹²They surrounded me like bees; they went out like a fire among thorns; in the name of the LORD I cut them off!

Ps 118:26a Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD!

This verse and Micah 5:4 below have messianic significance, telling of the Messiah coming with God’s authority and power.

Mic 5:4 And he shall stand and shepherd his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God. And they shall dwell secure, for now he shall be great to the ends of the earth.

John 10:25 Jesus answered them, “I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in my Father’s name bear witness about me, ...

Jesus performed his miracles in the “name” of his Father – i.e. by the “authority” (CEV, GNT) or “power” (AMP) of God.

John 17:11-12 And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. ¹²While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me. I have guarded them, and not one of them has been lost except the son of destruction, that the Scripture might be fulfilled. 📖

These verses may be referring to God keeping his people by the power of his name (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV), hence their inclusion here. Alternatively, they may be speaking of God keeping them "in" himself. For further comment on v. 12 see Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others, p. 110.

Jer 10:6 There is none like you, O LORD; you are great, and your name is great in might. 📖

God's "name" is holy

1Chr 29:16 O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have provided for building you a house for your holy name comes from your hand and is all your own. 📖

Ps 111:9 He sent redemption to his people; he has commanded his covenant forever. Holy and awesome is his name! 📖

Ezek 36:22-23a "Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am about to act, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations to which you came. ²³*And I will vindicate the holiness of my great name*, which has been profaned among the nations, and which you have profaned among them. 📖

Ezek 39:7 And my holy name I will make known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not let my holy name be profaned anymore. And the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. 📖

^x Or is (three times in verse 11; also verse 14)

The greatness of God's "name" will be acknowledged amongst the nations – not just amongst his own people (cf. Ps 76:1 ↑).

Judg 13:18 And the angel of the LORD said to him, "Why do you ask my name, seeing it is wonderful?" 📖

If there is a correlation here between "the angel of the LORD" and God (cf. vv. 19, 22), then this would point to the greatness of God's "name" in saying that it is "wonderful" or "beyond understanding" (NIV®). Psalm 135:13 below likewise points to its greatness by saying that it "endures forever".

† God's name endures forever:

Ps 135:13 Your name, O LORD, endures forever, your renown, O LORD, throughout all ages. 📖

^y Or remembrance

God's "name" is glorious and exalted

Deut 28:58 If you are not careful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God, ... 📖

Here "name" appears to refer to "LORD", or at least "the LORD your God".

Neh 9:5b Blessed be your glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise. 📖

Ps 66:2 ... sing the glory of his name; give to him glorious praise!

Ps 8:1 O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! You have set your glory above the heavens.

Similarly Micah 5:4 refers to "the majesty of the name of the LORD".

Ps 138:2 I bow down toward your holy temple and give thanks to your name for your steadfast love and your faithfulness, for you have exalted above all things your name and your word.^z

^z Or you have exalted your word above all your name

Ps 148:13 Let them praise the name of the LORD, for his name alone is exalted; his majesty is above earth and heaven.

Ex 9:16 But for this purpose I have raised you up, to show you my power, so that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth.

God's name would be exalted by being proclaimed throughout all the earth (cf. Ps 48:10 ↓).

Ps 48:10 As your name, O God, so your praise reaches to the ends of the earth. Your right hand is filled with righteousness.

This implies that God's "name" is renowned throughout the earth.

Luke 11:2 And he said to them, "When you pray, say: 'Father, hallowed be your name. Your kingdom come."

The clause "hallowed be your name" (v. 9) means may your name "be honored" (GNT, NIRV, NLT, cf. CEV) or "always be kept holy" (NCV™). Such a prayer that God's "name" be honored also exalts his "name", implying that it is worthy of such honor.

† The LORD's name will be the only name:

Zec 14:9 And the LORD will be king over all the earth. On that day the LORD will be one and his name one.

The final phrase appears to refer to the LORD's name being "the only one" (NASB; cf. NCV, NIV) – the only name that will be worshipped (cf. CEV, NLT).

God's "name" is praised and blessed

Ps 145:1-2 I will extol you, my God and King, and bless your name forever and ever. ²*Every day I will bless you and praise your name forever and ever.*

† People give thanks to God's name:

Ps 30:4 Sing praises to the LORD, O you his saints, and give thanks to his holy name.^a

^a Hebrew to the memorial of his holiness (see Exodus 3:15)

God acts for the sake of his "name"

1Sam 12:22 For the LORD will not forsake his people, for his great name's sake, because it has pleased the LORD to make you a people for himself.

God was reluctant to reject his people (cf. Isa 48:9 ↓), for to have done so would have brought dishonor to his "name", God having made them his own.

Ps 23:3 He restores my soul. He leads me in paths of righteousness^b for his name's sake.

What God's people do is in a sense a reflection on God and his "name", as they are his. Hence he guides them to live in a way that honors him – and punishes them when they act to the contrary (cf. Isa 48:9-11 ↓; Ezek 43:8 ↓).

Ps 106:8 Yet he saved them for his name's sake, that he might make known his mighty power.

Isa 48:9-11 For my name's sake I defer my anger, for the sake of my praise I restrain it for you, that I may not cut you off. ¹⁰*Behold, I have refined you, but not as silver; I have tried^c you in the furnace of affliction.* ¹¹*For my own sake, for my own sake, I do it, for how should my name^d be profaned? My glory I will not give to another.*

^c Or I have chosen

^d Hebrew lacks my name

For his "name's" sake God disciplined his rebellious people (vv. 10-11) rather than cut them off completely in his wrath (v. 9).

Isa 52:3, 5-6 For thus says the LORD: "You were sold for nothing, and you shall be redeemed without money." ...⁵Now therefore what have I here," declares the LORD, "seeing that my people are taken away for nothing? Their rulers wail," declares the LORD, "and continually all the day my name is despised.⁶*Therefore my people shall know my name. Therefore in that day they shall know that it is I who speak; here am I.*"

Being in captivity, God's people brought ridicule to his "name", with their enemies mocking God (v. 5b) – presumably for supposedly not being able to protect his people (cf. Ezek 36:20 ↓). So God swore to redeem his people (v. 3; cf. Ezek 36:22-25 ↓; Ezek 39:25 ↓) so that they would know his "name" (v. 6a) – who he is. As such they would realize his power and character – and that he was the one who foretold their redemption (v. 6b), all along having the power to implement his will.

Ezek 36:20-25 But when they came to the nations, wherever they came, they profaned my holy name, in that people said of them, "These are the people of the LORD, and yet they had to go out of his land." ²¹But I had concern for my holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the nations to which they came. ²²"Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am about to act, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations to which you came. ²³And I will vindicate the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, and which you have profaned among them. And the nations will know that I am the LORD, declares the Lord GOD, when through you I vindicate my holiness before their eyes. ²⁴I will take you from the nations and gather you from all the countries and bring you into your own land. ²⁵I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean from all your uncleannesses, and from all your idols I will cleanse you.

Ezek 39:7, 25 And my holy name I will make known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not let my holy name be profaned anymore. And the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. ...²⁵"Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Now I will restore the fortunes of Jacob and have mercy on the whole house of Israel, and I will be jealous for my holy name.

† God destroyed Israelites who defiled his holy "name":

Ezek 43:8b They have defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed, so I have consumed them in my anger.

Note: God declared his actual name to be the "LORD"

Bear in mind that references to God's "name" – at times at least – may be an allusion to God's actual name, the "LORD".

Ex 3:12-15 He said, "But I will be with you, and this shall be the sign for you, that I have sent you: when you have brought the people out of Egypt, you shall serve God on this mountain."¹³Then Moses said to God, "If I come to the people of Israel and say to them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you,' and they ask me, 'What is his name?' what shall I say to them?"¹⁴God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM."^e And he said, "Say this to the people of Israel, 'I AM has sent me to you.'"¹⁵God also said to Moses, "Say this to the people of Israel, 'The LORD,^f the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you.' This is my name forever, and thus I am to be remembered throughout all generations.

^e Or I AM WHAT I AM, or I WILL BE WHAT I WILL BE

"LORD" (v. 15) can be derived from "I AM" (v. 14) (cf. text notes on vv. 14, 15). For the actual Hebrew that is rendered as "LORD" is "YHWH" (most likely pronounced "Yahweh") and it "is derived from the verb HAYAH, to be" (NASB, text note) to which "I AM" is also related. Note that "I AM WHO I AM" (v. 14) – or "I WILL BE WHAT I WILL BE" (v. 14 text note) – and its shortened form "I AM" (v. 14) appear to express God's unchanging nature, self-existence, self-determination and omnipresence. In regard to the last aspect – God being ever-present – God's name may well allude to his promise in v. 12 – "I will be with you."

Ex 6:3 I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, as God Almighty,^g but by my name the LORD I did not make myself known to them.

^g Hebrew El Shaddai

Ex 33:19 And he said, "I will make all my goodness pass before you and will proclaim before you my name 'The LORD.' And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy."

Some commentators see this verse as indicating that God's name the "LORD" (v. 19a) points to his graciousness and mercy (v. 19b; cf. Ex 34:6 ↓). If this is so, the usages of "I will"

in the second sentence may well allude to the primary form of God's name, "I AM".

Ex 34:5-7 The LORD descended in the cloud and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD. ⁶The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, "The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, ⁷keeping steadfast love for thousands,^h forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, but who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children and the children's children, to the third and the fourth generation."

^h Or to the thousandth generation

Similar to the previous reference from Exodus 33:19, the characteristics listed immediately following "The LORD, the LORD" may be elaborating on the meaning of "LORD".

Isa 42:8 I am the LORD; that is my name; my glory I give to no other, nor my praise to carved idols.

✦ Sometimes God's name is stated as "the LORD of hosts":

Isa 47:4 Our Redeemer—the LORD of hosts is his name— is the Holy One of Israel.

The phrase "the LORD of hosts is his name" occurs in 15 verses in the ESV. It points to God's sovereign power over all things.

I. Holy Characteristics

A good understanding of God requires a balanced understanding of his character, including the fundamental attribute of holiness. To obtain such an understanding, we must "take to heart" all aspects of his character. As well as the many characteristics that we find consoling, we also need to appreciate those that inspire godly fear.

a) Holiness

See also:

- II. God's Pre-Eminence, p. 28
- God's "name" is holy, p. 49

God's holiness involves his moral purity. It concerns God's separateness from and his intolerance of that which is morally impure. Holiness is basic to the other characteristics that follow in the first half of this chapter.

God is holy

Isa 6:3 And one called to another and said: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!"^a

^a Or may his glory fill the whole earth

The threefold cry of "holy" (cf. Rev 4:8 ↓) emphasizes God's perfect holiness.

Rev 4:8 And the four living creatures, each of them with six wings, are full of eyes all around and within, and day and night they never cease to say, "Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord God Almighty, who was and is and is to come!"

Lev 19:2 Speak to all the congregation of the people of Israel and say to them, You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy.

Ps 111:9 He sent redemption to his people; he has commanded his covenant forever. Holy and awesome is his name!

Isa 43:15 I am the LORD, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King.

Similarly, in Habakkuk 1:12 the prophet calls God "my Holy One".

John 17:11 And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one.

Rev 6:10 They cried out with a loud voice, "O Sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long before you will judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?"

1Jn 1:5 This is the message we have heard from him and proclaim to you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

As is often the case in the Bible, "light" here is a metaphor for holiness and truth, while "darkness" represents evil and falseness.

Deut 32:4b A God of faithfulness and without iniquity, just and upright is he.

Ps 5:4 For you are not a God who delights in wickedness; evil may not dwell with you.

Psa 94:20 Can wicked rulers be allied with you, those who frame injustice by statute?

The fact that God will not allow the wicked to be associated with him illustrates that he cannot tolerate them.

Hab 1:13a You who are of purer eyes than to see evil and cannot look at wrong ...

Because God is holy he cannot do such things as stand evil and tolerate wrongdoing.

Josh 24:19 But Joshua said to the people, “You are not able to serve the LORD, for he is a holy God. He is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions or your sins.

God’s holiness means that he will not tolerate apostasy – “rebellion” (NIV®, NKJV, NLT; cf. CEV, NCV).

2Chr 19:7 Now then, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Be careful what you do, for there is no injustice with the LORD our God, or partiality or taking bribes.

God does no wrong and correspondingly he does not “tolerate” (NLT, GNT) such things as “injustice... or partiality or... bribes”.

✦ God cannot be tempted by evil:

James 1:13 Let no one say when he is tempted, “I am being tempted by God,” for God cannot be tempted with evil, and he himself tempts no one.

In addition to the fact that God cannot be tempted by evil, note that the last clause points out that neither does God tempt anyone to do evil.

There is no one holy like God

1Sam 2:2 There is none holy like the LORD; there is none besides you; there is no rock like our God.

Rev 15:4a Who will not fear, O Lord, and glorify your name? For you alone are holy.

Ex 15:11 Who is like you, O LORD, among the gods? Who is like you, majestic in holiness, awesome in glorious deeds, doing wonders?

Rev 16:5 And I heard the angel in charge of the waters^b say, “Just are you, O Holy One, who is and who was, for you brought these judgments.

^b Greek angel of the waters

This suggests that God is the “Holy One” – the only one who is perfectly holy.

✦ There is no one good like God:

Mark 10:18b No one is good except God alone.

Here “good” is a reference to perfection, including being sinless.

God shows himself to be holy by what he does

Isa 5:15-16 Man is humbled, and each one is brought low, and the eyes of the haughty^c are brought low. ¹⁶But the LORD of hosts is exalted^d in justice, and the Holy God shows himself holy in righteousness.

^c Hebrew high

^d Hebrew high

God would show himself to be holy (v. 16) by his righteous judgment on evil doers (v. 15).

Isa 29:23 [God:] For when he sees his children, the work of my hands, in his midst, they will sanctify my name; they will sanctify the Holy One of Jacob and will stand in awe of the God of Israel.

God’s holiness would be recognized in his restoration of his people, fulfilling his promises and proving his faithfulness and righteousness. Consequently the people would “sanctify” God, i.e. acknowledge his holiness and relate to him accordingly.

Ezek 36:22-26 Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord GOD: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am about to act, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations to which you came. ²³*And I will vindicate the holiness of my great name*, which has been profaned among the nations, and which you have profaned among them. And the nations will know that I am the LORD, declares the Lord GOD, when through you I vindicate my holiness before their eyes. ²⁴*I will take you from the nations and gather you from all the countries and bring you into your own land.* ²⁵*I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean from all your uncleannesses, and from all your idols I will cleanse you.* ²⁶*And I will give you a new heart, and a new spirit I will put within you. And I will remove the heart of stone from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh.*

God’s name had been disgraced when Israel, his people, had been conquered and dispersed throughout the nations.

Israel's rebellion – the reason for its exile – had also very much contributed to the dishonoring of God. So God would take action to demonstrate his holiness, by re-gathering and cleansing his people (vv. 24-26; cf. Ezek 39:25, 27 ↓).

Ezek 39:25-27 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Now I will restore the fortunes of Jacob and have mercy on the whole house of Israel, and I will be jealous for my holy name. ²⁶They shall forget their shame and all the treachery they have practiced against me, when they dwell securely in their land with none to make them afraid, ²⁷when I have brought them back from the peoples and gathered them from their enemies' lands, and through them have vindicated my holiness in the sight of many nations.

Luke 1:46-49 And Mary said, "My soul magnifies the Lord, ⁴⁷and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, ⁴⁸for he has looked on the humble estate of his servant. For behold, from now on all generations will call me blessed; ⁴⁹for he who is mighty has done great things for me, and holy is his name.

This may well be implying that God's holiness was apparent in the great blessing he had bestowed upon his "humble... servant" (v. 48), Mary.

Ps 18:25-26 With the merciful you show yourself merciful; with the blameless man you show yourself blameless; ²⁶with the purified you show yourself pure; and with the crooked you make yourself seem tortuous.

✦ God's way is holy:

Ps 77:13a Your way, O God, is holy.

Places where God dwells are also holy . . .

See also:

▪ Eph 2:21-22 ↓

Places must be holy for God in his holiness to dwell in them. God is primarily spoken of as dwelling in: heaven; places containing the Ark of the Covenant (cf. comment on Ex 26:33 ↓); and his people (as reflected in the following subsection).

2Chr 30:27 Then the priests and the Levites arose and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came to his holy habitation in heaven.

Isa 57:15 For thus says the One who is high and lifted up, who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: "I dwell in the high and holy place, and also with him who is of a contrite and lowly spirit, to revive the spirit of the lowly, and to revive the heart of the contrite.

Zec 2:13 Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD, for he has roused himself from his holy dwelling.

Ex 26:33 And you shall hang the veil from the clasps, and bring the ark of the testimony in there within the veil. And the veil shall separate for you the Holy Place from the Most Holy.

The tabernacle, a tent-like structure, preceded the temple as the centre of worship of God. In the tabernacle and later in the temple was a section called "the Holy Place", which had an inner section called "the Most Holy" or "the Most Holy Place". In the latter was the Ark of the Covenant, which signified God's very presence (cf. d\) The Ark of the Covenant and God's Presence, p. 340). It was the reason why the places in which it was contained were deemed holy places. In fact, even places where the Ark had been were considered holy: "...the places to which the ark of the Lord has come are holy" (2Chr 8:11).

Ps 65:4 Blessed is the one you choose and bring near, to dwell in your courts! We shall be satisfied with the goodness of your house, the holiness of your temple!

Joel 3:17 So you shall know that I am the LORD your God, who dwells in Zion, my holy mountain. And Jerusalem shall be holy, and strangers shall never again pass through it.

Just as the temple was holy because it contained the Ark of the Covenant which signified God's presence, in turn Jerusalem was considered holy as within it was the temple and so God's presence. Note that "Zion", God's "holy mountain", originally denoted the mountain or hill in Jerusalem on which the temple was built. It was later used to refer to the whole of Jerusalem.

Rev 21:2-3 And I saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. ³And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Behold, the dwelling place^e of God is with man. He will dwell with them, and they will be his people,^f and God himself will be with them as their God.^g"

^f Some manuscripts peoples

^g Some manuscripts omit as their God

The holy city known as the new Jerusalem (v. 2) is where God will dwell, with his people (v. 3) throughout eternity.

Ex 3:2-6 And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush. He looked, and behold, the bush was burning, yet it was not consumed. ³And Moses said, "I will turn aside to see this great sight, why the bush is not burned." ⁴When the LORD saw that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the bush, "Moses, Moses!" And he said, "Here I am." ⁵Then he said, "Do not come near; take your sandals off your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy ground." ⁶And he said, "I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

God's presence in the burning bush meant that the ground before it was holy.

Ezek 37:27-28 My dwelling place shall be with them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. ²⁸*Then the nations will know that I am the LORD who sanctifies Israel, when my sanctuary is in their midst forevermore.*

The term "sanctify" basically means to make holy. This passage and Ephesians 2:21-22 below demonstrate that God dwells with those who are holy and it can be inferred from these passages that he only dwells with those who are holy.

Eph 2:21-22 ... in whom the whole structure, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord. ²²*In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by^h the Spirit.*

^h Or in

Here the church, God's people, is described as "a holy temple" (v. 21) – "a dwelling place for God" (v. 22).

Ps 15:1-2 O LORD, who shall sojourn in your tent? Who shall dwell on your holy hill? ²*He who walks blamelessly and does what is right and speaks truth in his heart; ...*

Verse 2 effectively describes one who is holy (cf. Ps 24:4 ↓; Heb 10:22 ↓). As God only dwells with those who are holy, only those who are holy can dwell with or approach him (cf. Ps 24:3-4 ↓; Heb 10:19-22 ↓) – or see him (cf. Heb 12:14 ↓; Matt 5:8 ↓).

Ps 24:3-4 Who shall ascend the hill of the LORD? And who shall stand in his holy place? ⁴*He who has clean hands and a pure heart, who does not lift up his soul to what is false and does not swear deceitfully.*

Heb 10:19-22 Therefore, brothers,ⁱ since we have confidence to enter the holy places by the blood of Jesus, ²⁰*by the new and living way that he opened for us through the curtain, that is, through his flesh*, ²¹*and since we have a great priest over the house of God*, ²²*let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, with our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water.*

ⁱ Or brothers and sisters

Heb 12:14 Strive for peace with everyone, and for the holiness without which no one will see the Lord.

Note that here "Lord" may be referring to God rather than to Jesus Christ. The implication here and in Matthew 5:8 immediately below is that only those who are holy will see God (and Jesus Christ) and dwell with him in the afterlife.

Matt 5:8 Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.

✦ The Israelite soldiers' camps had to be kept holy so that God would not turn away from them:

Deut 23:14 Because the LORD your God walks in the midst of your camp, to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you, therefore your camp must be holy, so that he may not see anything indecent among you and turn away from you.

Things of God are likewise holy

- The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God . . ., p. 142
- God's word is holy, righteous and good, p. 305
- Being God's, the church is holy, p. 777

All things belong to God, but not all things are holy. However, things that are his in a more exclusive or dedicated sense are holy.

Luke 1:49 ... for he who is mighty has done great things for me, and holy is his name.

Isa 52:10 The LORD has bared his holy arm before the eyes of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

God's "holy arm" denotes his "holy power" (GNT, NCV, NLT).

Psa 5:7 But I, through the abundance of your steadfast love, will enter your house. I will bow down toward your holy temple in the fear of you.

As shown earlier, heaven (cf. Psa 20:6 ↓) and God's temple are holy due to his presence. They are holy also because they belong to him.

Psa 20:6 Now I know that the LORD saves his anointed; he will answer him from his holy heaven with the saving might of his right hand.

Psa 47:8 God reigns over the nations; God sits on his holy throne.

Psa 77:13 Your way, O God, is holy. What god is great like our God?

Jer 23:9 Concerning the prophets: My heart is broken within me; all my bones shake; I am like a drunken man, like a man overcome by wine, because of the LORD and because of his holy words.

Note that Jeremiah is speaking of being overcome by the LORD and his holy words against the false prophets.

Dan 9:16 O Lord, according to all your righteous acts, let your anger and your wrath turn away from your city Jerusalem, your holy hill, because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and your people have become a byword among all who are around us.

Deut 7:6 For you are a people holy to the LORD your God. The LORD your God has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth.

The people of God – "his treasured possession" – are holy.

Lev 6:25 Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed shall the sin offering be killed before the LORD; it is most holy.

Lev 27:9, 14-15, 28 If the vowⁱ is an animal that may be offered as an offering to the LORD, all of it that he gives to the LORD is holy. ... ¹⁴"When a man dedicates his house as a holy gift to the LORD, the priest shall value it as either good or bad; as the priest values it, so it shall stand. ¹⁵And if the donor wishes to redeem his house, he shall add a fifth to the valuation price, and it shall be his. ... ²⁸"But no devoted thing that a man devotes to the LORD, of anything that he has, whether man or beast, or of his inherited field, shall be sold or redeemed; every devoted thing is most holy to the LORD.

ⁱ Hebrew it

Things given to God become holy. In the OT this included things dedicated to him – which could be redeemed or bought back (vv. 14b-15) – and particularly things devoted to him (cf. text note) – which could not be redeemed, being deemed "most holy to the LORD" (v. 28).

† God's Holy Spirit:

Psa 51:11 Cast me not away from your presence, and take not your Holy Spirit from me.

Note: God and his ways are perfect

See also:

- Psa 77:13 ↑

Matt 5:48 You therefore must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

In Leviticus 19:2b God says: "You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy." Jesus' statement here is based on this, with "perfect" being used in place of "holy".

Psa 18:30 This God—his way is perfect,^k the word of the LORD proves true; he is a shield for all those who take refuge in him.

^k Or blameless

Rom 12:2 Do not be conformed to this world,^l but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect.^m

^m Or what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God

Deut 32:4 The Rock, his work is perfect, for all his ways are justice. A God of faithfulness and without iniquity, just and upright is he.

God's works being perfect reflect that his ways are perfect. The same applies to his law being perfect, as stated in Psalms 19:7a below.

Job 37:16 Do you know the balancingsⁿ of the clouds, the wondrous works of him who is perfect in knowledge, ...

ⁿ Or hoverings

Ps 19:7 The law of the LORD is perfect,^o reviving the soul; the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple; ...

Similarly, James refers to “the perfect law” (James 1:25).

Isa 55:8-9 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, declares the LORD. ⁹*For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways* and my thoughts than your thoughts.

In keeping with his ways being perfect, God’s ways are infinitely better than our ways.

God is righteous

Job 34:17 Shall one who hates justice govern? Will you condemn him who is righteous and mighty, ...

Ps 50:6 The heavens declare his righteousness, for God himself is judge! Selah

The heavens are depicted as witnesses to God’s righteousness – possibly because they have been present during his righteous acts as judge.

Ps 97:6 The heavens proclaim his righteousness, and all the peoples see his glory.

Ps 98:2 The LORD has made known his salvation; he has revealed his righteousness in the sight of the nations.

Ps 116:5 Gracious is the LORD, and righteous; our God is merciful.

Ps 119:137 Righteous are you, O LORD, and right are your rules.

Jer 12:1a Righteous are you, O LORD, when I complain to you; yet I would plead my case before you.

John 17:25 O righteous Father, even though the world does not know you, I know you, and these know that you have sent me.

Ps 25:8 Good and upright is the LORD; therefore he instructs sinners in the way.

God is just

Ezra 9:15a O LORD, the God of Israel, you are just, for we are left a remnant that has escaped, as it is today.

Isa 30:18b For the LORD is a God of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him.

Ps 9:7 But the LORD sits enthroned forever; he has established his throne for justice, ...

Prov 29:26 Many seek the face of a ruler, but it is from the LORD that a man gets justice.

Justice ultimately comes from God, who therefore should be the focus of one’s petitions for justice.

Ps 89:14 Righteousness and justice are the foundation of your throne; steadfast love and faithfulness go before you.

Isa 5:16 But the LORD of hosts is exalted^r in justice, and the Holy God shows himself holy in righteousness.

^r Hebrew high

Isa 28:5-6 In that day the LORD of hosts will be a crown of glory,^s and a diadem of beauty, to the remnant of his people, ⁶and a spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment, and strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

^s The Hebrew words for glory and hosts sound alike

The first clause in v. 6 speaks of God leading judges to make decisions justly (cf. GNT, NCV, NIRV, NLT).

Isa 51:4 Give attention to me, my people, and give ear to me, my nation; for a law^t will go out from me, and I will set my justice for a light to the peoples.

^t Or for teaching; also verse 7

The last clause suggests that God's justice will become a "guiding light" (NIRV®) to the nations, possibly in part due to the prevalence of God's aforementioned law. Additionally, God's salvation (cf. v. 5) may be in view as securing the nations' welfare, turning the darkness of their circumstances to light.

Heb 6:10 For God is not unjust so as to overlook your work and the love that you have shown for his name in serving the saints, as you still do.

Gen 18:25 Far be it from you to do such a thing, to put the righteous to death with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?

Here Abraham points out that injustice is outside of the sphere of God's actions.

‡ God guards the paths of justice:

Prov 2:7b-8 ... he is a shield to those who walk in integrity, guarding the paths of justice and watching over the way of his saints.

God's righteousness and justice are great – and everlasting

Ps 36:6 Your righteousness is like the mountains of God; your judgments are like the great deep; man and beast you save, O LORD.

The greatness of God's righteousness is paralleled with the greatness of the awesome mountains that he has created.

Job 4:17 Can mortal man be in the right before^u God? Can a man be pure before his Maker?

^u Or more than; twice in this verse

Particularly if the rendering in the text note is taken (cf. NIV), this indicates that God's righteousness surpasses that of all others.

Job 37:23 The Almighty—we cannot find him; he is great in power; justice and abundant righteousness he will not violate.

This indicates that God's righteousness – and justice (cf. NKJV, NRSV) – is abundant.

Ps 48:10 As your name, O God, so your praise reaches to the ends of the earth. Your right hand is filled with righteousness.

Ps 71:19a Your righteousness, O God, reaches the high heavens.

Ps 119:142 Your righteousness is righteous forever, and your law is true.

Isa 51:6, 8 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look at the earth beneath; for the heavens vanish like smoke, the earth will wear out like a garment, and they who dwell in it will die in like manner;^v but my salvation will be forever, and my righteousness will never be dismayed. ... ⁸For the moth will eat them up like a garment, and the worm will eat them like wool; but my righteousness will be forever, and my salvation to all generations.

^v Or will die like gnats

God's righteousness is associated with his salvation, for in bringing salvation God is doing what is right (cf. NCV).

Zeph 3:5 The LORD within her is righteous; he does no injustice; every morning he shows forth his justice; each dawn he does not fail; but the unjust knows no shame.

Ps 99:4b You have established equity; you have executed justice and righteousness in Jacob.

Ps 85:10-13 Steadfast love and faithfulness meet; righteousness and peace kiss each other. ¹¹Faithfulness springs up from the ground, and righteousness looks down from the sky. ¹²Yes, the LORD will give what is good, and our land will yield its increase. ¹³Righteousness will go before him and make his footsteps a way.

This attests to God's righteousness – along with his love and faithfulness – in his dealings with his people.

Ps 103:6 The LORD works righteousness and justice for all who are oppressed.

Ps 111:7-8 The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy; ⁸they are established forever and ever, to be performed with faithfulness and uprightness.

At the start of v. 8, "they" may refer to God's works (v. 7a) – the things he does – or alternatively his precepts (v. 7b).

Jer 9:24 ...but let him who boasts boast in this, that he understands and knows me, that I am the LORD who practices steadfast love, justice, and righteousness in the earth. For in these things I delight, declares the LORD.

Neh 9:8b And you have kept your promise, for you are righteous.

Ps 129:4 The LORD is righteous; he has cut the cords of the wicked.

Isa 28:17 And I will make justice the line, and righteousness the plumb line; and hail will sweep away the refuge of lies, and waters will overwhelm the shelter.

God states that he will make justice and righteousness the standards by which he will judge the evil doers in view here.

Isa 51:5 My righteousness draws near, my salvation has gone out, and my arms will judge the peoples; the coastlands hope for me, and for my arm they wait.

"My righteousness draws near," means that God will soon show his righteousness by what he does – here in bringing salvation and judgment/justice.

Luke 18:7-8a And will not God give justice to his elect, who cry to him day and night? Will he delay long over them?⁸I tell you, he will give justice to them speedily.

Rom 3:25 ... [Jesus Christ] whom God put forward as a propitiation by his blood, to be received by faith. This was to show God's righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over former sins.

In the NT "propitiation" means to turn away or appease the wrath of God against sinners in their guilt. The second sentence means that God's justice requires that sins be dealt with – with the implication that sins committed under the old covenant were not satisfactorily dealt with, and could not remain as such. God dealt with them through Jesus Christ, thus showing his righteousness.

1Jn 1:9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

2Chr 12:5-6 Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and to the princes of Judah, who had gathered at Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them, "Thus says the LORD, 'You abandoned me, so I have abandoned you to the hand of Shishak.'" ⁶*Then the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and said, 'The LORD is righteous.'*

God is shown to be just even in his punishment of people (cf. Neh 9:33 ).

Job 8:3 Does God pervert justice? Or does the Almighty pervert the right? 📖

This implies that God definitely does not do such things.

Job 34:10, 12 Therefore, hear me, you men of understanding: far be it from God that he should do wickedness, and from the Almighty that he should do wrong. 📖 ... ¹²Of a truth, God will not do wickedly, and the Almighty will not pervert justice. 📖

2Chr 19:7 Now then, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Be careful what you do, for there is no injustice with the LORD our God, or partiality or taking bribes. 📖

God "will have no part in" (NASB) nor "tolerate" (NLT, GNT) such things as "injustice... or partiality or... bribes".

✦ It is impossible for God to do wrong:

Heb 6:18 ... so that by two unchangeable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we who have fled for refuge might have strong encouragement to hold fast to the hope set before us. 📖

This illustrates that it is impossible for God to do wrong, for him to do anything incompatible with his holiness.

God is truthful

Ps 43:3 Send out your light and your truth; let them lead me; let them bring me to your holy hill and to your dwelling! 📖

The use here of “truth” quite possibly alludes to God’s promises to his people and his faithfulness to his promises.

Isa 65:16 So that he who blesses himself in the land shall bless himself by the God of truth, and he who takes an oath in the land shall swear by the God of truth; because the former troubles are forgotten and are hidden from my eyes.

As “the God of truth” God will fulfill his promises and will carry out what he has stated he will do. This verse appears to imply that when all this has come to fruition, God’s truthfulness in fulfilling his word will be reflected by people who invoke a blessing or take an oath doing so by “the God of truth”, in order to emphasize the truthfulness of what they have said. (cf. BBC)

John 3:33 Whoever receives his testimony sets his seal to this, that God is true.

In saying that God is “true” (cf. 7:28) Jesus could well be implying that God is truthful (cf. CEV, GNT, NIV). Alternatively, he may be meaning that God is real – the true God – and/or that God is faithful. Note that Jesus refers here to his testimony of what he had seen and heard from God (cf. vv. 31-32).

Rom 3:4 By no means! Let God be true though every one were a liar, as it is written, “That you may be justified in your words, and prevail when you are judged.”

God will remain true and faithful (cf. v. 3) even if or when every person is false. The contrast with men being liars implies that God is always truthful. Paul may be using the subsequent quotation to show that God is justified in what he says and does (in particular in his judgments) or possibly that he is faithful to his word, carrying out threatened judgment for sin.

God is faithful

Deut 7:9 Know therefore that the LORD your God is God, the faithful God who keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations, ...

2Cor 1:18 As surely as God is faithful, our word to you has not been Yes and No.

Heb 10:23 Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for he who promised is faithful.

1Pet 4:19 Therefore let those who suffer according to God's will entrust their souls to a faithful Creator while doing good.

Ps 40:10 I have not hidden your deliverance within my heart; I have spoken of your faithfulness and your salvation; I have not concealed your steadfast love and your faithfulness from the great congregation.

Ps 89:8, 14 O LORD God of hosts, who is mighty as you are, O LORD, with your faithfulness all around you? ...
¹⁴Righteousness and justice are the foundation of your throne; steadfast love and faithfulness go before you.

Ps 89:24 My faithfulness and my steadfast love shall be with him, and in my name shall his horn be exalted.

Ps 111:7-8 The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy; ⁸*they are established forever and ever, to be performed with faithfulness* and uprightness.

Verse 7a means that God is "faithful and right in everything he does" (NirV®; cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT). As noted earlier, "they" (v. 8) may refer to God's works (v. 7a) – i.e. the things he had done in saving and caring for Israel – or to his precepts (v. 7b).

Isa 25:1 O LORD, you are my God; I will exalt you; I will praise your name, for you have done wonderful things, plans formed of old, faithful and sure.

† God is true:

Rev 6:10 They cried out with a loud voice, "O Sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long before you will judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?"

As noted earlier regarding John 3:33, the description of God as being "true" could have in view one or more of the following: God is faithful; God is truthful (cf. CEV, GNT); and/or God is real, the true God.

God's faithfulness is great

Gen 32:10 I am not worthy of the least of all the deeds of steadfast love and all the faithfulness that you have shown to your servant, for with only my staff I crossed this Jordan, and now I have become two camps.

Ps 25:10 All the paths of the LORD are steadfast love and faithfulness, for those who keep his covenant and his testimonies.

The great extent of his faithfulness is reflected in the fact that God is faithful in all he does (cf. Ps 3:4 ↓; Ps 111:7 ↑).

Ps 33:4 For the word of the LORD is upright, and all his work is done in faithfulness.

God's faithfulness lasts forever

Ps 146:6 ... who made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, who keeps faith forever; ...

Ps 119:90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations; you have established the earth, and it stands fast.

Ps 89:2 For I said, "Steadfast love will be built up forever; in the heavens you will establish your faithfulness."

This appears to be implying that God's faithfulness is "as enduring as the heavens" (NLT; cf. CEV, GNT, NCV) – i.e. that it is "unchangeable and perpetual" (AMP).

Ps 89:30-33 If his children forsake my law and do not walk according to my rules,^f ³¹if they violate my statutes and do not keep my commandments, ³²then I will punish their transgression with the rod and their iniquity with stripes, ³³but I will not remove from him my steadfast love or be false to my faithfulness.

Josh 1:5 No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. Just as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not leave you or forsake you.

Ps 9:10 And those who know your name put their trust in you, for you, O LORD, have not forsaken those who seek you.

Ps 37:28 For the LORD loves justice; he will not forsake his saints. They are preserved forever, but the children of the wicked shall be cut off.

Ps 94:14 For the LORD will not forsake his people; he will not abandon his heritage; ...

Isa 42:16 And I will lead the blind in a way that they do not know, in paths that they have not known I will guide them. I will turn the darkness before them into light, the rough places into level ground. These are the things I do, and I do not forsake them.

David promised Solomon that God would not fail or forsake him throughout all the work in building the temple.

✦ God does not fail his people:

Zeph 3:5 The LORD within her is righteous; he does not injustice; every morning he shows forth his justice; each dawn he does not fail; but the unjust knows no shame.

The reference appears to be in particular to God not failing to bring forth his justice.

Isa 31:2 And yet he is wise and brings disaster; he does not call back his words, but will arise against the house of the evildoers and against the helpers of those who work iniquity. 📖

As well as keeping promises regarding blessings, God does not change his mind and take back his words regarding promised judgments (cf. Jer 4:28 ↓).

d) Anger

Although we usually view anger in a negative light, this is not how the Bible depicts God's anger, or wrath. God's anger is always justified and righteous, consistent with his holiness. Moreover, it arises in response to that which is contrary to his holiness. Unlike human anger, God's anger is never uncontrolled, wayward or spasmodic – and is tempered by his mercy, notably where his own people are concerned.

God's anger and its consequences are awesome . . .

Ps 18:7-8, 15 Then the earth reeled and rocked; the foundations also of the mountains trembled and quaked, because he was angry. ⁸Smoke went up from his nostrils,¹ and devouring fire from his mouth; glowing coals flamed forth from him. ... ¹⁵Then the channels of the sea were seen, and the foundations of the world were laid bare at your rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of your nostrils.

Verse 8 poetically portrays God's readiness to potently express his anger (cf. text note), consuming his enemies. Verse 15 may have in view God's devastation of the Egyptian army at the Red Sea.

Ps 90:7, 11 For we are brought to an end by your anger; by your wrath we are dismayed. ... ¹¹Who considers the power of your anger, and your wrath according to the fear of you?

Isa 5:25 Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against his people, and he stretched out his hand against them and struck them, and the mountains quaked; and their corpses were as refuse in the midst of the streets. For all this his anger has not turned away, and his hand is stretched out still.

The LORD's anger burned against his people because they had rejected his law and spurned his word (cf. v. 24).

Isa 9:19 Through the wrath of the LORD of hosts the land is scorched, and the people are like fuel for the fire; no one spares another.

Jer 21:5-6 I myself will fight against you with outstretched hand and strong arm, in anger and in fury and in great wrath. ⁶And I will strike down the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast. They shall die of a great pestilence.

Jer 33:4-5 For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city and the houses of the kings of Judah that were torn down to make a defense against the siege mounds and against the sword: ⁵They are coming in to fight against the Chaldeans and to fill them^m with the dead bodies of men whom I shall strike down in my anger and my wrath, for I have hidden my face from this city because of all their evil.

^mThat is, the torn-down houses

The Hebrew in parts is not clear, but it is clear that there would be numerous dead bodies of men struck down due to God's anger and wrath.

Jer 25:38 Like a lion he has left his lair, for their land has become a waste because of the sword of the oppressor, and because of his fierce anger.

Jer 50:25-26 The LORD has opened his armory and brought out the weapons of his wrath, for the Lord GOD of hosts has a work to do in the land of the Chaldeans. ²⁶Come against her from every quarter; open her granaries; pile her up like heaps of grain, and devote her to destruction; let nothing be left of her.

Lam 2:1-4 How the Lord in his anger has set the daughter of Zion under a cloud! He has cast down from heaven to earth the splendor of Israel; he has not remembered his footstool in the day of his anger. ²The Lord has swallowed up without mercy all the habitations of Jacob; in his wrath he has broken down the strongholds of the daughter of Judah; he has brought down to the ground in dishonor the kingdom and its rulers. ³He has cut down in fierce anger all the might of Israel; he has withdrawn from them his right hand in the face of the enemy; he has burned like a flaming fire in Jacob, consuming all around. ⁴He has bent his bow like an enemy, with his right hand set like a foe; and he has killed all who were delightful in our eyes in the tent of the daughter of Zion; he has poured out his fury like fire.

Ezek 13:13 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I will make a stormy wind break out in my wrath, and there shall be a deluge of rain in my anger, and great hailstones in wrath to make a full end.

Rev 14:9-10 And another angel, a third, followed them, saying with a loud voice, "If anyone worships the beast and its image and receives a mark on his forehead or on his hand, ¹⁰he also will drink the wine of God's wrath, poured full strength into the cup of his anger, and he will be tormented with fire and sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb.

More so than the surrounding subsections, metaphorical or figurative language features prominently in this subsection. There are also a number of references that are generally understood to be eschatological (e.g. Isa 34:2-3; 63:3, 6; 66:15-16; Zeph 3:8; Rev 14:17-20).

Deut 32:22 For a fire is kindled by my anger, and it burns to the depths of Sheol, devours the earth and its increase, and sets on fire the foundations of the mountains.

Isa 13:9, 13 Behold, the day of the LORD comes, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger, to make the land a desolation and to destroy its sinners from it.  ... ¹³Therefore I will make the heavens tremble, and the earth will be shaken out of its place, at the wrath of the LORD of hosts in the day of his fierce anger.

Isa 30:27-28, 30 Behold, the name of the LORD comes from afar, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke;ⁿ his lips are full of fury, and his tongue is like a devouring fire; ²⁸his breath is like an overflowing stream that reaches up to the neck; to sift the nations with the sieve of destruction, and to place on the jaws of the peoples a bridle that leads astray.  ... ³⁰And the LORD will cause his majestic voice to be heard and the descending blow of his arm to be seen, in furious anger and a flame of devouring fire, with a cloudburst and storm and hailstones.

ⁿ Hebrew in weight of uplifted clouds

The final illustration in v. 28 implies that God leads the nations "off to their destruction" (NLT, cf. CEV).

Isa 34:2-3 For the LORD is enraged against all the nations, and furious against all their host; he has devoted them to destruction,^o has given them over for slaughter. ³Their slain shall be cast out, and the stench of their corpses shall rise; the mountains shall flow with their blood.

^o That is, set apart (devoted) as an offering to the Lord (for destruction); also verse 5

Isa 63:3, 6 "I have trodden the winepress alone, and from the peoples no one was with me; I trod them in my anger and trampled them in my wrath; their lifeblood^p spattered on my garments, and stained all my apparel.  ... ⁶I trampled down the peoples in my anger; I made them drunk in my wrath, and I poured out their lifeblood on the earth."

Isa 66:15-16 For behold, the LORD will come in fire, and his chariots like the whirlwind, to render his anger in fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire. ¹⁶For by fire will the LORD enter into judgment, and by his sword, with all flesh; and those slain by the LORD shall be many.

Jer 4:23-26 I looked on the earth, and behold, it was without form and void; and to the heavens, and they had no light. ²⁴I looked on the mountains, and behold, they were quaking, and all the hills moved to and fro. ²⁵I looked, and behold, there was no man, and all the birds of the air had fled. ²⁶I looked, and behold, the fruitful land was a desert, and all its cities were laid in ruins before the LORD, before his fierce anger.

Jer 25:15-16 Thus the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: "Take from my hand this cup of the wine of wrath, and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. ¹⁶They shall drink and stagger and be crazed because of the sword that I am sending among them."

Ezek 38:18-20 But on that day, the day that Gog shall come against the land of Israel, declares the Lord GOD, my wrath will be roused in my anger. ¹⁹For in my jealousy and in my blazing wrath I declare, On that day there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel. ²⁰The fish of the sea and the birds of the heavens and the beasts of the field and all creeping things that creep on the ground, and all the people who are on the face of the earth, shall quake at my presence. And the mountains shall be thrown down, and the cliffs shall fall, and every wall shall tumble to the ground.

The final statement – in view of the preceding one – may well be referring to the effect on the whole earth rather than just in Israel.

Hab 3:12 You marched through the earth in fury; you threshed the nations in anger.

Zeph 3:8 "Therefore wait for me," declares the LORD, "for the day when I rise up to seize the prey. For my decision is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out upon them my indignation, all my burning anger; for in the fire of my jealousy all the earth shall be consumed."

Rev 14:17-20 Then another angel came out of the temple in heaven, and he too had a sharp sickle. ¹⁸And another angel came out from the altar, the angel who has authority over the fire, and he called with a loud voice to the one who had the sharp sickle, "Put in your sickle and gather the clusters from the vine of the earth, for its grapes are ripe." ¹⁹So the angel swung his sickle across the earth and gathered the grape harvest of the earth and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. ²⁰And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress, as high as a horse's bridle, for 1,600 stadia.^q

^q About 184 miles; a stadion was about 607 feet or 185 meters

This is quite possibly speaking of the final judgment, although some suggest that end-time judgments preceding Jesus Christ's return may be in view.

✦ God regularly feels indignation:

Ps 7:11 God is a righteous judge, and a God who feels indignation every day.

God's anger cannot be quenched

2Ki 22:17 Because they have forsaken me and have made offerings to other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the work of their hands, therefore my wrath will be kindled against this place, and it will not be quenched.

Jer 7:20 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: behold, my anger and my wrath will be poured out on this place, upon man and beast, upon the trees of the field and the fruit of the ground; it will burn and not be quenched.

Jer 21:12 O house of David! Thus says the LORD: “Execute justice in the morning, and deliver from the hand of the oppressor him who has been robbed, lest my wrath go forth like fire, and burn with none to quench it, because of your evil deeds.”

Jer 17:4 You shall loosen your hand from your heritage that I gave to you, and I will make you serve your enemies in a land that you do not know, for in my anger a fire is kindled that shall burn forever.

Note that “burn forever” may be hyperbole, indicating that God's anger would burn against Judah until that generation had been destroyed.

God's anger cannot be withstood

See also:

- ... and irresistible [characteristics of God's Judicial Retribution], p. 446

Jer 10:10 But the LORD is the true God; he is the living God and the everlasting King. At his wrath the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure his indignation.

Nah 1:5-6 The mountains quake before him; the hills melt; the earth heaves before him, the world and all who dwell in it. Who can stand before his indignation? Who can endure the heat of his anger? His wrath is poured out like fire, and the rocks are broken into pieces by him.

The final statement reinforces the implication of the preceding rhetorical questions, i.e. God's anger cannot be withstood or endured.

Rev 6:15-17 Then the kings of the earth and the great ones and the generals and the rich and the powerful, and everyone, slave^r and free, hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains, ¹⁶calling to the mountains and rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who is seated on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb, ¹⁷for the great day of their wrath has come, and who can stand?”

^r Or servant; Greek bondservant

Ps 76:7 But you, you are to be feared! Who can stand before you when once your anger is roused?

Joel 2:11 The LORD utters his voice before his army, for his camp is exceedingly great; he who executes his word is powerful. For the day of the LORD is great and very awesome; who can endure it?

This speaks of the day of God's judgment, with the manifestation of his wrath.

Lam 2:22 You summoned as if to a festival day my terrors on every side, and on the day of the anger of the LORD no one escaped or survived; those whom I held and raised my enemy destroyed.

✦ God's anger does not relent until he fully accomplishes his purposes:

Jer 23:20 The anger of the LORD will not turn back until he has executed and accomplished the intents of his heart. In the latter days you will understand it clearly.

God is slow to anger and often holds it back

Ex 34:6-7 The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, ⁷keeping steadfast love for thousands,^s forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, but who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children and the children's children, to the third and the fourth generation.”

^s Or to the thousandth generation

This description of God is often quoted in some form throughout the OT (cf. Num 14:18 ↓; Nah 1:3 ↓). The phrase “slow to anger” occurs nine times in the ESV. Note that v. 7b appears to mean that the ongoing effects of severe punishment would still be felt by future generations. Some commentators think that it also alludes to the sin itself filtering through to later generations, and so being accompanied by appropriate punishment – although this would not apply to any repentant children.

Num 14:18 ‘The LORD is slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, forgiving iniquity and transgression, but he will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children, to the third and the fourth generation.’

Nah 1:3 The LORD is slow to anger and great in power, and the LORD will by no means clear the guilty. His way is in whirlwind and storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.

Ps 78:38 Yet he, being compassionate, atoned for their iniquity and did not destroy them; he restrained his anger often and did not stir up all his wrath.

The latter part of the verse suggests that, in accordance with restraining or holding back his anger, God is generally reluctant to express it to its full extent.

Isa 48:9 For my name's sake I defer my anger, for the sake of my praise I restrain it for you, that I may not cut you off.

Here “defer” may have the sense of “restrain” (NKJV, NRSV; cf. NLT).

Hos 11:8-9 How can I give you up, O Ephraim? How can I hand you over, O Israel? How can I make you like Admah? How can I treat you like Zeboiim? My heart recoils within me; my compassion grows warm and tender. ⁹*I will not execute my burning anger; I will not again destroy Ephraim; for I am God and not a man, the Holy One in your midst, and I will not come in wrath.*^t

^t Or into the city

‡ God is always acting justly when he expresses his wrath:

Rom 3:5-6 But if our unrighteousness serves to show the righteousness of God, what shall we say? That God is unrighteous to inflict wrath on us? (I speak in a human way.) ⁶*By no means! For then how could God judge the world?*

God does not stay angry

Ps 103:9-10 He will not always chide, nor will he keep his anger forever. ¹⁰He does not deal with us according to our sins, nor repay us according to our iniquities.

Note that v. 10 suggests that God's people do not suffer the full extent of God's anger.

Ps 30:5 For his anger is but for a moment, and his favor is for a lifetime.^u Weeping may tarry for the night, but joy comes with the morning.

^u Or and in his favor is life

Expressions of God's anger are only temporary. In contrast to his continual, lifelong kindness (cf. Isa 54:8 ↓), they last only “a moment” (cf. Isa 54:8 ↓).

Ps 85:3 You withdrew all your wrath; you turned from your hot anger.

Isa 12:1 You^v will say in that day: “I will give thanks to you, O LORD, for though you were angry with me, your anger turned away, that you might comfort me.”

^v The Hebrew for you is singular in verse 1

Isa 26:20 Come, my people, enter your chambers, and shut your doors behind you; hide yourselves for a little while until the fury has passed by.

The reference is to God's fury.

Isa 54:8 In overflowing anger for a moment I hid my face from you, but with everlasting love I will have compassion on you, says the LORD, your Redeemer.

Isa 57:16 For I will not contend forever, nor will I always be angry; for the spirit would grow faint before me, and the breath of life that I made.

Mic 7:18 Who is a God like you, pardoning iniquity and passing over transgression for the remnant of his inheritance? He does not retain his anger forever, because he delights in steadfast love.

1Ki 16:2 Since I exalted you out of the dust and made you leader over my people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins, ...

2Ki 17:11b, 17-18 And they did wicked things, provoking the LORD to anger, ... ¹⁷And they burned their sons and their daughters as offerings^w and used divination and omens and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger. ¹⁸Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel and removed them out of his sight. None was left but the tribe of Judah only.

^w Or made their sons and their daughters pass through the fire

2Ki 22:13 “Go, inquire of the LORD for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found. For great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us.”

Isa 5:24-25a Therefore, as the tongue of fire devours the stubble, and as dry grass sinks down in the flame, so their root will be as rottenness, and their blossom go up like dust; for they have rejected the law of the LORD of hosts, and have despised the word of the Holy One of Israel. ²⁵Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against his people, and he stretched out his hand against them and struck them, and the mountains quaked; and their corpses were as refuse in the midst of the streets.

Isa 42:24-25 Who gave up Jacob to the looter, and Israel to the plunderers? Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned, in whose ways they would not walk, and whose law they would not obey? ²⁵So he poured on him the heat of his anger and the might of battle; it set him on fire all around, but he did not understand; it burned him up, but he did not take it to heart.

Isa 57:17 Because of the iniquity of his unjust gain I was angry, I struck him; I hid my face and was angry, but he went on backsliding in the way of his own heart.

Isa 64:5 You meet him who joyfully works righteousness, those who remember you in your ways. Behold, you were angry, and we sinned; in our sins we have been a long time, and shall we be saved?^x

^x Or in your ways is continuance, that we might be saved
God's anger was due to the people's sin.

Mic 5:15 And in anger and wrath I will execute vengeance on the nations that did not obey.

Mic 7:9 I will bear the indignation of the LORD because I have sinned against him, until he pleads my cause and executes judgment for me. He will bring me out to the light; I shall look upon his vindication.

Rom 2:5 But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God's righteous judgment will be revealed.

Those who stubbornly do not repentant of sin and disobedience will experience the ultimate expression of God's wrath on the final judgment day.

Eph 5:5-6 For you may be sure of this, that everyone who is sexually immoral or impure, or who is covetous (that is, an idolater), has no inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God. ⁶Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.

The phrase “because of these things” is here referring to the sinful characteristics listed in v. 5, rather than the “empty words” (v. 6) that excuse them (although it is applicable to the latter).

Heb 3:8-10, 17 ... do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion, on the day of testing in the wilderness, ⁹where your fathers put me to the test and saw my works for forty years. ¹⁰Therefore I was provoked with that generation, and said, ‘They always go astray in their heart; they have not known my ways.’ ... ¹⁷And with whom was he provoked for forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, whose bodies fell in the wilderness?

Verses 8-9 speak of the people hardening themselves and rebelling against God, testing his patience. As such they went astray from God's ways (v. 10), and so sinned (v. 17). The final clause in v. 10 refers to a willful ignorance of God's ways; they had not “understood” (NCV™, cf. CEV) them, although they had had ample opportunity. The result of the people's sinfulness was that God “was provoked” to anger.

Deut 29:24-26 ... all the nations will say, 'Why has the LORD done thus to this land? What caused the heat of this great anger?' ²⁵*Then people will say, 'It is because they abandoned the covenant of the LORD, the God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt, ²⁶and went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they had not known and whom he had not allotted to them.* ￼

Judg 2:12-14a, 19-20a And they abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They went after other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were around them, and bowed down to them. And they provoked the LORD to anger. ¹³They abandoned the LORD and served the Baals and the Ashtaroth. ¹⁴So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he gave them over to plunderers, who plundered them. ￼ ... ¹⁹But whenever the judge died, they turned back and were more corrupt than their fathers, going after other gods, serving them and bowing down to them. They did not drop any of their practices or their stubborn ways. ²⁰So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, ... ￼

Judg 10:6-7 The people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and served the Baals and the Ashtaroth, the gods of Syria, the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites, and the gods of the Philistines. And they forsook the LORD and did not serve him. ⁷So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of the Philistines and into the hand of the Ammonites, ... ￼

1Ki 11:9 And the LORD was angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice ... ￼

Ezra 8:22b "The hand of our God is for good on all who seek him, and the power of his wrath is against all who forsake him." ￼

✦ God's anger arises in response to acts of unfaithfulness to him:

Josh 7:1 But the people of Israel broke faith in regard to the devoted things, for Achan the son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the devoted things. And the anger of the LORD burned against the people of Israel. ￼

Although it would appear to be not as serious as being unfaithful to the point of actually turning away from God (as in the above passages), acting unfaithfully to God in regard to any matter can arouse his anger, as was the case here.

Other things that arouse God's anger

Num 11:1 And the people complained in the hearing of the LORD about their misfortunes, and when the LORD heard it, his anger was kindled, and the fire of the LORD burned among them and consumed some outlying parts of the camp. ￼

Num 32:10-11 And the LORD's anger was kindled on that day, and he swore, saying, ¹¹'Surely none of the men who came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not wholly followed me, ... ￼

2Chr 36:16 But they kept mocking the messengers of God, despising his words and scoffing at his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD rose against his people, until there was no remedy. ￼

Ps 2:2, 5 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD and against his Anointed, saying, ￼ ... ⁵Then he will speak to them in his wrath, and terrify them in his fury, saying, ... ￼

Those who oppose God face his anger.

Ps 78:21-22 Therefore, when the LORD heard, he was full of wrath; a fire was kindled against Jacob; his anger rose against Israel, ²²because they did not believe in God and did not trust his saving power. ￼

Rom 2:8 ... but for those who are self-seeking^y and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury. ￼

^y Or contentious

✦ God's wrath remains on whoever disobeys Jesus Christ:

John 3:36 Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life; whoever does not obey the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God remains on him.

Because of their sin every person is under God's wrath. Those who believe in Jesus Christ are saved from God's wrath, but those who do not believe and disobey the Son remain under it.

II. Loving Characteristics

God's love is one of the two primary characteristics from which his other personal characteristics emanate, the other primary one being his holiness. Comprehending and persistently being mindful of God's love and his associated characteristics provides great encouragement for believers.

God is love – as epitomized in him giving his only Son, to save us

1Jn 4:7-10, 16 Beloved, let us love one another, for love is from God, and whoever loves has been born of God and knows God.⁸ Anyone who does not love does not know God, because God is love.⁹ In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through him.¹⁰ In this is love, not that we have loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.¹¹ ...¹⁶ So we have come to know and to believe the love that God has for us. God is love, and whoever abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him.¹²

The phrase "God is love" (vv. 8, 16) implies that God's nature is fundamentally love, rather than that love is simply a characteristic of God. It is also indicative of God being the sole source of love; love does not exist apart from him. This correlation of God with love is further reflected: by the fact that "love is from God" (v. 7); and in that one who loves "has been born of God and knows God" (v. 7) and "abides in God, and God abides in him" (v. 16).

John 3:16 For God so loved the world,^a that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life.¹³

^a Or For this is how God loved the world

Rom 5:7-8 For one will scarcely die for a righteous person—though perhaps for a good person one would dare even to die—⁸ but God shows his love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.¹⁴

Titus 3:4-5 *But when the goodness and loving kindness of God our Savior appeared,⁵ he saved us, not because of works done by us in righteousness, but according to his own mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewal of the Holy Spirit, ...*¹⁵

God's goodness and loving kindness "appeared" (v. 4) in the coming of Jesus Christ, in whom God's goodness and loving kindness were manifested – in particular by God saving us (v. 5a) through him, and by the Holy Spirit.

Eph 2:4-5 *But^b God, being rich in mercy, because of the great love with which he loved us,⁵ even when we were dead in our trespasses, made us alive together with Christ—by grace you have been saved—*¹⁶

^b Or And

Because of his great love for us, God has saved us by grace through Jesus Christ.

Eph 1:4b-5 *In love⁵ he predestined us^c for adoption as sons through Jesus Christ, according to the purpose of his will, ...*¹⁷

^c Or before him in love, having predestined us

In essence this speaks of God in his love saving his people by adopting them as his children through Jesus Christ.

Ps 103:11 For as high as the heavens are above the earth, so great is his steadfast love toward those who fear him; ...

Ps 108:4 For your steadfast love is great above the heavens; your faithfulness reaches to the clouds.

In addition to 103:11 above, other references to the extent of God's great love being comparable to the height of the heavens include: "Your steadfast love, O LORD, extends to the heavens..." (36:5a); and "For your steadfast love is great to the heavens..." (57:10a).

Ex 34:6-7a The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, "The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, keeping steadfast love for thousands,^f forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin ...

^f Or to the thousandth generation

Ps 145:8 The LORD is gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love.

Ps 5:7a But I, through the abundance of your steadfast love, will enter your house.

Despite the current threat, David was confident that because of God's steadfast love he would again be able to go into God's presence (with the tabernacle probably in view).

Isa 63:7 I will recount the steadfast love of the LORD, the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD has granted us, and the great goodness to the house of Israel that he has granted them according to his compassion, according to the abundance of his steadfast love.

Jer 32:18a You show steadfast love to thousands ...

Ps 33:5 He loves righteousness and justice; the earth is full of the steadfast love of the LORD.

Similarly Psalms 19:64a says: "The earth, O LORD, is full of your steadfast love..." One aspect of the greatness of God's love is that it is seen all over the world, as evidenced by his care of his creatures and all creation.

Matt 5:44-45 But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, ⁴⁵*so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.*

By loving our enemies (v. 44) we are to be like God, who shows love to all people (v. 45b). This illustrates the magnitude and greatness of God's love.

1Jn 3:1a See what kind of love the Father has given to us, that we should be called children of God; and so we are.

The greatness of God's love is seen in such blessings to his people.

God's love is steadfast

Ps 17:7 Wondrously show^g your steadfast love, O Savior of those who seek refuge from their adversaries at your right hand.

^g Or Distinguish me by

Ps 32:10 Many are the sorrows of the wicked, but steadfast love surrounds the one who trusts in the LORD.

Ps 36:7 How precious is your steadfast love, O God! The children of mankind take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

Ps 62:11-12a Once God has spoken; twice have I heard this: that power belongs to God, ¹²*and that to you, O Lord, belongs steadfast love.*

The opening phrases appear to be a literary technique designed to emphasize that which follows. Their meaning may be that God has spoken of the following and the psalmist has heard of this more than once (cf. NASB, NCV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV).

Ps 63:3 Because your steadfast love is better than life, my lips will praise you.

Ps 69:16 Answer me, O LORD, for your steadfast love is good; according to your abundant mercy, turn to me.

Isa 55:3 Incline your ear, and come to me; hear, that your soul may live; and I will make with you an everlasting covenant, my steadfast, sure love for David.

Jer 9:24 ...but let him who boasts boast in this, that he understands and knows me, that I am the LORD who practices steadfast love, justice, and righteousness in the earth. For in these things I delight, declares the LORD.

Mic 7:18b He does not retain his anger forever, because he delights in steadfast love.

God's steadfast love and mercy have always existed. Moreover, the verse appears to imply that they will always continue.

‡ Nothing can separate us from God's love:

Rom 8:38-39 For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, ³⁹*nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.*

God is merciful

Ps 116:5b God is merciful.

Deut 4:31 For the LORD your God is a merciful God. He will not leave you or destroy you or forget the covenant with your fathers that he swore to them.

Jer 3:12 Go, and proclaim these words toward the north, and say, "Return, faithless Israel, declares the LORD. I will not look on you in anger, for I am merciful, declares the LORD; I will not be angry forever.

Luke 6:36 Be merciful, even as your Father is merciful.

Hos 14:3b In you the orphan finds mercy.

Rom 11:30-32 For just as you were at one time disobedient to God but now have received mercy because of their disobedience, ³¹so they too have now been disobedient in order that by the mercy shown to you they also may now receive mercy. ³²For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

Note that v. 32 is not generally interpreted to mean that God made all people become disobedient, but rather that “God has imprisoned all people in their own disobedience” (NLT, cf. CEV). For further comment on these verses see Despite Israel's current state – which has benefited the Gentiles – Israel will be saved, p. 636.

2Cor 1:3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, ...

The description of God as “the Father of mercies” may simply be speaking of him as being very merciful, or more specifically as being the source of all mercy (cf. NLT), in keeping with the subsequent description of him as the God of “all comfort”.

Phil 2:27 Indeed he was ill, near to death. But God had mercy on him, and not only on him but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

God's mercy is great and never ending

2Sam 24:14 Then David said to Gad, “I am in great distress. Let us fall into the hand of the LORD, for his mercy is great; but let me not fall into the hand of man.”

Ps 119:156 Great is your mercy, O LORD; give me life according to your rules.

Luke 1:57-58 Now the time came for Elizabeth to give birth, and she bore a son. ⁵⁸And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown great mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her.

Elizabeth had been barren (cf. v. 7), hence God had shown her great mercy in enabling her to conceive.

1Pet 1:3-4 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! According to his great mercy, he has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, ⁴*to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you*, ...

^k Or And

Lam 3:22 The steadfast love of the LORD never ceases;¹ his mercies never come to an end; ...

¹ Syriac, Targum; Hebrew Because of the steadfast love of the LORD, we are not cut off

God's “mercies” are his acts for his people that are prompted by and manifest his mercy.

Ps 23:6 Surely^m goodness and mercyⁿ shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell^o in the house of the LORD forever.^p

ⁿ Or steadfast love

^o Or shall return to dwell

^p Hebrew for length of days

Ps 25:6 Remember your mercy, O LORD, and your steadfast love, for they have been from of old.

The last clause indicates that God's mercy and love have been expressed since time began.

Luke 1:50, 54-55 And his mercy is for those who fear him from generation to generation. ... ⁵⁴He has helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy, ⁵⁵*as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his offspring forever*.

In keeping with v. 50, vv. 54-55 speak of God being merciful to his people forever.

✦ God is merciful toward all:

Ps 145:9 The LORD is good to all, and his mercy is over all that he has made.

Along with being merciful, God is gracious

See also:

▪ e) God Shows Grace to His People, p. 825

Ex 34:6 The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, ...

Ps 111:4 He has caused his wondrous works to be remembered; the LORD is gracious and merciful.

Ps 116:5 Gracious is the LORD, and righteous; our God is merciful.

Isa 30:18 Therefore the LORD waits to be gracious to you, and therefore he exalts himself to show mercy to you. For the LORD is a God of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him.

Gen 33:11 Please accept my blessing that is brought to you, because God has dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough." Thus he urged him, and he took it.

Ps 119:132 Turn to me and be gracious to me, as is your way with those who love your name.

Ps 67:1-2 May God be gracious to us and bless us and make his face to shine upon us, Selah ²that your way may be known on earth, your saving power among all nations.

This implies that God's graciousness to his people brings his blessing and kindness to them (v. 1), making known his ways and saving power to all people (v. 2).

Ex 33:19b And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy.

This shows that the expressing of his mercy and graciousness is God's prerogative. The fact that God chooses whom to be gracious and have mercy on does not mean that he is unfair in not showing such graciousness and mercy to others. His expression of graciousness and mercy is consistent with his righteousness.

God is compassionate

James 5:11 Behold, we consider those blessed who remained steadfast. You have heard of the steadfastness of Job, and you have seen the purpose of the Lord, how the Lord is compassionate and merciful.

Ex 22:27 ... for that is his only covering, and it is his cloak for his body; in what else shall he sleep? And if he cries to me, I will hear, for I am compassionate.

Ps 103:13-14 As a father shows compassion to his children, so the LORD shows compassion to those who fear him. ¹⁴For he knows our frame;⁹ he remembers that we are dust.

⁹ Or knows how we are formed

Ps 135:14 For the LORD will vindicate his people and have compassion on his servants.

Isa 49:13 Sing for joy, O heavens, and exult, O earth; break forth, O mountains, into singing! For the LORD has comforted his people and will have compassion on his afflicted.

Isa 54:7-8 For a brief moment I deserted you, but with great compassion I will gather you. ⁸In overflowing anger for a moment I hid my face from you, but with everlasting love I will have compassion on you,^r says the LORD, your Redeemer.

Isa 63:7, 9 I will recount the steadfast love of the LORD, the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD has granted us, and the great goodness to the house of Israel that he has granted them according to his compassion, according to the abundance of his steadfast love.  ... ⁹*In all their affliction he was afflicted,^r and the angel of his presence saved them; in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; he lifted them up and carried them all the days of old*.

^r Or he did not afflict

Verse 9 speaks of both God's empathy (v. 9a) – which is not unrelated to his compassion – and his "pity" (v. 9b), a term akin to compassion.

Hos 11:8 How can I give you up, O Ephraim? How can I hand you over, O Israel? How can I make you like Admah? How can I treat you like Zeboiim? My heart recoils within me; my compassion grows warm and tender.

Luke 15:20 And he arose and came to his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and felt compassion, and ran and embraced him and kissed him.

In the parable of the prodigal son, the father is identified with God. As such, this illustrates God's compassion.

Due to his mercy, graciousness and compassion: God is long-suffering; . . .

The pillar of cloud to lead them in the way did not depart from them by day, nor the pillar of fire by night to light for them the way by which they should go.

...²⁶“Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against you and cast your law behind their back and killed your prophets, who had warned them in order to turn them back to you, and they committed great blasphemies. ²⁷Therefore you gave them into the hand of their enemies, who made them suffer. And in the time of their suffering they cried out to you and you heard them from heaven, and according to your great mercies you gave them saviors who saved them from the hand of their enemies. ²⁸But after they had rest they did evil again before you, and you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies, so that they had dominion over them. Yet when they turned and cried to you, you heard from heaven, and many times you delivered them according to your mercies. ²⁹And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey. ³⁰Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets. Yet they would not give ear. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. ³¹Nevertheless, in your great mercies you did not make an end of them or forsake them, for you are a gracious and merciful God.

2Ki 13:23 But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion on them, and he turned toward them, because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, nor has he cast them from his presence until now.

Because of his graciousness and compassion God was long-suffering regarding his people, unwilling to promptly execute the punishments entailed in his covenant with them, allowing them time to turn back to him (cf. NSB).

2Chr 36:15 The LORD, the God of their fathers, sent persistently to them by his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling place.

Ex 34:6-7 The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, ⁷keeping steadfast love for thousands,^u forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, but who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children and the children’s children, to the third and the fourth generation.”

^u Or to the thousandth generation

Note that v. 7b shows that God's grace is balanced: he does punish the guilty, the effects of which are borne for a few generations “of those who hate me” (20:5) (cf. ZBC).

Num 14:19-20 Please pardon the iniquity of this people, according to the greatness of your steadfast love, just as you have forgiven this people, from Egypt until now.” ²⁰Then the LORD said, “I have pardoned, according to your word.

Ps 103:8-14 The LORD is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love. ⁹He will not always chide, nor will he keep his anger forever. ¹⁰He does not deal with us according to our sins, nor repay us according to our iniquities. ¹¹For as high as the heavens are above the earth, so great is

^w Or knows how we are formed

God's removal of our sins is here largely attributed to his compassion (vv. 8, 13-14) and great love (vv. 8, 11-12; cf. Mic 7:18 ↓), with the latter term also translated as "mercy" (NKJV). Note that v. 14 is speaking of moral weakness.

^y Hebrew it was exceedingly evil to Jonah

Jonah was angry (2:1) that God had decided to spare – effectively forgive – the repentant city of Nineveh from his judgment (3:10). God's decision reflected the fact that he is "a gracious God and merciful" (2:2) who cares and has "pity" or compassion toward all he has made (2:11; cf. Ps 145:9).

Isa 57:17-18 Because of the iniquity of his unjust gain I was angry, I struck him; I hid my face and was angry, but he went on backsliding in the way of his own heart. ¹⁸*I have seen his ways, but I will heal him; I will lead him and restore comfort to him and his mourners, ...*

The contrite amongst God's wayward people (cf. v. 15) may be primarily in view.

Note: God is patient – allowing people to repent

2Pet 3:9, 15 The Lord is not slow to fulfill his promise as some count slowness, but is patient toward you,^a not wishing that any should perish, but that all should reach repentance. ... ¹⁵*And count the patience of our Lord as salvation, just as our beloved brother Paul also wrote to you according to the wisdom given him, ...*

^a Some manuscripts on your account

Here the "Lord" most likely is referring to God, although Jesus Christ may be in view. The "promise" (v. 9) is that of Jesus Christ's return (cf. v. 4) – and probably also encompasses the other events of the day of the Lord (cf. vv. 7, 10).

Rom 2:4 Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance?

Here "forbearance and patience" are associated with God's kindness, and so appear to be linked with it in leading people to repentance – "He has been very kind and patient, waiting for you to change" (NCV™).

1Pet 3:20 ... because^b they formerly did not obey, when God's patience waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was being prepared, in which a few, that is, eight persons, were brought safely through water.

^b Or when

This appears to be referring to God waiting patiently for the wicked of Noah's day to repent (cf. CEV, NCV, NIRV).

Neh 9:30a Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets.

In his patience over many years, God admonished the people through his prophets, exhorting them to repent.

For the LORD is a God of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him.*

^c Or repentance

God “waits” (v. 18) – indicative of his patience – longing for his people’s repentance (v. 15).

Jer 15:15 O LORD, you know; remember me and visit me, and take vengeance for me on my persecutors. In your forbearance take me not away; know that for your sake I bear reproach.

The reference may be to God’s “forbearance” or patience with Jeremiah’s enemies rather than to with Jeremiah himself (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV). Note that God’s “forbearance” (cf. Rom 2:4 ↑) is also referred to in Romans 3:25, for which some translations use “patience” (CEV, GNT, NCV) – “...in his divine forbearance he had passed over former sins”.

c) Benevolence

See also:

- e) Epilogue: God’s Vast Blessing of His People, p. 1287

God’s benevolence encompasses his goodness, kindness and generosity – as the following subsections indicate. However, it should be noted that “goodness” and “kindness” are quite general concepts and as such pertain to other character traits as well (cf. introductory comment below in God is good...).

Subsections

- God is good
- God shows great goodness
- God exercises kindness
- God is generous
- God gives good gifts . . .

God is good

See also:

- God’s goodness [reasons for which to exalt God], p. 1274

When the Bible says that God is good, arguably there are two concepts in view. God is good in that he is: (a) morally upright; and (b) generous and kind towards his people (and all his creatures). The first concept reflects God’s holiness (and so is pertinent to the first half of this chapter). The latter concept is plainly indicative of his benevolence. It is more predominant in the following subsection, while both concepts are apparent in this subsection. The two concepts themselves are by no means unrelated, as God’s upright character produces his generous and kind actions.

Ps 119:68 You are good and do good; teach me your statutes.

Ps 25:7-8 Remember not the sins of my youth or my transgressions; according to your steadfast love remember me, for the sake of your goodness, O LORD! ⁸*Good and upright is the LORD; therefore he instructs sinners in the way.*

Ps 34:8 Oh, taste and see that the LORD is good! Blessed is the man who takes refuge in him!

Ps 69:16 Answer me, O LORD, for your steadfast love is good; according to your abundant mercy, turn to me.

Ps 73:1 Truly God is good to Israel, to those who are pure in heart.

Ps 86:5 For you, O Lord, are good and forgiving, abounding in steadfast love to all who call upon you.

Ps 100:5 For the LORD is good; his steadfast love endures forever, and his faithfulness to all generations.

Ps 107:1 Oh give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever!

Very similar statements occur some ten times in the OT (cf. Ps 100:5 ↑) – though not always with the first clause, “Give thanks to the LORD...”.

Ps 27:13 I believe^d that I shall look upon the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living! 📖

Ex 33:19 And he said, “I will make all my goodness pass before you and will proclaim before you my name ‘The LORD.’ And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy. 📖

Bear in mind that this is not speaking of God's “goodness” in reference to his benevolence nor simply his uprightness. The LORD's statement is in response to Moses' request to be shown his glory. Thus “splendor” (GNT) and “glory” (CEV) have also been used to express the Hebrew rendered here as “goodness”. The phrase “all my goodness” really refers to his divine nature as a whole.

David speaks of God's goodness and love (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT) being with him all his life (cf. Jer 32:40 ↓).

Jer 32:40-41 I will make with them an everlasting covenant, that I will not turn away from doing good to them. And I will put the fear of me in their hearts, that they may not turn from

✦ Only God is truly good:

Mark 10:18b No one is good except God alone.

Here “good” refers to perfection, including being sinless.

God exercises kindness

2Sam 9:3a And the king said, “Is there not still someone of the house of Saul, that I may show the kindness of God to him?”

Ps 145:13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures throughout all generations. [The LORD is faithful in all his words and kind in all his works.]^j

^j These two lines are supplied by one Hebrew manuscript, Septuagint, Syriac (compare Dead Sea Scroll)

Hos 11:4 I led them with cords of kindness,^k with the bands of love, and I became to them as one who eases the yoke on their jaws, and I bent down to them and fed them.

Luke 6:35 But love your enemies, and do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return, and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he is kind to the ungrateful and the evil.

Rom 2:4 Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God’s kindness is meant to lead you to repentance?

The expression “the riches of his kindness” highlights that God shows “great kindness” (GNT, Nlrv).

Rom 11:22 Note then the kindness and the severity of God: severity toward those who have fallen, but God’s kindness to you, provided you continue in his kindness. Otherwise you too will be cut off.

Eph 2:6-7 ... and raised us up with him and seated us with him in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus, ⁷so that in the coming ages he might show the immeasurable riches of his grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

Titus 3:4-5 But when the goodness and loving kindness of God our Savior appeared, ⁵he saved us, not because of works done by us in righteousness, but according to his own mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewal of the Holy Spirit, ...

Ruth 2:19-20 And her mother-in-law said to her, “Where did you glean today? And where have you worked? Blessed be the man who took notice of you.” So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked and said, “The man’s name with whom I worked today is Boaz.” ²⁰And Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, “May he be blessed by the LORD, whose kindness has not forsaken the living or the dead!” Naomi also said to her, “The man is a close relative of ours, one of our redeemers.”

In v. 20, “the dead” refers to either Ruth’s dead husband (NLT) or Naomi’s – or both. Redeemers (v. 20) – “family redeemers” (NLT) – had a responsibility to care for any needy amongst their extended family. Coming into contact with one gave real hope of provision for Ruth and Naomi, a sign that God had not stopped showing his kindness to them and so also in a sense to their dead husbands. Additionally, Naomi could also have had in mind that the redeemer could preserve the name of the dead father and son by marrying Ruth.

James 1:5 If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask God, who gives generously to all without reproach, and it will be given him.

The phrase “without reproach” may be implying that God “won’t correct you for asking” (CEV) or possibly that God will not use any fault in a person as a reason or excuse not to give them what they have asked. In any case, the verse points to the fact that God gives “ungrudgingly” (AMP, NRSV; cf. NLT).

Matt 20:8-15 And when evening came, the owner of the vineyard said to his foreman, ‘Call the laborers and pay them their wages, beginning with the last, up to the first.’ ⁹And when those hired about the eleventh hour came, each of them received a denarius. ¹⁰Now when those hired first came, they thought they would receive more, but each of them also received a denarius. ¹¹And on receiving it they grumbled at the master of the house, ¹²saying, ‘These last worked only one hour, and you have made them equal to us who have borne the burden of the day and the scorching heat.’ ¹³But he replied to one of them, ‘Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius?’ ¹⁴Take what belongs to you and go. I choose to give to this last worker as I give to you. ¹⁵Am I not allowed to do what I choose with what belongs to me? Or do you begrudge my generosity?¹

¹ Or is your eye bad because I am good?

God is generous and has the right to exercise his generosity however he sees fit, irrespective of whether there is a correlation with human evaluation. The workers who had worked the longest were not unfairly treated, being paid the agreed amount (cf. v. 2); the owner of the vineyard (representative of God) had simply shown great generosity towards those who had worked less hours.

Rom 8:32 He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things?

Given the context, this may well have our salvation primarily in view; i.e. if God gave up his son to save us – the greatest possible gift – surely he will give us everything else needed to secure our salvation. However “all things” may also encompass our inheritance that believers will receive on entry into God’s kingdom. Regardless, the verse illustrates God’s superlative generosity – as do the following passages.

Eph 1:7-8 In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of his grace, ⁸which he lavished upon us, in all wisdom and insight ...

Titus 3:5-6 ... he saved us, not because of works done by us in righteousness, but according to his own mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewal of the Holy Spirit, ⁶whom he poured out on us richly through Jesus Christ our Savior, ...

The fundamental, essential things of life are gifts from God (cf. Eccl 3:13 ↓).

Eccl 3:13 ... also that everyone should eat and drink and take pleasure in all his toil—this is God’s gift to man.

Eccl 5:19 Everyone also to whom God has given wealth and possessions and power to enjoy them, and to accept his lot and rejoice in his toil—this is the gift of God.

Deut 8:17-18 Beware lest you say in your heart, ‘My power and the might of my hand have gotten me this wealth.’¹⁸You shall remember the LORD your God, for it is he who gives you power to get wealth, that he may confirm his covenant that he swore to your fathers, as it is this day.

God was the ultimate source of the wealth that the people would produce, as it was he who gave them the ability to produce it.

Hos 14:8b It is I who answer and look after you.[†] I am like an evergreen cypress; from me comes your fruit.

[†] Hebrew him

As with Deuteronomy 8:17-18 above, God is portrayed as the ultimate source of Israel’s prosperity and blessings.

d) Jealousy

The Hebrew and Greek words translated as “jealousy” convey a very forceful passion. When used of God, “jealousy” is spoken of in a positive light, as a virtuous attribute aligned with his profound commitment to and love for his people. God’s jealousy in regard to his people is comparable to that of a husband or wife. Their jealousy is a product of their intense love for each other and evoked by anything that poses a threat to their relationship. As such God’s jealousy is expressed in action against whatever threatens his people or his relationship with them. Thus it is expressed both against hostile forces – bringing salvation to his people – and in punishing any unfaithfulness of his people, leading them back to him.

God is a jealous God

Ex 34:14 ... (for you shall worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God), ...

The description of God as one whose "name is Jealous" emphasizes that jealousy is an innate part of his character. This is enforced by the subsequent reference to God being a "jealous God".

Deut 4:24 For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

God's jealousy is sometimes compared to fire devouring or destroying that which has aroused it.

Josh 24:19 But Joshua said to the people, "You are not able to serve the LORD, for he is a holy God. He is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions or your sins.

Far from it being an ungodly attribute, here God's jealousy is mentioned alongside his holiness. Having these attributes, God will not tolerate rebellion and persistence in sin.

God's jealousy arises in response to his people's sin

1Ki 14:22 And Judah did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealousy with their sins that they committed, more than all that their fathers had done.

Ps 79:5, 9 How long, O LORD? Will you be angry forever? Will your jealousy burn like fire? ... ⁹Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of your name; deliver us, and atone for our sins, for your name's sake!

As is implied by v. 9, the people's sin was the reason for God's jealousy and anger (v. 5).

Ezek 23:25-27 And I will direct my jealousy against you, that they may deal with you in fury. They shall cut off your nose and your ears, and your survivors shall fall by the sword. They shall seize your sons and your daughters, and your survivors shall be devoured by fire. ²⁶They shall also strip you of your clothes and take away your beautiful jewels.

²⁷*Thus I will put an end to your lewdness and your whoring begun in the land of Egypt*, so that you shall not lift up your eyes to them or remember Egypt anymore.

Zeph 1:17-18 I will bring distress on mankind, so that they shall walk like the blind, because they have sinned against the LORD; their blood shall be poured out like dust, and their flesh like dung. ¹⁸Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them on the day of the wrath of the LORD. In the fire of his jealousy, all the earth shall be consumed; for a full and sudden end he will make of all the inhabitants of the earth.

Prior to the last sentence, the sin of God's people and his judgment on them is the subject. Some commentators see the inclusion of the "all the earth" (v. 18) – in being punished along with Israel – to be a result of its detrimental influence on Israel and her relationship with God. The same could possibly apply to the following passage, also from Zephaniah, where again Judah's sin is spoken of prior to reference to punishment of the "all the earth". Note that with such references to "all the earth", these passages may well have a more literal future fulfillment or application.

Zeph 3:7b-8 But all the more they were eager to make all their deeds corrupt. ⁸"Therefore wait for me," declares the LORD, "for the day when I rise up to seize the prey. For my decision is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out upon them my indignation, all my burning anger; for in the fire of my jealousy all the earth shall be consumed."

God's jealousy arises particularly in response to unfaithfulness

Ex 20:4-6 You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. ⁵*You shall not bow down to them or serve them, for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and the fourth generation of those who hate me*, ⁶but showing steadfast love to thousands^u of those who love me and keep my commandments.

^u Or to the thousandth generation

Verses 5b, 6 show two results of God's deep jealousy for his people (v. 5a): punishment for those who hate and reject him; and lasting love for those who love and follow him.

Deut 6:14-15 You shall not go after other gods, the gods of the peoples who are around you—¹⁵for the LORD your God in your midst is a jealous God—lest the anger of the LORD your God be kindled against you, and he destroy you from off the face of the earth. 📖

Deut 32:16, 20-21 They stirred him to jealousy with strange gods; with abominations they provoked him to anger. ...²⁰And he said, 'I will hide my face from them; I will see what their end will be, For they are a perverse generation, children in whom is no faithfulness.²¹They have made me jealous with what is no god; they have provoked me to anger with their idols. So I will make them jealous with those who are no people; I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation. 📖

Ps 78:58 For they provoked him to anger with their high places; they moved him to jealousy with their idols. 📖

Ezek 8:3 He put out the form of a hand and took me by a lock of my head, and the Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven and brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the gateway of the inner court that faces north, where was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provokes to jealousy. 📖

God's jealousy is provoked by his people's devotion to any idol, but this one is especially noted – perhaps because it was actually in the temple. It was apparently an idol of Asherah, the Canaanite goddess of fertility.

Ezek 16:38 And I will judge you as women who commit adultery and shed blood are judged, and bring upon you the blood of wrath and jealousy. 📖

Israel had committed spiritual adultery against God (cf. vv. 15-37) and in doing so had shed the blood of children in sacrifices to idols (cf. vv. 20-21), thus incurring God's "wrath and jealousy".

✦ God jealously longs for our devotion:

James 4:5 Or do you suppose it is to no purpose that the Scripture says, "He yearns jealously over the spirit that he has made to dwell in us"? 📖

There are different interpretations of this verse, but it may well be meaning that God jealously longs for our devotion (cf. NCV, NLT).

God is jealous for his people and their well-being . . .

Ezek 36:6-7 Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel, and say to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys, Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I have spoken in my jealous wrath, because you have suffered the reproach of the nations.⁷Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I swear that the nations that are all around you shall themselves suffer reproach. 📖

In his jealousy for Israel's well-being, God would crush their enemies (v. 7), so that Israel would no longer bear the scornful disdain of the nations (v. 6b). Probably oppression by the other nations is also view.

Joel 2:18-19 Then the LORD became jealous for his land and had pity on his people.¹⁹The LORD answered and said to his people, "Behold, I am sending to you grain, wine, and oil, and you will be satisfied; and I will no more make you a reproach among the nations. 📖

This suggests that God's jealousy for his land (v. 18) extended to his people and their well-being.

Nah 1:2 The LORD is a jealous and avenging God; the LORD is avenging and wrathful; the LORD takes vengeance on his adversaries and keeps wrath for his enemies. 📖

Here the cause of God's jealousy (for his people) and wrath appears to be attacks on his people by Assyria, on whom he determined to take vengeance.

Zec 1:14-17 So the angel who talked with me said to me, 'Cry out, Thus says the LORD of hosts: I am exceedingly jealous for Jerusalem and for Zion.¹⁵And I am exceedingly angry with the nations that are at ease; for while I was angry but a little, they furthered the disaster.¹⁶Therefore, thus says the LORD, I have returned to Jerusalem with mercy; my house shall be built in it, declares the LORD of hosts, and the measuring line shall be stretched out over Jerusalem.¹⁷Cry out again, Thus says the LORD of hosts: My cities shall again overflow with prosperity, and the LORD will again comfort Zion and again choose Jerusalem.' 📖

This and the following passage speak of God's jealousy for his people's well-being partly being expressed in God's renewal of: Israel (vv. 16-17; Zec 8:4-5 ↓); and his relationship with his people (Zec 8:3 ↓).

Zec 8:2-5 Thus says the LORD of hosts: I am jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I am jealous for her with great wrath. ³Thus says the LORD: I have returned to Zion and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and Jerusalem shall be called the faithful city, and the mountain of the LORD of hosts, the holy mountain. ⁴Thus says the LORD of hosts: Old men and old women shall again sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each with staff in hand because of great age. ⁵And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in its streets.

God's jealousy for Jerusalem (v. 2) has in view her restoration (vv. 3-5; cf. GNT) and expressing wrath towards her enemies (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT).

... and God is zealous in working for his people's cause

In both ancient Hebrew and ancient Greek, the word that is translated as "jealousy" is also the one which is translated as "zeal" – depending on the context; hence God's jealousy and his zeal are related. God's zeal in the cause of his people – the subject of this subsection – is also reflected in the verses in the preceding subsection which speak of his jealousy for them, and is shown by Isaiah 42:13, Ezekiel 36:5, 38:18-19, 22 in the following subsection.

Note that these verses are repeated verbatim in Isaiah 37:31-32.

Isa 9:7 Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end, on the throne of David and over his kingdom, to establish it and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from this time forth and forevermore. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this.

God's zeal would ensure the introduction of the Messiah's reign, with the associated blessings for his people.

Isa 26:11 O LORD, your hand is lifted up, but they do not see it. Let them see your zeal for your people, and be ashamed. Let the fire for your adversaries consume them.

The expression "your zeal for your people" speaks of God's eagerness to defend his people (cf. NLT).

Isa 63:15 Look down from heaven and see, from your holy and beautiful^v habitation. Where are your zeal and your might? The stirring of your inner parts and your compassion are held back from me.

^v Or holy and glorious

Isaiah knows of God's zeal for his people (and his might) – presumably from what he has done for them in the past and by what he has promised. So in this time of great trial for God's people, Isaiah appeals to God to show this zeal (cf. Isa 26:11 ↑) and his might in working for his people's cause.

† God is always at his work:

John 5:17 But Jesus answered them, "My Father is working until now, and I am working."

This verse suggests that God is zealous in all his work, being always at his work (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). The following subsection further illustrates God's zeal in aspects of his work.

Note: In his jealousy and zeal God punishes his enemies and the ungodly

Ezek 36:5 ... therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Surely I have spoken in my hot jealousy against the rest of the nations and against all Edom, who gave my land to themselves as a possession with wholehearted joy and utter contempt, that they might make its pasturelands a prey.

In his burning jealousy God pronounced prophecies of punishment against the nations who had plundered Israel.

Ezek 38:18-19, 22 But on that day, the day that Gog shall come against the land of Israel, declares the Lord GOD, my wrath will be roused in my anger. ¹⁹*For in my jealousy and in my blazing wrath I declare, On that day there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel.*  ... ²²*With pestilence and bloodshed I will enter into judgment with him, and I will rain upon him and his hordes and the many peoples who are with him torrential rains and hailstones, fire and sulfur.*

The earthquake (v. 19) may primarily signify God's presence, with him poised to destroy the invaders; or it may be one he uses to nullify their attack and begin their destruction.

Deut 29:20 The LORD will not be willing to forgive him, but rather the anger of the LORD and his jealousy will smoke against that man, and the curses written in this book will settle upon him, and the LORD will blot out his name from under heaven.

Ezek 5:13 Thus shall my anger spend itself, and I will vent my fury upon them and satisfy myself. And they shall know that I am the LORD—that I have spoken in my jealousy—when I spend my fury upon them.

Num 25:11 Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, has turned back my wrath from the people of Israel, in that he was jealous with my jealousy among them, so that I did not consume the people of Israel in my jealousy.

Israel had faced annihilation by God in his jealousy (cf. vv. 1-9). However, in contrast to the cases in the previous verses, God's wrath was appeased so that he did not consume the people in his jealousy. This was largely due to Phinehas sharing God's jealousy, and in this jealousy executing one of the main provocateurs (cf. vv. 6-8).

Isa 42:13 The LORD goes out like a mighty man, like a man of war he stirs up his zeal; he cries out, he shouts aloud, he shows himself mighty against his foes.

Isa 59:17-18 He put on righteousness as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head; he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped himself in zeal as a cloak. ¹⁸*According to their deeds, so will he repay, wrath to his adversaries, repayment to his enemies; to the coastlands he will render repayment.*

✦ God is also jealous for his name:

Ezek 39:25 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Now I will restore the fortunes of Jacob and have mercy on the whole house of Israel, and I will be jealous for my holy name.

God is jealous for his holy name, that it not be dishonored or despised. Similarly Numbers 25:11 above refers to God being jealous for his honor.

The NT makes remarkable claims about aspects of Jesus Christ's being and his character. In doing so it shows Jesus Christ's nature to mirror that of God, and so points to his deity (his "God nature"). The NT also often refers to Jesus Christ's "name", making it a further concept that is important to grasp.

John 1:1-2 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. ²He was in the beginning with God. 📖

1Jn 1:1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we looked upon and have touched with our hands, concerning the word of life— 📖

As made clear by the remainder of the verse, the first clause refers to Jesus Christ, speaking of him as being "from the beginning". For further comment see Jesus Christ is self-existing – he is "the life", p. 95.

Heb 7:3 He [Melchizedek] is without father or mother or genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but resembling the Son of God he continues a priest forever. 📖

This indicates that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, had no beginning, indicative of the fact that he existed in the beginning.

Rev 22:13 [Jesus Christ:] I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end. 📖

Alpha and Omega are the first and the last letters of the Greek alphabet, here used together to depict Jesus Christ as spanning all time – as do the subsequent pairings in the verse.

The preceding verse quotes Isaiah 6:10 and suggests that here John may be correlating Isaiah seeing Jesus’ glory with the vision of God’s glory that Isaiah had when he recorded these words (cf. Isa 6:1-10). As such it can be inferred that this verse is implying Jesus Christ existed in Isaiah’s day. For further comment see ... Particularly if the rendering in the text – “Christ” (CEV, NCV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV) – is to be preferred to that in the text note – “the Lord” (cf. AMP, GNT, NASB, NIV) – v. 9 would be speaking of the Israelites testing Christ in Numbers 21:4-6. Thus along with v. 4b this would appear to indicate that Christ accompanied the Israelites during their journey through the desert (cf. Jude 1:5 ↓), perhaps as the angel closely associated with God (cf. Ex 23:20-23; Gen 16:9-10 ↓). (For further comment on v. 4 see God satisfies his people’s spiritual hunger and thirst, p. 931.)

Heb 11:26 He [Moses] considered the reproach of Christ greater wealth than the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking to the reward. 📖

On face value this suggests that Moses was conscious of Christ’s existence – hence its inclusion here. However, it may simply be meaning that Moses acted with the Messiah in view. A further possibility is that the writer is identifying Christ with the people of Israel.

Jude 1:5 Now I want to remind you, although you once fully knew it, that Jesus, who saved^e a people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed those who did not believe. 📖

^e Some manuscripts although you fully knew it, that the Lord who once saved

Most other modern translations follow the alternative translation in the text note which uses “Lord” instead of Jesus (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV).

✦ The “angel of the LORD”:

Gen 16:9-10 The angel of the LORD said to her, “Return to your mistress and submit to her.” ¹⁰*The angel of the LORD* also said to her, “I will surely multiply your offspring so that they cannot be numbered for multitude.” 📖

A number of times in the OT an angel is closely identified with God (cf. Note: “The angel of the LORD” is identified with God, p. 172). This is such an occurrence, with the angel speaking on behalf of God in the first person (v. 10). These occurrences may concern the same angel – particularly as the title “the angel of the LORD” is often used. Some commentators think this angel may be the pre-incarnate Christ.

Rom 6:9 We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him. 📖

Here Paul asserts that Jesus Christ cannot die again because he has already died and risen from death. In conjunction, as he is without sin, death has no claim on Jesus Christ. Note that death’s previous “claim” on him was only due to Jesus Christ taking upon himself the sins of the world.

Eph 3:21 ... to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, forever and ever. Amen. 📖

Heb 7:3, 15-17, 24-25 He is without father or mother or genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but resembling the Son of God he [Melchizedek] continues a priest forever. 📖 ... ¹⁵This becomes even more evident when another priest arises in the likeness of Melchizedek, ¹⁶who has become a priest, not on the basis of a legal requirement concerning bodily descent, but by the power of an indestructible life. ¹⁷*For it is witnessed of him, “You are a priest forever, after the order of Melchizedek.”* 📖 ... ²⁴*but he holds his priesthood permanently, because he continues forever.* ²⁵Consequently, he is able to save to the uttermost^g those who draw near to God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them. 📖

^g That is, completely; or at all times

Melchizedek was king of Salem – probably Jerusalem – and a “priest of God Most High” (Gen 14:18; cf. v. 1). There is no record of his genealogy, birth or death. The writer uses this absence of any information about his death to suggest that his priesthood continues forever, and as such prefigures the eternal priesthood of Jesus Christ.

Rev 1:17-18 When I saw him [Jesus Christ], I fell at his feet as though dead. But he laid his right hand on me, saying, “Fear not, I am the first and the last, ¹⁸and the living one. I died, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I have the keys of Death and Hades.” 📖

The significance of the title “the living one” (v. 18a) is explained by the rest of the sentence (cf. comment on John 1:25 ↴).

Rev 22:13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end. 📖

Ps 72:5 May they fear you^h while the sun endures, and as long as the moon, throughout all generations! 📖

^h Septuagint He shall endure

This is understood to be messianic, speaking of Jesus Christ, as is Isa 9:6-7 immediately below. This suggests that like fear of him should endure forever, so shall he endure (cf. NIV).

Isa 9:6-7 For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government shall be uponⁱ his shoulder, and his name shall be called^j Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. ⁷*Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end, on the throne of David and over his kingdom, to establish it and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from this time forth and forevermore.* The zeal of the LORD of hosts will do this.

Note that the use of “Father” (v. 6) in reference to the Messiah, probably points to his paternal care of his people.

John 5:26 For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself.

The Father has enabled Jesus Christ “to have life in Himself and be self-existent” (AMP). The implication in this verse’s context is that – like the Father – Jesus is “the source of life” (GNT) with “the power to give life” (CEV). (This implication is reflected in the following references, as commented below.)

John 11:25 Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life.”^k Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, ...

^k Some manuscripts omit and the life

Descriptions of Jesus Christ as “the life” (cf. John 14:6 ; 1Jn 1:2) reflect that he has life inherent (cf. John 5:26) as part of his essential nature, and so is self-existing. Primarily they point to Jesus Christ as the source of life – the one who gives life – as the latter part of this verse suggests.

John 14:6 Jesus said to him, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

1Jn 1:1-3 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we looked upon and have touched with our hands, concerning the word of life—²*the life* was made manifest, and we have seen it, and testify to it and proclaim to you the eternal life, which was with the Father and was made manifest to us—³that which we have seen and heard we proclaim also to you, so that you too may have fellowship with us; and indeed our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

The references to it being seen (vv. 1, 3) and “touched” (v. 1) along with being heard, imply that “the word of life” (v. 1) refers to Jesus Christ. In conjunction, he is “the life” that was “made manifest, and ... seen” (v. 2). Being the manifestation of this life, he is the one in whom it is revealed. The suggestion is that through him this life may be partaken of by us, involving fellowship not only with others who share in this life but also with the Father and Christ himself (v. 3).

‡ Jesus lives because of the Father:

John 6:57 As the living Father sent me, and I live because of the Father, so whoever feeds on me, he also will live because of me.

Possibly Jesus is referring to his life as a man on earth; but he could be speaking more generally. One could conclude that Jesus “has life in himself” (5:26), but he has it because of the Father.

Jesus Christ remains the same

Heb 1:12 ... like a robe you will roll them up, like a garment they will be changed.¹ But you are the same, and your years will have no end.

Heb 13:8 Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever.

2Tim 2:13 ... if we are faithless, he remains faithful— for he cannot deny himself.

Jesus Christ remains the same not only in his ongoing existence but also in his character. He cannot be but “true to himself” (NirV®).

Jesus Christ is greater than all people

John 3:31 He who comes from above is above all. He who is of the earth belongs to the earth and speaks in an earthly way. He who comes from heaven is above all. ☞

"He who comes from above" refers to Jesus Christ, who came from heaven above. The phrase "above all" is akin to "greater than all" (GNT, NCV; cf. NLT).

Ps 89:27 And I will make him the firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth. ☞

This is understood to be messianic, as is Micah 5:4 below.

Mic 5:4 And he shall stand and shepherd his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God. And they shall dwell secure, for now he shall be great to the ends of the earth. ☞

This suggests that the Messiah's greatness will surpass that of all others, with all people all over the earth acknowledging his greatness (cf. GNT).

Matt 12:41-42 The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, something greater than Jonah is here. ⁴²The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, something greater than Solomon is here. ☞

The comparisons with people – Jonah (v. 41) and Solomon (v. 42) – suggest that the "something" is in part at least a reference to "someone" (cf. AMP, NCV, NIV, NLT), i.e. Jesus himself.

Luke 1:32a He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. ☞

Being called "the Son of the Most High" suggests that his aforementioned greatness would be far more than that of all others.

John 1:15, 27 (John bore witness about him, and cried out, "This was he of whom I said, 'He who comes after me ranks before me, because he was before me.') ☞ ... ²⁷even he who comes after me, the strap of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie." ☞

John refers to the concept – more marked in ancient times – that an older person was considered worthy of more honor than a younger one, and so generally considered to be greater. In saying that Jesus – who was younger than John – was "before" him and so ranked before him (v. 15), John appears to be pointing to the fact that Jesus existed before him, from all eternity. Jesus seems to make a similar point about himself in regard to Abraham in John 8:53, 57-58 below.

John 8:53, 57-58 Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?" ☞ ... ⁵⁷So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?"^m ⁵⁸*Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am."* ☞ ^mSome manuscripts has Abraham seen you?

Quite possibly Jesus' reply (v. 58) to the Jews' skepticism may have also been alluding to their earlier questions (v. 53), implying that he indeed was greater than Abraham.

Rom 8:29 For those whom he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, in order that he might be the firstborn among many brothers. ☞

Here the term "firstborn" (cf. Ps 89:27 ↑; Col 1:15 ↓; Heb 1:6 ↓) most likely refers to Christ's pre-eminence "among" God's people and/or to him being the firstborn from the dead (cf. Rev 1:5).

Heb 3:3-6 For Jesus has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses—as much more glory as the builder of a house has more honor than the house itself. ⁴(For every house is built by someone, but the builder of all things is God.) ⁵Now Moses was faithful in all God's house as a servant, to testify to the things that were to be spoken later, ⁶*but Christ is faithful over God's house as a son.* And we are his house if indeed we hold fast our confidence and our boasting in our hope.ⁿ ... ☞

ⁿ Some manuscripts insert firm to the end

This implies that Jesus Christ is the builder of God's house, which probably refers to the household of God's people. Thus he is greater even than Moses who was just a servant in the house.

Jesus Christ is greater than all things

Matt 12:6 I tell you, something greater than the temple is here.

As per the comment on vv. 41-42 in the previous subsection, Jesus may be referring to himself as the "something". If so, he may well have meant that he had authority higher than that of the temple and the regulations associated with it and the Sabbath (cf. vv. 1-8). Another possible implication was that as the center and focus for worship of God, the temple had been superseded by the coming of God's kingdom with its King, Jesus himself.

Eph 1:19-21 ... and what is the immeasurable greatness of his power toward us who believe, according to the working of his great might ²⁰that he worked in Christ when he raised him from the dead and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places, ²¹*far above all rule and authority and power and dominion, and above every name that is named, not only in this age but also in the one to come.*

Verse 21 speaks of Christ's authority and power (cf. CEV, GNT) over all other powers – spiritual as well as human – as pointed to by his position of authority at God's right hand (v. 20).

Col 1:15-19 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation. ¹⁶*For by^o him all things were created,* in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him. ¹⁷*And he is before all things, and in him all things hold together.* ¹⁸*And he is the head of the body, the church. He is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in everything he might be preeminent.* ¹⁹*For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell, ...*

^o That is, by means of; or in

In v. 15, "firstborn" (cf. Ps 89:27 ; Rom 8:29 ; Heb 1:6 ) points to Christ's existence before creation and in particular to his supremacy over it, alluding to the privileged status of a firstborn son in a Jewish family. In v. 18 the term has a different usage, speaking of him being the first to be raised from the dead.

Heb 1:3-9, 13 He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power. After making purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, ⁴*having become as much superior to angels as the name he has inherited is more excellent than theirs.* ⁵*For to which of the angels did God ever say, "You are my Son, today I have begotten you"? Or again, "I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son"?* ⁶And again, when he brings the firstborn into the world, he says, "Let all God's angels worship him." ⁷Of the angels he says, "He makes his angels winds, and his ministers a flame of fire." ⁸*But of the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, the scepter of uprightness is the scepter of your kingdom.* ⁹You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions."  ... ¹³*And to which of the angels has he ever said, "Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet"?*

In regard to "name" (v. 4), see comment on v. 4 in Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others, p. 110. In vv. 5-6 Paul applies OT passages to Jesus Christ to illustrate Christ's supremacy; the first two are clearly messianic. In v. 9, "loved righteousness and hated wickedness" quite possibly has Jesus' life on earth in view, with the latter part of the verse then probably speaking of his exaltation to God's right hand, with the joy associated with this "anointing". In the context, "companions" (v. 9) may well refer to angels, though some consider that his people are in view. In v. 9, "has anointed you... beyond your companions" implies that God set Jesus Christ above these companions (cf. AMP, GNT, NCV, NIV).

↳ "Christ is all, and in all":

Col 3:11 Here there is not Greek and Jew, circumcised and uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave,^p free; but Christ is all, and in all.

^p Greek bondservant

"Christ is all" indicates that Jesus Christ surpasses all other things or matters in importance. The phrase "in all" may simply refer to him being in all believers (cf. CEV, NCV, NLT) – but it may have a more far-reaching sense, meaning that Christ permeates everything everywhere (cf. AMP).

John 1:14 And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth. 📖

John and others saw Jesus' glory demonstrated through his miracles (cf. John 2:11 ↓), his transfiguration, and his death and resurrection.

John 2:11 This, the first of his signs, Jesus did at Cana in Galilee, and manifested his glory. And his disciples believed in him. 📖

In turning water into wine (cf. vv. 1-10) Jesus "manifested his glory". As such Jesus "displayed His greatness and His power openly" (AMP), pointing to his divine nature.

John 12:41 Isaiah said these things because he saw his [Jesus'] glory and spoke of him. 📖

For comment on this verse see the comment on John 12:37-41 – under . . . Other OT references to God are applied to Jesus Christ, p. 123.

John 17:5, 24 [Jesus:] And now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had with you before the world existed. 📖 ... ²⁴Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world. 📖

In v. 5 Jesus has in view his return to the Father and the glorified state that he had before his incarnation. In v. 24 Jesus is speaking of his followers being with him in the afterlife, where they will see his glory.

1Cor 2:8 None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. 📖

The title as "the Lord of glory" points to Jesus' glory being far above that of all others. Note that the phrase is also used in James 2:1 – "... our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory."

2Cor 4:4, 6 In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. 📖 ... ⁶For God, who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. 📖

Jesus Christ's glory is such that he reflects the glory of God (cf. Heb 1:3a ↓).

Phil 3:20-21 But our citizenship is in heaven, and from it we await a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, ²¹who will transform our lowly body to be like his glorious body, by the power that enables him even to subject all things to himself. 📖

⁹ Or destruction that comes from

Heb 1:3a He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power. 📖

Heb 7:26 For it was indeed fitting that we should have such a high priest, holy, innocent, unstained, separated from sinners, and exalted above the heavens. 📖

This points to the pre-eminence of Jesus Christ in his glory, speaking of him being set apart from sinful people and exalted above all things – "given the highest place of honor" (NLT; cf. CEV).

2Pet 1:16 For we did not follow cleverly devised myths when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were eyewitnesses of his majesty. 📖

Jesus Christ's majesty is indicative of and can be associated with his glory. Note that Peter is referring to Jesus' transfiguration (cf. Luke 9:28-32, 34-35 ↓).

John 16:14 [Jesus:] He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you. 📖

This is speaking of Jesus Christ being glorified or receiving glory, rather than to the glory that is an essential aspect of his nature (this subsection's theme and which appears to be in view in the above verses). However, in a sense, it does at least point to his glory. The verse speaks of the Holy Spirit bringing glory by taking Jesus Christ's "message" (CEV, cf. GNT, NCV) – particularly that regarding his person and work – and making it (and Jesus Christ) known to Jesus Christ's followers. Such revelation – and the manifestation of it in the lives of his followers – is glorifying to Jesus Christ.

✦ Jesus' transfiguration, manifesting his glory:

Luke 9:28-32, 34-35 Now about eight days after these sayings he took with him Peter and John and James and went up on the mountain to pray. ²⁹And as he was praying, the appearance of his face was altered, and his clothing became dazzling white. ³⁰And behold, two men were talking with him, Moses and Elijah, ³¹who appeared in glory and spoke of his departure,^r which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. ³²Now Peter and those who were with him were heavy with sleep, but when they became fully awake they saw his glory and the two men who stood with him. ☞ ...³⁴As he was saying these things, a cloud came and overshadowed them, and they were afraid as they entered the cloud. ³⁵*And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is my Son, my Chosen One;^s listen to him!"* ☞

^s Some manuscripts my Beloved

Moses and Elijah's appearance with Jesus "in heavenly glory" (CEV, GNB) supplemented and reflected Jesus' own glory. Note that the parallel passage in Mark 9 further emphasizes the brightness of Jesus' appearance: "And he was transfigured before them, ³and his clothes became radiant, intensely white, as no one on earth could bleach them."

Visions of Jesus Christ, indicative of his surpassing greatness and glory

Acts 7:55-56 But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God. ⁵⁶*And he said, "Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God."* ☞

God's right hand side is the ultimate "place of honor and power" (CEV text note; cf. NLT).

Acts 26:13-16, 19 At midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, that shone around me and those who journeyed with me. ¹⁴*And when we had all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice saying to me in the Hebrew language,^t 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.'* ¹⁵And I said, 'Who are you, Lord?' And the Lord said, 'I am Jesus whom you are persecuting. ¹⁶*But rise and stand upon your feet, for I have appeared to you for this purpose, to appoint you as a servant and witness to the things in which you have seen me and to those in which I will appear to you,* ☞ ...¹⁹"Therefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, ... ☞

^t Or the Hebrew dialect (that is, Aramaic)

The "light from heaven, brighter than the sun" (v. 13) was a manifestation of Jesus Christ's glory.

Rev 1:12-18 Then I turned to see the voice that was speaking to me, and on turning I saw seven golden lampstands, ¹³and in the midst of the lampstands one like a son of man, clothed with a long robe and with a golden sash around his chest. ¹⁴*The hairs of his head were white, like white wool, like snow. His eyes were like a flame of fire,* ¹⁵*his feet were like burnished bronze, refined in a furnace, and his voice was like the roar of many waters.* ¹⁶*In his right hand he held seven stars, from his* mouth came a sharp two-edged sword, and his face was like the sun shining in full strength. ¹⁷When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he laid his right hand on me, saying, "Fear not, I am the first and the last, ¹⁸*and the living one. I died, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I have the keys of Death and Hades.*" ☞

In v. 16, the "seven stars" are "angels" of the churches (cf. vv. 20; 2:1) that Jesus Christ subsequently addresses (cf. chs 2-3). The "sharp two-edged sword" (v. 16; cf. Rev 19:15 ↓) represents Jesus Christ's power to execute judgment. Holding the keys of death and the place of the dead (v. 18b), is indicative of Jesus Christ's total authority over their domain.

Rev 5:1-14 Then I saw in the right hand of him who was seated on the throne a scroll written within and on the back, sealed with seven seals. ²And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?" ³And no one in heaven or on earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll or to look into it, ⁴and I began to weep loudly because no one was found worthy to open the scroll or to look into it. ⁵And one of the elders said to me, "Weep no more; behold, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered, so that he can open the scroll and its seven seals." ⁶*And between the throne and the four living creatures and among the elders I saw a Lamb standing, as though it had been slain, with seven horns and with seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent out into all the earth.* ⁷*And he went and took the scroll from the right hand of him who was seated on the throne.* ⁸*And when he had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each holding a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints.* ⁹*And they sang a new song, saying, "Worthy are you to take the scroll and to open its seals, for you were slain, and by your blood you ransomed people for God from every tribe and language and people and nation,* ¹⁰*and you have made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they shall reign on the earth."* ¹¹*Then I looked, and I heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voice of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands,* ¹²*saying with a loud voice, "Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!"* ¹³*And I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea, and all that is in them, saying, "To him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor and glory and might forever and ever!"* ¹⁴*And the four living creatures said, "Amen!" and the elders fell down and worshiped.* ☞

The “Lamb” (vv. 6, 8, 12, 13) is a name for Jesus Christ, alluding to his sacrificial death which in a number of aspects mirrored the offering of a lamb at Passover and/or as a sin offering. For further comment see Revelation 5:1-7 in God works in all eras through Jesus Christ, impacting all things everywhere, p. 530.

Rev 19:11-16 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war. ¹²His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself. ¹³He is clothed in a robe dipped in^u blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God. ¹⁴And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses. ¹⁵From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty. ¹⁶On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords.

This depicts Jesus Christ on his return. Note that a “diadem” (cf. v. 12) is a jeweled headpiece signifying sovereignty, e.g. a crown.

^v Or destruction that comes from

John 10:28 I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of my hand.

No one has the power to snatch Jesus Christ's followers away from him. This illustrates that his authority and power is supreme or sovereign, which is also indicated by Philipians 3:20-21, Hebrews 1:3 and Isaiah 11:4b below – and reflected at least by the other references below.

Phil 3:20-21 But our citizenship is in heaven, and from it we await a Savior, *the Lord Jesus Christ,*²¹ who will transform our lowly body to be like his glorious body, by the power that enables him even to subject all things to himself.

Heb 1:3 He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power. After making purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, ...

Jesus Christ's power over all things is evident in him upholding or sustaining all things. In conjunction, his position at the right hand of God is one of surpassing power and influence.

2Pet 1:16 For we did not follow cleverly devised myths when we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were eyewitnesses of his majesty.

Various other passages indicate that this power Jesus Christ will display on his return will be an all-surpassing power.

Ps 45:3-4 Gird your sword on your thigh, O mighty one, in your splendor and majesty! ⁴In your majesty ride out victoriously for the cause of truth and meekness and righteousness; let your right hand teach you awesome deeds!

This psalm is understood to be messianic, which Isaiah 11:4b below clearly is. Particularly in view of what proceeds it, the last clause appears to speak of the Messiah performing awesome deeds – in conjunction with victory over forces opposed to “truth and meekness and righteousness” (v. 4a) and indicative of his great might (v. 3).

Isa 11:4 ... but with righteousness he shall judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth; and he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall kill the wicked.

✦ Opposing or resisting Jesus Christ is detrimental:

Acts 26:14 And when we had all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice saying to me in the Hebrew language,^w 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.'

^w Or the Hebrew dialect (that is, Aramaic)

The final statement was apparently a common saying alluding to oxen, speaking of how detrimental and futile it is to oppose God. Here it is applied by Jesus Christ to one opposing himself.

Jesus Christ has superlative knowledge and wisdom

Isa 9:6 For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government shall be upon^x his shoulder, and his name shall be called^y Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

^x Or is upon

^y Or is called

The term “Wonderful Counselor” points to the Messiah’s wisdom as being superb, even supreme.

Luke 21:15 [Jesus:] ... for I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which none of your adversaries will be able to withstand or contradict.

Jesus Christ has wisdom far superior to that of any adversary that believers may encounter.

John 16:30 Now we know that you know all things and do not need anyone to question you; this is why we believe that you came from God.

Acts 1:24 And they prayed and said, “You, Lord, who know the hearts of all, show which one of these two you have chosen ...

Note that an earlier reference to the “Lord Jesus” (v. 21) makes it most likely that Jesus Christ is being referred to here as “Lord”, rather than God.

Col 2:2-3 ... that their hearts may be encouraged, being knit together in love, to reach all the riches of full assurance of understanding and the knowledge of God’s mystery, which is Christ, ³*in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.*

This is often understood to indicate that Jesus Christ himself possesses all the treasures of divine wisdom and spiritual knowledge. Paul may more specifically be saying that these things can be found in the message about him, the mystery of God revealed in the gospel. But even so, this is still suggestive of Christ possessing these things.

Rev 2:10, 19, 23b Do not fear what you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and for ten days you will have tribulation. Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life. ... ¹⁹*“I know your works, your love and faith and service and patient endurance, and that your latter works exceed the first.* ... ²³ ... And all the churches will know that I am he who searches mind and heart, and I will give to each of you according to your works.

Verse 10 illustrates Jesus Christ’s knowledge of the future – in addition to his knowledge of all people’s deeds (v. 19) and thoughts (v. 23b).

Rev 5:12 ... saying with a loud voice, “Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!”

In saying that Jesus Christ – “the Lamb” – is worthy to receive the things listed, the implication may be that the worshippers are also ascribing or attributing to him these things – including marvelous wisdom.

✦ Jesus Christ is the power and wisdom by which God saves:

1Cor 1:24 ... but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God.

Through or in Jesus Christ, God’s power and wisdom to bring salvation (cf. v. 21) has been realized.

Jesus Christ is everywhere

Matt 18:20 [Jesus:] For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I among them.

Matt 28:20b And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age.

Jesus Christ is with all believers everywhere (cf. Matt 18:20 ↑) – always.

Eph 1:23 ... which is his body, the fullness of him who fills all in all.

The last clause quite possibly points to Jesus Christ’s omnipresence, as the one who fills “everything everywhere with his presence” (NLT). But there are other possible translations and interpretations. One is that it means Jesus Christ “completes” (GNT) all things – either referring to his headship or to his sufficiency for the needs or wholeness of all things.

Eph 4:10 He who descended is the one who also ascended far above all the heavens, that he might fill all things.)

Here “all things” encompasses “the whole universe” (CEV, GNT, NIV; cf. NLT).

John 3:13 No one has ascended into heaven except he who descended from heaven, the Son of Man.^z

^z Some manuscripts add who is in heaven

The appropriateness of the inclusion of this verse – spoken by Jesus during his time on earth – is dependent on the additional phrase in the text note (cf. AMP, NKJV). It appears to point to Jesus Christ’s omnipresence – suggesting that even while he was on earth, he was at least in some sense also in heaven.

Jesus Christ is holy

Luke 1:35 And the angel answered her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born^a will be called holy—the Son of God.

^a Some manuscripts add of you

As well as in the latter part of the verse, Jesus Christ’s holiness is reflected in the key role of the Holy Spirit in his conception as a human being.

Acts 3:14 But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, ...

Acts 4:27 ... for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ...

Heb 7:26-28 For it was indeed fitting that we should have such a high priest, holy, innocent, unstained, separated from sinners, and exalted above the heavens. ²⁷*He has no need, like those high priests, to offer sacrifices daily, first for his own sins and then for those of the people, since he did this once for all when he offered up himself.* ²⁸For the law appoints men in their weakness as high priests, but the word of the oath, which came later than the law, appoints a Son who has been made perfect forever.

Along with the earlier descriptions of him in vv. 26-27a, being “made perfect forever” (v. 28) further underlines Jesus Christ’s holiness. Note that references to Jesus Christ being made perfect (cf. 2:10; 5:9) are not indicating that Jesus Christ was ever in any way imperfect. A common view is that they are speaking of him being perfectly molded for his high priestly role – in fully experiencing humanity through his suffering. Alternatively such references may be speaking of Jesus Christ as being perfected in the sense of maturing in his incarnation, through his suffering. When he was very young he was not disobedient, but on the other hand he was still to learn to obey, or to obey in the most trying circumstances.

1Jn 3:3, 5 And everyone who thus hopes in him purifies himself as he is pure.  ... ⁵You know that he appeared to take away sins, and in him there is no sin.

Rev 3:7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write: “The words of the holy one, the true one, who has the key of David, who opens and no one will shut, who shuts and no one opens.

‡ Jesus Christ is good:

1Pet 2:3 ... if indeed you have tasted that the Lord is good.

The subsequent verse (v. 4) implies that Peter is here referring to Jesus Christ, rather than God.

Isa 11:5 Righteousness shall be the belt of his waist, and faithfulness the belt of his loins.

Jer 23:5-6 Behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when I will raise up for David a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land. ⁶In his days Judah will be saved, and Israel will dwell securely. And this is the name by which he will be called: 'The LORD is our righteousness.'

As with Isaiah 11:5 above, this speaks of the Messiah, highlighting his righteousness.

Acts 7:52 Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who announced beforehand the coming of the Righteous One, whom you have now betrayed and murdered, ...

1Jn 2:1 My little children, I am writing these things to you so that you may not sin. But if anyone does sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.

1Jn 3:7 Little children, let no one deceive you. Whoever practices righteousness is righteous, as he is righteous.

It is Jesus Christ who is being spoken of here as righteous. Note that the phrase "he is righteous" also occurs in 2:29. There it is debatable as to whether it is referring to Jesus Christ or to God.

2Pet 1:1b To those who have obtained a faith of equal standing with ours by the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ: ...

Heb 1:8-9 But of the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, the scepter of uprightness is the scepter of your kingdom. ⁹*You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions.*"

The quotation is from Psalms 45:5-6, a messianic psalm, in which the preceding verse (45:4) also makes reference to the Messiah's righteousness – speaking of him acting "for the cause of truth and meekness and righteousness".

John 7:18 The one who speaks on his own authority seeks his own glory; but the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him is true, and in him there is no falsehood.

Eph 6:9 Masters, do the same to them, and stop your threatening, knowing that he who is both their Master^b and yours is in heaven, and that there is no partiality with him.

^b Greek Lord

In the light of the preceding verses (vv. 6-8), "Master" appears to be referring to Jesus Christ, but God may be in view.

. . . Jesus Christ judges in righteousness and with justice

See also:

- Eph 6:9 ↑

Ps 72:2 May he judge your people with righteousness, and your poor with justice!

This is from a messianic passage, understood to be ultimately fulfilled by Jesus Christ.

Isa 11:3b-4 He shall not judge by what his eyes see, or decide disputes by what his ears hear, ⁴but with righteousness he shall judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth; and he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall kill the wicked.

In making judgments with righteousness and equity (v. 4), Jesus Christ will not judge just simply on the basis of what is seen and heard (v. 3b; cf. Rev 2:23 ↓).

Isa 16:5 ... then a throne will be established in steadfast love, and on it will sit in faithfulness in the tent of David one who judges and seeks justice and is swift to do righteousness.

John 5:30 I can do nothing on my own. As I hear, I judge, and my judgment is just, because I seek not my own will but the will of him who sent me.

Acts 17:31 ... because he has fixed a day on which he will judge the world in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.

God will judge the world with justice through Jesus Christ – in righteousness.

2Tim 4:8 Henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will award to me on that Day, and not only to me but also to all who have loved his appearing.

Rev 2:23 ... and I will strike her children dead. And all the churches will know that I am he who searches mind and heart, and I will give to each of you according to your works.

Two factors of Jesus Christ's just judgment are that he knows people's hearts and minds, and that he repays each person according to their deeds.

Rev 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

John 8:16 Yet even if I do judge, my judgment is true, for it is not I alone who judge, but I and the Father^c who sent me.

^c Some manuscripts he

A key aspect of Jesus Christ's just judgment is that his decisions are true – which implies that they are “right” (NIV®), “correct” (NLT), “valid” (NRSV). This is in part at least because he is supported in them by the Father – whose will he seeks in making judgments (cf. John 5:30 ↑).

✦ Jesus Christ will establish justice on earth:

Isa 42:1-4 Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my Spirit upon him; he will bring forth justice to the nations. ²He will not cry aloud or lift up his voice, or make it heard in the street; ³a bruised reed he will not break, and a faintly burning wick he will not quench; he will faithfully bring forth justice. ⁴*He will not grow faint or be discouraged^d till he has established justice in the earth; and the coastlands wait for his law.*

^d Or bruised

This messianic prophecy is quoted in reference to Jesus in Matthew 12:18-21. Note that Isaiah 11:3b-4 above also speaks of Jesus Christ establishing justice on earth.

Rev 19:11 Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

Jesus Christ is loving

- Jesus Christ loves God's people – as he showed when he gave his life for them + ref., p. 819

John 15:9 As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Abide in my love.

The fact that Jesus Christ compares his love for his disciples with that of the Father's love for him, shows the enormity of his love for them. The following references from Ephesians 3:17b-19 and Romans 8:35-39 also highlight the enormity of Jesus Christ's love – as do the verses in the above cross references.

Eph 3:17-19 ... so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith—that you, being rooted and grounded in love, ¹⁸may have strength to comprehend with all the saints what is the breadth and length and height and depth, ¹⁹and to know the love of Christ that surpasses knowledge, that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.

Note that in v. 18, “the breadth and length and height and depth” has been interpreted to be speaking of the immensity of either Christ’s love (cf. GNT, NCV, NIV) or God’s love (cf. NLT). It could more generally be referring to the vastness of riches that believers have in their relationship with Christ.

Rom 8:35-39 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword? ³⁶As it is written, “For your sake we are being killed all the day long; we are regarded as sheep to be slaughtered.” ³⁷No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. ³⁸*For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers,* ³⁹*nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.*

Note that vv. 38-39 speak of God’s amazing love expressed to his people in or “through” (GNT) Jesus Christ, rather than the love of Jesus Christ himself. But in light of the earlier reference to Christ’s love – in v. 35 and quite possibly also in v. 37 – it could well be that Paul has Christ’s love in view as the medium of God’s love.

2Thes 2:13 But we ought always to give thanks to God for you, brothers beloved by the Lord, because God chose you as the firstfruits^h to be saved, through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in the truth.

^h Some manuscripts chose you from the beginning

✦ A reference to Jesus Christ’s affection:

Phil 1:8 For God is my witness, how I yearn for you all with the affection of Christ Jesus.

Jesus Christ shows grace . . .

John 1:14, 16-17 And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth. ... ¹⁶*And from his fullness we have all received, grace upon grace.* ¹⁷*For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.*

This may be implying that the Father’s grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. Even so, it points to Jesus Christ’s grace (v. 16). In a similar vein, Romans 5:15 below speaks of the Father’s grace coming through Jesus Christ’s grace.

Rom 5:15 But the free gift is not like the trespass. For if many died through one man’s trespass, much more have the grace of God and the free gift by the grace of that one man Jesus Christ abounded for many.

The “gift” primarily refers to the “free gift of righteousness” (v. 17).

Rom 1:7 To all those in Rome who are loved by God and called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Rom 16:20b The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Acts 15:11 But we believe that we will be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, just as they will.

2Cor 8:9 For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sake he became poor, so that you by his poverty might become rich.

2Cor 12:9 But he said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

Gal 1:6 I am astonished that you are so quickly deserting him who called you in the grace of Christ and are turning to a different gospel—

The term “the grace of Christ” is referring either to the grace Christ showed in sacrificing himself for the sake of others, or to “the grace that Christ has provided” (NirV®) whereby people are saved by grace rather than by their own merit. The two alternatives are in any case very much interrelated.

Eph 4:7 But grace was given to each one of us according to the measure of Christ’s gift.

The reference here is to spiritual gifts, a manifestation of Jesus Christ’s grace.

1Tim 1:14 ... and the grace of our Lord overflowed for me with the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus.

2Tim 2:1 You then, my child, be strengthened by the grace that is in Christ Jesus, ...

2Pet 3:18a But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

1Cor 7:25 Now concerningⁱ the betrothed,^j I have no command from the Lord, but I give my judgment as one who by the Lord's mercy is trustworthy.

ⁱ The expression Now concerning introduces a reply to a question in the Corinthians' letter; see 7:1

^j Greek virgins

Jude 1:21 ... keep yourselves in the love of God, waiting for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ that leads to eternal life.

1Tim 1:2 To Timothy, my true child in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

1Tim 1:13, 15-16 ... though formerly I was a blasphemer, persecutor, and insolent opponent. But I received mercy because I had acted ignorantly in unbelief, ... ¹⁵The saying is trustworthy and deserving of full acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am the foremost. ¹⁶But I received mercy for this reason, that in me, as the foremost, Jesus Christ might display his perfect patience as an example to those who were to believe in him for eternal life.

The reference to Jesus Christ's "perfect patience" (v. 16) – a further characteristic of Jesus Christ – suggests that it is Jesus Christ's mercy in view (vv. 13, 16).

2Tim 1:16, 18 May the Lord grant mercy to the household of Onesiphorus, for he often refreshed me and was not ashamed of my chains, ... ¹⁸*may the Lord grant him to find mercy from the Lord on that Day!*—and you well know all the service he rendered at Ephesus.

Note that the two references to "the Lord" in v. 18 seem to be speaking of two different entities, i.e. Jesus Christ and God (cf. CEV). As such the reference to mercy – as with that in v. 16 – may be to the God's mercy.

‡ Jesus Christ is sympathetic:

Heb 4:15 For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sin.

Jesus Christ can display anger and jealousy

See also:

- Jesus showed righteous anger and indignation, p. 527

Ps 2:11-12 Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling. ¹²*Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and you perish in the way, for his wrath is quickly kindled*. Blessed are all who take refuge in him.

This psalm is understood to be messianic, which is supported by NT quotations from it – and thus applicable to Jesus Christ. The references to anger and wrath are possibly speaking of the Son – hence the verse's inclusion in this subsection. But as the context indicates, they may well instead refer to the LORD (cf. CEV).

Rev 6:16-17 ... calling to the mountains and rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who is seated on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb, ¹⁷for the great day of their wrath has come, and who can stand?"

1Cor 10:21-22 You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons. You cannot partake of the table of the Lord and the table of demons. ²²*Shall we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than he?*

Jesus Christ is jealous for his people's faithfulness to him.

d) Jesus Christ's 'Name'

In biblical times, a person's name represented or embodied their whole person – including their nature, authority and significance or purpose. This concept is in view in references to the "name" of a person.

Subsections

- Jesus Christ's "name" signifies Jesus Christ himself
- Jesus Christ's "name" is correlated with his authority and power
- Jesus Christ's "name" signifies him in his attainment of forgiveness of sins

- Jesus Christ's "name" signifies him in his attainment of salvation and eternal life
- Jesus Christ's "name" signifies him in his gospel and cause – with Christians being devoted to it
- Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others

Jesus Christ's "name" signifies Jesus Christ himself

John 3:18 Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only Son of God.

The phrases "believes in him" and "believed in the name of God's one and only Son" are equivalent – as are "call on him" and "calls on the name of the Lord" in Romans 10:12-13 immediately below. As such, these verses strongly suggest that Jesus Christ's "name" signifies Jesus Christ himself.

Rom 10:12-13 For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, bestowing his riches on all who call on him. ¹³For "everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved."

2Thes 1:12 ... so that the name of our Lord Jesus may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Here the connection between "the name of our Lord Jesus" and "you", and the reversal of the connection in the subsequent clause – "you in him" – correlates "the name" of Jesus Christ with Jesus Christ himself.

John 2:23 Now when he was in Jerusalem at the Passover Feast, many believed in his name when they saw the signs that he was doing.

The phrase "believed in his name" is equivalent to "believed in him" (GNT, NCV, cf. CEV), indicative of the fact that Jesus Christ's "name" signifies Jesus Christ himself.

Acts 9:14 And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call on your name.

To call on Jesus Christ's name (cf. v. 21) is to call on Jesus Christ himself (cf. Rom 10:12-13 ↑). Note that the verse appears to be speaking of calling on him in terms of expressing allegiance to Jesus Christ as the one whom one worships (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIRV). To call on him also suggests turning to him for help, as the one we look to and worship as our helper and deliverer (cf. 2:21).

‡ God sent the Holy Spirit in Jesus Christ's name, in his place:

John 14:26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.

Jesus said the Father would send the Holy Spirit in his name – "in My place, to represent Me and act on My behalf" (AMP; cf. CEV, NLT, 16:7 below). As such the Holy Spirit would represent Jesus Christ's interests and continue his work, doing such things as reminding his followers of everything Jesus Christ had said to them.

Jesus Christ's "name" is correlated with his authority and power

See also:

- Ask for things in Jesus Christ's "name", p. 1225
- ... Do God's work in the "name" of Jesus Christ, p. 1418
- Demons are driven out of people in Jesus Christ's "name", p. 1819

Note that in addition to the above cross references, the verses in the following two subsections also allude to Jesus Christ's name being correlated with his authority and power, as they attribute aspects of salvation being appropriated on account of his name – often by believing in it.

Matt 18:20 For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I among them.

To meet in Jesus Christ's "name" involves seeking to act in accordance with his will and by his authority, in recognition of who he is.

1Cor 5:4-5 When you are assembled in the name of the Lord Jesus and my spirit is present, with the power of our Lord Jesus, ⁵you are to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord.^k

^k Some manuscripts add Jesus

Acts 4:30 ... while you stretch out your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are performed through the name of your holy servant Jesus.

The disciples are effectively asking God to perform such miraculous acts "through the authority and by the power of the name of... Jesus" (AMP; cf. NCV).

Mark 9:38-40 John said to him, "Teacher, we saw someone casting out demons in your name,¹ and we tried to stop him, because he was not following us." ³⁹But Jesus said, "Do not stop him, for no one who does a mighty work in my name will be able soon afterward to speak evil of me. ⁴⁰For the one who is not against us is for us. 📖

Luke 10:17-19 The seventy-two returned with joy, saying, “Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name!” ¹⁸And he said to them, “I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. ¹⁹Behold, I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you. 📖

Bringing demons to submission in Jesus’ “name” (v. 18) was an example of the use of the authority Jesus spoke of in v. 19, which presumably was to be exercised in his “name”.

Acts 3:6-7, 16 But Peter said, “I have no silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk!” ⁷And he took him by the right hand and raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankles were made strong. 📖 ... ¹⁶And his name—by faith in his name—has made this man strong whom you see and know, and the faith that is through Jesus^m has given the man this perfect health in the presence of you all. 📖

^mGreek him

Peter gave the command in the “name” or by the authority of Jesus Christ, his name representing or incorporating his authority and power – “By the power of Jesus Christ” (NCV™).

Acts 4:10 ... let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead—by him this man is standing before you well. 📖

Acts 16:18 And this she kept doing for many days. Paul, having become greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her.” And it came out that very hour. 📖

Matt 7:22 On that day many will say to me, ‘Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and cast out demons in your name, and do many mighty works in your name?’ 📖

Note that while this clearly correlates Jesus Christ’s “name” with his authority and power, Jesus subsequently says that he will say to the people quoted here that he never knew them (cf. v. 23). Some commentators think that their claims to have done such things in his “name” may well be true, while others think that any power they may have exercised was actually of an evil source.

✦ The attempt of some Jews to drive out spirits by Jesus Christ’s “name”:

Acts 19:13-17 Then some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists undertook to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, “I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul proclaims.” ¹⁴Seven sons of a Jewish high priest named Sceva were doing this. ¹⁵*But the evil spirit answered them, “Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize, but who are you?”* ¹⁶*And the man in whom was the evil spirit leaped on them, mastered allⁿ of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.* ¹⁷And this became known to all the residents of Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks. And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was extolled. 📖

ⁿ Or both

Jesus Christ’s “name” cannot be invoked by just anyone as if it was some magical formula. To do anything in Jesus Christ’s “name” one has to be a committed follower of Christ. Furthermore not all Christians are given the gift/s to perform powerful deeds.

Jesus Christ’s “name” signifies him in his attainment of forgiveness of sins

See also:

- God’s people are baptized in the “name” of Jesus Christ, p. 1438

The following verses all associate Jesus Christ’s “name” with his attainment of the forgiveness and removal of sins. Correspondingly, they show that people can be forgiven through or on account of the authority of his “name”. (A similar comment can be made for the following subsection, regarding Jesus Christ’s “name” signifying his attainment of salvation and eternal life.)

Acts 10:43 To him all the prophets bear witness that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name. 📖

Acts 22:16 And now why do you wait? Rise and be baptized and wash away your sins, calling on his name. 📖

1Jn 2:12 I am writing to you, little children, because your sins are forgiven for his name’s sake. 📖

John appears to be speaking of sins being forgiven because of Jesus’ name – “through His name and on account of confessing His name” (AMP).

Luke 24:46-47 ... and said to them, "Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead,⁴⁷ and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. 📖

The message of "repentance and forgiveness of sins" was to be preached "in his name", with his authority (cf. NLT), as the one who by his work has realized this forgiveness.

1Cor 6:11 And such were some of you. But you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God. 📖

This may well be meaning that all three things listed – being "washed...sanctified...justified" – are done in Jesus Christ's name and by the Holy Spirit (cf. CEV, NIRV).

Jesus Christ's "name" signifies him in his attainment of salvation and eternal life

As is the case with most of the verses in the previous subsection and indeed all of the subsections in this topic, in most of the following verses references to Jesus Christ's "name" can be replaced by references simply to Jesus Christ and the verses will maintain the same sense. As such the verses illustrate that Jesus Christ's name signifies Jesus Christ in his attainment of salvation and eternal life.

Acts 4:12 And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved. 📖

Acts 2:21 And it shall come to pass that everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. 📖

Matt 12:21 ... and in his name the Gentiles will hope. 📖

It was prophesied that people would put their hope for salvation in Jesus Christ's name (cf. Isa 42:4).

1Jn 3:23 And this is his commandment, that we believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ and love one another, just as he has commanded us. 📖

This alludes to – or at least can be applied to – believing on Jesus Christ's name for salvation (cf. John 3:18).

John 20:31 ... but these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name. 📖

1Jn 5:13 I write these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God that you may know that you have eternal life. 📖

✦ By believing in Jesus Christ's "name", people become children of God:

John 1:12 But to all who did receive him, who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God, ... 📖

The right to become a child of God is an additional aspect of salvation that one is given through Jesus Christ's name.

Jesus Christ's "name" signifies him in his gospel and cause – with Christians being devoted to it

Acts 8:12 But when they believed Philip as he preached good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. 📖

Philip preached the gospel "about Jesus Christ" (GNT), and the kingdom of God.

Acts 9:15-16 But the Lord said to him, "Go, for he is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name before the Gentiles and kings and the children of Israel. ¹⁶*For I will show him how much he must suffer for the sake of my name.*" 📖

Paul was to take the message about Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, which would result in him suffering greatly for Jesus Christ and his cause – the cause of spreading the gospel about him in order to lead people to believe in him.

Luke 21:12 But before all this they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors for my name's sake. 📖

For the sake of Jesus Christ's name – and so for Jesus Christ himself – Christians would suffer greatly, in being faithful to him and spreading his gospel.

John 15:20-21 Remember the word that I said to you: 'A servant is not greater than his master.' If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you. If they kept my word, they will also keep yours. ²¹*But all these things they will do to you on account of my name*, because they do not know him who sent me. 📖

To suffer on account of the "name" of Jesus Christ means to suffer for him and his cause, doing so as one who is identified with and representative of him.

Acts 5:41 Then they left the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer dishonor for the name. 📖

Acts 21:13 Then Paul answered, “What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be imprisoned but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.”

Rev 2:3 I know you are enduring patiently and bearing up for my name’s sake, and you have not grown weary.

Acts 4:18 So they called them and charged them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus.

To speak “in the name of Jesus” (cf. Acts 9:27-28 ↓) means not only to speak about him, but to do so as his representative, furthering his cause. It may well also imply reliance on him and his power.

Acts 9:27-28 But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles and declared to them how on the road he had seen the Lord, who spoke to him, and how at Damascus he had preached boldly in the name of Jesus. ²⁸So he went in and out among them at Jerusalem, preaching boldly in the name of the Lord.

✦ Christians are called by Christ’s name:

1Pet 4:14, 16 If you are insulted for the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory^o and of God rests upon you. ... ¹⁶Yet if anyone suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in that name.

^o Some manuscripts insert and of power

The correlation between “the name of Christ” (v. 14) and “Christian” (v. 16) underlines the fact that Christians are called by Christ’s name.

Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others

See also:

- ... and Jesus’ usage of “I am” quite possibly alludes to God’s name, p. 121

In addition to “Jesus Christ” or “Christ”, some of the following references are – or appear to be – speaking of an additional name (or names) bestowed on Jesus Christ, without actually stating the name. As referred to in the comments below, possibilities include “LORD”, “Lord” (as in him being the Lord or ruler of all things) and the “Son” of God. Two further names of Jesus Christ are stated below in Revelation 19:13, 16. All these names, given him by God, imply Jesus Christ’s superiority to all others.

John 17:11-12a And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. ¹²While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me.

Some Greek manuscripts speak of the believers referred to here, rather than “the name”, as that which is given to Jesus – as is the case earlier in vv. 6, 9 and later in v. 24. This rendering is followed by some modern translations (cf. AMP, NKJV, NLT) and noted in text notes by others (cf. GNT, NRSV). As it is here in the ESV (cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NRSV) it speaks of the Father giving his own name to Jesus, which besides emphasizing the superiority of Jesus Christ’s name, would also raise the possibility that “LORD” is in view (cf. comment on Phil 2:9-11 ↓).

Phil 2:9-11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, ¹⁰so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, ¹¹and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Commentators differ as to whether “name” (v. 9b) is referring to Jesus Christ’s actual name. If it is, it would probably not be referring to “Jesus”, appearing to have been given after his exaltation (v. 9a). “Lord” would be a more likely candidate, particularly with the mention of all people or creatures acknowledging that “Jesus Christ is Lord” (cf. ZBC). Additionally, “LORD” may ultimately be in view, in light of the description “the name that is above every name” (v. 9) and the fact that “LORD” is translated in Greek as “Lord”.

Heb 1:4-5 ... having become as much superior to angels as the name he has inherited is more excellent than theirs. ⁵For to which of the angels did God ever say, “You are my Son, today I have begotten you”? Or again, “I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son”?

The “name” may have in view Jesus Christ being called God’s “Son” (v. 5). But it could well be the same name referred to in the above passages.

Acts 4:12 And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.

The “name” referred to here and in James 2:7 below is probably simply “Jesus Christ” (or “Jesus” or “Christ”). The verses have been included as they point to the superiority of Jesus Christ’s name to all others.

James 2:7 Are they not the ones who blaspheme the honorable name by which you were called?

Jesus Christ’s name is being referred to here (cf. AMP, NCV, NIRV), although some think that more precisely the derivative “Christian” is in view as “the fair name by which you have been called” (NASB; cf. NKJV, NLT). Either way, this points to Jesus Christ’s name as being “the excellent name” (NRSV).

✦ Further mention of superlative names being given to Jesus Christ:

Rev 19:12-13, 16 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself. ¹³He is clothed in a robe dipped in^p blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

📖 ... ¹⁶On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords. 📖

^p Some manuscripts sprinkled with

Possibly v. 12b is implying that nobody understood the meaning of the name (cf. CEV, NLT), rather than simply not knowing it. Either way, it appears to speak of the incomprehensibility of Jesus Christ’s person and points to the supremacy of both him and the name itself. Likewise the other peerless names given him (vv. 13, 16) also point to his supremacy.

II. Jesus Christ and God

See also:

- Note: Jesus Christ is the Word of God, p. 300

The claim that Jesus Christ is the Son of God is one of the most central teachings in the NT. In addition to this, the NT says much that associates Jesus Christ with God. This teaching forms the basis of a large portion of what distinguishes Christianity from other religions.

- God is Jesus Christ's Father
- Jesus Christ is the image of God
- Jesus Christ has the form and fullness of God – equality in nature
- Note: The Father loves his Son

Jesus Christ is the Son of God . . .

Mark 1:1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.^a

^a Some manuscripts omit the Son of God

2Cor 1:19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, whom we proclaimed among you, Silvanus and Timothy and I, was not Yes and No, but in him it is always Yes.

Heb 4:14 Since then we have a great high priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus, the Son of God, let us hold fast our confession.

1Jn 1:3 ... that which we have seen and heard we proclaim also to you, so that you too may have fellowship with us; and indeed our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

2Jn 1:3 Grace, mercy, and peace will be with us, from God the Father and from Jesus Christ the Father's Son, in truth and love.

Heb 1:6 And again, when he brings the firstborn into the world, he says, "Let all God's angels worship him."

The description of Jesus Christ as God's "firstborn" points not only to his sonship but also to his preeminence as "the firstborn of all creation" (Col 1:15), with his exalted status and exclusive privileges.

. . . Jesus Christ is God's only Son

John 1:14 And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth.

John 3:16, 18 For God so loved the world,^b that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life.  ... ¹⁸Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only Son of God.

^b Or For this is how God loved the world

Heb 1:5 For to which of the angels did God ever say, "You are my Son, today I have begotten you"? Or again, "I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son"?

The rhetorical questions point to Jesus Christ being uniquely the Son of God. Note that here the writer is quoting OT verses that referred to Davidic kings. He asserts that they are ultimately referring to Jesus Christ, in line with the many messianic prophecies that are consummately fulfilled in him (cf. c) Messianic Prophecies Fulfilled by Jesus, p. 494). A further OT reference to God calling a Davidic king his son occurs in Psalms 89:27 – "I will also appoint him my firstborn, the most exalted of the kings of the earth." These OT verses are key to the Messiah being understood to be the Son of God (cf. Note: The Christ is understood to be the Son of God, p. 506). Jesus Christ's claim to be the Son of God was effectively a claim to be the Messiah.

1Jn 4:9 In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through him.

1Jn 5:18 We know that everyone who has been born of God does not keep on sinning, but he who was born of God protects him, and the evil one does not touch him.

The phrase “he who was born of God” quite probably refers to Jesus Christ (cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NLT, NRSV), although some understand John to still have in view anyone born of God (cf. NKJV). In referring to “he” who was born of God suggests that “he” is the only one born of God in this sense – and so God’s only Son. Alternatively it may be speaking of him being the first to be born of God.

✦ A further possible OT reference to God having a son:

Prov 30:4 Who has ascended to heaven and come down? Who has gathered the wind in his fists? Who has wrapped up the waters in a garment? Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son’s name? Surely you know!

Whether or not the reference to his son is implying that God has a son depends upon whether the rhetorical questions are primarily implying that God is the one that does all these things, or simply that no one else does; there is only a subtle difference between the two. If the former alternative is correct then it would appear that this is implying that God has a son, however the latter is more likely the case (cf. CEV, NLT).

God is Jesus Christ’s Father

See also:

- Heb 1:5
- God is both Jesus Christ’s God and his Father, p. 132

Regarding the term “God the Father”, the NT often uses it or the similar terms “God our Father” and our/the “God and Father” – over 40 times in total. Almost always Jesus Christ is mentioned in the same verse, even the same clause. The NT does not refer to “God the Son” (although on occasions Jesus Christ is referred to as “God” – cf. Jesus Christ is called “God” . . . , p. 120). As such the NT would seem to use “God the Father” in a different sense to what we do when we use the term in reference to “God the Son” (and “God the Spirit”). As per the theme of this subsection, the NT would appear to use “Father” as a title of God, primarily to show or reflect God’s relationship to Jesus Christ, his Son.

Matt 16:17 And Jesus answered him, “Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah! For flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father who is in heaven.”

Mark 14:36 And he said, “Abba, Father, all things are possible for you. Remove this cup from me. Yet not what I will, but what you will.”

The term “Abba” was one of intimacy, used of one’s own father.

Rom 15:6 ... that together you may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Col 1:3 We always thank God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, when we pray for you, ...

Rev 1:5-6 ... and from Jesus Christ the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of kings on earth. To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood ⁶and made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father, to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Rev 3:5, 21 The one who conquers will be clothed thus in white garments, and I will never blot his name out of the book of life. I will confess his name before my Father and before his angels.  ... ²¹The one who conquers, I will grant him to sit with me on my throne, as I also conquered and sat down with my Father on his throne.

Jesus Christ is the image of God

See also:

- To know or see Jesus Christ is to know or see the Father, p. 120
- God is revealed and known through Jesus Christ, p. 243

The assertion that Jesus Christ is the image of God – having the nature and fullness of God (as per the following subsection) – reflects and supports the assertion that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

In speaking of Jesus Christ being the image of God, the following verses are probably speaking of Jesus Christ in his exalted state, with his being reflecting God’s. If alternatively Jesus Christ’s incarnation is in view, the verses would be referring to Jesus Christ’s words and actions reflecting the character of God.

2Cor 4:4-6 In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. ⁵For what we proclaim is not ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, with ourselves as your servants^c for Jesus’ sake. ⁶For God, who said, “Let light shine out of darkness,” has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

^c Greek bondservants

Verse 6 points to Jesus Christ being the image of God (v. 4), speaking of the glory of God being seen in Christ (cf. Heb 1:3 ↓) – the “glory of God [as it is manifest in the Person and is revealed] in the face of Jesus Christ” (AMP).

Col 1:15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation.

Heb 1:3 He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power. After making purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, ...

Jesus Christ has the form and fullness of God – equality in nature

- d\) Jesus Christ Is Treated like God Is, p. 128

Jesus Christ's divinity (or “God nature”) is one of the distinctive, central teachings of Christianity. It is largely based on the teachings in this chapter section and the sections cross-referenced immediately above. In addition, it is also shown by: the divine attributes of his being and character that he has in common with God (which are discussed in the first half of this chapter); his supreme power and rule over the world (cf. d\) Jesus Christ as Lord of All, p. 684); and, likewise, his deeds during his mission (cf. a\) Jesus Christ's Authority from God, p. 538; b\) Jesus Christ's Power from God, p. 542; and a\) Jesus Christ's Miracles, p. 559).

Phil 2:5-7 Have this mind among yourselves, which is yours in Christ Jesus,^d who, though he was in the form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped,⁷ but made himself nothing, taking the form of a servant,^e being born in the likeness of men.

^d Or which was also in Christ Jesus

^e Greek bondservant

Here “equality with God” (v. 6b) appears to refer primarily at least to being “in the form of God” (v. 6a). As such the verse would appear to be referring to Jesus Christ having equality in nature with God.

Col 1:19 For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell, ...

The phrase “all the fullness of God” refers to: the fullness of God's nature (cf. GNT, Nlrv) – “the sum total of the divine perfection, powers, and attributes” (AMP); and/or “all of himself” (NCV™; cf. CEV, NLT), meaning that God himself in all his fullness dwells in Jesus Christ. Similar comment can be made regarding “the whole fullness of deity” in 2:9 below.

Col 2:9 For in him the whole fullness of deity dwells bodily, ...

John 1:1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

One implication of the last clause is that Jesus Christ has the nature of God. It may even be the main thrust of it (cf. REB; NET text note).

John 5:16-18 And this was why the Jews were persecuting Jesus, because he was doing these things on the Sabbath. ¹⁷But Jesus answered them, “My Father is working until now, and I am working.” ¹⁸This was why the Jews were seeking all the more to kill him, because not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God his own Father, making himself equal with God.

Verse 18 appears to be indicating that in calling God his Father (v. 17) – and as reflected in his claim to like God be persistently working (v. 17) – Jesus in effect asserts that he is equal to God in nature (cf. NEL) and arguably even in status.

↳ A reference quite possibly to equality in status:

John 5:23 ... that all may honor the Son, just as they honor the Father. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him.

The sense may be “as much as they honor” God (CEV, NCV).

Note: The Father loves his Son

Matt 12:17-18 This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: ¹⁸“Behold, my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved with whom my soul is well pleased. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles.”

Matt 17:5 He was still speaking when, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and a voice from the cloud said, “This is my beloved Son,^f with whom I am well pleased; listen to him.”

^f Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

John 3:35 The Father loves the Son and has given all things into his hand.

This and some of the following verses show some ways that God the Father has expressed his love for his Son, Jesus Christ. The Father has: placed everything in his hands; shown him all he does (cf. John 5:20 ↓); and given him great glory (cf. John 17:24 ↓).

John 5:20 For the Father loves the Son and shows him all that he himself is doing. And greater works than these will he show him, so that you may marvel.

John 10:17 For this reason the Father loves me, because I lay down my life that I may take it up again.

The Father loves Jesus because of his obedience (cf. John 15:10 ↓) – ultimately expressed in Jesus laying down his life.

John 15:9-10 As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Abide in my love. ¹⁰If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love.

John 17:24, 26 Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world.  ... ²⁶I made known to them your name, and I will continue to make it known, that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them.

Col 1:13 He has delivered us from the domain of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son, ...

1Pet 2:4 As you come to him, a living stone rejected by men but in the sight of God chosen and precious, ...

Being chosen by God and in particular being precious to God, reflect the fact that Jesus Christ is loved by God.

✦ Jesus Christ loves his Father:

John 14:31a ... but I do as the Father has commanded me, so that the world may know that I love the Father.

Jesus expressed his love for the Father by his obedience – and the Father loved Jesus because of his obedience (cf. John 10:17 ↑; John 15:10 ↑).

Heb 1:5 For to which of the angels did God ever say, "You are my Son, today I have begotten you"? Or again, "I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son"?

As noted earlier, the writer asserts that these OT verses that referred to Davidic kings are ultimately referring to Jesus Christ, in line with the many messianic prophecies that are consummately fulfilled in him. The rhetorical questions indicate that God has said these things of Christ, and only of him. As such they show that God testifies to Jesus Christ being his Son.

1Jn 5:9-11 If we receive the testimony of men, the testimony of God is greater, for this is the testimony of God that he has borne concerning his Son. ¹⁰*Whoever believes in the Son of God has the testimony in himself. Whoever does not believe God has made him a liar, because he has not believed in the testimony that God has borne concerning his Son.* ¹¹*And this is the testimony, that God gave us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.*

This speaks of God giving testimony about his Son, Jesus Christ, as opposed to testimony that Jesus Christ is his Son. However the terms in which it is expressed imply or point to the latter. For further comment see . . . God himself testified to Jesus and his claims, p. 1048.

The Holy Spirit testifies to Jesus Christ being the Son of God

See also:

- The Holy Spirit witnesses about Jesus Christ to people, fostering belief, p. 1771

1Jn 5:5-8 Who is it that overcomes the world except the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God? ⁶*This is he who came by water and blood—Jesus Christ; not by the water only but by the water and the blood. And the Spirit is the one who testifies, because the Spirit is the truth.* ⁷*For there are three that testify:* ⁸*the Spirit and the water and the blood; and these three agree.*

The "water" and "blood" are usually taken as references to Jesus' baptism and death (NLT, CEV text note, NCV text note). John uses them here in asserting that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was the truly human person who was baptized and who died. (John was refuting a heresy that the divine Christ came upon the man Jesus at his baptism, but left him before his death.) In accordance with these two events (v. 8), the Holy Spirit testifies that this Jesus was in fact the Son of God. This testimony of the Holy Spirit is generally understood to be primarily referring to the ongoing inner witness of the Holy Spirit to believers, although some think it could also refer to the Holy Spirit descending on Jesus at his baptism.

Rom 1:4 ... and was declared to be the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, ...

Jesus Christ's resurrection emphatically showed him to be the Son of God, largely because it vindicated Jesus and his claims. It firstly vindicated Jesus' claim that he would rise from the dead, and accordingly gave credence to his others claims – notably his claim to be the Son of God. This verse speaks of the Holy Spirit playing a key role in this declaration of Jesus Christ's sonship in his resurrection. More specifically, possibly it is primarily speaking of the Holy Spirit's role in the revelation of the implications of Jesus Christ's resurrection; alternatively it may be speaking of the Holy Spirit actually bringing about Christ's resurrection (cf. NLT).

1Tim 3:16 Great indeed, we confess, is the mystery of godliness: He^k was manifested in the flesh, vindicated^l by the Spirit,^m seen by angels, proclaimed among the nations, believed on in the world, taken up in glory.

^k Greek Who; some manuscripts God; others Which

^l Or justified

^m Or vindicated in spirit

Here "Spirit" could alternatively be translated "spirit" (ESV text note, NCV, NRSV) referring to Jesus' own human spirit. If "Spirit" is to be preferred, the phrase "vindicated by the Spirit" would be referring to the Holy Spirit empowering Jesus to perform miracles and in particular to the Holy Spirit having a role in his resurrection. By such things the Holy Spirit vindicated Jesus and his claims, including his claim to be the Son of God.

‡ The Holy Spirit coming on Jesus at his baptism supported the declaration that Jesus was God's Son:

Matt 3:16-17 And when Jesus was baptized, immediately he went up from the water, and behold, the heavens were opened to him,ⁿ and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming to rest on him; ¹⁷*and behold, a voice from heaven said, "This is my beloved Son,^o with whom I am well pleased."*

ⁿ Some manuscripts omit to him

^o Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

God's verbal testimony to Jesus Christ being his Son (v. 17) is supported by God anointing Jesus Christ with his Spirit, in a manner that was apparently visible (v. 16).

Jesus Christ himself testified to being the Son of God – which is why he was crucified

Matt 26:63-68 But Jesus remained silent. And the high priest said to him, “I adjure you by the living God, tell us if you are the Christ, the Son of God.” ⁶⁴Jesus said to him, “You have said so. But I tell you, from now on you will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of Power and coming on the clouds of heaven.” ⁶⁵Then the high priest tore his robes and said, “He has uttered blasphemy. What further witnesses do we need? You have now heard his blasphemy. ⁶⁶What is your judgment?” They answered, “He deserves death.” ⁶⁷Then they spit in his face and struck him. And some slapped him, ⁶⁸saying, “Prophecy to us, you Christ! Who is it that struck you?”

Luke 22:70 So they all said, “Are you the Son of God, then?” And he said to them, “You say that I am.”

Jesus’ response appears to have the sense: “You rightly say that I am.” (NKJV; cf. AMP, NASB, NIV, NLT).

John 5:17-18 But Jesus answered them, “My Father is working until now, and I am working.” ¹⁸*This was why the Jews were seeking all the more to kill him, because not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God his own Father, making himself equal with God.*

By calling God his own Father, Jesus asserted that he was the Son of God.

John 10:36 ... do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God?’

Comment on this verse is given later in this chapter (cf. Jesus Christ’s deeds are evidence that he is the Son of God, p. 118; and Further evidence of Jesus Christ’s identification with God, p. 125).

Rev 2:18 And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write: ‘The words of the Son of God, who has eyes like a flame of fire, and whose feet are like burnished bronze.’

Jesus Christ is the speaker here.

Matt 27:37-43 And over his head they put the charge against him, which read, “This is Jesus, the King of the Jews.” ³⁸Then two robbers were crucified with him, one on the right and one on the left. ³⁹And those who passed by derided him, wagging their heads ⁴⁰and saying, “You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, save yourself! If you are the Son of God, come down from the cross.” ⁴¹So also the chief priests, with the scribes and elders, mocked him, saying, ⁴²“He saved others; he cannot save himself. He is the King of Israel; let him come down now from the cross, and we will believe in him.” ⁴³He trusts in God; let God deliver him now, if he desires him. For he said, ‘I am the Son of God.’”

John 19:7 The Jews^p answered him, “We have a law, and according to that law he ought to die because he has made himself the Son of God.”

^p Greek Ioudaioi probably refers here to Jewish religious leaders, and others under their influence, in that time; also verses 12, 14, 31, 38

Matt 27:27-29 Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the governor’s headquarters,^q and they gathered the whole battalion^r before him. ²⁸And they stripped him and put a scarlet robe on him, ²⁹*and twisting together a crown of thorns, they put it on his head and put a reed in his right hand. And kneeling before him, they mocked him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!”*

^q Greek the praetorium

^r Greek cohort; a tenth of a Roman legion, usually about 600 men

This shows that the soldiers understood that Jesus was to be crucified for claiming to be the Christ, the King of the Jews.

John 11:27 She [Martha] said to him, “Yes, Lord; I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, who is coming into the world.”

Acts 9:20 And immediately he [Saul] proclaimed Jesus in the synagogues, saying, “He is the Son of God.”

Matt 27:54 When the centurion and those who were with him, keeping watch over Jesus, saw the earthquake and what took place, they were filled with awe and said, “Truly this was the Son^t of God!”

Mark 5:7 And crying out with a loud voice, he said, “What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I adjure you by God, do not torment me.”

These words were from an evil spirit, speaking through the man he possessed.

The disciples’ conclusion that Jesus was the Son of God (v. 33) appears to be in response to: Jesus walking on the water (v. 25); Jesus enabling Peter to walk on the water (v. 29); and the quieting of the strong, threatening wind (v. 32).

John 10:36-38 ... do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’? ³⁷If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me; ³⁸but if I do them, even though you do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father.

In vv. 37-38 Jesus implies that the fact that he does what God his Father does – showing that God is in him and he in God – indicates that he is God’s Son (v. 36b).

John 20:30-31 Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; ³¹but these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

The phrase “these are written” (v. 31) refers to the miraculous signs performed by Jesus that John did record as testimony to Jesus being the Son of God, his miraculous deeds giving credence to his miraculous claim.

John 1:47-49 Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him and said of him, “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no deceit!” ⁴⁸Nathanael said to him, “How do you know me?” Jesus answered him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.” ⁴⁹Nathanael answered him, “Rabbi, you are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!”

Along with his actions, Jesus’ words pointed to him being the Son of God. Here Jesus’ words reveal his supernatural knowledge, evidencing that he was the Son of God.

Other events of Jesus Christ’s incarnation are evidence that he is the Son of God

Luke 1:31, 34-35 And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus. ... ³⁴And Mary said to the angel, “How will this be, since I am a virgin?” ³⁵And the angel answered her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born^v will be called holy—the Son of God.”

^u Greek since I do not know a man

The fact that in his advent Jesus was conceived through God’s Holy Spirit and power (v. 35a) is evidence that he is God’s Son (v. 35b). For further comment see Jesus was born, of Mary – after being conceived through the Holy Spirit . . ., p. 517.

Matt 17:1-3, 5-6 And after six days Jesus took with him Peter and James, and John his brother, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. ²And he was transfigured before them, and his face shone like the sun, and his clothes became white as light. ³And behold, there appeared to them Moses and Elijah, talking with him. ¶ ... ⁵He was still speaking when, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and a voice from the cloud said, “This is my beloved Son,^w with whom I am well pleased; listen to him.” ⁶When the disciples heard this, they fell on their faces and were terrified. ¶

^w Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

Just as the Holy Spirit coming on Jesus at his baptism supported the declaration that Jesus was God’s Son (cf. Matt 3:16-17), God’s verbal testimony to Jesus Christ being his Son (v. 5) is supported by Jesus’ transfiguration (v. 2) and the appearance of Moses and Elijah, talking with him (v. 3). Moses and Elijah’s presence point to the significance of what Jesus would accomplish, bringing God’s people ultimate redemption and turn them to God. They were in a number of ways forerunners of Jesus.

Matt 27:50-54 And Jesus cried out again with a loud voice and yielded up his spirit. ⁵¹And behold, the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. And the earth shook, and the rocks were split. ⁵²The tombs also were opened. And many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised, ⁵³and coming out of the tombs after his resurrection they went into the holy city and appeared to many. ⁵⁴When the centurion and those who were with him, keeping watch over Jesus, saw the earthquake and what took place, they were filled with awe and said, “Truly this was the Son^x of God!” ¶

Jesus Christ and the Father are one – each is in the other

John 10:30, 36-38 I and the Father are one.” ¶ ... ³⁶do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’? ³⁷If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me; ³⁸but if I do them, even though you do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father. ¶

Both here and in 14:10-11 below Jesus claims that what he does shows that he and the Father are one, for in doing his miracles he does what the Father does.

John 17:11, 21-23 And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. ¶ ... ²¹that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me. ²²The glory that you have given me I have given to them, that they may be one even as we are one, ²³*I in them and you* in me, that they may become perfectly one, so that the world may know that you sent me and loved them even as you loved me.

That believers can be one as the Father and Jesus Christ are one (vv. 11b, 21-22) and that Jesus can be in them seemingly in a similar sense to the Father being in him (v. 23; cf. John 10:38b ↑; John 14:10, 20 ↓), suggests that this being “one” points to such things as a spiritual union and a unity of purpose.

John 14:10-11, 20 Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own authority, but the Father who dwells in me does his works. ¹¹Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in me, or else believe on account of the works themselves.  ... ²⁰In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

The words Jesus spoke (v. 10b) as well as his miracles (v. 11b) were ultimately due to the Father dwelling in Jesus Christ doing his work.

✦ Prophecy that the Messiah would be close to God:

Zec 13:7a “Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, against the man who stands next to me,” declares the LORD of hosts.

The clause “the man who stands next to me” (“my partner” – NLT, cf. NASB, NRSV) appears to point to the closeness or even the oneness of Jesus Christ – God’s shepherd – with God. As the Hebrew is used elsewhere to indicate a close relative, some also see it as implying that Jesus Christ shares God’s nature. Jeremiah 30:21 similarly speaks of the Messiah being close to God, quoting God as saying: “Their prince shall be one of themselves; their ruler shall come out from their midst; I will make him draw near, and he shall approach me, for who would dare of himself to approach me? declares the LORD.”

John 12:45 And whoever sees me sees him who sent me.

This and 14:7-9 below are unlikely meaning that those who saw Jesus saw the Father’s physical appearance. The verses are probably speaking of Jesus: representing the Father, carrying out the will of the Father who sent him (cf. 12:45); and reflecting or embodying what the Father was like (cf. John 14:7-9 ↓).

John 14:7-9 If you had known me, you would have known my Father also.^a From now on you do know him and have seen him.”⁸ Philip said to him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is enough for us.”⁹ Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and you still do not know me, Philip? *Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. Heb 1:8 But of the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, the scepter of uprightness is the scepter of your kingdom."

The quotation is from Psalms 45:6, where "God" appears to be applied in some sense to a Davidic king. As indicated here in Hebrews 1:8, this application is ultimately fulfilled in Jesus Christ.

1Jn 5:20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

"He is the true God" could refer to Jesus Christ, as he is mentioned immediately beforehand and typically is more often and directly associated with "eternal life" – as per earlier in the chapter (vv. 11-13) and in the prologue (1:1-3). But it could also refer to God, as he is the subject of the latter part of the previous statement and "true" is used of him twice earlier in the verse.

... and Jesus' usage of "I am" quite possibly alludes to God's name

▪ Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others, p. 110

In the following selections from John chapters 8, 13 and 18, Jesus uses the phrase "I am" in a manner that may well be a reference to the name God gave for himself to Moses – "I AM WHO I AM" and its shortened form "I AM" – in Exodus 3:14. This is supported by the GNT and NLT translations and text notes in the CEV and NASB (as noted in a couple of the comments below).

John 8:24, 28 I told you that you would die in your sins, for unless you believe that I am he you will die in your sins.  ...
²⁸So Jesus said to them, "When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am he, and that I do nothing on my own authority, but speak just as the Father taught me.

The Greek translated as "I am he" (vv. 24, 28) may simply be a reference to Jesus being the promised Messiah, and is used in such an ordinary sense in 9:9 by a man Jesus healed. However, the Greek phrase simply means "I am". Consequently, some other translations support an allusion to Exodus 3:14 – "I Am Who I Am" (GNT) and "I AM" (NLT); cf. text notes in CEV, NASB.

John 8:57-59 So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?"^k ⁵⁸*Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am."*
⁵⁹So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

^k Some manuscripts has Abraham seen you?

This is probably the most pointed of all the possible references to God's name, with most modern translations using "I am" for the phrase in question. This is affirmed by the Jews' response, stoning being the penalty for blasphemy. However, even if this is the case, given that Jesus is speaking about existing before Abraham and with God's use of "I AM" in Exodus apparently referring in part at least to his eternal existence, arguably Jesus may be alluding to sharing God's nature – in particular God's eternity, pointing to his (Jesus') preexistence (cf. NLT footnote) – rather than meaning he is one and the same being as God. The Jews would have also considered such a claim to be blasphemy. Note that if the Jews did think that Jesus was claiming to be God, presumably they did not continue to do so. For there is no mention of such a claim in the accounts of Jesus' trial – in contrast to Jesus' claims to be the messianic King of Israel, the Son of God (cf. Jesus Christ himself testified to being the Son of God – which is why he was crucified, p. 117).

John 13:19 I am telling you this now, before it takes place, that when it does take place you may believe that I am he.

John 18:4-8 Then Jesus, knowing all that would happen to him, came forward and said to them, “Whom do you seek?”
⁵They answered him, “Jesus of Nazareth.” *Jesus said to them, “I am he.”*¹ Judas, who betrayed him, was standing with them.
⁶When Jesus^m said to them, “I am he,” they drew back and fell to the ground.⁷ So he asked them again, “Whom do you seek?” And they said, “Jesus of Nazareth.”⁸ Jesus answered, “I told you that I am he. So, if you seek me, let these men go.”

¹ Greek I am; also verses 6, 8

^m Greek he

Again the Greek reads “I am” in vv. 5, 6, 8 (cf. text notes in CEV, NLT). Note that Ezekiel falls on his face in response to manifestations of God (cf. Ezek 1:28; 44:4) and in seeing Jesus Christ in a vision, John “fell at his feet as though dead” (Rev 1:17). Such responses to divine revelation and the lack of an alternative explanation, suggest that the reason why those who came to arrest Jesus drew back and fell to the ground was that they had some sense of a divine revelation in Jesus’ use of “I am”.

✦ Jesus’ use of “I am” in descriptions of himself:

John 6:35 Jesus said to them, “I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst.

In John, Jesus makes 7 metaphorical statements about himself that begin with “I am”. “I am the bread of life” (6:35, 48; cf. v. 51); “I am the light of the world” (8:12; 9:5); “I am the door” (10:7, 9); “I am the good shepherd” (10:11, 14); “I am the resurrection and the life” (11:25); “I am the way, the truth, and the life” (14:6); and “I am the true vine” (15:1). Some evangelical scholars understand Jesus’ use of “I am” in these statements to also be alluding to God’s name.

Titles of God are applied to Jesus Christ . . .

Acts 3:14 But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, ...

The title “the Holy One” is applied to God numerous times, particularly in Isaiah. God is referred to as the “Righteous One” in Proverbs 21:12 and Isaiah 24:16.

Luke 2:11 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord.

The Greek word used for “Lord” in the NT, “kurios”, is the same Greek word used for God’s name – “LORD” (or “Yahweh”) – in the Septuagint (the Greek version of the OT). However, note that “kurios” is also used in the Septuagint to translate “Adon” (and derivative terms) which means “lord”, “ruler” or “master”.

1Cor 2:8 None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

The title “the Lord of glory” may allude to the titles or descriptions of God as “the King of glory” (Ps 24:7-10) and “the God of glory” (Ps 29:3).

Rev 1:7b-18 I am the first and the last,¹⁸ and the living one. I died, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I have the keys of Death and Hades.

The designation “the living One” – here referring to Jesus Christ – possibly alludes to the references to God as “the living God”.

Rev 17:14 They will make war on the Lamb, and the Lamb will conquer them, for he is Lord of lords and King of kings, and those with him are called and chosen and faithful.

Similarly 19:16 ascribes to Jesus Christ the title: “King of kings and Lord of lords”. These titles echo the following titles given to God: “God of gods and Lord of lords” (Deut 10:17); “Lord of lords” (Psalm 136:3); “God of gods and Lord of kings” (Dan 2:47); and “the King of kings and Lord of lords” (1Tim 6:15).

Rev 22:13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

This alludes to God’s descriptions of himself as: “the first and ... the last” (Isa 4:6; cf. 48:12); “the Alpha and the Omega” (Rev 1:8); and “the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end.” (Rev 21:6). Note that Jesus Christ also refers to himself as “the first and the last” in Revelation 1:17.

Jer 23:5-6 Behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when I will raise up for David a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land. ⁶In his days Judah will be saved, and Israel will dwell securely. And this is the name by which he will be called: “The LORD is our righteousness.”

The reference is obviously to the Messiah, Jesus Christ. The inclusion of the divine name, “The LORD”, in this ascription is striking. It is perhaps speaking of God’s righteousness being manifested amongst his people through the Messiah. Probably it was intended as a contrast with the then ungodly king Zedekiah, whose name meant “The LORD Is My Righteousness”.

... Other OT references to God are applied to Jesus Christ

Matt 3:3 For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah when he said, “The voice of one crying in the wilderness: ‘Prepareⁿ the way of the Lord; make his paths straight.’”

ⁿ Or crying: Prepare in the wilderness

John the Baptist was to prepare the way for Jesus Christ, referred to as “the Lord” in this quotation from Isaiah 40:3 which spoke of preparing the way for “the LORD” – i.e. God.

Matt 21:15-16 But when the chief priests and the scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying out in the temple, “Hosanna to the Son of David!” they were indignant, ¹⁶and they said to him, “Do you hear what these are saying?” And Jesus said to them, “Yes; have you never read, “Out of the mouth of infants and nursing babies you have prepared praise?””

Psalms 8:2 speaks of praise given to God. Here Jesus applies the verse to praise given to himself.

John 12:37-41 Though he had done so many signs before them, they still did not believe in him, ³⁸so that the word spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled: “Lord, who has believed what he heard from us, and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?” ³⁹Therefore they could not believe. For again Isaiah said, ⁴⁰“He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, lest they see with their eyes, and understand with their heart, and turn, and I would heal them.” ⁴¹Isaiah said these things because he saw his glory and spoke of him.”

In v. 40 John quotes Isaiah 6:10. Earlier in the same passage in Isaiah 6, Isaiah speaks of seeing God’s glory (cf. vv. 3-5). Thus a number of commentators understand John in v. 41 to be correlating Isaiah seeing Jesus’ glory with him seeing God’s glory. By this John would appear to be identifying Jesus with God, hence the inclusion of these verses here. However in light of the preceding quotation in v. 38 from Isaiah 53:1, John may instead have in view other parts of Isaiah 52-53. He could thus be speaking of Isaiah foreseeing the messianic servant who would not only be disbelieved and rejected, but subsequently glorified (cf. Isa 52:13-15; 53:10-12). (cf. NBC)

Rom 9:33 ... as it is written, “Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense; and whoever believes in him will not be put to shame.”

The quotation is a combination of Isaiah 8:14 and 28:16, in which God speaks of himself as being to his unfaithful people “a stone of offense and a rock of stumbling” (8:14); and for those who would believe in him, “a tested stone, a precious cornerstone, of a sure foundation” (28:16). Here these segments of these verses are applied to Jesus Christ.

Rom 10:9, 12-13 ... because, if you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved.  ... ¹²For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, bestowing his riches on all who call on him. ¹³For “everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.”

The reference in v. 9 to Jesus as “Lord” suggests that he is also the one being referred to as “Lord” in vv. 12-13. As such Jesus Christ is correlated with “the Lord” referred to in the quotation from Joel 2:32, which in its original context refers to God.

1Cor 2:16 “For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?” But we have the mind of Christ.

This parallels the mind of God (cf. Isa 40:13) with the mind of Christ.

Eph 4:7-8 But grace was given to each one of us according to the measure of Christ’s gift. ⁸Therefore it says, “When he ascended on high he led a host of captives, and he gave gifts to men.”

The quotation is from Psalm 68:18, where it speaks of God.

Phil 2:9-11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, ¹⁰so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, ¹¹*and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.*

This alludes to Isaiah 45:23b, where God speaks of himself: “To me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear allegiance.”

Heb 1:6, 10-12 And again, when he brings the firstborn into the world, he says, “Let all God’s angels worship him.”  ... ¹⁰*And, “You, Lord, laid the foundation of the earth in the beginning, and the heavens are the work of your hands; ¹¹they will perish, but you remain; they will all wear out like a garment, ¹²like a robe you will roll them up, like a garment they will be changed.^o But you are the same, and your years will have no end.”*

^o Some manuscripts omit like a garment

The quotations are from Deut. 32:43 (cf. Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint) and Psalm 102:25-27, which speak of God.

1Pet 2:3 ... if indeed you have tasted that the Lord is good.

"Lord" is here most likely referring to Jesus Christ (cf. v. 4). The verse alludes to Psalm 34:8a – "Oh, taste and see that the LORD is good!"

Rev 2:23 ... and I will strike her children dead. And all the churches will know that I am he who searches mind and heart, and I will give to each of you according to your works.

This alludes to a number of OT verses that speak of God in similar terms to the descriptions here of Jesus Christ as "he who searches hearts and minds" and who "will repay each of you according to your deeds". Quite possibly Jeremiah 17:10 is primarily in view, inclusive of both descriptions – "I the LORD search the heart and test the mind, to give every man according to his ways, according to the fruit of his deeds."

Some actions are attributed to both God and Jesus Christ

The verses in this subsection and the following one are examples of actions and things being attributed to both God and Jesus Christ at the same time, i.e. in the same verse or passage. In addition, there are other instances of where something is attributed to God in one or more verses and is also attributed to Jesus Christ elsewhere. A listing of actions that are in fact attributed to all three of God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit are given in c) Mutual Divine Roles, p. 159. (Likewise there are common attributes listed in b) Mutual Divine Attributes, p. 156.) There are also other examples in this book in chapters 16-20.

Mark 2:5-7 And when Jesus saw their faith, he said to the paralytic, "Son, your sins are forgiven." ⁶Now some of the scribes were sitting there, questioning in their hearts, ⁷"Why does this man speak like that? He is blaspheming! Who can forgive sins but God alone?"

Although the teachers of the law were mistaken in thinking that Jesus could not forgive sins, they were correct in asserting that the authority and capacity to forgive sins belongs to God.

Luke 8:38-39 The man from whom the demons had gone begged that he might be with him, but Jesus sent him away, saying, ³⁹"Return to your home, and declare how much God has done for you." And he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city how much Jesus had done for him.

John 14:23 Jesus answered him, "If anyone loves me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our home with him."

This speaks of both the Father and Jesus Christ being present with and having fellowship with believers.

1Cor 1:3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Gal 1:1 Paul, an apostle—not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father, who raised him from the dead—

Eph 6:23 Peace be to the brothers,^p and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

^p Or brothers and sisters

1Thes 3:11 Now may our God and Father himself, and our Lord Jesus, direct our way to you, ...

2Thes 2:16-17 Now may our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God our Father, who loved us and gave us eternal comfort and good hope through grace, ¹⁷comfort your hearts and establish them in every good work and word.

Rev 22:6, 16 And he said to me, "These words are trustworthy and true. And the Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets, has sent his angel to show his servants what must soon take place." ... ¹⁶"I, Jesus, have sent my angel to testify to you about these things for the churches. I am the root and the descendant of David, the bright morning star."

Here "Lord" (v. 6) appears to refer to God, which would mean that both God (v. 6) and Jesus (v. 16) are accredited with sending the angel.

‡ Both God and Jesus Christ are acknowledged as "our Savior":

Titus 1:3-4 ... and at the proper time manifested in his word through the preaching with which I have been entrusted by the command of God our Savior; ⁴To Titus, my true child in a common faith: Grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior.

Note that in Revelation 7:10 in the following subsection, salvation is similarly said to belong to both God and Jesus Christ.

Some things are said to be both God's and Jesus Christ's

^a Or into

By this use of "name", this verse also correlates the Father's authority and power with Jesus Christ's (and the Holy Spirit's).

John 17:9-10 [Jesus:] I am praying for them. I am not praying for the world but for those whom you have given me, for they are yours. ¹⁰*All mine are yours, and yours are mine*, and I am glorified in them.

Believers belong to both the Father and Jesus Christ (cf. Rev 20:6 ↓).

Eph 5:5 For you may be sure of this, that everyone who is sexually immoral or impure, or who is covetous (that is, an idolater), has no inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God.

Rev 7:10 ... and crying out with a loud voice, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!"

Rev 20:6 Blessed and holy is the one who shares in the first resurrection! Over such the second death has no power, but they will be priests of God and of Christ, and they will reign with him for a thousand years.

Rev 22:3 No longer will there be anything accursed, but the throne of God and of the Lamb will be in it, and his servants^r will worship him.

^r Greek bondservants; also verse 6

Rom 15:16, 19 ... to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. ... ¹⁹by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God—so that from Jerusalem and all the way around to Illyricum I have fulfilled the ministry of the gospel of Christ; ...

Note, however, that while "the gospel of God" is speaking of the gospel as belonging to God, here "the gospel of Christ" quite possibly means "the gospel about Christ" rather than "the gospel belonging to Christ". Thus this is not necessarily an example of something being both God's and Jesus Christ's.

† All that the Father has is Jesus Christ's:

John 16:13-15 When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. ¹⁴He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you. ¹⁵*All that the Father has is mine*; therefore I said that he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

The segment "he will take what is mine and declare it to you" (v. 14b, repeated verbatim in v. 15b) appears to mean that the Holy Spirit would make known to the disciples Jesus' teaching (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV) and quite possibly also other matters pertaining to his person and work. In view of this segment then, "All that the Father has" (v. 15a) may allude to "all the truth" (v. 13a), possibly referring in particular to matters pertaining to his person and work, which are shared by Christ.

Further evidence of Jesus Christ's identification with God

Mal 3:1 Behold, I send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts.

God speaks of the messenger preparing the way before him ("me") – implying that he himself will come – and then proceeds to speak of the "Lord" coming. With the latter more than likely referring to Jesus Christ – "the messenger of the covenant" – the verse correlates the coming of Jesus Christ with God himself coming, thus identifying Jesus Christ with God.

Mark 10:17-18 And as he was setting out on his journey, a man ran up and knelt before him and asked him, "Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" ¹⁸And Jesus said to him, "Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone.

In his reply, commentators generally understand Jesus to be associating himself with God – rather than denying being good.

Luke 7:14-16 Then he came up and touched the bier, and the bearers stood still. And he said, “Young man, I say to you, arise.” ¹⁵And the dead man sat up and began to speak, and Jesus^s gave him to his mother. ¹⁶Fear seized them all, and they glorified God, saying, “A great prophet has arisen among us!” and “God has visited his people!”

^s Greek he

In the last statement, the people may be speaking of God working through Jesus – a “great prophet” – rather than necessarily identifying Jesus with God.

John 10:28-36 I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of my hand. ²⁹My Father, who has given them to me,^t is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father’s hand. ³⁰I and the Father are one.” ³¹The Jews picked up stones again to stone him. ³²Jesus answered them, “I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you going to stone me?” ³³The Jews answered him, “It is not for a good work that we are going to stone you but for blasphemy, because you, being a man, make yourself God.” ³⁴Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in your Law, ‘I said, you are gods’? ³⁵If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be broken—³⁶do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’?”

^t Some manuscripts What my Father has given to me

In v. 33 the Jews indicate that they understood Jesus’ earlier statement in v. 30 to be a claim to be God. In verses 34–36 Jesus replies that if Scripture refers to men as “gods” in some sense, then it is even more appropriate for “him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world” to be identified with God, or spoken of as “God’s Son” (v. 36b). Note that verses 28–29 also allude to Jesus Christ’s identification with the Father, paralleling the ability of both – to keep hold of their people – with matching terminology.

1Jn 5:20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

That being in God also involves being in Jesus Christ (cf. John 17:21 ↓; 1Thes 1:1 ↓), correlates Jesus Christ with God.

John 17:21 ... that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me.

In praying that his followers would be “in us” (cf. 1Thes 1:1 ↓), Jesus is to some extent at least identifying himself with the Father.

1Thes 1:1 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy, To the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace to you and peace.

Acts 16:31, 34 And they said, “Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household.” ... ³⁴Then he brought them up into his house and set food before them. And he rejoiced along with his entire household that he had believed in God.

Rev 21:22-23 And I saw no temple in the city, for its temple is the Lord God the Almighty and the Lamb. ²³And the city has no need of sun or moon to shine on it, for the glory of God gives it light, and its lamp is the Lamb.

Verses that refer to the Father alone as being God, may be using “God” to refer to the position of sovereign over all (cf. 1Tim 6:15 ↓) – i.e. they may be using “God” to refer to an exclusivity of position rather than exclusivity of divine nature. (This may also be the case with other verses that speak of there being only one “God”.) Such a meaning is: consistent with the words translated as “God”/“god” in the OT originally speaking primarily of strength; consistent with the references to the Father being Jesus Christ’s God (cf. God is both Jesus Christ’s God and his Father, p. 132); and not contrary to Jesus Christ being fully divine. However, such an interpretation is not standard Christian theology.

1Cor 8:4-6 Therefore, as to the eating of food offered to idols, we know that “an idol has no real existence,” and that “there is no God but one.” ⁵For although there may be so-called gods in heaven or on earth—as indeed there are many “gods” and many “lords”—⁶yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

Eph 4:4-6 There is one body and one Spirit—just as you were called to the one hope that belongs to your call— ⁵*one Lord*, one faith, one baptism, ⁶*one God and Father of all*, who is over all and through all and in all.

Rom 1:7 To all those in Rome who are loved by God and called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

The phrase “God our Father” occurs 11 times in the ESV. Other similar phrases are: “God the Father” (cf. Eph 6:23 ↓; 1Thes 1:1 ↓) which occurs 15 times; “God, the Father” (1Cor 8:4-6 ↑; Col 1:3 ↓; James 1:27 ↓); and “God and Father” (cf. Eph 4:6 ↑; 1Thes 1:3 ↓) which occurs 12 times – mostly as in “the God and Father” and “our God and Father”. (See also the introductory comment to God is Jesus Christ’s Father, p. 113, regarding how the NT would seem to use the phrase “God the Father” in a different way to what we do.)

As is almost always the case in the NT, here “God” refers to the Father, as made clear in v. 13 by the reference to the presence “of God... and of Christ Jesus”. Verse 15 speaks of him as being the “only Sovereign” – the “only almighty God” (NLT).

1Thes 1:1-3, 9-10 Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy, To the church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace to you and peace. ²We give thanks to God always for all of you, constantly^w mentioning you in our prayers, ³remembering before our God and Father your work of faith and labor of love and steadfastness of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ. ... ⁹For they themselves report concerning us the kind of reception we had among you, and

There are also a good number of other NT passages that clearly refer to both the Father as God and Jesus Christ as Lord. The following verses speak of either the Father as God or Jesus Christ as Lord (as opposed to both). There are also many other NT passages that do likewise.

John 5:44-45 How can you believe, when you receive glory from one another and do not seek the glory that comes from the only God? ⁴⁵Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father. There is one who accuses you: Moses, on whom you have set your hope.

Here Jesus refers to God both as “the only God” (v. 44) and “the Father” (v. 45).

John 17:1-3 When Jesus had spoken these words, he lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, “Father, the hour has come; glorify your Son that the Son may glorify you, ²since you have given him authority over all flesh, to give eternal life to all whom you have given him. ³And this is eternal life, that they know you the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you have sent.

d) Jesus Christ Is Treated like God Is

The fact that Christians relate to (or treat) Jesus Christ in ways in which they relate to God, further reflects Jesus Christ’s identification with God and that he is God’s Son. Thus the teaching in this section supplements the teaching in the previous sections.

Jesus Christ is worshiped

Verses below speak of Jesus being worshiped as the Christ (cf. Matt 2:1-4, 11 ↓), the Son of God (cf. Matt 14:33 ↓; John 9:35-38 ↓) – which is in accordance with God’s will (cf. Heb 1:6 ↓).

Matt 2:1-4, 11 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men² from the east came to Jerusalem, ²saying, “Where is he who has been born king of the Jews? For we saw his star when it rose^a and have come to worship him.” ³When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him; ⁴and assembling all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born. ... ¹¹And going into the house they saw the child with Mary his mother, and they fell down and worshiped him. Then, opening their treasures, they offered him gifts, gold and frankincense and myrrh.

Matt 28:8-9, 16-17 So they departed quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to tell his disciples. ⁹And behold, Jesus met them and said, “Greetings!” And they came up and took hold of his feet and worshiped him. ... ¹⁶Now the eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain to which Jesus had directed them. ¹⁷And when they saw him they worshiped him, but some doubted.

John 9:35-38 Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and having found him he said, “Do you believe in the Son of Man?”^b ³⁶He answered, “And who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?” ³⁷Jesus said to him, “You have seen him, and it is he who is speaking to you.” ³⁸He said, “Lord, I believe,” and he worshiped him.

^b Some manuscripts the Son of God

Acts 13:2 While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, “Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.”

Here “Lord” may refer to Jesus Christ, but could instead be speaking of God.

Phil 2:9-11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, ¹⁰so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, ¹¹*and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord*, to the glory of God the Father.

Heb 1:6 And again, when he brings the firstborn into the world, he says, “Let all God’s angels worship him.”

Note that the reference may be to Jesus Christ's second coming, when God "again brings the firstborn into the world" (NASB, NKJV; cf. AMP).

Rev 5:8, 14 And when he had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, each holding a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints. ...¹⁴And the four living creatures said, "Amen!" and the elders fell down and worshiped.

In v. 14 the worship is directed to both "him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb" (v. 13).

John 17:10 [Jesus:] All mine are yours, and yours are mine, and I am glorified in them.

In saying that he was "glorified in them" – or perhaps that his glory was "shown through them" (GNT, NCV) – Jesus was probably referring to such things as their testimony to whom he was and their lives (cf. 2Thes 1:12 ↓) that reflected his grace and power.

2Thes 1:12 ... so that the name of our Lord Jesus may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2Tim 4:18 The Lord will rescue me from every evil deed and bring me safely into his heavenly kingdom. To him be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

Heb 13:20-21 Now may the God of peace who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep, by the blood of the eternal covenant, ²¹equip you with everything good that you may do his will, working in us^c that which is pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

^c Some manuscripts you

The phrase "to whom" (v. 21) probably refers to Jesus Christ (cf. CEV, GNT), but God (v. 20) could be in view instead.

2Pet 3:18 But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be the glory both now and to the day of eternity. Amen.

Rev 1:5b-6 To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood ⁶and made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father, to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Jesus Christ is offered praise and blessing

Ps 45:17 I will cause your name to be remembered in all generations; therefore nations will praise you forever and ever.

This psalm is considered to be messianic, with God's words here understood to be ultimately speaking of the Messiah.

Matt 21:9, 15-16 And the crowds that went before him and that followed him were shouting, "Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest!" ...¹⁵But when the chief priests and the scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying out in the temple, "Hosanna to the Son of David!" they were indignant,¹⁶and they said to him, "Do you hear what these are saying?" And Jesus said to them, "Yes; have you never read, "Out of the mouth of infants and nursing babies you have prepared praise?"

Rom 9:5 To them belong the patriarchs, and from their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ who is God over all, blessed forever. Amen.

The phrase "blessed forever" may well be speaking of Christ being blessed by people or praised (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT).

Rev 5:9-13 And they sang a new song, saying, "Worthy are you to take the scroll and to open its seals, for you were slain, and by your blood you ransomed people for God from every tribe and language and people and nation, ¹⁰*and you have made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they shall reign on the earth."* ¹¹*Then I looked, and I heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voice of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands,* ¹²*saying with a loud voice, "Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!"* ¹³*And I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in* the sea, and all that is in them, saying, "To him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor and glory and might forever and ever!"

Rev 7:9-10 After this I looked, and behold, a great multitude that no one could number, from every nation, from all tribes and peoples and languages, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed in white robes, with palm branches in their hands, ¹⁰and crying out with a loud voice, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!"

✦ Paul gave thanks to Jesus Christ:

1Tim 1:12 I thank him who has given me strength, Christ Jesus our Lord, because he judged me faithful, appointing me to his service, ...

People pray to Jesus Christ

John 14:14 [Jesus:] If you ask me^d anything in my name, I will do it.

Acts 7:59-60 And as they were stoning Stephen, he called out, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." ⁶⁰*And falling to his knees he cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, do not hold this sin against them."* And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Acts 14:23 And when they had appointed elders for them in every church, with prayer and fasting they committed them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

With the reference to belief, "the Lord in whom they had believed" seemingly refers to Jesus Christ. As such, presumably Christ is the one to whom they prayed, being the one to whom Paul and Barnabas committed the elders.

1Cor 16:22b Our Lord, come!^e

^e Greek Maranatha (a transliteration of Aramaic)

John repeats this prayer or call in Revelation 22:20 – "Come, Lord Jesus!"

2Cor 12:8-9 Three times I pleaded with the Lord about this, that it should leave me. ⁹But he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness." Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

2Tim 2:22 So flee youthful passions and pursue righteousness, faith, love, and peace, along with those who call on the Lord from a pure heart.

To "call" on Jesus Christ quite possibly has primarily in view calling out to him for help (cf. GNT) – effectively prayer. It is also indicative of trust in him (cf. NCV). Additionally, it can be construed to speak more generally of worship (cf. CEV).

Gal 6:18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brothers. Amen.

This benediction or blessing is in a sense a prayer to Jesus Christ.

e) Jesus Christ Is Under God’s Authority

See also:

- c\) Jesus Christ Is Identified with God, p. 119
- d\) Epilogue: God Works through Jesus Christ, p. 530

This section looks at the concept of Jesus Christ being subordinate to God in regard to authority – which involves “functional subordination” – as opposed to subordination or inferiority in regard to essence or being.

The concept of Jesus Christ being eternally subordinate to God (rather than only during his incarnation) is a historical doctrine that is still debated by Christian scholars. As such, some would disagree with or wish to qualify propositions put forward in this section.

Subsections

- God is both Jesus Christ’s God and his Father
- Jesus Christ is portrayed as being subordinate to God’s authority . . .
- . . . Jesus Christ’s authority was even granted to him by his Father
- Jesus Christ was God’s to give – as a sacrifice for sin
- Jesus Christ was chosen, anointed and sent by God
- Jesus Christ is God’s servant, largely spoken of in reference to his mission
- Jesus Christ is also spoken of as being God’s servant following his ascension
- God continues to be glorified in and through Jesus Christ and his work
- God the Father’s seniority is reflected by things he has done for Jesus Christ
- Note: God’s will is the prominent will in Scripture – sovereign in all the world, throughout the ages

God is both Jesus Christ's God and his Father

- a) Jesus Christ Is the Son of God (I): General, p. 112

Note that the following verses are not simply referring to the Father being Jesus Christ's God only while Jesus was on earth. Of the NT verses below, just two refer to Jesus on earth – and the first is not until his crucifixion. Also note that the references akin to “the God ... of Jesus Christ” are quite unlikely to be referring to any aspect of Jesus himself. The phrase where this occurs mostly is “the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” and the like. Here “God” has to be referring to the same person as “the Father”. The only instance of “the Father” not being included in such a phrase occurs in Ephesians 1:17. There the subsequent phrase shows that the Father is in view – “the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory”.

Mark 15:34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, “Eloi, Eloi, lema sabachthani?” which means, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?”

This cry from Jesus is also recorded in Matthew 27:46.

John 20:17 Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brothers and say to them, ‘I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.’”

Here Jesus parallels the Father being his God with the Father being our God.

Rom 15:6 ... that together you may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

2Cor 1:3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, ...

2Cor 11:31 The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, he who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying.

Eph 1:3, 17 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places, ... ¹⁷that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him, ...

Heb 1:9 You [the Son] have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions.

Heb 10:5-7 Consequently, when Christⁱ came into the world, he said, “Sacrifices and offerings you have not desired, but a body have you prepared for me; ⁶in burnt offerings and sin offerings you have taken no pleasure. ⁷Then I said, ‘Behold, I have come to do your will, O God, as it is written of me in the scroll of the book.’”

ⁱ Greek he

The use of the phrase “O God”, particularly in the context, suggests that Jesus is addressing God the Father as his God – “my God” (CEV).

1Pet 1:3a Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ!

Rev 1:5b-6 To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood ⁶and made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father, to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Rev 3:2 Wake up, and strengthen what remains and is about to die, for I have not found your works complete in the sight of my God.

Rev 3:12 The one who conquers, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God. Never shall he go out of it, and I will write on him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which comes down from my God out of heaven, and my own new name.

Here Jesus Christ refers to God as “my God” no less than four times.

Ps 89:26-27 He shall cry to me, ‘You are my Father, my God, and the Rock of my salvation.’ ²⁷And I will make him the firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth.

Many commentators interpret this as a reference to the Messiah, or at least a promise that would be ultimately fulfilled by the Messiah. As such it speaks of God as the Messiah’s God. Isaiah 49:5 and Micah 5:4 below are both clearly messianic and likewise speak of God as the Messiah’s God.

Isa 49:5 And now the LORD says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him; and that Israel might be gathered to him— for I am honored in the eyes of the LORD, and my God has become my strength—

The messianic servant is speaking.

Mic 5:4 And he shall stand and shepherd his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God. And they shall dwell secure, for now he shall be great to the ends of the earth.

1Cor 3:23 ... and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

Belonging to another strongly implies subordination to the other's authority. Additionally, the assertion that Jesus Christ is under God's authority is further reflected here and in 1 Corinthians 11:3 below by the paralleling of our subordinate status in our relationship to him with his subordinate status in his relationship to God.

1Cor 11:3 But I want you to understand that the head of every man is Christ, the head of a wife^k is her husband, and the head of Christ is God.

^k Greek gunē. This term may refer to a woman or a wife, depending on the context

1Cor 15:24-28 Then comes the end, when he [Jesus Christ] delivers the kingdom to God the Father after destroying every rule and every authority and power. ²⁵For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. ²⁶The last enemy to be destroyed is death. ²⁷For "God^l has put all things in subjection under his feet." But when it says, "all things are put in subjection," it is plain that he is excepted who put all things in subjection under him. ²⁸*When all things are subjected to him, then the Son himself will also be subjected to him who put all things in subjection under him, that God may be all in all*.

Matt 20:23 He said to them, "You will drink my cup, but to sit at my right hand and at my left is not mine to grant, but it is for those for whom it has been prepared by my Father."

This is illustrative of Jesus Christ being subject to the Father's authority – or at least not challenging the Father's will.

John 14:28b If you loved me, you would have rejoiced, because I am going to the Father, for the Father is greater than I.

Commentators generally interpret the final clause as being applicable only to Jesus' incarnation. However the preceding clause does speak of Jesus' return to the Father – and as such Jesus makes the remark in association with or in the context of his return to the Father. The timing also suggests that Jesus has in view beyond just his time on earth, with Jesus saying this only hours before his crucifixion. If an eternal sense is intended, exactly what Jesus meant is debatable, but it would at least include subordination to his Father. Note that in John 10:29 Jesus somewhat similarly says, "My Father... is greater than all".

Acts 3:19-21, 26 Repent therefore, and turn again, that your sins may be blotted out, ²⁰that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ appointed for you, Jesus, ²¹whom heaven must receive until the time for restoring all the things about which God spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets long ago.  ... ²⁶*God, having raised up his servant, sent him to you first, to bless you by turning every one of you from your wickedness*.

Jesus Christ's subordination to God is shown or implied here by: God appointing him (v. 20b) and raising him up (v. 26a) i.e. choosing him (cf. CEV, GNT); Jesus Christ being described as God's "servant" (v. 26a); God having sent him into the world (v. 26); and the fact that God will again send him (v. 20b).

Authority is given to a person by a greater authority.

Matt 11:27a All things have been handed over to me by my Father ...

Jesus is saying that the Father had given him "authority over everything." (NLT; cf. Matt 28:18 ↓)

Matt 28:18 And Jesus came and said to them, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me."

Luke 22:29 ... and I assign to you, as my Father assigned to me, a kingdom, ...

John 3:35 The Father loves the Son and has given all things into his hand.

John 5:27 And he has given him authority to execute judgment, because he is the Son of Man.

Here Jesus is speaking of the authority the Father has given him as "the Son of Man". This title – particularly in this context – is most likely a reference to the "one like a son of man" in Daniel 7:13-14, below.

John 10:17-18 For this reason the Father loves me, because I lay down my life that I may take it up again. ¹⁸No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. This charge I have received from my Father.

This indicates that Jesus had authority over death. The final statement may allude to the Father granting him this authority. For further comment see Jesus obeyed God, p. 555.

John 13:3 Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he had come from God and was going back to God, ...

John 17:2 ... since you have given him authority over all flesh, to give eternal life to all whom you have given him.

Acts 2:36 Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified.

Acts 5:31 God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

Phil 2:9-11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, ¹⁰so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, ¹¹and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Eph 1:22 And he [God] put all things under his feet and gave him as head over all things to the church, ...

Rev 2:26-27 The one who conquers and who keeps my works until the end, to him I will give authority over the nations, ²⁷and he will rule them with a rod of iron, as when earthen pots are broken in pieces, even as I myself have received authority from my Father.

This indicates that the Father has given Jesus Christ authority over the nations.

Dan 7:13-14 I saw in the night visions, and behold, with the clouds of heaven there came one like a son of man, and he came to the Ancient of Days and was presented before him. ¹⁴And to him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom, that all peoples, nations, and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom one that shall not be destroyed.

Rom 8:32 He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things?

Note that the latter part of the verse is speaking of God giving us all things along with having given us Jesus Christ (cf. GNT, NLT).

2Cor 9:15 Thanks be to God for his inexpressible gift!

Isa 53:10 Yet it was the will of the LORD to crush him; he has put him to grief;ⁿ when his soul makes^o an offering for guilt, he shall see his offspring; he shall prolong his days; the will of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.

ⁿ Or he has made him sick

^o Or when you make his soul

Rom 3:25a ... whom God put forward as a propitiation by his blood, to be received by faith.

Jesus' blood "propitiated" or turned away God's wrath by satisfying God's justice, making a way for people to be forgiven without compromising God's justice and holiness.

Rom 8:3 For God has done what the law, weakened by the flesh, could not do. By sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin,^p he condemned sin in the flesh, ...

^p Or and as a sin offering

The alternative rendering in the text note explicitly speaks of God sending Jesus Christ "as a sin offering". Note that this and 1 John 4:10 below speak of God sending Christ (as per the theme of the following subsection) rather than of God giving Christ. They have been included in this subsection because of their references to God sending Christ as a sacrifice for sin, akin to the theme of this subsection.

1Jn 4:10 In this is love, not that we have loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

✦ Jesus Christ gave himself as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God:

Eph 5:2 And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us, a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.

Hebrews 9:14 makes a similar point: "... Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God ..."
Arguably these verses reflect Jesus Christ's subordination to God.

There are nine passages in this subsection. The first three attest to Jesus Christ being chosen by God; the second three attest to him being anointed by God; and the last three attest to him being sent into the world by God. For further passages on these topics, see the cross-references above.

Luke 9:35 And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is my Son, my Chosen One;^a listen to him!"

^a Some manuscripts my Beloved

1Pet 1:20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you ...

Likely Jesus Christ was "foreknown" by God in the sense that he was "chosen and foreordained" (AMP; cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT).

1Pet 2:4, 6 As you come to him, a living stone rejected by men but in the sight of God chosen and precious, ... ⁶For it stands in Scripture: "Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone, a cornerstone chosen and precious, and whoever believes in him will not be put to shame."

This portrays Jesus as God's chosen "stone" (v. 4), the prophesied chosen "cornerstone" on which God's people would depend (v. 6).

Luke 2:10-11 And the angel said to them, "Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. ¹¹For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord."

"Christ" and "Messiah" (the Hebrew equivalent) both mean "the Anointed One". Thus the numerous ascriptions of Jesus as "Christ" mean that he is "the Anointed One", anointed by God.

Acts 4:26-27 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord and against his Anointed^r— ²⁷for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ...

^r Or Christ

In v. 26 the believers are quoting from Psalm 2, applying "his Anointed One" to Jesus Christ – as affirmed in v. 27.

Acts 10:38 ... how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him.

John 8:42 Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and I am here. I came not of my own accord, but he sent me."

John 10:36 ... do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God'?

Note that in addition to speaking of the Father sending Jesus, this also refers to the Father consecrating him – i.e. setting him apart. This reflects the fact that the Father chose him (as spoken of earlier in this subsection).

1Jn 4:9, 14 In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through him. ... ¹⁴And we have seen and testify that the Father has sent his Son to be the Savior of the world.

Matt 12:17-18 This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: ¹⁸*Behold, my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved with whom my soul is well pleased. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles.*

This is the start of a quotation from Isaiah 42:1-4, which is the beginning of the first of four passages in Isaiah known as the "servant songs". This first song appears to extend to v. 7 (in Isaiah 42). The other three songs are contained within: 49:1-13; 50:4-11; 52:13-53:12. (Segments of these are included below.) The servant of God of whom the songs speak, is generally understood to be the Messiah and is linked to Jesus Christ in various NT passages, such as this one from Matthew 12.

Acts 3:26 God, having raised up his servant, sent him to you first, to bless you by turning every one of you from your wickedness.

Acts 4:27 ... for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ...

Phil 2:6-8 ... who, though he was in the form of God, did not count equality with God a thing to be grasped, ⁷but made himself nothing, taking the form of a servant,^s being born in the likeness of men. ⁸And being found in human form, he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross.

Isa 49:1-6 Listen to me, O coastlands, and give attention, you peoples from afar. The LORD called me from the womb, from the body of my mother he named my name. ²He made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand he hid me; he made me a polished arrow; in his quiver he hid me away. ³And he said to me, "You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will be glorified." ⁴But I said, "I have labored in vain; I have spent my strength for nothing and vanity; yet surely my right is with the LORD, and my recompense with my God." ⁵And now the LORD says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him; and that Israel might be gathered to him— for I am honored in the eyes of the LORD, and my God has become my strength— ⁶*he says: "It is too light a thing that you should be my servant to raise up the* tribes of Jacob and to bring back the preserved of Israel; I will make you as a light for the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth."

^t Or I will display my beauty

Verses 1-2 speak of God's call and preparation of the Messiah for his work. In v. 3 "Israel" is usually understood to be a reference to the Messiah. This probably alludes to the fact that the Messiah would come from Israel and that in him would be the culmination of all that God would achieve through Israel. Note that as with the following references from Isaiah in this subsection, this is from one of Isaiah's "servant songs" (cf. vv. 4-11).

Isa 50:10a Who among you fears the LORD and obeys the voice of his servant?

Isa 52:13 Behold, my servant shall act wisely;^u he shall be high and lifted up, and shall be exalted.

^u Or shall prosper

Isa 53:11 Out of the anguish of his soul he shall see^v and be satisfied; by his knowledge shall the righteous one, my servant, make many to be accounted righteous, and he shall bear their iniquities.

^v Masoretic Text; Dead Sea Scroll he shall see light

Hag 2:23 On that day, declares the LORD of hosts, I will take you, O Zerubbabel my servant, the son of Shealtiel, declares the LORD, and make you like a^w signet ring, for I have chosen you, declares the LORD of hosts."

^w Hebrew the

Many understand Zerubbabel – an ancestor of Christ (cf. Matt 1:12-13) – to be spoken of here as foreshadowing the Messiah. This is reflected in him being "chosen" by God and being described as God's "servant" and "signet ring" – the latter term implying that he was representative of God's authority, to implement his will.

Zec 3:8 Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, you and your friends who sit before you, for they are men who are a sign: behold, I will bring my servant the Branch.

The "Branch" is a messianic title.

Jesus Christ is also spoken of as being God's servant following his ascension

Acts 3:12-13 And when Peter saw it he addressed the people: "Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this, or why do you stare at us, as though by our own power or piety we have made him walk? ¹³The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified his servant^x Jesus, whom you delivered over and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had decided to release him.

Acts 4:29-30 And now, Lord, look upon their threats and grant to your servants^y to continue to speak your word with all boldness, ³⁰while you stretch out your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are performed through the name of your holy servant Jesus.

Heb 2:17 Therefore he had to be made like his brothers in every respect, so that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people.

Jesus Christ's role as "high priest in the service of God" continues in the present (cf. Heb 8:1-2 ↓). However, his service to God (in this role) in his mission may primarily be in view here, with the latter part of the verse referring to his sacrifice of himself – an aspect of his role as High Priest which he completed during his mission.

Heb 8:1-2, 6 Now the point in what we are saying is this: we have such a high priest, one who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven, ²*a minister in the holy places, in the true tent^z that the Lord set up*, not man.  ... ⁶But as it is, Christ^a has obtained a ministry that is as much more excellent than the old as the covenant he mediates is better, since it is enacted on better promises.

^z Or tabernacle; also verse 5

^a Greek he

The term "a minister" (v. 2) speaks of Jesus Christ's serving (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV), primarily in service of God (cf. ZBC). In v. 6, his "ministry" is the "priestly work" (GNT, NCV) that God has given him to do – his "work to do for God" (NirV®).

Rom 6:10 For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God.

Quite possibly the final clause is speaking of Jesus Christ living for God (cf. CEV), "for the glory of God" (NLT) – and so would be pertinent to this subsection. But it has also been interpreted as speaking of him living with God (cf. NCV), in fellowship with God (cf. AMP, GNT). Possibly both concepts are involved.

Ezek 37:24-25 My servant David shall be king over them, and they shall all have one shepherd. They shall walk in my rules and be careful to obey my statutes. ²⁵They shall dwell in the land that I gave to my servant Jacob, where your fathers lived. They and their children and their children's children shall dwell there forever, and David my servant shall be their prince forever.

This indicates or at least implies that the Messiah will reign forever as God's servant.

Matt 23:39 For I tell you, you will not see me again, until you say, 'Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.'

God continues to be glorified in and through Jesus Christ and his work

- Note: In doing God's will, Jesus brought glory to God . . ., p. 557
- God's people give thanks and praise to God through Jesus Christ, p. 797

God is glorified in and through Jesus Christ by such things as: Jesus Christ bringing God's wonderful, astounding plans and promises for the whole world to fruition; and Jesus Christ reflecting God's sublime and awesome attributes. As such, through Jesus Christ the greatness and gloriousness of God is shown, bringing God glory.

The fact that Jesus Christ "brings" God glory by what he does – as do God's people – arguably points to Jesus Christ's service to God and his subordination to God. God also glorifies Jesus Christ, but in contrast he appears to grant glory to Jesus Christ (cf. John 17:5, 24 ↓) – as he does for his people – arguably pointing to the God's superior status in blessing Jesus Christ (cf. Heb 7:7).

Eph 3:20-21 Now to him who is able to do far more abundantly than all that we ask or think, according to the power at work within us, ²¹*to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, forever and ever*. Amen.

Phil 2:9-11 Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name that is above every name, ¹⁰*so that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth*, ¹¹*and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father*.

The status of Jesus Christ and the ultimate submission of all beings to him will bring glory to God as the one whom exalted Jesus Christ to such a position, giving him "the name that is above every name" (v. 9).

Rom 16:27 ... to the only wise God be glory forevermore through Jesus Christ! Amen.

Jude 1:25 ... to the only God, our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion, and authority, before all time and now and forever. Amen.

For comment on this verse, see the comment on Jude 1:25 – under God works in all eras through Jesus Christ, impacting all things everywhere, p. 530.

John 14:13 Whatever you ask in my name, this I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

With the time after his ascension seemingly in view, here Jesus speaks of himself bringing glory to the Father, reflecting the fact that the Father continues to be glorified in and through him.

✦ The Father grants glory to Jesus Christ:

John 17:5, 24 And now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had with you before the world existed.  ... ²⁴Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world.

This implies that the Father grants or bestows glory on Jesus Christ. The same could be said regarding Acts 3:13, where after healing a crippled beggar in Jesus' name (cf. vv. 3:6-7), Peter declares that by this: "... the God of our fathers, glorified his servant Jesus ..."

God the Father's seniority is reflected by things he has done for Jesus Christ

The things mentioned in the following verses that God the Father has done for Jesus Christ, including what he has given Jesus Christ, point to the Father's seniority.

John 5:19-20 So Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, the Son can do nothing of his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing. For whatever the Father^b does, that the Son does likewise. ²⁰For the Father loves the Son and shows him all that he himself is doing. And greater works than these will he show him, so that you may marvel.

^b Greek he

In the light of v. 19, v. 20a appears to mean that the Father enables Jesus to do what he (the Father) does.

John 5:26 For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself.

John 13:3 Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he had come from God and was going back to God, ...

John 17:7 Now they know that everything that you have given me is from you.

This may be indicating that everything Jesus has comes from the Father (cf. CEV, NLT).

John 17:11-12a And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. ¹²While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me.

For comment on this passage, see the comment on John 17:11-12a – under Note: God has given Jesus Christ a name that is superior to all others, p. 110.

Acts 5:31 God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

Acts 13:34 And as for the fact that he raised him from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he has spoken in this way, "I will give you the holy and sure blessings of David."

The quotation refers to God's promises to David (cf. 2Sam 7) that ultimately God would bestow upon David's messianic descendant.

Col 1:19 For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell, ...

This likely means that God was pleased to have all of his "fullness" dwell in Jesus Christ. This implies that God chose for this to be the case (cf. GNT) and even that he brought this about.

Heb 1:2 ... but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed the heir of all things, through whom also he created the world.

Heb 2:10 For it was fitting that he, for whom and by whom all things exist, in bringing many sons to glory, should make the founder of their salvation perfect through suffering.

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God, as often indicated in the Bible. This assertion is reflected by the Holy Spirit's divine and imposing attributes. However, the Bible also distinguishes the Holy Spirit from God, portraying him as a personal being in his own right.

(Note that in regard to the Holy Spirit and God's people, see II. God's Holy Spirit in His People, cross referenced above.)

a) The Holy Spirit of God

Subsections

- The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God . . .
- . . . God refers to the Holy Spirit as his Spirit
- The Holy Spirit is correlated with God's presence
- The Holy Spirit is from God
- God and the Holy Spirit know each other's mind

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God . . .

See also:

- The Holy Spirit is described as both the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Jesus Christ, p. 154

The Holy Spirit is God's spirit. As such one should bear in mind that when the Bible speaks of the Holy Spirit, it is in effect speaking of God himself.

Gen 1:2 The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters.

1Sam 10:6 Then the Spirit of the LORD will rush upon you, and you will prophesy with them and be turned into another man.

Isa 61:1a The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me ...

Matt 10:20 For it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father speaking through you.

1Cor 2:11 For who knows a person's thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God.

The parallel drawn between the spirit of a person and the Spirit of God emphasizes that the Holy Spirit is God's spirit.

1Cor 6:11 And such were some of you. But you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.

2Cor 3:3 And you show that you are a letter from Christ delivered by us, written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts.^a

^a Greek fleshy hearts

Rom 8:11 If the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, he who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit who dwells in you.

Eph 4:30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption.

Ps 51:11 Cast me not away from your presence, and take not your Holy Spirit from me.

. . . God refers to the Holy Spirit as his Spirit

Note that "Spirit" always refers to the Holy Spirit.

Isa 42:1 [God:] Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my Spirit upon him; he will bring forth justice to the nations.

Isa 59:21 "And as for me, this is my covenant with them," says the LORD: "My Spirit that is upon you, and my words that I have put in your mouth, shall not depart out of your mouth, or out of the mouth of your offspring, or out of the mouth of your children's offspring," says the LORD, "from this time forth and forevermore."

Ezek 39:29 And I will not hide my face anymore from them, when I pour out my Spirit upon the house of Israel, declares the Lord God.

Hag 2:5b [God:] My Spirit remains in your midst. Fear not.

The Holy Spirit is correlated with God's presence

Ps 51:11 Cast me not away from your presence, and take not your Holy Spirit from me.

As David no doubt was aware and arguably was even suggesting, his two requests are effectively asking the same thing; one involves the other.

Ps 139:7-8 Where shall I go from your Spirit? Or where shall I flee from your presence? ⁸If I ascend to heaven, you are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there!

Acts 10:38 ... how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him.

This verse appears to correlate Jesus having the Holy Spirit with God's presence being with him.

Eph 2:22 In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by^b the Spirit.

^b Or in

As perhaps is better reflected in the text note's rendering, quite possibly this is speaking of the church being a dwelling place "where God lives by his Spirit" (NLT; cf. GNT, NCV, NIV).

1Jn 3:24 Whoever keeps his commandments abides in God,^c and God^d in him. And by this we know that he abides in us, by the Spirit whom he has given us.

^c Greek him

^d Greek he

This verse and 4:13 below correlate the Holy Spirit with God's presence by asserting that the fact that believers have God's Spirit verifies that God lives in them.

1Jn 4:13 By this we know that we abide in him and he in us, because he has given us of his Spirit.

✦ The Holy Spirit is also correlated with Jesus Christ's presence:

Rom 8:9-10 You, however, are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if in fact the Spirit of God dwells in you. Anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. ¹⁰But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness.

This links the Holy Spirit living in a person with Jesus Christ living in them. Ephesians 3:16-17 also appears to make this link: "... strengthened with power through his Spirit in your inner being, ¹⁷so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith ..."

The Holy Spirit is from God

See also:

- God gave the Holy Spirit through Jesus Christ, p. 535
- a) God Gives the Holy Spirit to His People, p. 831

1Cor 2:12 Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God.

1Cor 6:19a Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God?

John 15:26 But when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, he will bear witness about me.

Acts 1:4-5 And while staying^e with them he ordered them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, he said, "you heard from me; ⁵for John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with^f the Holy Spirit not many days from now."

^e Or eating

^f Or in

Acts 2:33 Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing.

Particularly in light of the context – the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost – the middle clause appears to be referring to Jesus Christ receiving from the God "the promised Holy Spirit" (NIV®; cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

God and the Holy Spirit know each other's mind

The fact that God and the Holy Spirit are spoken of as knowing each other's mind is indicative of the Holy Spirit being the Spirit of God.

Rom 8:27 And he who searches hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because^g the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.

^g Or that

Note that a further aspect of God and the Holy Spirit's relationship is shown here by the Holy Spirit interceding "according to the will of God" – no doubt characteristic of all that the Holy Spirit does. This also points to the Holy Spirit having an intimate knowledge of God's will and so also of God's mind.

1Cor 2:9-11 But, as it is written, “What no eye has seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man imagined, what God has prepared for those who love him”—¹⁰these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God. ¹¹For who knows a person’s thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God. 📖

The “depths of God” (v. 10) denotes “what is deep in the mind of God” (CEV), the “deep secrets” of God (NCV, NLT).

✦ The Holy Spirit and the mind of Jesus Christ:

1Cor 2:12, 15-16 Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God. 📖 ... ¹⁵The spiritual person judges all things, but is himself to be judged by no one. ¹⁶“For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?” But we have the mind of Christ. 📖

This suggests a correlation between having the Holy Spirit (v. 12) and having the mind of Christ (v. 16). In turn this points to the Holy Spirit knowing the mind of Christ, as he knows the mind of God.

b) The Holy Spirit’s Being

In addition to the following characteristics, as the Holy “Spirit”, the Holy Spirit has no visible form.

Subsections

- The Holy Spirit is everywhere
- The Holy Spirit is eternal
- The Holy Spirit has great power . . .
- . . . and the Holy Spirit can enable people to do great things
- The Holy Spirit has great wisdom and knowledge . . .
- . . . The Holy Spirit even has knowledge of the future

The Holy Spirit is everywhere

Ps 139:7-8 Where shall I go from your Spirit? Or where shall I flee from your presence? ⁸If I ascend to heaven, you are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, you are there! 📖

Verse 7 links the Holy Spirit with God’s presence, and so along with v. 8 implies that the Holy Spirit is omnipresent – i.e. everywhere.

John 14:17 ... even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and will be in you. 📖

The fact that the Holy Spirit dwells in each of God’s people (cf. 2Tim 1:14 ↓; a) God Gives the Holy Spirit to His People, p. 831) – and in each group of them (cf. Eph 2:22 ↓) – shows that he is everywhere.

2Tim 1:14 By the Holy Spirit who dwells within us, guard the good deposit entrusted to you. 📖

Eph 2:22 In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by^h the Spirit. 📖

^h Or in

As noted earlier, this may well be speaking of the church being a dwelling place where God lives by his Spirit (cf. GNT, NLT, NCV, NIV).

The Holy Spirit is eternal

Heb 9:14 ... how much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God, purify ourⁱ conscience from dead works to serve the living God. 📖

ⁱ Some manuscripts your

The “eternal Spirit” is probably speaking of the Holy Spirit, although there are other opinions – as reflected in the NCV text note on “Spirit” which says: “This refers to the Holy Spirit, to Christ’s own spirit or to the spiritual and eternal nature of his sacrifice.”

John 14:16-17a And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Helper;^j to be with you forever, ¹⁷*even the Spirit of truth*, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. 📖

^j Or Advocate, or Counselor; also 14:26; 15:26; 16:7
“Helper” is a title for the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit has great power . . .

Isa 11:2 And the Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and might, the Spirit of knowledge and the fear of the LORD.

1Jn 4:4 Little children, you are from God and have overcome them, for he who is in you is greater than he who is in the world.

The “he who is in you” is most likely referring to the Holy Spirit (cf. vv. 2, 6). As such, the description of the Holy Spirit as greater than Satan – “he who is in the world” – is indicative of the Spirit’s great power.

Luke 1:35 And the angel answered her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born^k will be called holy—the Son of God.

^k Some manuscripts add of you

This correlates – or at least associates – the Holy Spirit with the power of God.

Rom 15:13 May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.

Acts 8:39-40 And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord carried Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more, and went on his way rejoicing. ⁴⁰But Philip found himself at Azotus, and as he passed through he preached the gospel to all the towns until he came to Caesarea.

This appears to indicate that the Holy Spirit miraculously removed Philip and took him to Azotus.

Isa 32:15 ... until the Spirit is poured upon us from on high, and the wilderness becomes a fruitful field, and the fruitful field is deemed a forest.

Such is the Holy Spirit’s power that he can bring about renewal of the extent portrayed here. Note that while this appears to firstly refer to the Holy Spirit effecting physical blessings, it is often understood to have a spiritual application – particularly with the reference to the Holy Spirit as being “poured upon us”. As such this would attest to the Holy Spirit renewing God’s people.

. . . and the Holy Spirit can enable people to do great things

See also:

- The Holy Spirit empowered Jesus in what he said and did, p. 543
- The Holy Spirit empowers God’s people to do God’s work, p. 849

Judg 14:6a, 19a Then the Spirit of the LORD rushed upon him, and although he had nothing in his hand, he tore the lion in pieces as one tears a young goat.  ... ¹⁹And the Spirit of the LORD rushed upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon and struck down thirty men of the town and took their spoil and gave the garments to those who had told the riddle.

Zec 4:6-7 Then he said to me, “This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel: Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the LORD of hosts. ⁷Who are you, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain. And he shall bring forward the top stone amid shouts of ‘Grace, grace to it!’”

Zerubbabel would not rebuild the temple with the aid of outstanding human might or power, but through the power and direction of the Holy Spirit – who would overcome mountainous obstacles.

Matt 12:28 But if it is by the Spirit of God that I cast out demons, then the kingdom of God has come upon you.

Acts 1:8 But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.

On receiving “power (ability, efficiency, and might)” (AMP) when the Holy Spirit came upon them, the disciples would be enabled to witness for Christ far and wide.

Rom 15:18-19 For I will not venture to speak of anything except what Christ has accomplished through me to bring the Gentiles to obedience—by word and deed, ¹⁹by the power of the Spirit of God—so that from Jerusalem and all the way around to Illyricum I have fulfilled the ministry of the gospel of Christ; ...

Grammatically the “signs and wonders” (v. 19) may not be directly attributed to “the power of the Spirit”, but this could well be implied (cf. CEV, NLT). Even if this is not the case, these verses still do attest to the power of the Holy Spirit enabling people to accomplish great things.

1Cor 2:4-5 ... and my speech and my message were not in plausible words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, ⁵that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

The last clause in v. 4 appears to associate the Holy Spirit with the power which, through Paul's preaching, led the Corinthians to faith (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). As such, the Holy Spirit's power is here correlated with God's power (v. 5).

1Pet 3:18-20 For Christ also suffered^l once for sins, the righteous for the unrighteous, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh but made alive in the spirit,¹⁹ in which^m he went and proclaimedⁿ to the spirits in prison,²⁰ because^o they formerly did not obey, when God's patience waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was being prepared, in which a few, that is, eight persons, were brought safely through water.

^m Or the Spirit, in whom ⁿ Or preached

^o Or when

If the rendering in the first text note is preferred (cf. NIV, NKJV, NLT) this would then attest to the Holy Spirit's power by speaking of his role in raising Jesus Christ and empowering him to preach to the "spirits in prison" (v. 19a). Note that these "spirits" could be referring to human spirits or to fallen angels or demons – leaving vv. 19-20 open to various interpretations.

The Holy Spirit has great wisdom and knowledge . . .

Isa 11:2 And the Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and might, the Spirit of knowledge and the fear of the LORD.

Such descriptions of the Holy Spirit (cf. Eph 1:17 ↓) imply that he has great wisdom and knowledge.

Isa 40:13-14 Who has measured^p the Spirit of the LORD, or what man shows him his counsel? ¹⁴*Whom did he consult, and who made him understand? Who taught him the path of justice, and taught him knowledge, and showed him the way of understanding?*

^p Or has directed

Arguably the Spirit is partially in view, along with God, in all of vv. 13-14. This is supported by the alternative rendering in the text note, which would more clearly place the Holy Spirit's wisdom/counsel in view at the start. As such these verses point to the self-sufficiency and pre-eminence of the Holy Spirit's wisdom and knowledge.

John 14:26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.

Acts 6:3, 9-10 Therefore, brothers,^a pick out from among you seven men of good repute, full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we will appoint to this duty. ... ⁹Then some of those who belonged to the synagogue of the Freedmen (as it was called), and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of those from Cilicia and Asia, rose up and disputed with Stephen. ¹⁰But they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking.

This suggests that Stephen's profound wisdom was a product of the Holy Spirit – indicative of the Holy Spirit having great wisdom.

1Cor 2:9-11 But, as it is written, "What no eye has seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man imagined, what God has prepared for those who love him"— ¹⁰*these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God.* ¹¹For who knows a person's thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God.

Verse 10b is saying that the Holy Spirit "searches out all things" (NCV™; cf. NLT), "exploring and examining everything" (AMP). The Holy Spirit's complete wisdom and knowledge is further attested to by the fact that he comprehends and so knows the thoughts of God (v. 11b).

Eph 1:17 ... that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him, ...

Quite possibly Paul has in view "the Spirit, who will make you wise and reveal God to you" (GNT; cf. CEV).

Eph 3:4-5 When you read this, you can perceive my insight into the mystery of Christ,⁵ which was not made known to the sons of men in other generations as it has now been revealed to his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit.

Knowing such a "mystery" attests to the Holy Spirit's great knowledge.

... The Holy Spirit even has knowledge of the future

Luke 2:26 And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ.

Acts 1:16 Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus.

This speaks of the Holy Spirit giving a prophecy (cf. 1Pet 1:10-11 ↓), illustrating that the Holy Spirit has knowledge of the future. Additionally, note that similarly the Bible speaks at times of the Holy Spirit speaking through "prophets" (cf. God has given his word by the Holy Spirit . . ., p. 301; . . . Further mention of Scripture coming by the Holy Spirit, p. 302).

Acts 20:23 ... except that the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city that imprisonment and afflictions await me.

Acts 21:11 And coming to us, he took Paul's belt and bound his own feet and hands and said, "Thus says the Holy Spirit, 'This is how the Jews at Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt and deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.'"

1Tim 4:1 Now the Spirit expressly says that in later times some will depart from the faith by devoting themselves to deceitful spirits and teachings of demons, ...

1Pet 1:10-11 Concerning this salvation, the prophets who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours searched and inquired carefully, ¹⁴inquiring what person or time the Spirit of Christ in them was indicating when he predicted the sufferings of Christ and the subsequent glories.

The Holy Spirit is distinguished from God and Jesus Christ

See also:

- II. God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit, p. 152

Although perhaps to varying degrees, each of the following verses speak of the Holy Spirit as being distinct from God and from Jesus Christ.

John 14:26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.

Jesus is the speaker here, as is the case in 15:26 below.

John 15:26 But when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, he will bear witness about me.

Acts 2:32-33 This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. ³³Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing.

2Cor 13:14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

Eph 4:4-6 There is one body and one Spirit—just as you were called to the one hope that belongs to your call— ⁵one Lord, one faith, one baptism, ⁶one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

2Thes 2:13 But we ought always to give thanks to God for you, brothers beloved by the Lord, because God chose you as the firstfruits^r to be saved, through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in the truth.

^r Some manuscripts chose you from the beginning

Rev 1:4-5a John to the seven churches that are in Asia: Grace to you and peace from him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven spirits who are before his throne, ⁵and from Jesus Christ the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of kings on earth.

The term “the seven spirits” (v. 4) is usually interpreted as referring to the Holy Spirit – “the sevenfold Spirit” (NIV® text note; cf. AMP) – in his fullness or perfection.

The Holy Spirit has a mind

- God and the Holy Spirit know each other's mind, p. 143

Rom 8:27 And he who searches hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because^s the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.

^s Or that

Acts 13:2 While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, “Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.”

This suggests that the Holy Spirit has a mind, telling of him giving a command (“Set apart for me...”) and having called people to do a certain task.

Acts 15:28 For it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay on you no greater burden than these requirements: ...

1Cor 12:11 All these are empowered by one and the same Spirit, who apportions to each one individually as he wills.

That the Holy Spirit “wills” such things is indicative of him having his own mind.

The Holy Spirit is referred to with personal pronouns

See also:

- Acts 13:2 ; 1Cor 12:11

The fact that personal pronouns are used of the Holy Spirit suggests that he is an entity in his own right, as well as alluding to him being a personal being.

John 14:17 ... even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and will be in you.

John 16:7-8, 13-14 Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you. ⁸And when he comes, he will convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment: ... ¹³When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. ¹⁴*He* will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

Acts 10:19-20 And while Peter was pondering the vision, the Spirit said to him, “Behold, three men are looking for you. ²⁰Rise and go down and accompany them without hesitation, for I have sent them.”

Acts 13:2 While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, “Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.”

Here the personal pronouns “me” and “I” (cf. Acts 10:19-20) both do refer to the Holy Spirit.

Rom 8:16, 26 The Spirit himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, ... ²⁶Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness. For we do not know what to pray for as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words.

1Cor 2:12 Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God.

1Cor 6:19a Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God?

The Holy Spirit has personal characteristics

Prominent amongst the characteristics of the Holy Spirit shown in the following verses are: holiness (Ps 51:11; Acts 10:44-45); goodness (Neh 9:20a; Ps 143:10; Gal 5:22), and love (Rom 15:30; Gal 5:22-23a).

Ps 51:11 Cast me not away from your presence, and take not your Holy Spirit from me.

Acts 10:44-45 While Peter was still saying these things, the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word. ⁴⁵And the believers from among the circumcised who had come with Peter were amazed, because the gift of the Holy Spirit was poured out even on the Gentiles.

Neh 9:20 You gave your good Spirit to instruct them and did not withhold your manna from their mouth and gave them water for their thirst.

Ps 143:10 Teach me to do your will, for you are my God! Let your good Spirit lead me on level ground!

Rom 15:30 I appeal to you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in your prayers to God on my behalf, ...

The phrase “the love of the Spirit” refers to the love that the Holy Spirit gives God’s people (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

Gal 5:22-23 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, ²³gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law.

Each of these characteristics is described as a “fruit of the Spirit” because – like fruit from a tree – their source and means of growth is the Holy Spirit. Arguably this implies that as their source and as the one who fosters them, the Holy Spirit’s own character is reflected in them. This also applies to “the love of the Spirit” in Romans 15:30 above, which refers to the love that the Holy Spirit gives God’s people (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

Heb 10:29 How much worse punishment, do you think, will be deserved by the one who has spurned the Son of God, and has profaned the blood of the covenant by which he was sanctified, and has outraged the Spirit of grace?

Isa 63:10 But they rebelled and grieved his Holy Spirit; therefore he turned to be their enemy, and himself fought against them.

This indicates that the Holy Spirit has feelings.

✦ The Holy Spirit is the truth:

1Jn 5:6 This is he who came by water and blood—Jesus Christ; not by the water only but by the water and the blood. And the Spirit is the one who testifies, because the Spirit is the truth.

This implies that the Holy Spirit is more than just truthful, actually correlating the Holy Spirit with truth (cf. John 16:13 ↓). As such, this also points to righteousness being a personal characteristic of the Holy Spirit.

Matt 10:20 For it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father speaking through you.

John 16:13-14 When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. ¹⁴He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

Acts 9:31 So the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace and was being built up. And walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, it multiplied.

One way that the Holy Spirit interacts is that it comforts the church.

Acts 16:6-7 And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia. ⁷And when they had come up to Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them.

^t Some manuscripts of the Lord

^u Or with the blood of his Own

Rom 8:14 For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons^v of God.

^v See discussion on "sons" in the Preface

Rom 8:26a Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness.

Rom 15:30 I appeal to you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in your prayers to God on my behalf, ...

As noted earlier, "the love of the Spirit" refers to the love that the Holy Spirit gives God's people (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

1Cor 12:11 All these are empowered by one and the same Spirit, who apportions to each one individually as he wills.

This is speaking of the work of the Holy Spirit in bestowing spiritual gifts on believers (cf. vv. 7-10).

Note: Like a person, the Holy Spirit can be treated wrongly

Matt 12:32 And whoever speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven, either in this age or in the age to come.

There are a number of interpretations of what Jesus meant by speaking against or blaspheming (cf. Mark 3:29) the Holy Spirit. One of the most prominent is that Jesus meant that by attributing to Satan what realistically could only have been the work of the Holy Spirit (v. 24), the Pharisees were willfully rejecting the Holy Spirit – and thus God – a sin that can never be forgiven; "an eternal sin" (Mark 3:29).

Acts 5:3, 9 But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land? ... ⁹But Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord? Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out."

Ananias and his wife Sapphira conspired to try to deceive the church and thus also the Holy Spirit (v. 3), in effect testing the Holy Spirit (v. 9).

Acts 7:51 You stiff-necked people, uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit. As your fathers did, so do you.

Heb 10:29 How much worse punishment, do you think, will be deserved by the one who has spurned the Son of God, and has profaned the blood of the covenant by which he was sanctified, and has outraged the Spirit of grace?

The phrase "outraged the Spirit" can also be translated as "insulted the Spirit" (NASB; cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NKJV), clearly indicating that the Holy Spirit can be treated wrongly.

Isa 63:10 But they rebelled and grieved his Holy Spirit; therefore he turned to be their enemy, and himself fought against them.

Eph 4:30-31 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. ³¹Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be put away from you, along with all malice. 📖

We grieve the Holy Spirit by sinning (cf. Isa 63:10 ↑). In giving this command not to do so, Paul may have had in mind the sins he then lists in v. 31 and also possibly “corrupting talk” (cf. v. 29).

II. God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit

See also:

- II. Jesus Christ and God, p. 112

The NT speaks of God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit as three identities, but also shows them as being related to each other in a unique unity. This is in part due to divine attributes and roles being attributed to each of them. Since the 4th century the church has viewed their relationship in terms of the Doctrine of the Trinity – the concept of them being three “persons” but one substance.

This close-knit relationship between God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit is still one of the most intriguing and debated aspects of the Bible. The following provides some basic “building blocks” for coming to terms with it.

a) Mutual Association

Subsections

- God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit are very closely associated
- The Holy Spirit is identified with God . . .
- . . . and the Holy Spirit is identified with Jesus Christ
- The Holy Spirit is described as both the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Jesus Christ
- God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit work together in unity of purpose . . .
- . . . Most prominently, they work together in saving people
- Note: Possible references to God in plural form

God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit are very closely associated Matt 28:19 Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in^a the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, ...

^a Or into

The phrase “the name of” denotes a single name. Here it is applied to all three of the Father, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit. As such it points to a very close relationship between the three, indicative of such things as a unity of spirit and purpose.

1Cor 12:4-6 Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; ⁵and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; ⁶and there are varieties of activities, but it is the same God who empowers them all in everyone.

For comment on this passage, see the comment on 1Cor 12:4-6 – under God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit work together in unity of purpose . . ., p. 154.

2Cor 13:14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

The close association of God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit is pointed to by the attributing of these complementary blessings to them at the one time.

1Cor 2:12, 16 Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God.  ... ¹⁶“For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?” But we have the mind of Christ.

This correlates “the mind of Christ” with “the mind of the Lord” (v. 16a), the latter apparently referring to God as v. 16a is a quotation from Isaiah 40:13 where God is clearly in view. Additionally, Paul may well be implying that “we have the mind of Christ” (v. 16b) because we have received the Holy Spirit (v. 12). If so, this would link the Holy Spirit with “the mind of Christ”. As such these verses indicate that the three are very closely associated.

The Holy Spirit is identified with God . . .

See also:

- c) Jesus Christ Is Identified with God, p. 119

- The Holy Spirit is distinguished from God and Jesus Christ, p. 147

2Sam 23:2-3 The Spirit of the LORD speaks by me; his word is on my tongue. ³The God of Israel has spoken; the Rock of Israel has said to me: When one rules justly over men, ruling in the fear of God, ...

This correlates the Holy Spirit speaking (v. 2) with God speaking (v. 3), thus identifying the Holy Spirit with God.

Ps 51:11 Cast me not away from your presence, and take not your Holy Spirit from me.

Quite possibly this is identifying the Holy Spirit with God's presence (cf. The Holy Spirit is correlated with God's presence, p. 143).

Ezek 11:24-25 And the Spirit lifted me up and brought me in the vision by the Spirit of God into Chaldea, to the exiles. Then the vision that I had seen went up from me. ²⁵And I told the exiles all the things that the LORD had shown me.

The phrase "the vision by the Spirit of God" (v. 24) may be speaking of the vision being given by the Spirit (cf. NCV, NIV). If this is the case then the phrase seems to correlate with "all the things that the LORD had shown me" (v. 25), identifying the Spirit with the LORD. Alternatively the phrase in question may be speaking of the Spirit bringing Ezekiel into Chaldea, in the vision (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

Mark 3:29 ... but whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is guilty of an eternal sin" —

The fact that it is possible to blaspheme the Holy Spirit – along with the severity of the consequences – arguably identifies him with God and points to his deity.

Acts 5:3, 4b But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land?  ... ⁴ ... You have not lied to men but to God."

Peter indicates that to lie to the Holy Spirit is to lie to God. As such Peter identifies the Holy Spirit with God.

1Cor 2:4-5 ... and my speech and my message were not in plausible words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, ⁵that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

This may well be correlating the Holy Spirit's power with God's power – thus identifying the Holy Spirit with God.

Acts 28:25-27 And disagreeing among themselves, they departed after Paul had made one statement: "The Holy Spirit was right in saying to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet: ²⁶"Go to this people, and say, You will indeed hear but never understand, and you will indeed see but never perceive. ²⁷For this people's heart has grown dull, and with their ears they can barely hear, and their eyes they have closed; lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and turn, and I would heal them.'"

The quotation (vv. 26-27) from Isaiah 6:8-10 is originally attributed to the "the voice of the Lord" (Isa 6:8), whereas here it is said to be spoken by the Holy Spirit. As such this identifies the Holy Spirit with God. Hebrews 10:15-17 immediately below is another occurrence of the NT attributing to the Holy Spirit words spoken by God in the OT (cf. Jeremiah 31:33-34). For other such examples see Hebrews 3:7-11 and Psalms 95:7-11.

Heb 10:15-17 And the Holy Spirit also bears witness to us; for after saying, ¹⁶"This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, declares the Lord: I will put my laws on their hearts, and write them on their minds," ¹⁷then he adds, "I will remember their sins and their lawless deeds no more."

... and the Holy Spirit is identified with Jesus Christ

Rom 8:10-11 But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness. ¹¹If the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, he who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit who dwells in you.

The reference to Christ living in believers (v. 10) appears to be used interchangeably with the references to the Spirit living in believers (v. 11; cf. v. 9). As such, this passage identifies the Holy Spirit with Jesus Christ.

2Cor 3:17-18 Now the Lord^b is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. ¹⁸And we all, with unveiled face, beholding the glory of the Lord,^c are being transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another. For this comes from the Lord who is the Spirit.

^b Or this Lord

^c Or reflecting the glory of the Lord

There are a number of interpretations of "the Lord is the Spirit" (v. 17) and "the Lord who is the Spirit" (v. 18). The ones that are arguably the most plausible are compatible with a literal reading, identifying the Holy Spirit with the Lord Jesus Christ.

Rev 2:8-11 And to the angel of the church in Smyrna write: "The words of the first and the last, who died and came to life. ⁹"I know your tribulation and your poverty (but you are rich) and the slander^d of those who say that they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan. ¹⁰Do not fear what you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and for ten days you will have tribulation. Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life. ¹¹He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. The one who conquers will not be hurt by the second death.'"

Verses 9-10 appear to be attributed to both Jesus Christ (v. 8) and the Holy Spirit (v. 11). Further similar examples of passages being attributed to both Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit are found in chapters 2 and 3 of Revelation.

- The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God . . ., p. 142
- . . . God refers to the Holy Spirit as his Spirit, p. 142

The theme of this subsection closely correlates the Holy Spirit with God and with Jesus Christ – and also associates Jesus Christ with God, with the one Spirit being said to be of them both. The first of the verses/passages in this subsection (Rom 8:9) speaks of the Holy Spirit as both the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Jesus Christ. The following four refer to the Holy Spirit as the Spirit of God, while the last four refer to the Holy Spirit as the Spirit of Jesus Christ.

Rom 8:9 You, however, are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if in fact the Spirit of God dwells in you. Anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. 📖

Judg 14:19a And the Spirit of the LORD rushed upon him ... 📖

Isa 63:10 But they rebelled and grieved his Holy Spirit; therefore he turned to be their enemy, and himself fought against them. 📖

1Cor 12:3 Therefore I want you to understand that no one speaking in the Spirit of God ever says “Jesus is accursed!” and no one can say “Jesus is Lord” except in the Holy Spirit. 📖

Eph 4:30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. 📖

Acts 16:6-7 And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia. ⁷And when they had come up to Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them. 📖

The reference to “the Holy Spirit” and his work in v. 6 underlines the fact that “the Spirit of Jesus” in v. 7 is referring to the Holy Spirit.

Gal 4:6 And because you are sons, God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, “Abba! Father!” 📖

Phil 1:19 ... for I know that through your prayers and the help of the Spirit of Jesus Christ this will turn out for my deliverance, ... 📖

1Pet 1:10-11 Concerning this salvation, the prophets who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours searched and inquired carefully, ¹¹inquiring what person or time the Spirit of Christ in them was indicating when he predicted the sufferings of Christ and the subsequent glories. 📖

God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit work together in unity of purpose . . .

Matt 3:16-17 And when Jesus was baptized, immediately he went up from the water, and behold, the heavens were opened to him,^e and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming to rest on him; ¹⁷and behold, a voice from heaven said, “This is my beloved Son,^f with whom I am well pleased.” 📖

^e Some manuscripts omit to him

^f Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

God’s anointing of Jesus with the Holy Spirit empowered Jesus for his mission – and so illustrates the three working together in unity of purpose.

John 20:21-22 Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, even so I am sending you.” ²²And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit.” 📖

The Father sent Jesus Christ to carry out his purposes and Jesus Christ sends his people empowered with the Holy Spirit to continue his work.

Acts 2:32-33 This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. ³³*Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing*. 📖

In v. 33, “this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing” refers to the manifestation of the Holy Spirit, apparent in the believers speaking in various unlearned languages (cf. vv. 1-11). God raised and exalted Jesus Christ and gave him the Holy Spirit to further God’s purposes.

Rom 1:1-4 Paul, a servant^g of Christ Jesus, called to be an apostle, set apart for the gospel of God, ²which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, ³concerning his Son, who was descended from David^h according to the flesh ⁴and was declared to be the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, ...

^g Or slave; Greek bondservant

^h Or who came from the offspring of David

This reflects the fact that God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit worked together in Jesus' mission and in bringing to fulfillment "the gospel of God" (v. 1).

1Cor 12:4-6 Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; ⁵and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; ⁶and there are varieties of activities, but it is the same God who empowers them all in everyone.

One could interpret this as indicating that gifts are given by the Holy Spirit, for service to Jesus Christ, in which God works. However Paul is not necessarily trying to draw marked distinctions between the roles of the Spirit, the Lord Jesus and God in relation to "gifts", "service" and "empowers". Rather the fact that these three things are interrelated reflects the close association and unity in both purpose and arguably even function of the Holy Spirit, Jesus Christ and God. (cf. NBC)

2Cor 1:20-22 For all the promises of God find their Yes in him. That is why it is through him that we utter our Amen to God for his glory. ²¹And it is God who establishes us with you in Christ, and has anointed us, ²²and who has also put his seal on us and given us his Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee.ⁱ

ⁱ Or down payment

The first statement (v. 20a) means that God's promises are fulfilled in Jesus Christ (cf. NLT).

Eph 2:18, 22 For through him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father.  ... ²²In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by^j the Spirit.

^j Or in

In these verses "him" refers to Jesus Christ. Both verses speak of vital roles of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit in God's relationship with his people.

Eph 3:16-17a ... that according to the riches of his glory he may grant you to be strengthened with power through his Spirit in your inner being, ¹⁷so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith ...

Note that "his" and "he" refer to God the Father.

1Pet 1:1b-2 To those who are elect exiles of the dispersion in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia, ²according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in the sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ and for sprinkling with his blood: May grace and peace be multiplied to you.

1Jn 4:2 By this you know the Spirit of God: every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God, ...

John is speaking of being able to "know" or recognize if someone has the Holy Spirit. The verse reflects that God has sent the Holy Spirit in part to enable people to acknowledge aspects of Jesus Christ's mission and its significance – here in particular the fact that Jesus Christ came in the form of a human being.

Rev 1:4-5a John to the seven churches that are in Asia: Grace to you and peace from him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven spirits who are before his throne, ⁵and from Jesus Christ the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of kings on earth.

As commented earlier, "the seven spirits" (v. 4) is usually interpreted as referring to the Holy Spirit in his fullness. As such this would be speaking of grace and peace being given by God, the Holy Spirit and Jesus Christ.

... Most prominently, they work together in saving people

Some of the references in the previous subsection also make reference to matters connected with salvation, but the references in this subsection speak of it more explicitly.

Titus 3:4-6 But when the goodness and loving kindness of God our Savior appeared, ⁵he saved us, not because of works done by us in righteousness, but according to his own mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewal of the Holy Spirit, ⁶whom he poured out on us richly through Jesus Christ our Savior, ...

Acts 2:38-39 And Peter said to them, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. ³⁹For the promise is for you and for your children and for all who are far off, everyone whom the Lord our God calls to himself."

Acts 5:31-32 God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. ³²And we are witnesses to these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who obey him.

Verse 32 points to the Holy Spirit's role in the salvation of people, witnessing to them. This work of the Holy Spirit is in conjunction with God's will, and with what God has done through Jesus Christ (v. 31) to save people.

Rom 15:15-16 But on some points I have written to you very boldly by way of reminder, because of the grace given me by God ¹⁶*to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit.*

Gal 4:4-6 But when the fullness of time had come, God sent forth his Son, born of woman, born under the law, ⁵*to redeem those who were under the law, so that we might receive adoption as sons. ⁶And because you are sons, God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, "Abba! Father!"*

One objective of God's salvation was to enable us to become his children, which he has done through Jesus Christ. In conjunction with and subsequent to this, God enables us to relate to him as his children through the Holy Spirit.

2Thes 2:13 But we ought always to give thanks to God for you, brothers beloved by the Lord, because God chose you as the firstfruits^k to be saved, through sanctification by the Spirit and belief in the truth.

^k Some manuscripts chose you from the beginning

Although this verse does not specifically speak of Jesus Christ playing a role in saving people, the phrase "brothers beloved by the Lord" points to the will of Jesus Christ being in accord with this purpose and may even allude to his dying for this purpose, the ultimate expression of his love.

Heb 9:14 ... how much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God, purify our^l conscience from dead works to serve the living God.

^l Some manuscripts your

The meaning of "dead works" is debatable, but quite possibly denotes the ultimately useless rituals of the law.

Note: Possible references to God in plural form

There are differences of opinion over the use of "our" and "us" in the statements attributed to God in the following verses. As the subheading indicates, some people interpret them as a plural form of the Deity, leading many to understand them as a reference to the Trinity – God as three persons in one being. Other interpretations offered by some evangelical commentators of the terms in question include: they are used to emphasize God's majesty; they are an expression of the completeness or fullness of God's being; and they are indicative of God addressing heavenly beings. Note that some commentators specifically reject the last interpretation, particularly in reference to Genesis 1:26.

Gen 1:26a Then God said, "Let us make man^m in our image, after our likeness.

^mThe Hebrew word for man (adam) is the generic term for mankind and becomes the proper name Adam

Gen 3:22a Then the LORD God said, "Behold, the man has become like one of us in knowing good and evil.

Gen 11:6-7 And the LORD said, "Behold, they are one people, and they have all one language, and this is only the beginning of what they will do. And nothing that they propose to do will now be impossible for them. ⁷*Come, let us go down and there confuse their language, so that they may not understand one another's speech.*"

Isa 6:8 And I heard the voice of the Lord saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" Then I said, "Here am I! Send me."

Prov 15:3 The eyes of the LORD are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good. 📖

Jer 23:23-24 Am I a God at hand, declares the LORD, and not a God far away?²⁴ Can a man hide himself in secret places so that I cannot see him? declares the LORD. Do I not fill heaven and earth? declares the LORD. 📖

Matt 18:20 For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I among them. 📖

The fact that Jesus Christ can promise to be with every gathering of Christians, points to him being everywhere. John 14:17 below makes a similar point regarding the Holy Spirit.

Eph 4:10 He [Jesus Christ] who descended is the one who also ascended far above all the heavens, that he might fill all things. 📖

Ps 139:7a Where shall I go from your Spirit? 📖

John 14:17 ... even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and will be in you. 📖

Jer 32:17 Ah, Lord God! It is you who have made the heavens and the earth by your great power and by your outstretched arm! Nothing is too hard for you. 📖

Phil 3:20-21 But our citizenship is in heaven, and from it we await a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ,²¹ who will transform our lowly body to be like his glorious body, by the power that enables him even to subject all things to himself. 📖

This and Revelation 3:7 immediately below, illustrate Jesus Christ's sovereign if not infinite power.

Rev 3:7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write: "The words of the holy one, the true one [Jesus Christ], who has the key of David, who opens and no one will shut, who shuts and no one opens." 📖

Luke 1:35 And the angel answered her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born^a will be called holy—the Son of God." 📖

^a Some manuscripts add of you

As noted earlier in the chapter, this correlates – or at least associates – the Holy Spirit and his power with the power of God, pointing to the Holy Spirit having infinite power.

1Jn 4:4 Little children, you are from God and have overcome them, for he who is in you is greater than he who is in the world. 📖

Being greater than Satan points to the Holy Spirit having sovereign power.

Omniscience – they each have complete knowledge

John 14:26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.

1Cor 2:10b-11 For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God. ¹¹For who knows a person's thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God.

Divine glory

Num 14:21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, ...

Ps 138:5 ... and they shall sing of the ways of the LORD, for great is the glory of the LORD.

Matt 25:31 When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, then he will sit on his glorious throne.

1Cor 2:8 None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

2Cor 3:8 ... will not the ministry of the Spirit have even more glory?

This speaks of the glory of "the ministry of the Spirit", associated with the new covenant (cf. v. 6) – encompassing both "the work of the Holy Spirit" (NirV®; cf. CEV, GNT, NLT) and the administering of the new covenant which is of the Spirit (cf. AMP, NCV). Although not speaking directly of the glory of the Spirit himself, by association it does point to the Spirit's glory (cf. 1Pet 4:14 ↓).

1Pet 4:14 If you are insulted for the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory^o and of God rests upon you.

^o Some manuscripts insert and of power

The term "the Spirit of glory" appears to speak of the Holy Spirit's own glory – "the glorious Spirit" (GNT, NCV, NLT; cf. CEV).

Eternal existence

See also:

- d) God's Eternity, p. 24
- a) Jesus Christ's Eternity, p. 92

The Bible portrays God, Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit as having always existed, and says that they will exist forever.

Ps 93:2 Your throne is established from of old; you are from everlasting.

Deut 32:40b [God:] As I live forever, ...

Rev 22:13 [Jesus Christ:] I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

Alpha and Omega are the first and the last letters of the Greek alphabet, used together to depict Christ spanning all time – as do the subsequent pairings in the verse.

Rom 6:9 We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him.

John 14:16-17a And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Helper,^p to be with you forever, ¹⁷*even the Spirit of truth*, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him.

John 6:69 ... and we have believed, and have come to know, that you are the Holy One of God.

Simon Peter is addressing Jesus Christ, applying a Messianic title to him.

Rev 3:7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write: ‘The words of the holy one [Jesus Christ], the true one, who has the key of David, who opens and no one will shut, who shuts and no one opens.

They each give spiritual or eternal life

Rom 6:23 For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

1Jn 5:11 And this is the testimony, that God gave us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

John 5:21 For as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so also the Son gives life to whom he will.

Note that this seems to be drawing a parallel between the Father raising the physically dead to life and Jesus giving spiritual life (to the spiritually dead). Jesus' raising of the physically dead, particularly that of all people at the end of the age, is quite possibly also encompassed.

John 10:28 [Jesus:] I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of my hand.

John 6:63a It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh is no help at all.

2Cor 3:6b For the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

They each sanctify God's people

See also:

- The Holy Spirit sanctifies God's people, p. 844
- b) God Makes His People Holy, p. 859

"Sanctify" basically means to "make holy".

Lev 20:8 Keep my statutes and do them; I am the LORD who sanctifies you.

1Thes 5:23 Now may the God of peace himself sanctify you completely, and may your whole spirit and soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Eph 5:25-27 Husbands, love your wives, as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her, ²⁶that he might sanctify her, having cleansed her by the washing of water with the word, ²⁷so that he might present the church to himself in splendor, without spot or wrinkle or any such thing, that she might be holy and without blemish.^u

^u Or holy and blameless

Heb 2:11 For he who sanctifies and those who are sanctified all have one source.^v That is why he is not ashamed to call them brothers,^w ...

^v Greek all are of one

^w Or brothers and sisters. The plural Greek word adelphoi (translated "brothers") refers to siblings in a family. In New Testament usage, depending on the context, adelphoi may refer either to men or to both men and women who are siblings (brothers and sisters) in God's family, the church; also verse 12

Rom 15:16 ... to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit.

1Pet 1:2 ... according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in the sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience to Jesus Christ and for sprinkling with his blood: May grace and peace be multiplied to you.

This seems to speak of both the Holy Spirit and Jesus Christ having a role in making God the Father's people holy, with "sprinkling with his blood" most likely referring to purification by Christ's blood (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

Phil 4:13 I can do all things through him who strengthens me.

The reference is to Jesus Christ strengthening (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

1Tim 1:12 I thank him who has given me strength, Christ Jesus our Lord, because he judged me faithful, appointing me to his service, ...

Eph 3:16 ... that according to the riches of his glory he may grant you to be strengthened with power through his Spirit in your inner being, ...

God strengthens and empowers people through the Holy Spirit.

Ps 48:14 ... that this is God, our God forever and ever. He will guide us forever.^z

Isa 48:17 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: "I am the LORD your God, who teaches you to profit, who leads you in the way you should go."

John 10:3-4 To him the gatekeeper opens. The sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. ⁴When he has brought out all his own, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice.

Jesus was applying this analogy to himself – the good shepherd. The analogy is indicative of his guidance of his people.

2Tim 2:7 Think over what I say, for the Lord will give you understanding in everything.

As is typical in Paul's letters, "the Lord" is more than likely a reference to Jesus Christ.

Gal 5:18 But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

John 14:26 But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.

John 15:11 These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full.

Jesus is the speaker in both this and the following verse.

John 14:27 Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid.

Rom 8:6 For to set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace.

Gal 5:22-23 But *the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness,*²³*gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law.*

I. Angels

The Bible often mentions angels. The existence and role of these mighty servants of God should be a great encouragement to believers. This is in no small part due to the fact that their work often involves believers, including giving believers supernatural help.

Note that while the great majority of references to angels in the Bible are to God's holy angels, evil angels are also mentioned. These evil angels are commonly identified with demons (discussed in the second half of this chapter). In headings in this book, "Angels" primarily refer to angels of God. But bear in mind that some concepts, such as angels being very powerful, are applicable to all angels.

Angels have human-like features, but are very awesome in appearance

Note that there are variations in the descriptions of angelic beings below, suggesting that there are different kinds of angels, and even that they can vary their form. Also note that Hebrews 1:14 (cf. Further attributes of angels, p. 168) refers to angels as "spirits", implying that they do not always have a perceivable form.

Judg 13:3, 6a And the angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, "Behold, you are barren and have not borne children, but you shall conceive and bear a son. ...
 6Then the woman came and told her husband, "A man of God came to me, and his appearance was like the appearance of the angel of God, very awesome.

The reference to the angel as a "man" (v. 6) suggests that angels have a human-like form.

Ezek 1:4-14, 24 As I looked, behold, a stormy wind came out of the north, and a great cloud, with brightness around it, and fire flashing forth continually, and in the midst of the fire, as it were gleaming metal.^a ⁵And from the midst of it came the likeness of four living creatures. And this was their appearance: they had a human likeness, ⁶but each had four faces, and each of them had four wings. ⁷Their legs were straight, and the soles of their feet were like the sole of a calf's foot. And they sparkled like burnished bronze. ⁸Under their wings on their four sides they had human hands. And the four had their faces and their wings thus: ⁹their wings touched one another. Each one of them went straight forward, without turning as they went. ¹⁰As for the likeness of their faces, each had a human face. The four had the face of a lion on the right side, the four had the face of an ox on the left side, and the four had the face of an eagle. ¹¹Such were their faces. And their wings were spread out above. Each creature had two wings, each of which touched the wing of another, while two covered their bodies. ¹²And each went straight forward. Wherever the spirit would go, they went, without turning as they went. ¹³As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, like the appearance of torches moving to and fro among the living creatures. And the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning. ¹⁴And the living creatures darted to and fro, like the appearance of a flash of lightning. ... ²⁴And when they went, I heard the sound of their wings like the sound of many waters, like the sound of the Almighty, a sound of tumult like the sound of an army. When they stood still, they let down their wings.

^a Or amber; also verse 27

These "living creatures" are cherubim (cf. Ezek 10:5, 16, 19a ↓), understood to be one of the highest orders of angels. Verse 10 speaks of each of them having four different faces, including a human face in front (cf. CEV, NLT).

Ezek 8:2 Then I looked, and behold, a form that had the appearance of a man.^b Below what appeared to be his waist was fire, and above his waist was something like the appearance of brightness, like gleaming metal.^c

^b By revocalization (compare Septuagint); Hebrew of fire

^c Or amber

Dan 10:5-10, 16a, 18 I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, a man clothed in linen, with a belt of fine gold from Uphaz around his waist. ⁶His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like flaming torches, his arms and legs like the gleam of burnished bronze, and the sound of his words like the sound of a multitude. ⁷And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision, but a great trembling fell upon them, and they fled to hide themselves. ⁸So I was left alone and saw this great vision, and no strength was left in me. My radiant appearance was fearfully changed,^d and I retained no strength. ⁹Then I heard the sound of his words, and as I heard the sound of his words, I fell on my face in deep sleep with my face to the ground. ¹⁰And behold, a hand touched me and set me trembling on my hands and knees. ... ¹⁶And behold, one in the likeness of the children of man touched my lips. ... ¹⁸Again one having the appearance of a man touched me and strengthened me.

^d Hebrew My splendor was changed to ruin

The heavenly being described in vv. 5-6 is generally understood to be an angel, though some consider him to be the preincarnate Christ (cf. Rev 1:13-16). It probably is the same being in view in vv. 16a, 18. The awesome nature of his appearance and presence is underlined by the reactions of Daniel and the men with him (vv. 7-8, 10; cf. vv. 15-17).

Matt 28:3-4 His appearance was like lightning, and his clothing white as snow. ⁴And for fear of him the guards trembled and became like dead men.

This is speaking of "an angel of the Lord" (v. 2).

Luke 24:4 While they were perplexed about this, behold, two men stood by them in dazzling apparel.

Heb 13:2 Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.

This indicates that angels have or at least can take on a human-like form.

Rev 10:1 Then I saw another mighty angel coming down from heaven, wrapped in a cloud, with a rainbow over his head, and his face was like the sun, and his legs like pillars of fire.

Rev 18:1 After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was made bright with his glory.

Angels have wings and can fly

- Ezek 1:4-11, 24 ↑

At least some kinds of angelic beings are spoken of as having wings. Note that complementary to verses speaking of angels flying, there are other verses that indicate that angels can move very quickly throughout the earth.

Isa 6:2 Above him stood the seraphim. Each had six wings: with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew.

The "seraphim" are apparently a high order or class of angelic beings.

Ezek 10:5, 16, 19a And the sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, like the voice of God Almighty when he speaks. ... ¹⁶And when the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them. And when the cherubim lifted up their wings to mount up from the earth, the wheels did not turn from beside them. ... ¹⁹And the cherubim lifted up their wings and mounted up from the earth before my eyes as they went out, with the wheels beside them.

Dan 9:21 ... while I was speaking in prayer, the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the first, came to me in swift flight at the time of the evening sacrifice.

Rev 14:6 Then I saw another angel flying directly overhead, with an eternal gospel to proclaim to those who dwell on earth, to every nation and tribe and language and people.

Ps 18:10 He rode on a cherub and flew; he came swiftly on the wings of the wind.

This appears to speak poetically of God. The references to a cherub and to flying point to the fact that angels can fly.

✚ The gold cherubim with wings on the atonement cover of the ark of the covenant:

Ex 25:20 The cherubim shall spread out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, their faces one to another; toward the mercy seat shall the faces of the cherubim be.

Angels are very powerful

Ps 103:20 Bless the LORD, O you his angels, you mighty ones who do his word, obeying the voice of his word!

Matt 28:2 And behold, there was a great earthquake, for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone and sat on it.

The linking of the earthquake with the angel's appearance and the angel rolling back the enormous stone both point to the angel's great power.

2Thes 1:7 ... and to grant relief to you who are afflicted as well as to us, when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven with his mighty angels ...

2Pet 2:10b-11 Bold and willful, they do not tremble as they blaspheme the glorious ones, ¹¹whereas angels, though greater in might and power, do not pronounce a blasphemous judgment against them before the Lord.

Rev 7:1 After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth, that no wind might blow on earth or sea or against any tree.

Rev 10:1-3 Then I saw another mighty angel coming down from heaven, wrapped in a cloud, with a rainbow over his head, and his face was like the sun, and his legs like pillars of fire. ²He had a little scroll open in his hand. And he set his right foot on the sea, and his left foot on the land, ³and called out with a loud voice, like a lion roaring. When he called out, the seven thunders sounded.

Verse 3 reflects the "mighty", awesome nature of this angel (v. 1). His "loud voice, like a lion roaring" (v. 3a) is indicative of his might, as is the resulting awesome revelation (v. 3; cf. v. 4).

Rev 12:7-9 Now war arose in heaven, Michael and his angels fighting against the dragon. And the dragon and his angels fought back, ⁸but he was defeated, and there was no longer any place for them in heaven. ⁹And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him.

The great power of God's angels is shown here by them overcoming and ejecting Satan and his angels.

Rev 18:1 After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was made bright with his glory.

Rev 18:21 Then a mighty angel took up a stone like a great millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, "So will Babylon the great city be thrown down with violence, and will be found no more; ...

Rev 20:1-3a Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the bottomless pit^e and a great chain. ²And he seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years, ³and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended.

^e Greek the abyss; also verse 3

The extraordinary might of this angel is shown by the angel seizing, binding and imprisoning Satan. Note that the bottomless pit (vv. 1, 3) is portrayed elsewhere as a prison or abode for demons.

2Chr 32:21a And the LORD sent an angel, who cut off all the mighty warriors and commanders and officers in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned with shame of face to his own land.

Angels have great wisdom and knowledge – but their knowledge is limited 2Sam 14:17, 20 And your servant thought, 'The word of my lord the king will set me at rest,' for my lord the king is like the angel of God to discern good and evil. The LORD your God be with you!"  ... ²⁰In order to change the course of things your servant Joab did this. But my lord has wisdom like the wisdom of the angel of God to know all things that are on the earth.

In addressing King David, a woman refers to the great wisdom and knowledge of angels.

Mark 13:32 But concerning that day or that hour, no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father.

Although angels have great wisdom and knowledge, this and the following verses show that angels do not know everything.

Eph 3:10 ... so that through the church the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places.

The “rulers and authorities in the heavenly places” (v. 10) may be referring primarily to angels (cf. GNT) or at least inclusive of them.

1Pet 1:12 It was revealed to them that they were serving not themselves but you, in the things that have now been announced to you through those who preached the good news to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, things into which angels long to look.

This suggests that there are certain matters related to the gospel that angels are still to learn or learn more about (cf. CEV, GNT).

1Ki 19:5-7 And he lay down and slept under a broom tree. And behold, an angel touched him and said to him, “Arise and eat.”⁶ And he looked, and behold, there was at his head a cake baked on hot stones and a jar of water. And he ate and drank and lay down again. ⁷And the angel of the LORD came again a second time and touched him and said, “Arise and eat, for the journey is too great for you.”

Isa 6:2-3 Above him stood the seraphim. Each had six wings: with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. ³And one called to another and said: “Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!”^f

^f Or may his glory fill the whole earth

Dan 10:9-10, 18-19 Then I heard the sound of his words, and as I heard the sound of his words, I fell on my face in deep sleep with my face to the ground. ¹⁰And behold, a hand touched me and set me trembling on my hands and knees.  ... ¹⁸Again one having the appearance of a man touched me and strengthened me. ¹⁹And he said, “O man greatly loved, fear not, peace be with you; be strong and of good courage.” And as he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said, “Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me.”

Luke 1:11-13, 18-20 And there appeared to him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense. ¹²And Zechariah was troubled when he saw him, and fear fell upon him. ¹³But the angel said to him, “Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John.  ... ¹⁸And Zechariah said to the angel, “How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years.” ¹⁹And the angel answered him, “I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news. ²⁰And behold, you will be silent and unable to speak until the day that these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time.”

The angel Gabriel’s ability to interact is shown not only in him speaking the message but by his responses to Zechariah, responding to Zechariah’s fear (vv. 12-13a) and to his disbelief (vv. 18-20).

Heb 13:2 Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.

That angels can be mistaken for people, suggests that they can communicate and interact as people do.

Rev 19:9-10 And the angel said^g to me, “Write this: Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb.” And he said to me, “These are the true words of God.”¹⁰ Then I fell down at his feet to worship him, but he said to me, “You must not do that! I am a fellow servant^h with you and your brothers who hold to the testimony of Jesus. Worship God.” For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.

Angels have a will and emotions – notably joy

Note that along with such things as their ability to communicate and interact, the fact that angels have a will and emotions suggests that they are personal beings.

1Pet 1:12 It was revealed to them that they were serving not themselves but you, in the things that have now been announced to you through those who preached the good news to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, things into which angels long to look.

This and the following passage clearly illustrate that angels have a will – along with a mind and the ability to reason.

Rev 22:8-9 I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things. And when I heard and saw them, I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who showed them to me, ⁹but he said to me, "You must not do that! I am a fellow servantⁱ with you and your brothers the prophets, and with those who keep the words of this book. Worship God." 📖

ⁱ Greek fellow bondservant

Job 38:6-7 On what were its bases sunk, or who laid its cornerstone, ⁷when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy? 📖

The "sons of God" are angels (cf. CEV, NCV, NIV, NLT).

Heb 12:22 But you have come to Mount Zion and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to innumerable angels in festal gathering, ... 📖

The term "festal gathering" is indicative of joy.

Luke 15:10 Just so, I tell you, there is joy before the angels of God over one sinner who repents. 📖

The rejoicing appears to be done at least in part by the angels (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT).

Angels are holy – but not perfect

Mark 8:38 For whoever is ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him will the Son of Man also be ashamed when he comes in the glory of his Father with the holy angels. 📖

Rev 14:10b ... he will be tormented with fire and sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb. 📖

^j Hebrew the sons of God, or the sons of might

The term "holy ones" (vv. 5, 7) appears to refer to angelic beings – "the heavenly beings" (v. 6) – who are therefore holy. The same applies to "holy one" in Daniel 4:13 immediately below.

Dan 4:13 I saw in the visions of my head as I lay in bed, and behold, a watcher, a holy one, came down from heaven. 📖

Rev 19:14 And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses. 📖

The "armies of heaven" may well be angelic hosts. If so, being dressed "in fine linen, white and pure" would be symbolic of them being holy or righteous. However, some commentators consider that they may be believers, or at least be inclusive of believers. This view is partly due to believers earlier having been given to wear: "fine linen, bright and pure" (v. 8)

Job 4:18 Even in his servants he puts no trust, and his angels he charges with error; ... 📖

This and 15:15 below indicate that angels are not perfect.

2Pet 2:10b-11 Bold and willful, they do not tremble as they blaspheme the glorious ones, ¹¹whereas angels, though greater in might and power, do not pronounce a blasphemous judgment against them before the Lord. 📖

This and Jude 9 immediately below illustrate that angels are respectful, even meek – not bold and arrogant like the false teachers being spoken of (v. 10b).

Jude 1:9 But when the archangel Michael, contending with the devil, was disputing about the body of Moses, he did not presume to pronounce a blasphemous judgment, but said, "The Lord rebuke you." 📖

Note that possibly one reason as to why Michael refrained from bringing a slanderous accusation against Satan is that to do so would be to follow Satan's own ways as the accuser.

This is not necessarily indicating that angels are generally in the Lord's presence, but at the very least it implies that they can enter into it.

Matt 18:10 See that you do not despise one of these little ones. For I tell you that in heaven their angels always see the face of my Father who is in heaven.^m

^mSome manuscripts add verse 11: For the Son of Man came to save the lost

In saying that angels "always see the face of" God, Jesus indicates that angels are always in the presence of God (cf. AMP, GNT, NLT) and likewise that they are always with God (cf. CEV, NCV).

Luke 1:19 And the angel answered him, "I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news."

Bear in mind that this is not actually saying that all angels stand in the presence of God. Revelation 8:2 below speaks of only seven angels doing so. However, the fact that angels surround God (as indicated in the earlier verses in this subsection) suggests that they are at least close to what may be termed as his "presence".

Rev 8:2 Then I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them.

The "four living creatures" appear to be angelic beings – and arguably can be identified with the seraphim of Isaiah 6:2-3 above.

Rev 7:11-12 And all the angels were standing around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, ¹²saying, "Amen! Heb 1:7 Of the angels he says, "He makes his angels winds, and his ministers a flame of fire."

Here "ministers" is used of angels (cf. Ps 103:21 ↑). The meaning of the quotation may be that God makes his angels "swift as the wind" (NLT) and potent like fire (cf. NCV). Some understand it to literally mean that God changes his angels into winds and flames of fire to carry out various tasks.

Josh 5:13-15 When Joshua was by Jericho, he lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, a man was standing before him with his drawn sword in his hand. And Joshua went to him and said to him, "Are you for us, or for our adversaries?" ¹⁴And he said, "No; but I am the commander of the army of the LORD. Now I have come." And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped and said to him, "What does my lord say to his servant?" ¹⁵And the commander of the LORD's army said to Joshua, "Take off your sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy." And Joshua did so.

Possibly Joshua experienced here an encounter with God, although the "man" may have simply been an angel. Either way, the LORD'S army (vv. 14, 15) is presumably an army of angelic beings, ultimately at God's command to serve him.

Job 25:3a Is there any number to his armies?

This most likely is speaking of God's "angels who serve him" (GNT).

Dan 7:10 A stream of fire issued and came out from before him; a thousand thousands served him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him; the court sat in judgment, and the books were opened.

The "thousands" are probably angels (cf. NCV, NLT) who wait upon God to serve him.

Matt 6:10 Your kingdom come, your will be done,^a on earth as it is in heaven.

^a Or Let your kingdom come, let your will be done

This may well be a reference to – or at least encompasses – God's will being done in heaven by angels, in service to God.

Rev 22:8-9 I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things. And when I heard and saw them, I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who showed them to me, ⁹but he said to me, "You must not do that! I am a fellow servant with you and your brothers the prophets, and with those who keep the words of this book. Carrying out judgments of God is a prominent role of angels in their service of God.

1Chr 21:15-16 And God sent the angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was about to destroy it, the LORD saw, and he relented from the calamity. And he said to the angel who was working destruction, "It is enough; now stay your hand." And the angel of the LORD was standing by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. ¹⁶And David lifted his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, and in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. Then

David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces.

Ps 78:49 He let loose on them his burning anger, wrath, indignation, and distress, a company of destroying angels.

This is referring to the last of the ten Egyptians plagues – the death of every firstborn male – as having been carried out by angels.

Zec 6:1-8 Again I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, four chariots came out from between two mountains. And the mountains were mountains of bronze. ²*The first chariot had red horses, the second black horses, ³the third white horses, and the fourth chariot dappled horses—all of them strong.* ⁴Then I answered and said to the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?” ⁵And the angel answered and said to me, “These are going out to the four winds of heaven, after presenting themselves before the LORD of all the earth. ⁶*The chariot with the black horses goes toward the north country, the white ones go after them, and the dappled ones go toward the south country.”* ⁷*When the strong horses came out, they were impatient to go and patrol the earth. And he said, “Go, patrol the earth.” So they patrolled the earth.* ⁸Then he cried to me, “Behold, those who go toward the north country have set my Spirit at rest in the north country.”

^s Or and the fourth chariot strong dappled horses

The “chariots” are angelic “spirits” (v. 5) sent “throughout the earth” (v. 7) – by the angel speaking in the vision – to carry out God’s judgment. Verse 8 suggests that their works of judgment in the north appeased God’s wrath (cf. GNT, NASB, NLT).

1Cor 10:10 ... nor grumble, as some of them did and were destroyed by the Destroyer.

The “Destroyer” speaks of a “destroying angel” (CEV, NIV).

Acts 12:23 Immediately an angel of the Lord struck him down, because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

Rev 8:5 Then the angel took the censer and filled it with fire from the altar and threw it on the earth, and there were peals of thunder, rumblings,^t flashes of lightning, and an earthquake.

^t Or voices, or sounds

Note that judgments spoken of in Revelation (cf. Rev 14:19-20 ↓; Rev 15:5-16:4 ↓) are generally from apocalyptic visions. Much of these visions is symbolic.

Rev 14:19-20 So the angel swung his sickle across the earth and gathered the grape harvest of the earth and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. ²⁰And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress, as high as a horse’s bridle, for 1,600 stadia.^u

^u About 184 miles; a stadion was about 607 feet or 185 meters

For comment, see the comment on Rev 14:18-20 – under Horrific consequences . . ., p. 450.

Rev 15:5-8; 16:1-4 After this I looked, and the sanctuary of the tent^v of witness in heaven was opened, ⁶and out of the sanctuary came the seven angels with the seven plagues, clothed in pure, bright linen, with golden sashes around their chests. ⁷And one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God who lives forever and ever, ⁸and the sanctuary was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power, and no one could enter the sanctuary until the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.  . ^{16:1}Then I heard a loud voice from the temple telling the seven angels, “Go and pour out on the earth the seven bowls of the wrath of God.” ²*So the first angel went and poured out his bowl on the earth, and harmful and painful sores came upon the people who bore the mark of the beast and worshiped its image.* ³*The second angel poured out his bowl into the sea, and it became like the blood of a corpse, and every living thing died that was in the sea.* ⁴*The third angel poured out his bowl into the rivers and the springs of water, and they became blood.*

^v Or tabernacle

The “loud voice from the temple” (16:1) is presumably that of God, giving directions to angels. Further examples of angels carrying out God’s judgments are contained in the subsequent verses and elsewhere in Revelation (cf. a\) Prologue: Judgments Preceding Jesus Christ’s Return, p. 692).

✦ An angel strengthened Jesus in Gethsemane:

Luke 22:41-43 And he withdrew from them about a stone's throw, and knelt down and prayed, ⁴²saying, "Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me. Nevertheless, not my will, but yours, be done." ⁴³And there appeared to him an angel from heaven, strengthening him.

Note: "The angel of the LORD" is identified with God

▪ Ps 34:7 ↓

Note that the apparent identification of "the angel of the LORD" with God in such passages as the following ones, has led a number of commentators to believe that this angel is the pre-incarnate Jesus Christ. See also the comment below on Exodus 23:20-22. However, this identification with God may simply be due to the angel in question speaking or acting on behalf of God – as per the comment below on Exodus 3:2-6.

Gen 16:9-10, 13 The angel of the LORD said to her, "Return to your mistress and submit to her." ¹⁰*The angel of the LORD also said to her, "I will surely multiply your offspring so that they cannot be numbered for multitude."*  ... ¹³*So she called the name of the LORD who spoke to her, "You are a God of seeing,"^z for she said, "Truly here I have seen him who looks after me."*^a

^z Or You are a God who sees me

^a Hebrew Have I really seen him here who sees me? or Would I have looked here for the one who sees me?

Here the angel of the LORD (v. 9) is identified with God by: speaking as if he was God – "I will surely multiply your offspring" (v. 10); being referred to as "the LORD who spoke to her" (v. 13a); and Hagar referring to him as "God" and by saying that she had seen God (v. 13b). Note however that there is uncertainty about the Hebrew text of v. 13b.

Ex 3:2-6 And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush. He looked, and behold, the bush was burning, yet it was not consumed. ³And Moses said, "I will turn aside to see this great sight, why the bush is not burned." ⁴*When the LORD saw that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the bush, "Moses, Moses!"* And he said, "Here I am." ⁵Then he said, "Do not come near; take your sandals off your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy ground." ⁶*And he said, "I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob."* And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

Note that in Acts 7:35 Stephen interprets this incident as God speaking to Moses "through the angel who appeared to him in the bush."

Judg 6:22-23 Then Gideon perceived that he was the angel of the LORD. And Gideon said, "Alas, O Lord GOD! For now I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face." ²³*But the LORD said to him, "Peace be to you. Do not fear; you shall not die."*

Those who saw God often expected to die (cf. Judg 13:22 ↓). Here the angel of the LORD is identified with God by Gideon calling him "Lord GOD" and expecting to die for apparently having seen God.

Judg 13:16-22 And the angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "If you detain me, I will not eat of your food. But if you prepare a burnt offering, then offer it to the LORD." (For Manoah did not know that he was the angel of the LORD.) ¹⁷*And Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "What is your name, so that, when your words come true, we may honor you?"* ¹⁸*And the angel of the LORD said to him, "Why do you ask my name, seeing it is wonderful?"* ¹⁹So Manoah took the young goat with the grain offering, and offered it on the rock to the LORD, to the one who works^b wonders, and Manoah and his wife were watching. ²⁰And when the flame went up toward heaven from the altar, the angel of the LORD went up in the flame of the altar. Now Manoah and his wife were watching, and they fell on their faces to the ground. ²¹The angel of the LORD appeared no more to Manoah and to his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of the LORD. ²²*And Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, for we have seen God."*

^b Septuagint, Vulgate; Hebrew LORD, and working

The angel of the LORD's description of his name as being "wonderful" (v. 18) arguably alludes to deity. Verse 20a may also be correlating the angel of the LORD with the LORD. Manoah, Samson's father, certainly in a sense at least equated the angel of LORD with God (v. 22).

Zec 3:1-4 Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan^c standing at his right hand to accuse him. ²And the LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, O Satan! The LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this a brand^d plucked from the fire?" ³Now Joshua was standing before the angel, clothed with filthy garments. ⁴And the angel said to those who were standing before him, "Remove the filthy garments from him." And to him he said, "Behold, I have taken your iniquity away from you, and I will clothe you with pure vestments."

^d That is, a burning stick

The "angel of the LORD" is identified with God in that he appears to speak as God (vv. 1-2) and he cleanses and takes away sin (v. 4; cf. v. 9). Later in vv. 6-10 he may also be speaking as God.

Zec 12:8 On that day the LORD will protect the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the feeblest among them on that day shall be like David, and the house of David shall be like God, like the angel of the LORD, going before them.

✦ The angel who accompanied the Israelites on the desert journey:

Ex 23:20-22 Behold, I send an angel before you to guard you on the way and to bring you to the place that I have prepared. ²¹Pay careful attention to him and obey his voice; do not rebel against him, for he will not pardon your transgression, for my name is in him. ²²"But if you carefully obey his voice and do all that I say, then I will be an enemy to your enemies and an adversary to your adversaries.

This angel is not actually referred to as "the angel of the LORD", but can plausibly be identified as such. Many commentators identify this angel with the pre-incarnate Jesus Christ or even God himself due to: the implication that the angel is able to forgive (v. 21); the assertion that "my name is in him" (v. 21); and the correlation with what the angel says and what God says (v. 22a).

1Ki 19:5-7 And he lay down and slept under a broom tree. And behold, an angel touched him and said to him, "Arise and eat." ⁶And he looked, and behold, there was at his head a cake baked on hot stones and a jar of water. And he ate and drank and lay down again. ⁷And the angel of the LORD came again a second time and touched him and said, "Arise and eat, for the journey is too great for you."

Ps 91:11-12 For he will command his angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways. ¹²On their hands they will bear you up, lest you strike your foot against a stone.

Verse 12 figuratively depicts the work of angels in protecting God's people.

Dan 10:18-19 Again one having the appearance of a man touched me and strengthened me. ¹⁹And he said, "O man greatly loved, fear not, peace be with you; be strong and of good courage." And as he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said, "Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me."

Matt 18:10 See that you do not despise one of these little ones. For I tell you that in heaven their angels always see the face of my Father who is in heaven.^e 📖

^e Some manuscripts add verse 11: For the Son of Man came to save the lost

The reference to “their angels” who “always see the face of my Father who is in heaven” supports the concept of there being “guardian angels” who care for and in some sense represent individuals in God’s presence (although not all commentators would interpret this verse as such). Note that “little ones” probably refers to those who are like a child in a spiritual sense, either a new or young believer – or any humble believer. Some however think that the term may simply denote little children.

Job 33:23-25 *If there be for him an angel, a mediator, one of the thousand, to declare to man what is right for him,*²⁴*and he is merciful to him, and says, ‘Deliver him from going down into the pit; I have found a ransom;’*²⁵*let his flesh become fresh with youth; let him return to the days of his youthful vigor’; ...* 📖

Elihu puts forward the concept of angels having an advocacy role on behalf of people – not dissimilar to that now fulfilled by Jesus Christ – and also giving guidance (v. 23b).

Rev 1:20 As for the mystery of the seven stars that you saw in my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands, the seven stars are the angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches. 📖

This and the references to these angels in the subsequent chapters (cf. 2:1, 8, 12, 18; 3:1, 7, 14) suggest that churches have angels who represent them and have responsibility for them. However other common views of the meaning here of “angels” are: the term designates human ministers or messengers (cf. CEV text note); and these “angels” are personifications of the seven churches.

Examples of angels, sent by God, saving God’s people

Num 20:16a And when we cried to the LORD, he heard our voice and sent an angel and brought us out of Egypt. 📖

2Ki 6:15-17 When the servant of the man of God rose early in the morning and went out, behold, an army with horses and chariots was all around the city. And the servant said, “Alas, my master! What shall we do?”¹⁶He said, “Do not be afraid, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them.”¹⁷Then Elisha prayed and said, “O LORD, please open his eyes that he may see.” So the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw, and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 📖

Verse 17 tells of Elisha’s servant being enabled to see the surrounding heavenly forces protecting them. The “horses and chariots of fire” presumably depict angelic forces.

2Chr 32:20-21a Then Hezekiah the king and Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, prayed because of this and cried to heaven.²¹*And the LORD sent an angel, who cut off all the mighty warriors and commanders and officers in the camp of the king of Assyria.* So he returned with shame of face to his own land. 📖

Isa 63:9 In all their affliction he was afflicted,^f and the angel of his presence saved them; in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; he lifted them up and carried them all the days of old. 📖

^f Or he did not afflict

Note that a number of commentators identify “the angel of his presence” with “the angel of the LORD”.

Dan 3:24-25, 28 Then King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished and rose up in haste. He declared to his counselors, “Did we not cast three men bound into the fire?” They answered and said to the king, “True, O king.”²⁵He answered and said, “But I see four men unbound, walking in the midst of the fire, and they are not hurt; and the appearance of the fourth is like a son of the gods.” 📖 ...²⁸Nebuchadnezzar answered and said, “Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who has sent his angel and delivered his servants, who trusted in him, and set aside^g the king’s command, and yielded up their bodies rather than serve and worship any god except their own God.” 📖

^g Aramaic and changed

The fourth figure (vv. 24-25) may have simply been an angel (v. 28), but some scholars think that it was a Christophany, a manifestation of Christ, possibly as “the angel of the LORD”.

Dan 6:22 My God sent his angel and shut the lions’ mouths, and they have not harmed me, because I was found blameless before him; and also before you, O king, I have done no harm. 📖

Acts 5:18-19 ... they arrested the apostles and put them in the public prison.¹⁹But during the night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, ... 📖

Acts 12:6-11 Now when Herod was about to bring him out, on that very night, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and sentries before the door were guarding the prison. ⁷And behold, an angel of the Lord stood next to him, and a light shone in the cell. He struck Peter on the side and woke him, saying, "Get up quickly." And the chains fell off his hands. ⁸And the angel said to him, "Dress yourself and put on your sandals." And he did so. And he said to him, "Wrap your cloak around you and follow me." ⁹And he went out and followed him. He did not know that what was being done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing a vision. ¹⁰When they had passed the first and the second guard, they came to the iron gate leading into the city. It opened for them of its own accord, and they went out and went along one street, and immediately the angel left him. ¹¹When Peter came to himself, he said, "Now I am sure that the Lord has sent his angel and rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all that the Jewish people were expecting."

Rev 14:6-7 Then I saw another angel flying directly overhead, with an eternal gospel to proclaim to those who dwell on earth, to every nation and tribe and language and people. ⁷And he said with a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come, and worship him who made heaven and earth, the sea and the springs of water."

Note that "angel" – meaning "messenger" – is possibly symbolically speaking of believers, who are to proclaim the gospel to every nation. The "hour of his judgment" (v. 7) presumably does not refer to the final judgment – with other judgments still to come in the following chapters – although it may be inclusive of it.

Similarly 1:1 says: “The revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show to his servants the things that must soon take place. He made it known by sending his angel to his servant John,....” Additionally, elsewhere in Revelation John tells of angels showing and explaining to him things of the future (cf. 17:1, 7; 21:9-10).

† The angel’s message of Jesus Christ’s birth:

Luke 2:8-12 And in the same region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. ⁹And the angel said to them, “Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. ¹¹For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. ¹²And this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger.”

Note: Angels played a role in the introduction of the Mosaic Law

The Mosaic Law (i.e. the law given through Moses, to Israel) was put into effect through angels (cf. Acts 7:53 ↓; Gal 3:19 ↓). This subsection’s content suggests that God gave the law through angels to the mediator Moses to pass on to the people.

Acts 7:37-38 This is the Moses who said to the Israelites, ‘God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your brothers.’ ³⁸This is the one who was in the congregation in the wilderness with the angel who spoke to him at Mount Sinai, and with our fathers. He received living oracles to give to us.

The term “living oracles” is a reference to the Mosaic Law (cf. v. 53 ↓).

Acts 7:53 ... you who received the law as delivered by angels and did not keep it.

Gal 3:19 Why then the law? It was added because of transgressions, until the offspring should come to whom the promise had been made, and it was put in place through angels by an intermediary.

Heb 2:2 For since the message declared by angels proved to be reliable, and every transgression or disobedience received a just retribution, ...

The “message” refers to the law (cf. AMP, NLT, NIV), as reflected in the second part of the verse. It is spoken of here as being given through angels.

Angels are very important

See also:

- Note: “The angel of the LORD” is identified with God, p. 172

Although not stated directly, the importance and high status of angels is implied and/or reflected in each of the following verses.

2Sam 19:27b But my lord the king is like the angel of God; do therefore what seems good to you. 📖

Dan 4:16-17 Let his mind be changed from a man's, and let a beast's mind be given to him; and let seven periods of time pass over him. ¹⁷*The sentence is by the decree of the watchers, the decision by the word of the holy ones, to the end that the living may know that the Most High rules the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will and sets over it the lowliest of men.* 📖

Through a vision, an angel – “a watcher, a holy one” (v. 13; cf. v. 17) – tells of how Nebuchadnezzar would become like a wild animal (v. 15). In v. 17a the angel appears to be saying that the decision has been made by angels (cf. GNT), which would exemplify the important status of angels. Alternatively, he may simply be underlining that this decision has been announced by angels.

Luke 12:8-9 And I tell you, everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man also will acknowledge before the angels of God, ⁹*but the one who denies me before men will be denied before the angels of God.* 📖

This speaks of judgment day and angels being witness to Jesus Christ's judgments. The fact that being spoken of as such underlines the high status of angels is reinforced by the parallel verses in Matthew 10:32-33, which speak of God in the same way. That is, they speak of Jesus Christ acknowledging people and disowning others “before my Father who is in heaven.”

Gal 4:14 ... and though my condition was a trial to you, you did not scorn or despise me, but received me as an angel of God, as Christ Jesus. 📖

This points to the great importance of angels, even making something of a parallel of them with Jesus Christ.

1Tim 5:21 In the presence of God and of Christ Jesus and of the elect angels I charge you to keep these rules without prejudging, doing nothing from partiality. 📖

Here the importance of angels is borne out by them being grouped with God and Jesus Christ, in regard to bearing witness to and approving of Paul's charge.

Heb 13:2 Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. 📖

This appears to imply that showing hospitality to angels is a greater privilege than doing so to humans, suggesting that angels are regarded more highly than humans.

Rev 14:10 ... he also will drink the wine of God's wrath, poured full strength into the cup of his anger, and he will be tormented with fire and sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb. 📖

Similar to 1 Timothy 5:21 above, the importance of angels is indicated by them being grouped with Jesus Christ, “the Lamb” – even being listed before him – in regard to observing such judgment.

There are different kinds and ranks of angels

Gen 3:24 He drove out the man, and at the east of the garden of Eden he placed the cherubim and a flaming sword that turned every way to guard the way to the tree of life. 📖

As noted earlier, cherubim and seraphim (cf. Isa 6:2 ↓) are understood to be amongst the highest orders of the different kinds of angels.

Isa 6:1-2 In the year that King Uzziah died I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up; and the train^p of his robe filled the temple. ²*Above him stood the seraphim. Each had six wings: with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew.* 📖

^p Or hem

The high ranking of seraphim is implied by their close proximity to God and his throne (cf. Rev 4:4 ↓).

Eph 3:10 ... so that through the church the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places. 📖

Here and in Colossians 1:16 and 1 Peter 3:22 immediately below, “rulers”, “authorities” and like terms are often understood as referring to various rankings of angels; hence the inclusion of these verses in this subsection. This may well be the case, particularly here with the reference to the “heavenly” places. However the terms may more generally be intended to cover all spiritual powers – i.e. both good and evil spiritual beings. Earthly powers appear to also be included in Colossians 1:16.

Col 1:16 For by^q him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him. 📖

^q That is, by means of; or in

1Pet 3:22 ... who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, with angels, authorities, and powers having been subjected to him. 📖

1Thes 4:16 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

The reference may well be to Michael (cf. Jude 1:9 ↓; Dan 10:13 ↓), the only angel actually called an archangel in Scripture (cf. Jude 1:9 ↓).

Jude 1:9 But when the archangel Michael, contending with the devil, was disputing about the body of Moses, he did not presume to pronounce a blasphemous judgment, but said, “The Lord rebuke you.”

Dan 10:13 The prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days, but Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I was left there with the kings of Persia, ...

This reference highlights Michael’s high rank, as similarly does 12:1 below.

Dan 12:1a “At that time shall arise Michael, the great prince who has charge of your people.

Rev 4:4 Around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and seated on the thrones were twenty-four elders, clothed in white garments, with golden crowns on their heads.

The “elders”, seated in close proximity to God’s throne, are quite possibly a high order of angelic beings.

There are thousands upon thousands of angels

Heb 12:22 But you have come to Mount Zion and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to innumerable angels in festal gathering, ...

Jude 1:14 It was also about these that Enoch, the seventh from Adam, prophesied, saying, “Behold, the Lord comes with ten thousands of his holy ones, ...

Rev 5:11 Then I looked, and I heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voice of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands, ...

Psa 68:17 The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands upon thousands; the Lord is among them; Sinai is now in the sanctuary.

This appears to be figuratively speaking of God’s angelic forces as chariots – of which there are “thousands upon thousands”.

Deut 33:2 He said, “The LORD came from Sinai and dawned from Seir upon us;^r he shone forth from Mount Paran; he came from the ten thousands of holy ones, with flaming fire^s at his right hand.

^r Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate; Hebrew them

^s The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain

Matt 26:53 Do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father, and he will at once send me more than twelve legions of angels?

A Roman legion had 3,000 to 6,000 soldiers, plus cavalrymen.

† God’s angelic forces can hardly be numbered:

Job 25:2-3a “Dominion and fear are with God;^t he makes peace in his high heaven. ³*Is there any number to his armies?*

^t Hebrew him

The rhetorical question (v. 3a) appears to be implying that no person could possibly count the number of God’s angelic forces, such is their vast number.

Here Paul refers with strong disapproval to the practice of worshiping angels.

Rev 19:9-10 And the angel said^x to me, “Write this: Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb.” And he said to me, “These are the true words of God.”¹⁰ *Then I fell down at his feet to worship him, but he said to me, “You must not do that! Other teachings about angels

Col 1:16 For by^a him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him. 📖

^a That is, by means of; or in

Like all other things, angels have been created, by Jesus Christ (cf. Ps 148:2, 5 ↓) and for Jesus Christ.

Ps 148:2, 5 Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his hosts! 📖 ... ⁵Let them praise the name of the LORD! For he commanded and they were created. 📖

This is also a possible reference to angels being created. However, v. 5 may only be referring to various elements of the heavens and the skies mentioned in the intervening verses (cf. vv. 3-4), rather than being also inclusive of angels (v. 2).

Matt 22:30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven. 📖

This implies that angels do not marry.

1Tim 5:21 In the presence of God and of Christ Jesus and of the elect angels I charge you to keep these rules without prejudging, doing nothing from partiality. 📖

God's holy angels have been chosen by him as such, in contrast to fallen angels.

1Cor 6:3 Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life! 📖

Angels will be judged by God's people. A number of commentators consider that Paul is most likely speaking in particular of believers having a role in the judgment of evil angels.

Many people find the existence of Satan (i.e. the devil) and demons disturbing and choose to avoid the subject. But to live the Christian life it is vital to understand our chief opponents. Moreover, the Bible has a lot to say about Satan and demons – much of which is in fact encouraging to believers.

Satan is evil – and is opposed to God's kingdom

Matt 6:13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.^a

^a Or the evil one; some manuscripts add For yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen

The text note indicates that "evil" can be translated "the evil one" (AMP, NASB, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV; cf. GNT, NCV) – referring to Satan.

1Jn 3:8a, 10, 12 Whoever makes a practice of sinning is of the devil, for the devil has been sinning from the beginning.  ...

¹⁰By this it is evident who are the children of God, and who are the children of the devil: whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor is the one who does not love his brother.  ... ¹²We should not be like Cain, who was of the evil one and murdered his brother. And why did he murder him? Because his own deeds were evil and his brother's righteous.

Satan's evil actions are reflected in those who belong to him, who like Cain typically commit evil actions (v. 12). Their evil actions mirror Satan, "the evil one" (v. 12a), in that they: do what is sinful (v. 8a); do not do what is right (v. 10b; Acts 13:10 ↓); do not love (v. 10b); and even murder (v. 12a; cf. John 8:44a ↓).

John 8:44a You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father's desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, and has nothing to do with the truth, because there is no truth in him.

Matt 13:19 When anyone hears the word of the kingdom and does not understand it, the evil one comes and snatches away what has been sown in his heart. This is what was sown along the path.

Luke 8:11-12 Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. ¹²The ones along the path are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not believe and be saved.

This speaks of Satan removing God's word with its message about the kingdom (cf. Matt 13:19 ↑) from those who do not understand it (cf. Matt 13:19 ↑) and absorb it, so that they will not respond to it.

Matt 13:37-41 He answered, "The one who sows the good seed is the Son of Man. ³⁸The field is the world, and the good seed is the sons of the kingdom. The weeds are the sons of the evil one, ³⁹and the enemy who sowed them is the devil. The harvest is the close of the age, and the reapers are angels. ⁴⁰Just as the weeds are gathered and burned with fire, so will it be at the close of the age. ⁴¹The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will gather out of his kingdom all causes of sin and all law-breakers, ...

Satan sows his "weeds" – "all causes of sin and all law-breakers" (v. 41) – in opposition to Jesus Christ's sowing of the sons of the kingdom (vv. 37-38a). At the end of the age Jesus Christ's angels will weed out of the kingdom all such "weeds" of Satan (v. 41).

Acts 13:10 ... and said, "You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord?

This implies that Satan is an enemy of everything that is aligned with righteousness, as reflected by his followers. In particular Satan opposes the paths/ways of the Lord – "plotting against His saving purposes" (AMP).

Matt 16:21-23 From that time Jesus began to show his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on the third day be raised. ²²And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him, saying, “Far be it from you, Lord!^b This shall never happen to you.” ²³But he turned and said to Peter, “Get behind me, Satan! You are a hindrance^c to me. For you are not setting your mind on the things of God, but on the things of man.” ☞

^b Or “[May God be] merciful to you, Lord!”

^c Greek stumbling block

By his use of “Satan” (v. 23) in rebuking Peter, it would appear that Jesus could see an agenda that was of Satan in Peter’s words. For what Peter said was actually opposed to the main aspect of Jesus’ mission, which involved his death (v. 21).

Luke 22:3-4 Then Satan entered into Judas called Iscariot, who was of the number of the twelve. ⁴*He went away and conferred with the chief priests and officers how he might betray him to them.* ☞

2Cor 4:4 In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. ☞

The “god of this world” refers to Satan.

Rev 12:1-5 And a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars. ²She was pregnant and was crying out in birth pains and the agony of giving birth. ³And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven diadems. ⁴His tail swept down a third of the stars of heaven and cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she bore her child he might devour it. ⁵*She gave birth to a male child, one who is to rule all the nations with a rod of iron, but her child was caught up to God and to his throne, ...* ☞

The woman most likely is either the church, Israel or believing Jews. The “dragon” is Satan and the “male child” whom he sought to devour is the Messiah, Jesus Christ. For comment on v. 4, see the comment on Rev 12:3-4a – under Satan is very powerful, p. 184.

✦ Jesus Christ came to destroy Satan’s work:

Gen 3:1-6, 13 Now the serpent was more crafty than any other beast of the field that the LORD God had made. He said to the woman, “Did God actually say, ‘You^d shall not eat of any tree in the garden?’” ²And the woman said to the serpent, “We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden, ³but God said, ‘You shall not eat of the fruit of the tree that is in the midst of the garden, neither shall you touch it, lest you die.’” ⁴*But the serpent said to the woman, “You will not surely die. ⁵For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil.”* ⁶So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise,^e she took of its fruit and ate, and she also gave some to her husband who was with her, and he ate. ☞
... ¹³Then the LORD God said to the woman, “What is this that you have done?” The woman said, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.” ☞

^d In Hebrew you is plural in verses 1-5

^e Or to give insight

Here Satan is manifested in the serpent (cf. 2Cor 1:3 ↓). There is truth in v. 5 – as often the case with clever lies – but it is stated in such a way as to imply God’s motives were not honorable and not in Eve’s best interests.

2Cor 11:3 But I am afraid that as the serpent deceived Eve by his cunning, your thoughts will be led astray from a sincere and pure devotion to Christ. ☞

2Thes 2:9-10 The coming of the lawless one is by the activity of Satan with all power and false signs and wonders, ¹⁰and with all wicked deception for those who are perishing, because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. ☞

The “man of lawlessness” is quite likely the antichrist, Satan’s great agent of the end time.

Rev 12:9 And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him.

Satan deceives everyone in the world who is not of God.

Rev 20:3, 7-10 ... and [an angel] threw him [Satan] into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.  ... ⁷And when the thousand years are ended, Satan will be released from his prison ⁸*and will come out to deceive the nations that are at the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them for battle; their number is like the sand of the sea.* ⁹And they marched up over the broad plain of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city, but fire came down from heaven^f and consumed them, ¹⁰*and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.*

Acts 13:10 ... and said, “You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord?”

The last clause appears to refer to twisting the Lord’s truth/s (cf. GNT, NCV). Doing such things, particularly knowingly, is quintessential deceit.

2Cor 11:13-15 For such men are false apostles, deceitful workmen, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. ¹⁴*And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light.* ¹⁵*So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as servants of righteousness.* Their end will correspond to their deeds.

Rev 3:9 Behold, I will make those of the synagogue of Satan who say that they are Jews and are not, but lie—behold, I will make them come and bow down before your feet and they will learn that I have loved you.

Synagogues are places of Jewish worship. John coins the term “the synagogue of Satan” to depict supposedly pious Jews, who in fact belonged to Satan (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT) – and as such were liars.

Rev 19:20 And the beast was captured, and with it the false prophet who in its presence^g had done the signs by which he deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped its image. These two were thrown alive into the lake of fire that burns with sulfur.

^g Or on its behalf

The false prophet of the end times will perform miraculous signs to delude the followers of the beast, who is generally understood to be Satan’s antichrist (cf. 2Thes 2:9-10

Note: Possible references to Satan’s original state and his fall

See also:

- Note: Satan hurled down from heaven to the earth, p. 191

Some commentators consider the following passages to refer or allude to Satan’s original state and fall, while others think that this is not necessarily so, even unlikely.

Ezek 28:12-17 Son of man, raise a lamentation over the king of Tyre, and say to him, Thus says the Lord GOD: “You were the signet of perfection,^h full of wisdom and perfect in beauty. ¹³*You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was your covering, sardius, topaz, and diamond, beryl, onyx, and jasper, sapphire,ⁱ emerald, and carbuncle; and crafted in gold were your settings and your engravings.^j On the day that you were created they were prepared.* ¹⁴*You were an anointed guardian cherub. I placed you;^k you were on the holy mountain of God; in the midst of the stones of fire you walked.* ¹⁵*You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created, till unrighteousness was found in you.* ¹⁶*In the abundance of your trade you were filled with violence in your midst, and you sinned; so I cast you as a profane thing from the mountain of God, and I destroyed you,^l O guardian cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.* ¹⁷*Your heart was proud because of your beauty; you corrupted your wisdom for the sake of your splendor. I cast you to the ground; I exposed you before kings, to feast their eyes on you.*

^h The meaning of the Hebrew phrase is uncertain

ⁱ Or lapis lazuli

^j The meaning of the Hebrew phrase is uncertain

^k The meaning of the Hebrew phrase is uncertain

^l Or banished you

This is either simply “a lamentation over the king of Tyre” (v. 12) containing highly figurative language, or additionally also descriptive of Satan. If it does allude to Satan, it says much of his origin and fall. It portrays him as originally a perfect being, “full of wisdom and perfect in beauty” (v. 12b) and “blameless” (v. 15a) – and even created by God (v. 13b). Additionally Satan is shown to have been highly exalted by God and to have dwelt in close proximity to God (vv. 13-14). But largely through his pride he became wicked and was expelled from God’s presence (vv. 15b-17; cf. Isa 14:12-15 ↓). Note that if v. 16a is meant to be applicable to Satan, it may be portraying widespread activity or dealings of Satan.

Isa 14:12-15 How you are fallen from heaven, O Day Star, son of Dawn! How you are cut down to the ground, you who laid the nations low! ¹³You said in your heart, ‘I will ascend to heaven; above the stars of God I will set my throne on high; I will sit on the mount of assembly in the far reaches of the north;’^m ¹⁴I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High.’ ¹⁵But you are brought down to Sheol, to the far reaches of the pit.

^mOr in the remote parts of Zaphon

The king of Babylon is spoken of here (cf. v. 4), with some commentators understanding the passage to also allude to Satan and his fall.

Satan is very powerful

Matt 12:24 But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, “It is only by Beelzebul, the prince of demons, that this man casts out demons.”

“Beelzebub” refers to Satan. The description of him as “the prince of demons” speaks of him as the head of all demons, illustrating his extraordinary power and authority (cf. Rev 12:3-4a ↓).

Eph 6:16 In all circumstances take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming darts of the evil one; ...

Here “the flaming darts” figuratively portray Satan’s potent spiritual weaponry and/or attacks, which have the potential to cause great harm.

Heb 2:14 Since therefore the children share in flesh and blood, he himself likewise partook of the same things, that through death he might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil, ...

This most likely refers to Satan’s power to induce people to sin and so to render them subject to the penalty of death. As such he effectively wields the power of death, an aspect of his very formidable power and influence.

1Pet 5:8 Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour.

Rev 12:3-4a And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven diadems. ⁴*His tail swept down a third of the stars of heaven and cast them to the earth.*

The dragon is Satan (cf. Rev 13:2 ↓). There are different ideas as to what v. 4a portrays. Some think that it is speaking of Satan winning over the fallen angels (cf. Gen 6:1-4). As such, along with illustrating Satan’s own great power, the verse would point to these powerful beings as extensions of Satan’s power and influence.

Satan has great power and authority in the world

See also:

- Eph 2:2 ↓

Note that most of the references in the previous subsection to some extent also point to Satan’s great power in the world.

Luke 4:5-6 And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time,⁶ and said to him, “To you I will give all this authority and their glory, for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will. 📖

1Jn 5:19 We know that we are from God, and the whole world lies in the power of the evil one. 📖

Here and in Revelation 12:9 below, “the whole world” refers to “the rest of the world” (CEV) apart from the children of God. The term is applicable to world systems as well to the world’s people.

Rev 12:9 And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him. 📖

John 12:31 Now is the judgment of this world; now will the ruler of this world be cast out. 📖

Jesus also uses the title “the ruler of this world” for Satan in 14:30 and 16:11. Other titles of Satan indicative of his power in the world are: “The god of this age” (2Cor 4:4 ↓) and “the prince of the power of the air” (Eph 2:2 ↓).

Acts 10:38 ... how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him. 📖

1Jn 4:4 Little children, you are from God and have overcome them, for he who is in you is greater than he who is in the world. 📖

Particularly in this context, “he who is in the world” is indicative of Satan’s great authority in the world.

Rev 2:13 ‘I know where you dwell, where Satan’s throne is. Yet you hold fast my name, and you did not deny my faithⁿ even in the days of Antipas my faithful witness, who was killed among you, where Satan dwells. 📖

ⁿ Or your faith in me

The clauses “where Satan’s throne is” and “where Satan dwells” most likely refer to the city of Pergamum as a center of pagan worship. This is illustrative of Satan’s power in the world.

Rev 13:2 And the beast that I saw was like a leopard; its feet were like a bear’s, and its mouth was like a lion’s mouth. And to it the dragon gave his power and his throne and great authority. 📖

This speaks of Satan’s dominating power over the world, which he will extend to the beast of the end times.

Matt 12:26 And if Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand? 📖

Here Jesus Christ refers to Satan’s worldly kingdom, indicative of the control Satan has in the world, over all people and spiritual beings that do not belong to God.

Satan works in and through unbelievers

Acts 26:17-18 ... delivering you from your people and from the Gentiles—to whom I am sending you¹⁸ to open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are sanctified by faith in me. 📖

This implies that all non-believers are to some extent at least under the power of Satan. Being under his power involves such things as being influenced by his temptations and open to his control.

2Cor 4:4 In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. 📖

Eph 2:2 ... in which you once walked, following the course of this world, following the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work in the sons of disobedience— 📖

Note that the reference to Satan as “the prince of the power of the air” probably alludes to him as the ruler and leader of “the spiritual forces of evil” (NirV®; cf. NCV).

2Cor 11:13-15 For such men are false apostles, deceitful workmen, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ.¹⁴ And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light.¹⁵ So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds. 📖

The description of false teachers as Satan’s “servants” (v. 15) indicates that they effectively carry out purposes of Satan.

2Tim 2:25-26 ... correcting his opponents with gentleness. God may perhaps grant them repentance leading to a knowledge of the truth,²⁶ and they may come to their senses and escape from the snare of the devil, after being captured by him to do his will. 📖

John 8:44 You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father’s desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, and has nothing to do with the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks out of his own character, for he is a liar and the father of lies. 📖

The phrase “do your father’s desires” may mean “carry out what your father desires you to do” or, more likely, “do the things your father desires to do”. These interpretations reflect that Satan is the father of wicked people in that they: are subject to his will; exhibit his characteristics; and follow his example (cf. v. 41), such as being prepared to murder and oppose the truth (cf. v. 40).

John 13:2, 27, 30 During supper, when the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon’s son, to betray him, ... ²⁷*Then after he had taken the morsel, Satan entered into him.* Jesus said to him, “What you are going to do, do quickly.” ... ³⁰*So, after receiving the morsel of bread, he immediately went out.* And it was night.

Verses 27a and 30a indicate that as soon as Judas had taken the bread offered to him, Satan entered into him (v. 27a) and he immediately went out (v. 30a) to betray Jesus. This implies that Satan used Judas.

Rev 20:7-9 And when the thousand years are ended, Satan will be released from his prison ⁸*and will come out to deceive the nations that are at the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them for battle;* their number is like the sand of the sea. ⁹*And they marched up over the broad plain of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city, but fire came down from heaven* ⁹ and consumed them, ...

⁹ Some manuscripts from God, out of heaven, or out of heaven from God

This appears to speak of Satan gathering numerous forces to fight against God’s people in the end time.

‡ Those who are of the devil:

1Jn 3:8a, 10 Whoever makes a practice of sinning is of the devil, for the devil has been sinning from the beginning. ... ¹⁰*By this it is evident who are the children of God, and who are the children of the devil: whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor is the one who does not love his brother.*

Job 2:1 Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came among them to present himself before the LORD.

In saying that Satan came to “present himself before the LORD”, this verse is indicative of God’s superiority and even of Satan’s acknowledgment of this.

Rom 16:20a The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet.

In view of the preceding verses (vv. 17-19), Paul may be referring to God soon crushing the work of Satan carried out by false teachers. Alternatively Paul may have in view God’s final comprehensive crushing of Satan himself.

Luke 4:5-6 And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time, ⁶*and said to him, “To you I will give all this authority and their glory, for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will.*

The authority that Satan does have in this world is only his because God has given it to him – for a limited time (cf. Rev 12:12 ↓).

Rev 12:12 Therefore, rejoice, O heavens and you who dwell in them! But woe to you, O earth and sea, for the devil has come down to you in great wrath, because he knows that his time is short!

Satan knows that God in his supreme power has limited the time in which Satan has left before God implements his doom.

Rev 20:1-3 Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, holding in his hand the key to the bottomless pit^P and a great chain. ²*And he seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years,* ³*and threw him into the pit, and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he might not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were ended. After that he must be released for a little while.*

^P Greek the abyss; also verse 3

Here even one of God’s angels exerts power over Satan, binding and imprisoning him – in accordance with God’s will. Revelation 12:7-8 also speaks of angels overpowering Satan. Such power being exercised by God’s forces is indicative of God’s power being superior to Satan’s.

Gen 3:15 I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring^a and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.

^a Hebrew seed; so throughout Genesis

Generally this is seen as more than just a description of the enmity that would exist between humans and snakes. The offspring of the woman is thought to represent human beings and God's people in particular, with the offspring of the serpent symbolizing those controlled by Satan, including demons. The second part of the verse is often understood to be chiefly fulfilled in Jesus Christ's victory over Satan through his death and resurrection (cf. Heb 2:14 ↓).

Matt 4:10-11 Then Jesus said to him, "Be gone, Satan! For it is written, "You shall worship the Lord your God and him only shall you serve." 11Then the devil left him, and behold, angels came and were ministering to him.

This reflects Jesus' authority over Satan.

Luke 11:14, 21-22 Now he was casting out a demon that was mute. When the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke, and the people marveled. ... 21When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are safe; 22but when one stronger than he attacks him and overcomes him, he takes away his armor in which he trusted and divides his spoil.

In v. 22 Jesus is referring to his overpowering of Satan in Satan's worldly domain, stripping him of his defenses and taking what was his – a truth demonstrated by Jesus driving out demons (v. 14) and thus releasing people from Satan's grip.

Heb 2:14 Since therefore the children share in flesh and blood, he himself likewise partook of the same things, that through death he might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil, ...

The term "destroy" appears to have the sense "break the power of" (NLT), although it may also allude to Jesus Christ's death being significant in Satan's ultimate destruction.

1Jn 3:8b The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the works of the devil.

1Jn 5:18 We know that everyone who has been born of God does not keep on sinning, but he who was born of God protects him, and the evil one does not touch him.

‡ The Holy Spirit is greater than Satan:

1Jn 4:4 Little children, you are from God and have overcome them, for he who is in you is greater than he who is in the world.

The "he who is in you" is most likely referring to the Holy Spirit, but it could be referring to God or to Jesus Christ.

Note: Satan stands condemned

John 16:11 ... concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.

Satan is or has been "judged" in that he has been condemned.

Rom 16:20a The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet.

Matt 25:41 Then he will say to those on his left, 'Depart from me, you cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

Rev 20:10 ... and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

1Tim 3:6 He must not be a recent convert, or he may become puffed up with conceit and fall into the condemnation of the devil.

The clause "fall into the condemnation of the devil" most likely means to face the same condemnation as the devil does. However, note that it has also been interpreted as referring to falling from a high position just as the devil did, and even to judgment dealt out by the devil.

Isa 65:25 The wolf and the lamb shall graze together; the lion shall eat straw like the ox, and dust shall be the serpent's food. They shall not hurt or destroy in all my holy mountain," says the LORD.

The serpent quite possibly alludes to Satan. As such, "dust shall be the serpent's food" would allude to Satan's punishment.

Satan schemes and fights against God's people

2Cor 2:10-11 Anyone whom you forgive, I also forgive. Indeed, what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, has been for your sake in the presence of Christ, ¹¹so that we would not be outwitted by Satan; for we are not ignorant of his designs.

Paul is speaking of forgiving a church member who has "caused pain" (v. 5) – and presumably has since repented. Not forgiving such a person would leave the church members themselves susceptible to Satan's designs and schemes, allowing him to work through such things as bitterness and animosity.

Eph 6:11, 16 Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the schemes of the devil. ... ¹⁶In all circumstances take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming darts of the evil one; ...

The "flaming darts" (v. 16) depict such things as temptations and trials instigated by Satan against God's people.

1Tim 3:7 Moreover, he must be well thought of by outsiders, so that he may not fall into disgrace, into a snare of the devil.

The "a snare of the devil" appears to be a general reference to Satan deceiving one into sin, rather than referring to any particular "snare". Paul may be implying here that a church leader without a good reputation may well not be deserving of such, and so would be the type of person quite likely to fall into one of Satan's traps.

1Pet 5:8 Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour.

Rev 12:17 Then the dragon became furious with the woman and went off to make war on the rest of her offspring, on those who keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus. And he stood^r on the sand of the sea.

^r Some manuscripts And I stood, connecting the sentence with 13:1

As noted earlier, the dragon depicts Satan and the woman is usually thought to be symbolically representative of the church – or possibly Israel or believing Jews in particular. So, "the rest of her offspring" appears to refer to Christians.

Gen 3:15 I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring^s and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.

^s Hebrew seed; so throughout Genesis

See the comment on Gen 3:15 earlier in . . . and Satan is not as powerful as Jesus Christ, p. 187.

‡ Satan hinders God's people:

1Thes 2:18 ... because we wanted to come to you—I, Paul, again and again—but Satan hindered us.

Satan tempts God's people . . .

Gen 3:1-6 Now the serpent was more crafty than any other beast of the field that the LORD God had made. He said to the woman, "Did God actually say, 'You^t shall not eat of any tree in the garden'?" ²And the woman said to the serpent, "We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden, ³but God said, 'You shall not eat of the fruit of the tree that is in the midst of the garden, neither shall you touch it, lest you die.'" ⁴*But the serpent said to the woman, "You will not surely die. ⁵For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil."* ⁶So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise,^a she took of its fruit and ate, and she also gave some to her husband who was with her, and he ate.

^t In Hebrew you is plural in verses 1-5

^u Or to give insight

Matt 6:13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.^v

^v Or the evil one; some manuscripts add For yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen

Particularly as James 1:13 says that God does not tempt anyone, “lead us not into temptation” probably has the sense “don’t let us yield to temptation” (NLT; cf. Nlrv), notably that of “the evil one” (text note). Alternatively, “temptation” could refer more generally to “hard testing” (GNT; cf. NRSV).

Luke 4:1-13 And Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the wilderness ²for forty days, being tempted by the devil. And he ate nothing during those days. And when they were ended, he was hungry. ³*The devil said to him, “If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread.”* ⁴And Jesus answered him, “It is written, ‘Man shall not live by bread alone.’” ⁵*And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time,* ⁶*and said to him, “To you I will give all this authority and their glory, for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will.”* ⁷*If you, then, will worship me, it will all be yours.”* ⁸And Jesus answered him, “It is written, “You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve.”” ⁹*And he took him to Jerusalem and set him on the pinnacle of the temple and said to him, “If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here,* ¹⁰*for it is written, “He will command his angels concerning you, to guard you,”* ¹¹*and “On their hands they will bear you up, lest you strike your foot against a stone.”* ¹²And Jesus answered him, “It is said, ‘You shall not put the Lord your God to the test.’” ¹³*And when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from him until an opportune time.*

Satan’s temptation of Jesus is illustrative of Satan’s work in tempting God’s people. The temptation in vv. 2-3 appears to be for Jesus to invoke his divine power as the Son of God for his own purposes, in a way that would have been inconsistent with God’s purposes for his sacrificial mission, to be lived in dependence on God. Jesus counters Satan by pointing to the priority that God’s word should have in living one’s daily life (v. 4).

1Cor 7:5 Do not deprive one another, except perhaps by agreement for a limited time, that you may devote yourselves to prayer; but then come together again, so that Satan may not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

1Thes 3:5 For this reason, when I could bear it no longer, I sent to learn about your faith, for fear that somehow the tempter had tempted you and our labor would be in vain.

Paul had been concerned that Satan may have been successful in tempting the Thessalonians.

... and Satan can lead God’s people astray

See also:

▪ Gen 3:6 ↑; 1Thes 3:5 ↑

The following verses show that Satan can lead one astray by leading one to: do something wrong (1Chr 21:1; Acts 5:3); compromise one’s faith (2Cor 1:3); or turn away from God to follow Satan (1Tim 5:15). Note that the some of the people concerned may actually never have been genuinely God’s people.

1Chr 21:1 Then Satan stood against Israel and incited David to number Israel.

This taking of a census was wrong in that it appears that David did it to see how powerful he was, a sign of reliance on his own power rather than God’s. Joab’s reaction (cf. vv. 3, 6) showed that he certainly recognized it as sinful.

Acts 5:3 But Peter said, “Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land?

Keeping some of the money he had received for the sale of his land was not in itself wrong. But Ananias had deceitfully indicated that he had given all of the money to the church (cf. v. 2).

2Cor 11:3 But I am afraid that as the serpent deceived Eve by his cunning, your thoughts will be led astray from a sincere and pure devotion to Christ.

Paul was concerned that just as Eve was deceived by Satan, the Corinthians may also be led astray by false teachers who were ultimately inspired by Satan.

1Tim 5:15 For some have already strayed after Satan.

Presumably such action is primarily instigated by Satan, leading people astray. Note that while those concerned were amongst God’s people, it is debatable as to whether such people ever really have belonged to God.

Satan can afflict God's people

Job 2:7 So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD and struck Job with loathsome sores from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head.

Luke 13:16 And ought not this woman, a daughter of Abraham whom Satan bound for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

The woman had been crippled by an evil spirit (cf. v. 11) and here Jesus identifies Satan as the ultimate source of her affliction.

1Pet 5:9 Resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same kinds of suffering are being experienced by your brotherhood throughout the world.

The call to resist Satan implies that he is behind the "suffering", primarily afflictions associated with persecution, not necessarily physical afflictions.

Rev 2:10 Do not fear what you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to throw some of you into prison, that you may be tested, and for ten days you will have tribulation. Be faithful unto death, and I will give you the crown of life.

Satan can only tempt and afflict as God permits

God and Jesus Christ may permit Satan to tempt or afflict their people, but only in accordance with their purposes, as 2 Corinthians 12:7-9 below illustrates (cf. d) God Disciplines His People (I): Reasons, p. 869).

1Cor 10:13 No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.

God has the power to limit temptation, including that which originates directly from Satan – illustrating God's power to curtail Satan at will.

Job 1:12 And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, all that he has is in your hand. Only against him do not stretch out your hand." So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

Note that the passages immediately preceding this and 2:6 below, are in the following subsection.

Job 2:6 And the LORD said to Satan, "Behold, he is in your hand; only spare his life."

Luke 22:31 Simon, Simon, behold, Satan demanded to have you,^w that he might sift you like wheat, ...

^w The Greek word for you (twice in this verse) is plural; in verse 32, all four instances are singular

Jesus appears to mean that Satan "demanded permission" (NASB) to strongly test Simon Peter. As such, the fact that Satan needed permission to do so, illustrates that he can only act against God's people as he is permitted.

2Cor 12:7-9 So to keep me from becoming conceited because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations,^x a thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to harass me, to keep me from becoming conceited. ⁸Three times I pleaded with the Lord about this, that it should leave me. ⁹But he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness." Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

^x Or hears from me, even because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations. So to keep me from becoming conceited

Paul's affliction apparently came from Satan. But Paul implies that Jesus Christ permitted it, using it to both keep Paul from becoming conceited (v. 7) and make him receptive to Christ's power working in him.

✦ Jesus Christ protects his people from Satan's harm:

1Jn 5:18 We know that everyone who has been born of God does not keep on sinning, but he who was born of God protects him, and the evil one does not touch him.

Particularly in light of the above verses, the last clause appears to be speaking primarily of spiritual harm.

Satan accuses God's people before God

See also:

- Rev 12:10

The Greek word from which "Devil" comes means an accuser, a slanderer. In being used of Satan it points to him carrying out such activity, notably accusing and slandering believers before God. To what extent Satan is still able to accuse believers before God, if at all, depends partly on the meaning of Revelation 12:7-12 in the following subsection.

Zec 3:1-2 Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan^y standing at his right hand to accuse him. ²And the LORD said to Satan, “The LORD rebuke you, O Satan! The LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this a brand^z plucked from the fire?”

^y Satan means the accuser

^z That is, a burning stick

In this vision Satan makes accusations against Joshua – the high priest at the time of the return of the exiles, here representative of the people. Satan accuses God’s people apparently in the hope that God will condemn them – an objective he obviously fails to achieve here (v. 2).

Job 1:6, 8-11 Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan^a also came among them. ... ⁸And the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered my servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, who fears God and turns away from evil?” ⁹Then Satan answered the LORD and said, “Does Job fear God for no reason? ¹⁰Have you not put a hedge around him and his house and all that he has, on every side? You have blessed the work of his hands, and his possessions have increased in the land. ¹¹But stretch out your hand and touch all that he has, and he will curse you to your face.”

^a Hebrew the Adversary; so throughout chapters 1-2

Job 2:1, 3-5 Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came among them to present himself before the LORD. ... ³And the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered my servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, who fears God and turns away from evil? He still holds fast his integrity, although you incited me against him to destroy him without reason.” ⁴Then Satan answered the LORD and said, “Skin for skin! All that a man has he will give for his life. ⁵But stretch out your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse you to your face.”

Note: Satan hurled down from heaven to the earth

Rev 12:7-12 Now war arose in heaven, Michael and his angels fighting against the dragon. And the dragon and his angels fought back, ⁸but he was defeated, and there was no longer any place for them in heaven. ⁹And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him. ¹⁰And I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying, “Now the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Christ have come, for the accuser of our brothers^b has been thrown down, who accuses them day and night before our God. ¹¹And they have conquered him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, for they loved not their lives even unto death. ¹²Therefore, rejoice, O heavens and you who dwell in them! But woe to you, O earth and sea, for the devil has come down to you in great wrath, because he knows that his time is short!”

^b Or brothers and sisters

Commentators differ in their understanding as to whether vv. 7-12: refer to a final expulsion of Satan from heaven in the last days, leading to the rise of the two beasts in the subsequent chapter; or are symbolic of Jesus’ victory on the cross and the victory that his followers have as a result. Further to the latter possibility, some consider that this passage may actually connect the timing of Satan’s expulsion from heaven with Jesus’ victory on the cross (cf. John 12:31 ↓). Much would depend on whether or not v. 10a is referring to the present forms of the things it mentions, which were established through Jesus Christ’s death and resurrection. If it is connected with Jesus’ victory on the cross, then this may imply that that Satan is now not able to accuse Christians before God – or at least not “in” heaven.

Luke 10:17-18 The seventy-two returned with joy, saying, “Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name!” ¹⁸And he said to them, “I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven.”

As with John 12:31 below, v. 18 is not necessarily speaking of the event described above in Revelation 12:7-12. Jesus may have instead been speaking metaphorically, implying that the disciples’ success in exercising authority over demons (v. 17) was a sign that Satan’s power had been broken.

John 12:31 Now is the judgment of this world; now will the ruler of this world be cast out.

Jesus is referring to his imminent death – possibly along with his subsequent resurrection – by which Satan would “be cast out”. By this phrase Jesus may well be simply speaking of the breaking of Satan’s power and hold on humankind through sin and the power of death. However, in conjunction with this truth, Jesus may be more precisely speaking of Satan being “cast out (expelled)” (AMP; cf. NASB, NLT, NKJV) from heaven and “thrown down” (NCV™) to earth.

d) Demons

Evil spiritual forces are referred to by a number of names, including “demons”, “evil spirits”, “spirits” (cf. comment on Rev 16:14 ↴) and even “angels”, with a number of verses correlating demons with fallen angels (cf. Demons face eternal punishment, p. 195). In order to be concise, only “Demons” has been used in this and the following subheadings.

Subsections

- Demons are evil and powerful spiritual beings
- Demons are aligned with Satan
- Demons are deceitful, propagating what is false
- Demons can possess people . . .
- . . . Demons can cause people they possess much harm
- Demons both fear and have to submit to God and Jesus Christ
- Demons face eternal punishment

Demons are evil and powerful spiritual beings

Luke 7:21 In that hour he healed many people of diseases and plagues and evil spirits, and on many who were blind he bestowed sight. 📖

Eph 6:12 For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places. 📖

The terms “rulers”, “authorities” and “powers” are indicative of the great – but limited – power of demons.

1Sam 19:9-10 Then a harmful spirit from the LORD came upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand. And David was playing the lyre. ¹⁰And Saul sought to pin David to the wall with the spear, but he eluded Saul, so that he struck the spear into the wall. And David fled and escaped that night. 📖

The presence of the harmful spirit – “an evil spirit” (AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NRSV) – in Saul led to Saul’s evil action, attempting to take David’s life. Note that the fact that this evil spirit was “from the LORD” (v. 9a) illustrates that God can use evil for his own purposes (cf. a) God Has Control over Evil, p. 272).

Matt 8:28, 30-32 And when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gadarenes,^c two demon-possessed^d men met him, coming out of the tombs, so fierce that no one could pass that way. 📖 ... ³⁰Now a herd of many pigs was feeding at some distance from them. ³¹And the demons begged him, saying, “If you cast us out, send us away into the herd of pigs.” ³²And he said to them, “Go.” So they came out and went into the pigs, and behold, the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea and drowned in the waters. 📖

^d Greek daimonizomai; also verse 33; elsewhere rendered oppressed by demons

The hostility and power of the men was due to demons possessing them. As such, the men’s hostility and power was indicative of the evil and power of demons – as was the effect of the demons on the herd of pigs. Similar comments can be made in regard to some of the following verses.

Mark 5:2-4 And when Jesus^e had stepped out of the boat, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit. ³He lived among the tombs. And no one could bind him anymore, not even with a chain, ⁴*for he had often been bound with shackles and chains, but he wrenched the chains apart, and he broke the shackles in pieces. No one had the strength to subdue him.* 📖

^e Greek he; also verse 9

Note that “an unclean spirit” denotes an evil spirit.

Acts 19:15-16 But the evil spirit answered them, “Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize, but who are you?” ¹⁶And the man in whom was the evil spirit leaped on them, mastered all^f of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. 📖

^f Or both

Rev 16:14 For they are demonic spirits, performing signs, who go abroad to the kings of the whole world, to assemble them for battle on the great day of God the Almighty. 📖

As well as showing great power in violent actions, demons are also powerful in that they can perform miraculous signs.

✚ An example of powerful spiritual warfare between demons and God’s angels:

Dan 10:13, 20b-21 [An angel:] The prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me twenty-one days, but Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I was left there with the kings of Persia, ...²⁰ ... But now I will return to fight against the prince of Persia; and when I go out, behold, the prince of Greece will come.²¹ But I will tell you what is inscribed in the book of truth: there is none who contends by my side against these except Michael, your prince.

The titles “the prince of the kingdom of Persia” (v. 13, cf. v. 20) and “the prince of Greece” (v. 20) appear to refer to demons that exercise great authority in Persia and Greece. They were combatants against the angel speaking and the archangel Michael (cf. Rev 12:7-9 ↓).

Demons are aligned with Satan

Matt 25:41 Then he will say to those on his left, ‘Depart from me, you cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

Luke 11:14-18 Now he was casting out a demon that was mute. When the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke, and the people marveled.¹⁵ But some of them said, “He casts out demons by Beelzebul, the prince of demons,”¹⁶ while others, to test him, kept seeking from him a sign from heaven.¹⁷ But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, “Every kingdom divided against itself is laid waste, and a divided household falls.¹⁸ And if Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that I cast out demons by Beelzebul.

“Beelzebub” refers to Satan. This passage indicates that demons belong to Satan’s kingdom.

Eph 2:2 ... in which you once walked, following the course of this world, following the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work in the sons of disobedience—

As noted earlier, the reference to Satan as “the prince of the power of the air” probably alludes to him as the ruler and leader of “the spiritual forces of evil” (NIRV®; cf. NCV) – primarily demons or evil angels.

Eph 6:11-12 Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to *stand against the schemes of the devil.*¹² For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places.

This aligns demonic powers (v. 12) with Satan (v. 11).

Rev 12:7-9 Now war arose in heaven, Michael and his angels fighting against the dragon. And *the dragon and his angels fought back,*⁸ but he was defeated, and there was no longer any place for them in heaven.⁹ And the great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him.

Demons are deceitful, propagating what is false

1Tim 4:1-2 Now the Spirit expressly says that in later times some will depart from the faith by *devoting themselves to deceitful spirits and teachings of demons,*² through the insincerity of liars whose consciences are seared, ...

The fact that the medium of the teachings of demons is insincere “liars” (v. 2a) emphasizes the deceitfulness and falseness of their teaching (cf. 1Jn 4:1 ↓).

1Jn 4:1, 6 Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits to see whether they are from God, for many false prophets have gone out into the world. ...⁶ We are from God. Whoever knows God listens to us; whoever is not from God does not listen to us. By this we know the Spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

In v. 1, “spirit” and “spirits” refer to the spirits which inspires teachers – the real source of their teaching – either the Holy Spirit or an evil spirit. The false prophets referred to here are examples of false teachers under the influence of an evil spirit “of error” (v. 6) – “the spirit of deception” (NLT). Demons show that they are deceitful in using such people to propagate false teaching.

⚡ Demons can be involved in fortune telling:

Acts 16:16 As we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a slave girl who had a spirit of divination and brought her owners much gain by fortune-telling.

It would appear that demons have some knowledge of the future. Such things as fortune-telling can be used by demons to bring people under their influence. What demons divulge of the future is by no means necessarily true, as their knowledge is not complete and they are deceptive. Note that if no demon is involved with a particular fortuneteller, then presumably what the fortuneteller predicts is simply made up by themself.

Demons can possess people . . .

Matt 8:28 And when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gadarenes,^g two demon-possessed^h men met him, coming out of the tombs, so fierce that no one could pass that way. ☞

^g Some manuscripts Gergesenes; some Gerasenes

^h Greek daimonizomai; also verse 33; elsewhere rendered oppressed by demons

Matt 9:32 As they were going away, behold, a demon-oppressed man who was mute was brought to him. ☞

The term “demon-oppressed” is indicative of a person being demon-possessed (cf. text note on 8:28a above; AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT).

Mark 7:25 But immediately a woman whose little daughter had an unclean spirit heard of him and came and fell down at his feet. ☞

Acts 19:13 Then some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists undertook to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, “I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul proclaims.” ☞

1Sam 18:10 The next day a harmful spirit from God rushed upon Saul, and he raved within his house while David was playing the lyre, as he did day by day. Saul had his spear in his hand. ☞

Matt 12:43-45 “When the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, but finds none. ⁴⁴Then it says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ And when it comes, it finds the house empty, swept, and put in order. ⁴⁵Then it goes and brings with it seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and dwell there, and the last state of that person is worse than the first. So also will it be with this evil generation.” ☞

This indicates that if people who have been freed of demon possession do not turn to God and so receive his Holy Spirit, they are vulnerable to an even worse case of demon possession (v. 45).

. . . Demons can cause people they possess much harm

Matt 12:22 Then a demon-oppressed man who was blind and mute was brought to him, and he healed him, so that the man spoke and saw. ☞

The man’s blindness and muteness were due to the demon that possessed him (cf. Mark 9:17 ↓).

Matt 15:22 And behold, a Canaanite woman from that region came out and was crying, “Have mercy on me, O Lord, Son of David; my daughter is severely oppressed by a demon.” ☞

The girl was “suffering terribly” (NIV®).

Mark 5:2, 5 And when Jesusⁱ had stepped out of the boat, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit. ☞ ... ⁵*Night and day among the tombs and on the mountains he was always crying out and cutting himself with stones.* ☞

ⁱ Greek he; also verse 9

Mark 9:17-22, 25-27 And someone from the crowd answered him, “Teacher, I brought my son to you, for he has a spirit that makes him mute. ¹⁸*And whenever it seizes him, it throws him down, and he foams and grinds his teeth and becomes rigid.* So I asked your disciples to cast it out, and they were not able.” ¹⁹And he answered them, “O faithless generation, how long am I to be with you? How long am I to bear with you? Bring him to me.” ²⁰And they brought the boy to him. And when the spirit saw him, immediately it convulsed the boy, and he fell on the ground and rolled about, foaming at the mouth. ²¹*And Jesus asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?” And he said, “From childhood.* ²²*And it has often cast him into fire and into water, to destroy him.* But if you can do anything, have compassion on us and help us.” ☞ ... ²⁵And when Jesus saw that a crowd came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, “You mute and deaf spirit, I command you, come out of him and never enter him again.” ²⁶*And after crying out and convulsing him terribly, it came out, and the boy was like a corpse, so that most of them said, “He is dead.”* ²⁷But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose. ☞

Luke 9:39 And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out. It convulses him so that he foams at the mouth, and shatters him, and will hardly leave him. ☞

Note that this is from the parallel passage in Luke to the extract from Mark 9 above.

Luke 13:11 And there was a woman who had had a disabling spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and could not fully straighten herself.

‡ Demons can torment people:

1Sam 16:14 Now the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and a harmful spirit from the LORD tormented him.

Note that it would appear that this evil spirit had been sent by God as a form of judgment.

Demons both fear and have to submit to God and Jesus Christ

James 2:19 You believe that God is one; you do well. Even the demons believe—and shudder!

The demons shudder in fear of God due to his vastly superior power and threat to them, which will culminate in their eventual eternal punishment (cf. Matt 8:29 ; Luke 8:31 ; Demons face eternal punishment, p. 195).

Matt 8:28-29 And when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gadarenes,^j two demon-possessed^k men met him, coming out of the tombs, so fierce that no one could pass that way. ²⁹And behold, they cried out, “What have you to do with us, O Son of God? Have you come here to torment us before the time?”

^j Some manuscripts Gergesenes; some Gerasenes

^k Greek daimonizomai; also verse 33; elsewhere rendered oppressed by demons

The questions originate from the demons possessing the two men. The tone of the questions – with them crying out (cf. AMP, GNT, NLT) – and the questions themselves, point to a deep fear of Jesus Christ.

Mark 3:11 And whenever the unclean spirits saw him, they fell down before him and cried out, “You are the Son of God.”

That the evil spirits fell down before Jesus indicates their submissiveness to him – and quite probably their fear of him.

Mark 1:25-27 But Jesus rebuked him, saying, “Be silent, and come out of him!” ²⁶*And the unclean spirit, convulsing him and* crying out with a loud voice, came out of him. ²⁷And they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, “What is this? A new teaching with authority! He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey him.”

Luke 8:31-32 And they begged him not to command them to depart into the abyss. ³²Now a large herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, and they begged him to let them enter these. So he gave them permission.

The Abyss (v. 31) or bottomless pit is understood to be a prison or abode for demons.

‡ Demons cannot separate believers from God’s love:

Rom 8:38-39 For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, ³⁹*nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.*

The term “rulers” (v. 38) here denotes demons (cf. NIV, NLT).

Matt 25:41 Then he will say to those on his left, ‘Depart from me, you cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels.’

As noted earlier, evil angels are commonly identified with demons.

2Pet 2:4 For if God did not spare angels when they sinned, but cast them into hell^l and committed them to chains^m of gloomy darkness to be kept until the judgment; ...

Jude 1:6 And the angels who did not stay within their own position of authority, but left their proper dwelling, he has kept in eternal chains under gloomy darkness until the judgment of the great day—

Note that some commentators think that this and the sin of evil angels spoken of above in 2 Peter 2:4 may refer to Genesis 6:1-4. It speaks of the “sons of God” who went to the “daughters of man” and married them – thus sinfully abandoning their positions of authority and their heavenly home.

Isa 24:21-22 On that day the LORD will punish the host of heaven, in heaven, and the kings of the earth, on the earth.
²²*They will be gathered together as prisoners in a pit; they will be shut up in a prison, and after many days they will be punished.*

The term “the host of heaven” here denotes evil spiritual forces or “fallen angels” (NLT).

I. General

The formation of the universe is the most astonishing thing that has ever occurred. The Bible claims that God not only created the universe, but that he also created everything in it. Moreover, it claims that God continues to maintain the universe. If we believe that God is capable of doing all this, then we should have little trouble in accepting the other claims that the Bible makes about God.

God has made all things

Isa 44:24a Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, who formed you from the womb: “I am the LORD, who made all things ...

Jer 10:16 Not like these is he who is the portion of Jacob, for he is the one who formed all things, and Israel is the tribe of his inheritance; the LORD of hosts is his name.

Rom 11:36 For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

1Cor 8:6 ... yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

1Cor 11:12 ... for as woman was made from man, so man is now born of woman. And all things are from God.

God “brings everything into existence” (GNT).

Eph 3:9 ... and to bring to light for everyone what is the plan of the mystery hidden for ages in^a God who created all things, ...

^a Or by

1Tim 6:13a I charge you in the presence of God, who gives life to all things ...

Heb 2:10 For it was fitting that he, for whom and by whom all things exist, in bringing many sons to glory, should make the founder of their salvation perfect through suffering.

Heb 3:4 (For every house is built by someone, but the builder of all things is God.)

Rev 4:11 “Worthy are you, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you created all things, and by your will they existed and were created.”

Ps 89:12 The north and the south, you have created them; Tabor and Hermon joyously praise your name.

This implies that God created everything – i.e. “everything from north to south” (NirV®; cf. CEV).

Mark 13:19 For in those days there will be such tribulation as has not been from the beginning of the creation that God created until now, and never will be.

God made or created all creation.

Rom 4:17 ... as it is written, “I have made you the father of many nations”—in the presence of the God in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into existence the things that do not exist.

In conjunction with being the one who has created all things, it is God who will bring into existence the things that do not yet exist, i.e. that are yet to be created. Paul appears to make this point in reflecting on both God’s promise to Abraham that he would make him a father of many nations and the promise’s fulfillment (cf. vv. 16-17).

‡ God has made countless things:

Ps 104:24-25 O LORD, how manifold are your works! In wisdom have you made them all; the earth is full of your creatures. ²⁵Here is the sea, great and wide, which teems with creatures innumerable, living things both small and great.

God made the earth . . .

1Sam 2:8b For the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and on them he has set the world.

This somewhat figuratively speaks of God creating all of planet earth, with its inner "pillars" (cf. Job 38:4, 6 ↓) upon which the outer parts are set. See also the comment below on Psalms 90:2.

Ps 24:1-2 The earth is the LORD's and the fullness thereof,^b the world and those who dwell therein, ²for he has founded it upon the seas and established it upon the rivers.

^b Or and all that fills it

Ps 33:8-9 Let all the earth fear the LORD; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him! ⁹For he spoke, and it came to be; he commanded, and it stood firm.

Ps 90:2 Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God.

Note that the reference to both "the earth and the world" refers both to the earth as a whole and to the productive part of it in particular (cf. BKC).

Isa 40:28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable.

Jer 33:2 Thus says the LORD who made the earth,^c the LORD who formed it to establish it—the LORD is his name: ...

^c Septuagint; Hebrew it

Job 38:4-6 Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth? Tell me, if you have understanding. ⁵Who determined its measurements—surely you know! Or who stretched the line upon it? ⁶On what were its bases sunk, or who laid its cornerstone, ...

The rhetorical questions emphasize that it was God who made the earth. The "line" (v. 5) is a measuring line.

Job 26:7 He stretches out the north over the void and hangs the earth on nothing.

. . . God made the heavens as well as the earth

In the following verses, "heavens" and "heaven" appear to refer to the rest of the universe, apart from the earth – as opposed to the abode of God.

Gen 1:1 In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.

Gen 2:1-2 Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. ²And on the seventh day God finished his work that he had done, and he rested on the seventh day from all his work that he had done.

2Chr 2:12 Hiram also said, "Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, who has given King David a wise son, who has discretion and understanding, who will build a temple for the LORD and a royal palace for himself."

Job 9:8 ... [God] who alone stretched out the heavens and trampled the waves of the sea; ...

Job 26:13 By his wind the heavens were made fair; his hand pierced the fleeing serpent.

Ps 102:25 Of old you laid the foundation of the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands.

Ps 121:2 My help comes from the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

Ps 148:4-5 Praise him, you highest heavens, and you waters above the heavens! ⁵Let them praise the name of the LORD! For he commanded and they were created.

In regard to the "waters above the heavens" (v. 4): "It was believed that the earth and the heavens were surrounded by water" (CEV text note). See also the comment on Genesis 1:6-8 in God made the sky, p. 203. In addition to Genesis 1, such "waters" possibly are also spoken of in Psalms 104:2b-3a – "... stretching out the heavens like a tent. ³He lays the beams of his chambers on the waters ..."

Isa 44:24 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, who formed you from the womb: "I am the LORD, who made all things, who alone stretched out the heavens, who spread out the earth by myself, ..."

Isa 48:13 My hand laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand spread out the heavens; when I call to them, they stand forth together.

Heb 11:3 By faith we understand that the universe was created by the word of God, so that what is seen was not made out of things that are visible.

2Pet 3:5 For they deliberately overlook this fact, that the heavens existed long ago, and the earth was formed out of water and through water by the word of God, ...

The phrase “by the word of God” may well refer to how the heavens came into existence (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV), as well as the earth. For further comment on this verse see God made all things with his power, p. 214.

Along with making the earth and the heavens, God made everything in them

Ex 20:11 For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy.

Some believe that these “days” are literally six 24-hour days, while others take them to indicate six undetermined periods of time. The fact that God did not make the sun until the fourth “day” (cf. Gen 1:14-18) arguably supports the latter.

Neh 9:6 ^d “You are the LORD, you alone. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; and you preserve all of them; and the host of heaven worships you.

^d Septuagint adds And Ezra said

Isa 42:5 Thus says God, the LORD, who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and what comes from it, who gives breath to the people on it and spirit to those who walk in it: ...

Isa 66:1-2a Thus says the LORD: “Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool; what is the house that you would build for me, and what is the place of my rest? ²All these things my hand has made, and so all these things came to be, declares the LORD.

“All these things” (v. 2) probably refers to heaven and earth and all things in them (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV), rather than simply to heaven and earth.

Acts 14:15b We also are men, of like nature with you, and we bring you good news, that you should turn from these vain things to a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them.

Eph 3:14-15 For this reason I bow my knees before the Father, ¹⁵*from whom every family^e in heaven and on earth is named, ...*

^e Or fatherhood; the Greek word patria is closely related to the word for Father in verse 14

Commentators differ as to whether the phrase “every family” refers to: believers only; all people (and possibly also all angels); or all created beings. If it is the latter, then v. 15 reflects the fact that God created all things in heaven and on earth (cf. NLT). Additionally, the phrase “is named” would most likely speak of God determining the identity and being of each creature (cf. CEV, CEV text note).

Rev 10:6 ... and swore by him who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and what is in it, the earth and what is in it, and the sea and what is in it, that there would be no more delay, ...

God made light, alongside the darkness

See also:

- God controls the cycle of day and night, p. 211

Gen 1:2-5 The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters. ³*And God said, “Let there be light,” and there was light.* ⁴*And God saw that the light was good. And God separated the light from the darkness.* ⁵*God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, the first day.*

2Cor 4:6 For God, who said, “Let light shine out of darkness,” has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

The quotation is based on Genesis 1:3 above.

Job 26:10 He has inscribed a circle on the face of the waters at the boundary between light and darkness.

Ps 74:16 Yours is the day, yours also the night; you have established the heavenly lights and the sun.

The context (cf. v. 17) indicates that this may well be alluding to God’s creation of the day and the night (cf. GNT).

Isa 45:7 I form light and create darkness, I make well-being and create calamity, I am the LORD, who does all these things.

Possibly this is speaking of God’s creation of life and darkness (cf. NCV) – hence its inclusion here – but his ongoing control of the cycle of day and night is probably primarily in view (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

God made the sky

Gen 1:6-8 And God said, “Let there be an expanse^f in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters.”⁷And God made^g the expanse and separated the waters that were under the expanse from the waters that were above the expanse. And it was so. ⁸And God called the expanse Heaven.^h And there was evening and there was morning, the second day.

^f Or a canopy; also verses 7, 8, 14, 15, 17, 20

^g Or fashioned; also verse 16

^h Or Sky; also verses 9, 14, 15, 17, 20, 26, 28, 30; 2:1

The term “Heaven” (v. 8) can here also be translated as “Sky” (cf. text note). Verses 6-7 may mean that the sky (the “expanse”) separated the atmospheric waters (or clouds) from the waters of the earth, or that the earth was enveloped by a dense layer of moisture (cf. BKC).

Ps 19:1 The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky aboveⁱ proclaims his handiwork.

ⁱ Hebrew the expanse; compare Genesis 1:6-8

The sky displays God’s “marvelous craftsmanship.” (NLT; cf. NIRV)

Prov 8:27-28 [Wisdom:] When he established the heavens, I was there; when he drew a circle on the face of the deep, ²⁸when he made firm the skies above, when he established the fountains of the deep, ...

^j The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain

Note that v. 27 may be understood as speaking of God setting “the sky in place” (GNT; cf. NCV) and marking out “where the sky meets the sea” (NIRV®; cf. CEV), i.e. the horizon.

Job 26:7 He stretches out the north over the void and hangs the earth on nothing.

The “north” denotes the northern sky (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). This verse may be referring to God maintaining the skies as much as to (or rather than) his creation of them (cf. Isa 45:7).

‡ God established natural phenomena that occur in the sky:

Job 28:25-26 When he gave to the wind its weight and apportioned the waters by measure, ²⁶when he made a decree for the rain and a way for the lightning of the thunder, ...

God made land and sea – partitioning the land off from the sea

On the third day of creation God made the land and sea – and also vegetation (as discussed in the following subsection).

Gen 1:9-10 And God said, “Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear.” And it was so. ¹⁰God called the dry land Earth,^k and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good.

^k Or Land; also verses 11, 12, 22, 24, 25, 26, 28, 30; 2:1

Ps 95:5 The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

Jonah 1:9 And he said to them, “I am a Hebrew, and I fear the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land.”

Rev 14:7 And he said with a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come, and worship him who made heaven and earth, the sea and the springs of water.”

Prov 3:20 ... by his knowledge the deeps broke open, and the clouds drop down the dew.

This appears to be speaking of either the waters coming into existence (cf. CEV; Job 38:8) , or being divided up – “the deeps were broken up” (AMP, NASB, NKJV; cf. NIV).

Job 28:25 When he gave to the wind its weight and apportioned the waters by measure, ...

Quite likely “apportioned the waters by measure” is speaking primarily of God determining “the size of the sea” (GNT).

Job 38:8-11 Or who shut in the sea with doors when it burst out from the womb, ⁹when I made clouds its garment and thick darkness its swaddling band, ¹⁰and prescribed limits for it and set bars and doors, ¹¹and said, “Thus far shall you come, and no farther, and here shall your proud waves be stayed?”

Note that “thick darkness its swaddling band” (v. 9) may well refer to the darkness that initially was over the surface of the sea (cf. Gen 1:2).

Ps 33:7 He gathers the waters of the sea as a heap; he puts the deeps in storehouses.

This is referring to God gathering the waters at creation (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT, NRSV), restricting them to particular areas on the earth.

Ps 74:17 You have fixed all the boundaries of the earth; you have made summer and winter.

Ps 104:5-9 He set the earth on its foundations, so that it should never be moved. ⁶*You covered it with the deep as with a garment; the waters stood above the mountains.* ⁷*At your rebuke they fled; at the sound of your thunder they took to flight.* ⁸*The mountains rose, the valleys sank down to the place that you appointed for them.* ⁹*You set a boundary that they may not pass, so that they might not again cover the earth.*

Prov 8:24-29 [Wisdom:] When there were no depths I was brought forth, when there were no springs abounding with water. ²⁵*Before the mountains had been shaped, before the hills, I was brought forth,* ²⁶*before he had made the earth with its fields, or the first of the dust of the world.* ²⁷*When he established the heavens, I was there; when he drew a circle on the face of the deep,* ²⁸*when he made firm the skies above, when he established¹ the fountains of the deep,* ²⁹*when he assigned to the sea its limit, so that the waters might not transgress his command, when he marked out the foundations of the earth, ...*

Verse 26 implies that God made the things mentioned in the preceding verses.

Jer 5:22 Do you not fear me? declares the LORD. Do you not tremble before me? I placed the sand as the boundary for the sea, a perpetual barrier that it cannot pass; though the waves toss, they cannot prevail; though they roar, they cannot pass over it.

‡ God forms the mountains:

Amos 4:13 For behold, he who forms the mountains and creates the wind, and declares to man what is his thought, who makes the morning darkness, and treads on the heights of the earth— the LORD, the God of hosts, is his name!

God made vegetation

Gen 1:11-13 And God said, “Let the earth sprout vegetation, plants^m yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind, on the earth.” And it was so. ¹²*The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seed according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind.* And God saw that it was good. ¹³And there was evening and there was morning, the third day.

^mOr small plants; also verses 12, 29

Gen 2:4-9 These are the generations of the heavens and the earth when they were created, in the day that the LORD God made the earth and the heavens. ⁵*When no bush of the fieldⁿ was yet in the land^o and no small plant of the field had yet sprung up—for the LORD God had not caused it to rain on the land, and there was no man to work the ground,* ⁶*and a mist^p was going up from the land and was watering the whole face of the ground—* ⁷*then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature.* ⁸*And the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed.* ⁹*And out of the ground the LORD God made to spring up every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food.* The tree of life was in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

ⁿ Or open country

^o Or earth; also verse 6

This speaks of God's ongoing formation of plant life, reflective of his initial creation of it.

‡ God gave the plants for food to humans and other creatures:

Gen 1:29-30 And God said, “Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed that is on the face of all the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit. You shall have them for food. ³⁰*And to every beast of the earth and to every bird of the heavens and to everything that creeps on the earth, everything that has the breath of life, I have given every green plant for food.”* And it was so.

God made the sun, moon and stars

Genesis 1 indicates that God made “light” on the first “day” (vv. 3-5), but did not make the sun and stars until the fourth “day” (vv. 14-18). There are different explanations for this. Possibly these entities were made from that through which God first provided light and first marked off each “day” (cf. v. 5); i.e. the fourth “day” may speak of the source of light being made into the sun and stars. That God “separated the light from the darkness" (v. 4) after having earlier created light (v. 3) also suggests that the source of light has not always been in the same form.

Gen 1:14-19 And God said, "Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate the day from the night. And let them be for signs and for seasons,⁴ and for days and years, ¹⁵and let them be lights in the expanse of the heavens to give light upon the earth." And it was so. ¹⁶And God made the two great lights—the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night—and the stars. ¹⁷And God set them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth, ¹⁸to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good. ¹⁹And there was evening and there was morning, the fourth day.

⁴ Or appointed times

The "two great lights" (v. 16) are the sun and the moon.

Job 9:9 ... [God] who made the Bear and Orion, the Pleiades and the chambers of the south; ...

The "chambers of the south" may well refer to the southern star constellations (cf. NCV, NIV, NLT).

Ps 8:3 When I look at your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, which you have set in place, ...

Ps 19:4b In them [the heavens] he has set a tent for the sun, ...

The use of "tent" speaks of God making a home for the sun in the heavens (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT). Perhaps, more specifically, it poetically depicts a place from which the sun rises each day (cf. v. 5).

Ps 33:6 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made, and by the breath of his mouth all their host.

Ps 74:16 Yours is the day, yours also the night; you have established the heavenly lights and the sun.

Ps 136:3, 7-9 Give thanks to the Lord of lords, for his steadfast love endures forever;  ... ⁷to him who made the great lights, for his steadfast love endures forever; ⁸*the sun to rule over the day*, for his steadfast love endures forever; ⁹*the moon and stars to rule over the night*, for his steadfast love endures forever; ...

Ps 147:4 He determines the number of the stars; he gives to all of them their names.

This may well be speaking of God's creation of the stars (cf. CEV, GNT) – particularly as it speaks of God naming them – although alternatively his control over the display of the stars each night could be in view.

Ps 148:3, 5 Praise him, sun and moon, praise him, all you shining stars!  ... ⁵Let them praise the name of the LORD! For he commanded and they were created.

Isa 40:26 Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing.

The phrase "created these" refers to the stars (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT), with God's control of their appearance each night subsequently spoken of.

James 1:17 Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights with whom there is no variation or shadow due to change.^r

^r Some manuscripts variation due to a shadow of turning

The title "the Father of lights" speaks of God as the "Creator of the sun, moon, and stars" (NCV™; cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

‡ God created the seasons:

Ps 74:17 You have fixed all the boundaries of the earth; you have made summer and winter.

Note that Genesis 1:14 above also points to God creating the seasons. Additionally, see God controls the seasons, p. 212.

God made all creatures and people

- Along with making the earth and the heavens, God made everything in them, p. 202
- II. God's Creation of People, p. 223

On the fifth day of creation God made the sea creatures and the birds. On the sixth day God made the land creatures and people.

Gen 1:20-27 And God said, "Let the waters swarm with swarms of living creatures, and let birds^s fly above the earth across the expanse of the heavens." ²¹So God created the great sea creatures and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarm, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. ²²And God blessed them, saying, "Be fruitful and multiply and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth." ²³And there was evening and there was morning, the fifth day. ²⁴And God said, "Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kinds—livestock and creeping things and beasts of the earth according to their kinds." And it was so. ²⁵And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the livestock according to their kinds, and everything that creeps on the ground according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. ²⁶Then God said, "Let us make man^t in our image, after our likeness. And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth." ²⁷So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.

^t The Hebrew word for man (adam) is the generic term for mankind and becomes the proper name Adam

Gen 2:7, 19-24 ... then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature.  ... ¹⁹Now out of the ground the LORD God had formed^u every beast of the field and every bird of the heavens and brought them to the man to see what he would call them. And whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name. ²⁰The man gave names to all livestock and to the birds of the heavens and to every beast of the field. But for Adam^v there was not found a helper fit for him. ²¹So the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, and while he slept took one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh. ²²And the rib that the LORD God had taken from the man he made^w into a woman and brought her to the man. ²³Then the man said, "This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man."^x ²⁴Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and they shall become one flesh.

Note that v. 24 speaks of a husband and wife being "one flesh" just as the first man and woman had been (v. 23).

Job 40:15 Behold, Behemoth,^y which I made as I made you; he eats grass like an ox.

^y A large animal, exact identity unknown

Ps 8:6-8 You have given him dominion over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet, ⁷all sheep and oxen, and also the beasts of the field, ⁸the birds of the heavens, and the fish of the sea, whatever passes along the paths of the seas.

Ps 104:24-26 O LORD, how manifold are your works! In wisdom have you made them all; the earth is full of your creatures. ²⁵Here is the sea, great and wide, which teems with creatures innumerable, living things both small and great. ²⁶There go the ships, and Leviathan, which you formed to play in it.^z

^z Or you formed to play with

The Leviathan (v. 26) apparently refers to a large animal of the sea – possibly the crocodile.

Jer 27:5 It is I who by my great power and my outstretched arm have made the earth, with the men and animals that are on the earth, and I give it to whomever it seems right to me.

† God gives plants, creatures and inanimate objects different bodies and kinds of glory as he determines:

1Cor 15:37-41 And what you sow is not the body that is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or of some other grain. ³⁸But God gives it a body as he has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. ³⁹For not all flesh is the same, but there is one kind for humans, another for animals, another for birds, and another for fish. ⁴⁰There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the glory of the heavenly is of one kind, and the glory of the earthly is of another. ⁴¹There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for star differs from star in glory.

The "earthly bodies" (v. 40) quite possibly refers to such things as mountains and bodies of water.

Note: All that God makes is good

1Tim 4:4-5 For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving, ⁵for it is made holy by the word of God and prayer.

In both v. 4 and in the following passage from Genesis 1, the word "good" probably entails more than simply excellence. It would seem to also indicate that all of creation was made as God intended, in accordance with his will – i.e. it turned out as he had planned. Here (v. 4) the context also implies moral goodness.

Gen 1:3-4, 10, 12, 17-18, 21, 25, 31a And God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. ⁴And God saw that the light was good. And God separated the light from the darkness.  ... ¹⁰God called the dry land Earth,^a and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good.  ... ¹²The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seed according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.  ... ¹⁷And God set them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth, ¹⁸to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good.  ... ²¹So God created the great sea creatures and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarm, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.  ... ²⁵And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the livestock according to their kinds, and everything that creeps on the ground according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.  ... ³¹*And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good.*

Ecc 3:11 He has made everything beautiful in its time. Also, he has put eternity into man's heart, yet so that he cannot find out what God has done from the beginning to the end.

The suitability of this verse for this subsection is certainly debatable. Some commentators consider it to be speaking of the beauty of everything God has made – the reason for its inclusion here. However more often it is considered to mean that God has a designated time for every activity in which each activity is “appropriate” (NASB) – God “has set the right time for everything” (GNT; cf. CEV, NCV).

Ecc 7:29 See, this alone I found, that God made man upright, but they have sought out many schemes.

As with all creation, God's creation of humankind was good, one aspect of which was moral uprightness – something which they have lost.

Job 12:10 In his hand is the life of every living thing and the breath of all mankind.

Neh 9:6 ^c “You are the LORD, you alone. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; and you preserve all of them; and the host of heaven worships you.

^c Septuagint adds And Ezra said

The phrase “you preserve all of them” may well include all the creatures referred to in the heavens, earth and seas. Note that it is often translated to mean that God gives life to all of them (cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NLT, NRSV).

Job 10:12 You have granted me life and steadfast love, and your care has preserved my spirit.

Following on from speaking of God creating him (cf. vv. 8-12a), the last clause here may be referring to God's preserving Job's life as he does everyone everyday; hence the verse's inclusion here. Alternatively, Job may be speaking of how God has cared for him in particular.

Ps 36:6 Your righteousness is like the mountains of God; your judgments are like the great deep; man and beast you save, O LORD.

The last clause speaks of people and animals being under God's care (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT). It can be translated as: "You preserve man and beast." (AMP, NASB; cf. NIV).

Job 34:14-15 If he should set his heart to it and gather to himself his spirit and his breath, ¹⁵*all flesh would perish together, and man would return to dust.*

All flesh is reliant on God's "spirit and ... breath" to stay alive.

Ps 104:29-30 When you hide your face, they are dismayed; when you take away their breath, they die and return to their dust. ³⁰*When you send forth your Spirit,*^d they are created, and you renew the face of the ground.

^d Or breath

The phrase "hide your face" (v. 29) or "turn away" (CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT) is used to express God's apparent removal of his favour and care, evidenced by the loss of his provision or blessings. This naturally causes any creature to be terrified, being dependant on his provision. Verse 30 implies that the ongoing reproduction of creatures is dependent on God.

In the first quotation Paul appears to be citing the Cretan poet Epimenides to illustrate that our existence and its continuation depends on God.

Rom 11:36 For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

In this context "through him... are all things" may mean that all things continue to exist through God – in which case the verse is applicable to this subsection. Alternatively, it may be speaking of all things being created through him. The same applies to the phrase "by whom all things exist" in the following verse from Hebrews 2:10.

Heb 2:10 For it was fitting that he, for whom and by whom all things exist, in bringing many sons to glory, should make the founder of their salvation perfect through suffering.

Hos 2:8 And she did not know that it was I who gave her the grain, the wine, and the oil, and who lavished on her silver and gold, which they used for Baal.

This is speaking of Israel, and points to the fact that God provides food for people.

Matt 6:26 Look at the birds of the air: they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?

The implication is that God supplies food for humans, just as he does for less valuable creatures.

Luke 11:3 *Give us each day our daily bread,*¹ ...

¹ Or our bread for tomorrow

This points to people being ultimately dependent on God for daily provisions.

Acts 17:25 ... nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything.

2Cor 9:10 He who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed for sowing and increase the harvest of your righteousness.

Paul is referring to God as the one who supplies seed and food, to illustrate that God would also supply the Corinthians with what they needed to produce a harvest from their righteousness, expressed in their generosity (cf. v. 11).

† God created foods to be received with thanksgiving:

1Tim 4:3 ... who forbid marriage and require abstinence from foods that God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth.

God sends rain on the earth, making it productive

Sending rain on the earth, making it productive, is of course one of the key ways that God provides food for all creatures (as per the previous subsection) and maintains creation.

Job 5:10 ... he gives rain on the earth and sends waters on the fields; ...

Job 37:11-13 He loads the thick cloud with moisture; the clouds scatter his lightning. ¹²They turn around and around by his guidance, to accomplish all that he commands them on the face of the habitable world. ¹³Whether for correction or for his land or for love, he causes it to happen.

Jer 14:22 Are there any among the false gods of the nations that can bring rain? Or can the heavens give showers? Are you not he, O LORD our God? We set our hope on you, for you do all these things.

Amos 9:6 ... who builds his upper chambers in the heavens and founds his vault upon the earth; who calls for the waters of the sea and pours them out upon the surface of the earth—the LORD is his name.

Matt 5:45 ... so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.

Lev 26:4 ... then I will give you your rains in their season, and the land shall yield its increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit.

Note that this and the following verses refer to how God sending rain on the earth makes it productive. A number of the verses in the following two subsections likewise speak of this.

Ps 147:8 He covers the heavens with clouds; he prepares rain for the earth; he makes grass grow on the hills.

Isa 55:10 For as the rain and the snow come down from heaven and do not return there but water the earth, making it bring forth and sprout, giving seed to the sower and bread to the eater, ...

Zec 10:1 Ask rain from the LORD in the season of the spring rain, from the LORD who makes the storm clouds, and he will give them showers of rain, to everyone the vegetation in the field.

Job 36:27-28, 31 For he draws up the drops of water; they distill his mist in rain, ²⁸which the skies pour down and drop on mankind abundantly. ... ³¹For by these he judges peoples; he gives food in abundance.

Ps 36:8 They feast on the abundance of your house, and you give them drink from the river of your delights.

The term “your house” denotes the earth – God’s estate. The latter term “the river of delights” quite possibly refers to the constant flow of God’s delightful provisions.

Ps 65:9-13 You visit the earth and water it;^k you greatly enrich it; the river of God is full of water; you provide their grain, for so you have prepared it. ¹⁰You water its furrows abundantly, settling its ridges, softening it with showers, and blessing its growth. ¹¹You crown the year with your bounty; your wagon tracks overflow with abundance. ¹²The pastures of the wilderness overflow, the hills gird themselves with joy, ¹³the meadows clothe themselves with flocks, the valleys deck themselves with grain, they shout and sing together for joy.

^k Or and make it overflow

Ps 68:9 Rain in abundance, O God, you shed abroad; you restored your inheritance as it languished; ...

Note that here "inheritance" refers to the Promised land.

Ps 104:16 The trees of the LORD are watered abundantly, the cedars of Lebanon that he planted.

Joel 2:22-24 Fear not, you beasts of the field, for the pastures of the wilderness are green; the tree bears its fruit; the fig tree and vine give their full yield. ²³"Be glad, O children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God, for he has given the early rain for your vindication; he has poured down for you abundant rain, the early and the latter rain, as before. ²⁴"The threshing floors shall be full of grain; the vats shall overflow with wine and oil.

This speaks of God's abundant renewal of the land after a devastating locust plague sent as a judgment on Israel.

1Tim 6:17 As for the rich in this present age, charge them not to be haughty, nor to set their hopes on the uncertainty of riches, but on God, who richly provides us with everything to enjoy.

Note that "everything" refers to more than just food, encompassing all that we need and more.

Gen 27:28 May God give you of the dew of heaven and of the fatness of the earth and plenty of grain and wine.

Note that "the dew of heaven" may be poetically speaking of rain (cf. NCV) rather than simply dew.

^l Samaritan, Septuagint, Vulgate; Hebrew I; also verse 15

Job 38:25-27 Who has cleft a channel for the torrents of rain and a way for the thunderbolt, ²⁶to bring rain on a land where no man is, on the desert in which there is no man, ²⁷to satisfy the waste and desolate land, and to make the ground sprout with grass?

Job 38:39-40 Can you hunt the prey for the lion, or satisfy the appetite of the young lions, ⁴⁰when they crouch in their dens or lie in wait in their thicket?

Ps 104:10-15 You make springs gush forth in the valleys; they flow between the hills; ¹¹they give drink to every beast of the field; the wild donkeys quench their thirst. ¹²Beside them the birds of the heavens dwell; they sing among the branches. ¹³From your lofty abode you water the mountains; the earth is satisfied with the fruit of your work. ¹⁴You cause the grass to grow for the livestock and plants for man to cultivate, that he may bring forth food from the earth ¹⁵and wine to gladden the heart of man, oil to make his face shine and bread to strengthen man's heart.

As well as being stated in vv. 11, 13 (cf. v. 28 ↓), the fact that God's provision satisfies his creation appears to be implied or reflected in vv. 12, 15.

Ps 104:27-28 These all look to you, to give them their food in due season. ²⁸When you give it to them, they gather it up; when you open your hand, they are filled with good things.

Being "filled" with good things is indicative of being satisfied (cf. Ps 107:9 ↓).

Ps 107:9 For he satisfies the longing soul, and the hungry soul he fills with good things.

Ps 132:15 I will abundantly bless her [Zion's] provisions; I will satisfy her poor with bread.

Ps 145:16 You open your hand; you satisfy the desire of every living thing.

Acts 14:17 Yet he did not leave himself without witness, for he did good by giving you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, satisfying your hearts with food and gladness.

God regulates all aspects of the weather

Job 36:27-30 For he draws up the drops of water; they distill his mist in rain, ²⁸which the skies pour down and drop on mankind abundantly. ²⁹Can anyone understand the spreading of the clouds, the thunderings of his pavilion? ³⁰Behold, he scatters his lightning about him and covers the roots of the sea.

Job 37:6, 9-10 For to the snow he says, ‘Fall on the earth,’ likewise to the downpour, his mighty downpour.  ... ⁹From its chamber comes the whirlwind, and cold from the scattering winds. ¹⁰By the breath of God ice is given, and the broad waters are frozen fast.

The “breath of God” (v. 10) refers to the cold driving winds (v. 9), alluding to God ultimately being their source and/or his control over them.

Job 38:28-29 Has the rain a father, or who has begotten the drops of dew? ²⁹From whose womb did the ice come forth, and who has given birth to the frost of heaven?

This is implying that God is the one who does all this and/or that as the one who designed these things, he alone fully comprehends such phenomena (cf. v. 18).

Ps 77:17-18 The clouds poured out water; the skies gave forth thunder; your arrows flashed on every side. ¹⁸The crash of your thunder was in the whirlwind; your lightnings lighted up the world; the earth trembled and shook.

This speaks of God being behind a mighty thunderstorm.

Ps 147:16-18 He gives snow like wool; he scatters hoarfrost like ashes. ¹⁷He hurls down his crystals of ice like crumbs; who can stand before his cold? ¹⁸He sends out his word, and melts them; he makes his wind blow and the waters flow.

The “waters” (v. 18) most likely refers to “streams” (CEV) resulting from God firstly melting his snow and ice, and then stirring up his wind.

Jer 10:13 When he utters his voice, there is a tumult of waters in the heavens, and he makes the mist rise from the ends of the earth. He makes lightning for the rain, and he brings forth the wind from his storehouses.

Amos 4:13 For behold, he who forms the mountains and creates the wind, and declares to man what is his thought, who makes the morning darkness, and treads on the heights of the earth— the LORD, the God of hosts, is his name!

Ps 104:20 You make darkness, and it is night, when all the beasts of the forest creep about.

Ps 74:16 Yours is the day, yours also the night; you have established the heavenly lights and the sun.

This points to God’s dominion and control over day and night.

Jer 31:35 Thus says the LORD, who gives the sun for light by day and the fixed order of the moon and the stars for light by night, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar— the LORD of hosts is his name: ...

Jer 33:20-21 Thus says the LORD: If you can break my covenant with the day and my covenant with the night, so that day and night will not come at their appointed time, ²¹then also my covenant with David my servant may be broken, so that he shall not have a son to reign on his throne, and my covenant with the Levitical priests my ministers.

The implication is that God’s covenant or “agreement” (CEV, NCV) with the day and night cannot be broken, with them always coming at “their appointed time” (v. 20).

Amos 5:8 He who made the Pleiades and Orion, and turns deep darkness into the morning and darkens the day into night, who calls for the waters of the sea and pours them out on the surface of the earth, the LORD is his name; ...

Isa 45:7 I form light and create darkness, I make well-being and create calamity, I am the LORD, who does all these things.

Matt 5:45 ... so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.

Ps 19:4b-6 In them [the heavens] he has set a tent for the sun, ⁵which comes out like a bridegroom leaving his chamber, and, like a strong man, runs its course with joy. ⁶Its rising is from the end of the heavens, and its circuit to the end of them, and there is nothing hidden from its heat.

This may well refer to God’s control over – or at least his lasting design of – the daily course of the sun.

Isa 40:26 Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing.

This points to God's control over the commencement of each night, speaking of God controlling the appearance of the stars each night.

Job 38:12-13 Have you commanded the morning since your days began, and caused the dawn to know its place, ¹³*that it might take hold of the skirts of the earth, and the wicked be shaken out of it?*

God controls the seasons

Gen 8:22 While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not cease.

God's promise that these things will continue is indicative of his control over them.

Ps 104:19 He made the moon to mark the seasons;^m the sun knows its time for setting.

^mOr the appointed times (compare Genesis 1:14)

The context shows (cf. v. 20 ) – that it is God who causes these things to happen.

Job 38:31-32 Can you bind the chains of the Pleiades or loose the cords of Orion? ³²*Can you lead forth the Mazzarothⁿ in their season, or can you guide the Bear with its children?*

ⁿ Probably the name of a constellation

God's control over the seasons is reflected in the regulated variations in the appearance of the star constellations (cf. text note). The "Bear with its children" most likely refers to the constellations commonly called the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper (cf. CEV, NlrV).

Jer 5:24 They do not say in their hearts, 'Let us fear the LORD our God, who gives the rain in its season, the autumn rain and the spring rain, and keeps for us the weeks appointed for the harvest.'

Dan 2:21 He changes times and seasons; he removes kings and sets up kings; he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding; ...

The appropriateness of including this reference here is debatable, as it is more likely figuratively speaking primarily of God determining "the course of world events" (NLT; cf. NCV), as opposed to the year's four seasons.

Gen 9:13 I have set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and the earth.

The "bow" is the rainbow.

Ps 75:3 When the earth totters, and all its inhabitants, it is I who keep steady its pillars. Selah

The psalmist most likely is speaking figuratively of God's control amidst the institutions of the earth and its people being in turmoil. However some commentators interpret this more literally as referring to earthquakes and the distress they cause amongst people, with God holding firm the foundations of the earth amidst such turmoil. The verse certainly at least reflects God's control over these things – hence its inclusion here.

Isa 51:15 I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar— the LORD of hosts is his name.

Jer 33:25-26 Thus says the LORD: If I have not established my covenant with day and night and the fixed order of heaven and earth, ²⁶*then I will reject the offspring of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his offspring to rule over the offspring of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes and will have mercy on them.*

God has established and also maintains "the fixed order" – the laws of nature – regulating the sky and earth (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

Matt 6:28-29 And why are you anxious about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin, ²⁹*yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.*

This illustrates that God maintains plant life.

Ps 96:10 Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns! Yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved; he will judge the peoples with equity."

As with Psalms 104:5 below, this appears to be speaking of the earth being firmly secure, not being able to be moved or "shaken" (CEV, NLT). But note that some commentators understand "world" in this context more generally as the world order, under God's reign.

Ps 104:5 He set the earth on its foundations, so that it should never be moved.

Ps 119:90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations; you have established the earth, and it stands fast.

^s Or small plants; also verses 12, 29

^t Or appointed times

“God said” occurs nine times in Genesis 1, largely in introducing the making of the various aspects of creation, emphasizing that God made all things by his word or command.

Ps 33:6, 9 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made, and by the breath of his mouth all their host.  ... ⁹*For he spoke, and it came to be; he commanded, and it stood firm.*

Ps 148:3-5 Praise him, sun and moon, praise him, all you shining stars! ⁴Praise him, you highest heavens, and you waters above the heavens! ⁵Let them praise the name of the LORD! For he commanded and they were created.

Heb 11:3 By faith we understand that the universe was created by the word of God, so that what is seen was not made out of things that are visible.

2Pet 3:5 For they deliberately overlook this fact, that the heavens existed long ago, and the earth was formed out of water and through water by the word of God, ...

The clause “the earth was formed out of water” is often thought to have Genesis 1:9 in view, which says that God commanded that the water covering the earth “be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear”. The phrase, “through water”, may well indicate that God formed the other parts of creation with water, one of the first elements he created.

Ps 147:15-18 He sends out his command to the earth; his word runs swiftly. ¹⁶He gives snow like wool; he scatters hoarfrost like ashes. ¹⁷He hurls down his crystals of ice like crumbs; who can stand before his cold? ¹⁸*He sends out his word, and melts them; he makes his wind blow and the waters flow.*

This and Job 37:11-12 below suggest that in addition to creating all things by his command, God continues to control nature (vv. 16-17a, 18b) through his command (vv. 15, 18a).

Job 37:11-12 He loads the thick cloud with moisture; the clouds scatter his lightning. ¹²*They turn around and around by his guidance, to accomplish all that he commands them on the face of the habitable world.*

God made and sustains all things through Jesus Christ

Heb 1:2-3a, 10 ... but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed the heir of all things, through whom also he created the world. ³He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power.  ... ¹⁰And,

"You, Lord, laid the foundation of the earth in the beginning, and the heavens are the work of your hands; ..."

The quotation in v. 10 is attributed to God, as addressing Jesus Christ – i.e. it is here applied to Jesus Christ.

John 1:1-4, 10 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. ²He was in the beginning with God. ³All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. ⁴In him was life,^u and the life was the light of men. ... ¹⁰He was in the world, and the world was made through him, yet the world did not know him.

^u Or was not any thing made. That which has been made was life in him

"In him was life" (v. 4) is possibly referring primarily to physical life (cf. text note), following on from v. 3. However it may well simultaneously be alluding to spiritual or eternal life. (Similar comments are made below on 1 Corinthians 8:6 and Acts 3:15a.) Note that this passage may in a sense associate Jesus Christ, "the Word" (v. 1), with God's spoken word through which all things were created (as per the previous subsection). Such an assertion is perhaps supported by the opening phrase, "In the beginning", echoing the opening phrase of the account of creation in Genesis (cf. Gen 1:1 ↓). However, Hebrews 1:3a above speaks of Jesus Christ sustaining creation by his "word", suggesting that such uses of God's "word" may be in a similar vein.

1Cor 8:6 ...yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

The phrase "through whom we exist" may well speak of Jesus Christ's role in creation (like the preceding clause) or of his role in preserving or sustaining creation.

Col 1:16-17 For by^v him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him. ¹⁷And he is before all things, and in him all things hold together.

^v That is, by means of; or in

The final clause, "in him all things hold together" (v. 17), refers to Jesus Christ's work in sustaining creation – i.e. "he holds all creation together" (NLT); "all things continue because of him" (NCV™).

Acts 3:15 ... and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses.

The title "the Author of life" may be referring to Jesus Christ's role in creation – hence this verse's inclusion here. But his role in giving eternal life could instead be primarily in view (cf. CEV, GNT).

Rev 3:14 And to the angel of the church in Laodicea write: "The words of the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of God's creation."

The final phrase appears to refer to Jesus Christ as the "origin" (GNT, NRSV) of God's creation.

The Holy Spirit played a role in creation – and still does

Gen 1:1-2 In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. ²The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters.

Many commentators understand the reference here to the Holy Spirit's presence in the very early stages of creation to be pointing to him playing key a role in it.

Job 26:13 By his wind the heavens were made fair; his hand pierced the fleeing serpent.

The word translated as "wind" can also be translated as "Spirit" (cf. NKJV, NLT). As such this may refer to the Holy Spirit.

Job 33:4 The Spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty gives me life.

Ps 104:30 When you send forth your Spirit,^w they are created, and you renew the face of the ground.

^w Or breath

Isa 40:12-13 Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens with a span, enclosed the dust of the earth in a measure and weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance? ¹³Who has measured^x the Spirit of the LORD, or what man shows him his counsel?

^x Or has directed

Verse 13 appears to refer to directing (cf. ESV text note, AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NKJV, NLT, NRSV) or understanding (cf. NCV, NIV) God's Spirit. With it immediately following what appears to be references to God creating the world and heavens in v. 12, Isaiah may have in view the Holy Spirit's role in creation.

Gen 6:3 Then the LORD said, "My Spirit shall not abide in^y man forever, for he is flesh: his days shall be 120 years."

^y Or My Spirit shall not contend with

This appears to imply that the Holy Spirit plays a critical role in sustaining or preserving people (cf. CEV, NCV). But note that the Hebrew text is not clear (cf. CEV text note). Job 34:14-15 below may also speak of such a role of the Holy Spirit (cf. NKJV).

Job 34:14-15 If he should set his heart to it and gather to himself his spirit and his breath, ¹⁵all flesh would perish together, and man would return to dust.

God is the Father of all things, notably of all people

1Cor 8:6 ... yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

This may be speaking of God as "the Father" of "all things", being the one "from whom are all things". However, it may simply be using "Father" to refer to God as either the Father of Jesus Christ or of believers.

Eph 3:14-15 For this reason I bow my knees before the Father, ¹⁵from whom every family^z in heaven and on earth is named, ...

^z Or fatherhood; the Greek word patria is closely related to the word for Father in verse 14

As indicated earlier in this chapter, "every family" could refer to all creation or all people. If this is the case, then this verse would appear to point to God being the Father of them. But bear in mind that the comment above on 1 Corinthians 8:6 is also applicable here.

Deut 32:6, 18 Do you thus repay the LORD, you foolish and senseless people? Is not he your father, who created you, who made you and established you?  ... ¹⁸You were unmindful of the Rock that bore^a you, and you forgot the God who gave you birth.

^a Or fathered

This is most likely speaking of Israel's creation as a nation – quite possibly also the case in Isaiah 64:8 and Malachi 2:10a below – rather than the physical creation of each one of the Israelite people (which would be better illustrative of God being the Father of all people). However, even if the former is the case, the verses are still applicable to the latter.

Isa 64:8 But now, O LORD, you are our Father; we are the clay, and you are our potter; we are all the work of your hand.

Mal 2:10a Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us?

Heb 12:9 Besides this, we have had earthly fathers who disciplined us and we respected them. Shall we not much more be subject to the Father of spirits and live?

The title "the Father of spirits" is probably acknowledging God as the creator of our spirits. As such the verse would be applicable to this subsection. However possibly it could instead be speaking of God as the "spiritual Father" of believers.

The uses of the term "offspring" imply that God is our Father.

‡ Adam is spoken of as "the son of God":

Luke 3:38 ... the son of Enos, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God. ☞

In referring to Adam as "the son of God", Luke appears to have in view that Adam was made directly by God.

God is sovereign over all things

Because God has made all things, God has the right of sovereignty over all things. God's almighty power and incomparable wisdom enable him to enforce his sovereignty. Note that most of the references in this subsection do not explicitly attribute God's sovereignty to his status as creator, but they do at least imply it.

2Ki 19:15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said: "O LORD, the God of Israel, enthroned above the cherubim, you are the God, you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; you have made heaven and earth. ☞

Neh 9:6 ^d "You are the LORD, you alone. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; and you preserve all of them; and the host of heaven worships you. ☞

^d Septuagint adds And Ezra said

The first statement and the final clause point to God's sovereignty, here linked with him being the creator of all things.

Isa 40:21-22, 25-28 Do you not know? Do you not hear? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth? ²²*It is he who sits above the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to dwell in;* ☞ ... ²⁵*To whom then will you compare me, that I should be like him? says the Holy One.* ²⁶*Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these?* He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing. ²⁷*Why do you say, O Jacob, and speak, O Israel, "My way is hidden from the LORD, and my right is disregarded by my God"?* ²⁸*Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the* Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint or grow weary; his understanding is unsearchable. ☞

Note that the term "God" (v. 28) itself implies sovereignty over all things.

Jer 10:10-12 But the LORD is the true God; he is the living God and the everlasting King. At his wrath the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure his indignation. ¹¹*Thus shall you say to them: "The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth and from under the heavens."*^e ¹²*It is he who made the earth by his power, who established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding stretched out the heavens.* ☞

^e This verse is in Aramaic

In contrast to other supposed "gods", God is "the everlasting King" (v. 10), the creator of everything (vv. 11-12).

Acts 4:24 And when they heard it, they lifted their voices together to God and said, "Sovereign Lord, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and everything in them, ... ☞

Acts 17:24 The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man,^f ... ☞

^f Greek made by hands

Isa 45:11-12, 18 *Thus says the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and the one who formed him: "Ask me of things to come; will you command me concerning my children and the work of my hands?"*¹²*I made the earth and created man on it; it was my hands that stretched out the heavens, and I commanded all their host.* ☞ ... ¹⁸*For thus says the LORD, who created the heavens (he is God!), who formed the earth and made it (he established it; he did not create it empty, he formed it to be inhabited!): "I am the LORD, and there is no other.* ☞

¹² A slight emendation yields will you question me about my children, or command me concerning the work of my hands?

As the one who formed Israel (v. 11a) – indeed the one who formed the whole earth, mankind and the heavens (v. 12) – the Israelites had no right to question what God chose to do regarding them (v. 11b). In v. 11b, "children" appears to refer to Israel (cf. CEV), which may also be the case with "the work of my hands" (v. 11b) – although in the light of v. 12 the latter could refer to all creation. Together with v. 18, vv. 11-12 point to God as creator being sovereign over all things.

Isa 48:13 My hand laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand spread out the heavens; when I call to them, they stand forth together. ☞

The second part of the verse probably speaks of God's sovereignty over the earth and the heavens which he made – portraying them as complying with his every command. Alternatively, it possibly has in view his calling them into being.

Jer 27:5 It is I who by my great power and my outstretched arm have made the earth, with the men and animals that are on the earth, and I give it to whomever it seems right to me.

Job 25:2-3 Dominion and fear are with God;^h he makes peace in his high heaven. ³Is there any number to his armies? Upon whom does his light not arise?

^h Hebrew him

The fact that the sun is God's and it shines on all people (v. 3b), reflects that God's dominion and control extends over all (v. 2).

Ps 95:4-5 In his hand are the depths of the earth; the heights of the mountains are his also. ⁵The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

"In his hand are the depths of the earth" (v. 4) indicates either that: he owns them – "He owns the depths of the earth" (NLT, cf. NCV); or he has control over them (cf. GNT). Possibly both alternatives are encompassed.

Ps 74:16 Yours is the day, yours also the night; you have established the heavenly lights and the sun.

Ps 100:3 Know that the LORD, he is God! It is he who made us, and we are his;^j we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

^j Or and not we ourselves

"It is he who made us, and we are his" may be implying that "he made us and so therefore we are his". As such the verse would be applicable to this subsection. The text note gives another possible meaning. Also note that it may well be God's formation of Israel as a nation that is primarily in view.

Gen 14:19 And he blessed him and said, "Blessed be Abram by God Most High, Possessor^k of heaven and earth; ...

^k Or Creator; also verse 22

"Possessor" and "Creator" (text note, CEV, NLT, NIV) here being alternative renderings of the Hebrew word in question, arguably supports the assertion that because God created all things everything belongs to him.

‡ As the world was made through Jesus Christ, it is "his own":

John 1:10-11 He was in the world, and the world was made through him, yet the world did not know him. ¹¹*He came to his own,*^l and his own people^m did not receive him.

^l Greek to his own things; that is, to his own domain, or to his own people

^m People is implied in Greek

As the world was made through Jesus Christ (v. 10), it is referred to as "his own" (v. 11a) – although note that "his own" could be referring in particular to his own people, the Jews.

All things exist for God

Rom 11:36 For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

The phrase "to him are all things" implies that all things have God as their focus – essentially that "all things exist... for him" (GNT, cf. NCV, NLT). The suggestion is that this is because God created all things, with all things coming "from him and through him" (cf. 1Cor 8:6 ↓; Heb 2:10 ↓).

1Cor 8:6 ... yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

The phrase "for whom we exist" possibly has believers primarily in view, but even if this is the case one can construe from it that all should exist or live for God.

Heb 2:10 For it was fitting that he, for whom and by whom all things exist, in bringing many sons to glory, should make the founder of their salvation perfect through suffering.

Ps 119:91 By your appointment they stand this day, for all things are your servants.

The clause "all things are your servants" suggests that all things exist for God. Note that Psalms 22:30 speaks of all future generations of people serving God – “Posterity shall serve him...”

‡ All things were created by Jesus Christ and “for him”:

Col 1:16 For by^m him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him.

^m That is, by means of; or in

The assertion that all things were created “for him” would appear to be implying that all things were made for Jesus Christ and/or his purposes. In addition, some commentators understand it to be indicating that Jesus Christ is the goal towards which all creation converges or moves.

In v. 24 “his work” most likely refers primarily to God’s creation and control of it (cf. vv. 27-33), much of which – such as the stars – can only be observed from afar (v. 25). This leads Elihu to exclaim in v. 26, “Behold, God is great ...”

Ps 104:1a, 5 Bless the LORD, O my soul! O LORD my God, you are very great! ... ⁵*He set the earth on its foundations, so that it should never be moved.*

Ps 8:1, 3-4 O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! You have set your glory above the heavens. ... ³*When I look at your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, which you have set in place,* ⁴*what is man that you are mindful of him, and the son of man that you care for him?*

The exclamation, “how majestic is your name in all the earth!” (v. 1a) indicates that God’s majesty is displayed throughout the earth, it being so wonderfully created. Likewise the subsequent statement (v. 1b) probably is speaking of God’s glory being displayed by the creation of the heavens (cf. Ps 19:1). Such a creation prompts David to question why God bothers with humankind (vv. 3-4), alluding to God’s surpassing greatness.

Ps 19:1 The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky above^o proclaims his handiwork.

God’s glorious power and majesty is spoken of as being manifested or evidenced in an awesome storm or storms – part of the natural world that he has created and controls – evoking the cry ascribing glory to him (v. 9).

Ps 104:24, 31 O LORD, how manifold are your works! In wisdom have you made them all; the earth is full of your creatures. ... ³¹*May the glory of the LORD endure forever; may the LORD rejoice in his works, ...*

Quite possibly the psalmist is reflecting on God’s glory (v. 31a) in view of God’s creative work (vv. 24, 31b).

Isa 43:7 ... everyone who is called by my name, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made.

This is speaking primarily of God’s creation of his own people bringing him glory. Arguably it can be applied to his creation of all people.

Num 14:21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, ...

The similar expressions here and in Isaiah 6:3 below may be linking God’s glory with his presence (cf. GNT). However, alternatively (or in conjunction) creation’s testimony to God’s glory may be in view.

Isa 6:3 And one called to another and said: “Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of his glory!”^q

^q Or may his glory fill the whole earth

Creation attests to God's power

See also:

- God made all things with his power, p. 214

Rom 1:20 For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse.

Isa 40:26 Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing.

Ps 33:8-9 Let all the earth fear the LORD; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him! ⁹For he spoke, and it came to be; he commanded, and it stood firm.

This indicates that God's creation of the world is ample reason to fear him because it illustrates how incredible is his power. (The same is the case with Jeremiah 5:22 immediately below.)

Jer 5:22 Do you not fear me? declares the LORD. Do you not tremble before me? I placed the sand as the boundary for the sea, a perpetual barrier that it cannot pass; though the waves toss, they cannot prevail; though they roar, they cannot pass over it.

Ps 124:8 Our help is in the name of the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

God's creation of the world is a great comfort to his people, showing how incredibly powerful is the one who is the source of their help. The references below from Psalm 146, Isaiah 44 and Isaiah 51 have the same theme.

Ps 146:5-6 Blessed is he whose help is the God of Jacob, whose hope is in the LORD his God, ⁶who made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, who keeps faith forever; ...

Isa 44:24 Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, who formed you from the womb: "I am the LORD, who made all things, who alone stretched out the heavens, who spread out the earth by myself, ...

God's people have a mighty Redeemer, emphatically shown by him creating the heavens and the earth by himself.

Isa 51:12-13, 15-16 "I, I am he who comforts you; who are you that you are afraid of man who dies, of the son of man who is made like grass, ¹³and have forgotten the LORD, your Maker, who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, and you fear continually all the day because of the wrath of the oppressor, when he sets himself to destroy? And where is the wrath of the oppressor?  ... ¹⁵I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar—the LORD of hosts is his name. ¹⁶And I have put my words in your mouth and covered you in the shadow of my hand, establishing^r the heavens and laying the foundations of the earth, and saying to Zion, 'You are my people.'"

^r Or planting

As the God of his people (vv. 15a, 16b), the one who in his care comforts them (v. 12a), his people have no reason to fear anyone else (v. 13b). For God created all things (vv. 13a, 15-16), such is his power.

Creation and God's control over it show his power and wisdom to be incomparable . . .

^s Or to my judge

In view of God's wisdom and power as shown in his creation – and power over it – Job acknowledges that there is no way that he (v. 14-15) – like everyone else (vv. 3, 12-13) – can hope to contend with God. Note that v. 6 most likely refers to earthquakes (cf. GNT); and, in v. 13, "the helpers of Rahab" is probably a reference to evil forces.

Job 26:7-11, 14 He stretches out the north over the void and hangs the earth on nothing. ⁸He binds up the waters in his thick clouds, and the cloud is not split open under them. ⁹He covers the face of the full moon^t and spreads over it his cloud. ¹⁰He has inscribed a circle on the face of the waters at the boundary between light and darkness. ¹¹The pillars of heaven tremble and are astounded at his rebuke. ¶ ... ¹⁴Behold, these are but the outskirts of his ways, and how small a whisper do we hear of him! But the thunder of his power who can understand? ¶

^t Or his throne

As shown in creation (vv. 7-11), God's power is so much greater than that of people that it is even beyond their comprehension (v. 14). Note that the "pillars of the heavens" (v. 11) are most likely mountains, poetically portrayed as holding up the skies.

Job 37:1-5, 14-18 [Elihu:] "At this also my heart trembles and leaps out of its place. ²Keep listening to the thunder of his voice and the rumbling that comes from his mouth. ³Under the whole heaven he lets it go, and his lightning to the corners of the earth. ⁴After it his voice roars; he thunders with his majestic voice, and he does not restrain the lightnings^u when his voice is heard. ⁵God thunders wondrously with his voice; he does great things that we cannot comprehend. ¶ ... ¹⁴"Hear this, O Job; stop and consider the wondrous works of God. ¹⁵Do you know how God lays his command upon them and causes the lightning of his cloud to shine? ¹⁶Do you know the balancings^v of the clouds, the wondrous works of him who is perfect in knowledge, ¹⁷you whose garments are hot when the earth is still because of the south wind? ¹⁸Can you, like him, spread out the skies, hard as a cast metal mirror? ¶

^v Or hoverings

Elihu trembles (v. 1) as he begins to contemplate the manifestations of God's incomparable power in thunder and lightning (vv. 4-5). Verse 17 reinforces the supremacy of God's power over people, as manifested in creation, by showing how people are subject to his forces of nature.

Prov 30:4 Who has ascended to heaven and come down? Who has gathered the wind in his fists? Who has wrapped up the waters in a garment? Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son's name? Surely you know! ¶

Isa 40:12-15, 25-26 Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens with a span, enclosed the dust of the earth in a measure and weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance? ¹³Who has measured^w the Spirit of the LORD, or what man shows him his counsel? ¹⁴Whom did he consult, and who made him understand? Who taught him the path of justice, and taught him knowledge, and showed him the way of understanding? ¹⁵Behold, the nations are like a drop from a bucket, and are accounted as the dust on the scales; behold, he takes up the coastlands like fine dust. ¶ ... ²⁵To whom then will you compare me, that I should be like him? says the Holy One. ²⁶Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing. ¶

^w Or has directed

Verses 13-14 may well have primarily in view God's incredible understanding as shown in him being able to create the universe. As such, vv. 12-14 emphasize that it was God who created the universe (v. 12), without the need of anyone to advise him (vv. 13-14). The implication is that this was/is far beyond the ability of anyone else. In fact this shows that in comparison to God the nations are next to nothing (v. 15).

During his suffering Job had at times complained against God, making incorrect and unjust assertions. In chapters 38-41 (extracts from which compose this subsection) God answered Job in no uncertain terms.

Job 38:1-8, 12-13 Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind and said: ²"Who is this that darkens counsel by words without knowledge?³ Dress for action^y like a man; I will question you, and you make it known to me. ⁴"Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth? Tell me, if you have understanding. ⁵Who determined its measurements—surely you know! Or who stretched the line upon it? ⁶On what were its bases sunk, or who laid its cornerstone, ⁷when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy? ⁸"Or who shut in the sea with doors when it burst out from the womb, ¶ ... ¹²"Have you commanded the morning since your days began, and caused the dawn to know its place, ¹³that it might take hold of the skirts of the earth, and the wicked be shaken out of it? ¶

The phrase "surely you know!" (v. 5) may indicate that surely Job knew that God was the one he had done all this (cf. CEV).

But more likely it is irony (cf. v. 21), scornfully suggesting that surely Job – who had shown that he considered himself to be knowledgeable and wise enough to question God – knew how all this had been done (cf. GNT, NLT).

Job 38:31-41 *Can you bind the chains of the Pleiades or loose the cords of Orion? ³²Can you lead forth the Mazzaroth^z in their season, or can you guide the Bear with its children? ³³Do you know the ordinances of the heavens? In the first part of each of v. 3 and v. 4, Job is quoting questions that God had asked him (cf. 38:2-3; 40:7), before responding to them. Note that Job had earlier acknowledged God's superior power and wisdom. However Job did not appreciate them enough to refrain from complaining against and questioning God.

II. God's Creation of People

Most would agree that the most significant part of God's creation is his creation of people. God not only gives people life and a spirit, he has made people quite unique amongst all creatures. Furthermore, of all his creatures, it is primarily to people that God reveals himself and relates.

Job 10:8-9 Your hands fashioned and made me, and now you have destroyed me altogether. ... ⁹Remember that you have made me like clay; and will you return me to the dust?

Ps 119:73 Your hands have made and fashioned me; give me understanding that I may learn your commandments.

Job 31:15 Did not he who made me in the womb make him? And did not one fashion us in the womb?

Prov 22:2 The rich and the poor meet together; the LORD is the maker of them all.

Acts 17:26 And he made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their dwelling place, ...

1Cor 11:12 ... for as woman was made from man, so man is now born of woman. And all things are from God.

Woman may have originally come from man (in that Eve came from Adam) and every man since has been born of a woman, but everything – including every woman and man – ultimately comes from God.

1Pet 4:19 Therefore let those who suffer according to God's will entrust their souls to a faithful Creator while doing good.

. . . Children ultimately come from God

Gen 33:5 And when Esau lifted up his eyes and saw the women and children, he said, "Who are these with you?" Jacob said, "The children whom God has graciously given your servant."

This and the following two references (Josh 24:3-4a; 1Ch 28:5) speak of God giving children, implying that children are ultimately from God.

Josh 24:3-4a Then I took your father Abraham from beyond the River and led him through all the land of Canaan, and made his offspring many. I gave him Isaac. ⁴And to Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. 📖

1Chr 28:5 And of all my sons (for the LORD has given me many sons) he has chosen Solomon my son to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. 📖

Gen 4:1 Now Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore Cain, saying, "I have gotten^b a man with the help of the LORD." 📖

^b Cain sounds like the Hebrew for gotten

Ruth 4:13 So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife. And he went in to her, and the LORD gave her conception, and she bore a son. 📖

1Sam 1:27 For this child I prayed, and the LORD has granted me my petition that I made to him. 📖

Ps 113:9 He gives the barren woman a home, making her the joyous mother of children. Praise the LORD! 📖

Luke 1:7, 13, 57-58 But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and both were advanced in years. 📖 ... ¹³But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. 📖 ... ⁵⁷Now the time came for Elizabeth to give birth, and she bore a son. ⁵⁸And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown great mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her. 📖

God creates the various aspects of people's beings

Ps 139:13 For you formed my inward parts; you knitted me together in my mother's womb. 📖

Job 10:10-11 Did you not pour me out like milk and curdle me like cheese? ¹¹You clothed me with skin and flesh, and knit me together with bones and sinews. 📖

Note that in v. 10 Job likens his beginnings in the womb to the curdling of milk into cheese.

Ps 33:15 ... he who fashions the hearts of them all and observes all their deeds. 📖

Considering the Hebrew meaning of "hearts", this may well be speaking of God forming people's minds (cf. CEV) or thoughts (cf. GNT).

Ps 94:9 He who planted the ear, does he not hear? He who formed the eye, does he not see? 📖

Prov 20:12 The hearing ear and the seeing eye, the LORD has made them both. 📖

Prov 29:13 The poor man and the oppressor meet together; the LORD gives light to the eyes of both. 📖

God gives people life and breath

Gen 2:7 ... then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature. 📖

Job 10:12 You have granted me life and steadfast love, and your care has preserved my spirit. 📖

Job 27:3 ... as long as my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils, ... 📖

In the latter part of the verse, Job acknowledges that his breath is of or from God – "God gives me breath" (GNT; cf. CEV, NLT). Elihu does likewise in addressing Job in 33:4 immediately below.

Job 33:4 The Spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty gives me life. 📖

Ecc 8:15 And I commend joy, for man has no good thing under the sun but to eat and drink and be joyful, for this will go with him in his toil through the days of his life that God has given him under the sun. 📖

Isa 42:5 Thus says God, the LORD, who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and what comes from it, who gives breath to the people on it and spirit to those who walk in it: ... 📖

Isa 57:16 For I will not contend forever, nor will I always be angry; for the spirit would grow faint before me, and the breath of life that I made. 📖

Acts 17:25 ... nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything. 📖

† Jesus Christ is the "author of life":

Acts 3:15 ... and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. 📖

As noted earlier, "the Author of life" may be referring to Jesus Christ's role in creation, giving life to all, but his role in giving eternal life could instead be primarily in view.

Human life is of great value

Gen 9:5-6 And for your lifeblood I will require a reckoning: from every beast I will require it and from man. From his fellow man I will require a reckoning for the life of man. ⁶"Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image.

The fact that God says here that he will "require a reckoning" (v. 5) for the taking of any human life, implies that it is very important, of quite some value. One prime reason – if not the prime reason – as to why human life is of great value, is that humans are made in the image of God (v. 6; cf. God has made people in his own image, p. 234).

Luke 9:24-25 For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it. ²⁵For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses or forfeits himself?

The reference to "himself" (v. 25) is associated with one's "life" (v. 24), both indicated here as having an eternal dimension (cf. John 12:25). Although spiritual life and one's eternal destiny are primarily in view (cf. v. 26) in the comparison with "the whole world" (v. 25), this passage still reflects the importance of human life. For it speaks of the great priority of saving one's life, both the present life (generally a higher priority for non-believers) and particularly life in eternity.

Matt 6:25-26 Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink, nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing? ²⁶Look at the birds of the air: they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?

In teaching that there is more to life than the peripheral issues that people tend to worry about, v. 25 suggests that life is far more important than such things (cf. GNT, NIV). Verse 26 teaches that people and their lives are indeed of great value in God's eyes.

Ps 91:16 With long life I will satisfy him and show him my salvation.

Such is the value of life that to experience more of it is a satisfying thing.

Ps 49:7-9 Truly no man can ransom another, or give to God the price of his life, ⁸for the ransom of their life is costly and can never suffice, ⁹that he should live on forever and never see the pit.

The focus here is on the unaffordable cost of being able to live forever. As such, it points to the great value of human life itself.

† Life is to be loved:

1Pet 3:10 For "Whoever desires to love life and see good days, let him keep his tongue from evil and his lips from speaking deceit; ..."

This is not actually saying to love life, but the implication is that this is an appropriate and natural thing to do.

People's lives are very brief

As many older people would affirm, in a relative sense life is very brief.

Job 9:25 My days are swifter than a runner; they flee away; they see no good.

In 7:6 Job similarly says, "My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle and come to their end without hope." In these verses Job may be speaking of the wasting away of his life rather than speaking of the human lot in general, and it may be the swiftness of each of his days that is primarily in view rather than the swiftness of life. However his words are at least applicable to the brevity of human life in general.

Job 14:1-2 Man who is born of a woman is few of days and full of trouble. ²He comes out like a flower and withers; he flees like a shadow and continues not.

Ps 39:5 Behold, you have made my days a few handbreadths, and my lifetime is as nothing before you. Surely all mankind stands as a mere breath! Selah

Ps 89:47 Remember how short my time is! For what vanity you have created all the children of man!

Note that "vanity" probably has the fleetingness of life in view, along with such suffering as spoken of in the preceding verses (cf. vv. 38-46).

Ps 90:10 The years of our life are seventy, or even by reason of strength eighty; yet their span^c is but toil and trouble; they are soon gone, and we fly away.

^c Or pride

Ps 103:15-16 As for man, his days are like grass; he flourishes like a flower of the field; ¹⁶for the wind passes over it, and it is gone, and its place knows it no more.

Like grass and flowers, relatively speaking, people do not exist for long.

Ps 144:4 Man is like a breath; his days are like a passing shadow.

James 4:14 ...yet you do not know what tomorrow will bring. What is your life? For you are a mist that appears for a little time and then vanishes.

Ps 89:48 What man can live and never see death? Who can deliver his soul from the power of Sheol? Selah

"Sheol" is a name used for the place of the dead. It is often translated as "the grave".

. . . All people die no matter who or what they are

Job 3:11-19 Why did I not die at birth, come out from the womb and expire? ¹²Why did the knees receive me? Or why the breasts, that I should nurse? ¹³For then I would have lain down and been quiet; I would have slept; then I would have been at rest, ¹⁴with kings and counselors of the earth who rebuilt ruins for themselves, ¹⁵or with princes who had gold, who filled their houses with silver. ¹⁶Or why was I not as a hidden stillborn child, as infants who never see the light? ¹⁷There the wicked cease from troubling, and there the weary are at rest. ¹⁸There the prisoners are at ease together; they hear not the voice of the taskmaster. ¹⁹The small and the great are there, and the slave is free from his master.

Job 21:23-26 One dies in his full vigor, being wholly at ease and secure, ²⁴his pails^e full of milk and the marrow of his bones moist. ²⁵Another dies in bitterness of soul, never having tasted of prosperity. ²⁶They lie down alike in the dust, and the worms cover them.

^e The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain

No matter what people's lot in life has been, they all die.

Ps 49:10 For he sees that even the wise die; the fool and the stupid alike must perish and leave their wealth to others.

Eccl 2:14, 16 The wise person has his eyes in his head, but the fool walks in darkness. And yet I perceived that the same event happens to all of them. ... ¹⁶For of the wise as of the fool there is no enduring remembrance, seeing that in the days to come all will have been long forgotten. How the wise dies just like the fool!

Ecc 9:2-3 It is the same for all, since the same event happens to the righteous and the wicked, to the good and the evil,^f to the clean and the unclean, to him who sacrifices and him who does not sacrifice. As the good one is, so is the sinner, and he who swears is as he who shuns an oath. ³This is an evil in all that is done under the sun, that the same event happens to all. Also, the hearts of the children of man are full of evil, and madness is in their hearts while they live, and after that they go to the dead.

^f Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate; Hebrew lacks and the evil

The common destiny spoken of would appear to be – or to primarily be – death. However, not all commentators would agree (cf. v. 1). Note that the use of “evil” in v. 3a speaks of this common destiny as being seemingly unfair and wrong (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV).

Luke 16:22 The poor man died and was carried by the angels to Abraham's side.^g The rich man also died and was buried, ...

^g Greek bosom; also verse 23

This illustrates the fact that both poor and rich will die.

✦ Being destined to die, humans are like the animals:

Ecc 3:19-20 For what happens to the children of man and what happens to the beasts is the same; as one dies, so dies the other. They all have the same breath, and man has no advantage over the beasts, for all is vanity. ²⁰All go to one place. All are from the dust, and to dust all return.

Similarly Psalms 49:12 says, “Man in his pomp will not remain; he is like the beasts that perish.”

Once a person dies, they do not return

2Sam 12:23 But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me.

Job 7:9-10 As the cloud fades and vanishes, so he who goes down to Sheol does not come up; ¹⁰he returns no more to his house, nor does his place know him anymore.

Job 10:21 ... before I go—and I shall not return—to the land of darkness and deep shadow, ...

Job 16:22 For when a few years have come I shall go the way from which I shall not return.

Ps 49:11 Their graves are their homes forever,^h their dwelling places to all generations, though they called lands by their own names.

^h Septuagint, Syriac, Targum; Hebrew Their inward thought was that their homes were forever

Ecc 9:6 Their love and their hate and their envy have already perished, and forever they have no more share in all that is done under the sun.

Isa 26:14 They are dead, they will not live; they are shades, they will not arise; to that end you have visited them with destruction and wiped out all remembrance of them.

Note that the term “shades” denotes a shadow or area of darkness.

Job 14:10-12 But a man dies and is laid low; man breathes his last, and where is he? ¹¹As waters fail from a lake and a river wastes away and dries up, ¹²so a man lies down and rises not again; till the heavens are no more he will not awake or be roused out of his sleep.

2Sam 14:14a We must all die; we are like water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again.

The precise intention of the water illustration is somewhat debatable. However, it may well be meaning that we are like water spilled on the ground in that we will disappear and it will not be possible for us to be recovered.

Ecc 12:5 *... they are afraid also of what is high, and terrors are in the way; the almond tree blossoms, the grasshopper drags itself along,ⁱ and desire fails, because man is going to his eternal home, and the mourners go about the streets—*

ⁱ Or is a burden

The first part of the verse portrays aspects of old age, preceding one's death whereupon one goes to one's “eternal home”.

Note: Blood signifies life – and a person's life is taken by the shedding of their blood

See also:

- ... for the life of a creature is in its blood – and as such blood is not to be eaten, p. 391

Blood sustains life (cf. Lev 17:11, 14 ↓) and as such it is often used in Scripture to signify life.

Gen 9:5-6 And for your lifeblood I will require a reckoning: from every beast I will require it and from man. From his fellow man I will require a reckoning for the life of man. ⁶“Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image.

The term “lifeblood” (v. 5; cf. Isa 63:3 ↓; Jer 2:34 ↓) underlines the correlation between blood and life.

1Ki 2:5 Moreover, you also know what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, how he dealt with the two commanders of the armies of Israel, Abner the son of Ner, and Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed, avenging^j in time of peace for blood that had been shed in war, and putting the blood of war^k on the belt around his^l waist and on the sandals on his feet.

God has made people with a spirit

Zec 12:1b Thus declares the LORD, who stretched out the heavens and founded the earth and formed the spirit of man within him: ...

Ecc 12:7 ... and the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to God who gave it.

Heb 12:9 Besides this, we have had earthly fathers who disciplined us and we respected them. Shall we not much more be subject to the Father of spirits and live?

As noted earlier, "the Father of spirits" may well be implying that God created our spirits.

Num 16:22 And they fell on their faces and said, "O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin, and will you be angry with all the congregation?"

Like the similar expression in Hebrews 12:9 above, "God of the spirits of all flesh" may be speaking of God as the creator of the spirits of all mankind (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT). However, it may instead be meaning that he is "God over" (NCV™) the spirits of all mankind.

Job 32:8 But it is the spirit in man, the breath of the Almighty, that makes him understand.

This appears to be speaking of the human spirit with God Almighty as its source. But "spirit" may instead be referring to the Holy Spirit (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

Ecc 11:5 As you do not know the way the spirit comes to the bones in the womb^r of a woman with child, so you do not know the work of God who makes everything.

^r Some Hebrew manuscripts, Targum; most Hebrew manuscripts As you do not know the way of the wind, or how the bones grow in the womb

This verse may well be referring to the spirit entering the body when it is formed as being the work of God, "who makes everything". But note that the text note has an alternative rendering.

Isa 42:5 Thus says God, the LORD, who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and what comes from it, who gives breath to the people on it and spirit to those who walk in it: ...

James 4:5 Or do you suppose it is to no purpose that the Scripture says, "He yearns jealously over the spirit that he has made to dwell in us"?

† God made people with a soul:

Jer 38:16 Then King Zedekiah swore secretly to Jeremiah, "As the LORD lives, who made our souls, I will not put you to death or deliver you into the hand of these men who seek your life."

The spirit is distinguished from one's body

James 2:26 For as the body apart from the spirit is dead, so also faith apart from works is dead.

1Pet 4:6 For this is why the gospel was preached even to those who are dead, that though judged in the flesh the way people are, they might live in the spirit the way God does.

Col 2:5 For though I am absent in body, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good order and the firmness of your faith in Christ.

Here "spirit" is used in a different sense, referring more directly to Paul's thoughts. Nevertheless the verse serves to illustrate that the spirit is distinguished from the body.

‡ Likewise, the soul is distinguished from one's body:

Matt 10:28 And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather fear him who can destroy both soul and body in hell.^t 📖

^t Greek Gehenna

The spirit and the soul are closely associated – along with one's "heart"

Some commentators caution against attempting to make categorical distinctions between the spirit and the soul. The verses in this subsection are supportive of such a view. Having said this, the following subsections show that "spirit" is used when speaking of the will and thoughts, whereas "soul" is more prominent when speaking of emotions and desires or of the person themselves. The term "heart" is perhaps a more inclusive term. In the Bible it can be understood to signify one's conscious inner-self – encompassing one's emotions, thoughts and will.

Job 7:11 Therefore I will not restrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul. 📖

This and the two references immediately below portray the spirit and the soul as closely associated by attributing similar actions to both of them.

Isa 26:9a My soul yearns for you in the night; my spirit within me earnestly seeks you. 📖

Luke 1:46-47 And Mary said, "My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, ..." 📖

Heb 4:12 For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart. 📖

Although this distinguishes between the soul and the spirit, it is also portrays them as very closely connected.

Ps 143:4 Therefore my spirit faints within me; my heart within me is appalled. 📖

Here and in Isaiah 57:15 below the spirit and the heart are closely associated. The remaining two references (Ps 84:2; Prov 2:10) closely associate the soul and the heart.

Isa 57:15 For thus says the One who is high and lifted up, who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: "I dwell in the high and holy place, and also with him who is of a contrite and lowly spirit, to revive the spirit of the lowly, and to revive the heart of the contrite." 📖

Ps 84:2 My soul longs, yes, faints for the courts of the LORD; my heart and flesh sing for joy to the living God. 📖

Prov 2:10 ... for wisdom will come into your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul; ... 📖

‡ The spirit, soul and body as the whole person:

1Thes 5:23 Now may the God of peace himself sanctify you completely, and may your whole spirit and soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. 📖

Paul appears to be speaking of one's whole being as being composed of the spirit, soul and body (cf. GNT, NCV).

The spirit and soul are at the core of one's being . . .

Prov 20:27 The spirit^u of man is the lamp of the LORD, searching all his innermost parts. 📖

^u Hebrew breath

Ps 103:1 Bless the LORD, O my soul, and all that is within me, bless his holy name! 📖

Ps 142:3 When my spirit faints within me, you know my way! In the path where I walk they have hidden a trap for me. 📖

Lam 3:20 My soul continually remembers it and is bowed down within me. 📖

Ps 143:8 Let me hear in the morning of your steadfast love, for in you I trust. Make me know the way I should go, for you I lift up my soul. 📖

This and of the following reference from Mark 8 arguably imply that one's soul is not only at the core of one's inmost being but is the very essence and fundamental aspect of one's being.

Mark 8:36-37 For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his soul? ³⁷For what can a man give in return for his soul? 📖

. . . They embody and are central to one's state of mind – as often depicted in hardship

Ps 116:7 Return, O my soul, to your rest; for the LORD has dealt bountifully with you. 📖

The spirit and soul are linked with one's emotions

Note that a number of the verses in the previous subsection similarly associate the spirit or the soul with one's emotions.

Job 30:25 Did not I weep for him whose day was hard? Was not my soul grieved for the needy?

Ecc 7:9 Be not quick in your spirit to become angry, for anger lodges in the bosom of fools.

Ezek 3:14 The Spirit lifted me up and took me away, and I went in bitterness in the heat of my spirit, the hand of the LORD being strong upon me.

Eph 4:23 ... and to be renewed in the spirit of your minds, ... 📖

Here "the spirit" may be referring more to "the attitude" (NIV®) of our minds than to the human spirit. Even so, the use of "spirit" in this way arguably still reflects that the spirit is involved in one's thinking.

Col 2:5 For though I am absent in body, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good order and the firmness of your faith in Christ. 📖

With this figurative use of "spirit", Paul seems to be indicating that his thoughts and heart are with them (cf. CEV, NCV, NLT).

The spirit is fundamental to one's attitude and actions

Deut 2:30 But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for the LORD your God hardened his spirit and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into your hand, as he is this day. 📖

Job 32:18 For I am full of words; the spirit within me constrains me. 📖

Isa 66:2 All these things my hand has made, and so all these things came to be, declares the LORD. But this is the one to whom I will look: he who is humble and contrite in spirit and trembles at my word. 📖

To be "contrite in spirit" is to be repentant and remorseful.

Matt 5:3 Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 📖

The "poor in spirit" are those who in their spirit humbly acknowledge that they are impoverished in spiritual matters.

Matt 26:41 Watch and pray that you may not enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak. 📖

Ezek 13:3 Thus says the Lord GOD, Woe to the foolish prophets who follow their own spirit, and have seen nothing! 📖

2Cor 12:18 I urged Titus to go, and sent the brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not act in the same spirit? Did we not take the same steps? 📖

Paul speaks of Titus and himself acting alike as being of the same "spirit" or "motives" (GNT), alluding to their individual spirits being alike in will and attitude. In Philippians 1:27 below Paul speaks similarly of the Philippians' "one spirit".

Phil 1:27 Only let your manner of life be worthy^a of the gospel of Christ, so that whether I come and see you or am absent, I may hear of you that you are standing firm in one spirit, with one mind striving side by side for the faith of the gospel, ... 📖

^a Greek Only behave as citizens worthy

Note that the association of "spirit" and "mind" make this verse also very pertinent to the previous subsection.

↳ The spirit and the mind contrasted:

1Cor 14:14-16 For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays but my mind is unfruitful. ¹⁵What am I to do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will pray with my mind also; I will sing praise with my spirit, but I will sing with my mind also. ¹⁶*Otherwise, if you give thanks with your spirit*, how can anyone in the position of an outsider^b say "Amen" to your thanksgiving when he does not know what you are saying? 📖

^b Or of him that is without gifts

In the light of this verse and 1 Corinthians 2:11a in the previous subsection, it would appear that the spirit is tuned in to the thoughts of the mind, but the mind does not always comprehend the spirit.

People are dead without their spirit

James 2:26 For as the body apart from the spirit is dead, so also faith apart from works is dead.

Ps 146:4 When his breath departs, he returns to the earth; on that very day his plans perish.

Some translations use "spirit" here instead of "breath" (cf. NASB, NIV, NKJV), making the verse relevant to this subsection.

Luke 8:53-55 And they laughed at him, knowing that she was dead.⁵⁴ But taking her by the hand he called, saying, "Child, arise."⁵⁵ And her spirit returned, and she got up at once. And he directed that something should be given her to eat.

Verse 55 implies that when the girl was dead (v. 53) her spirit was absent – i.e. she was dead without her spirit.

Job 34:14-15 If he should set his heart to it and gather to himself his spirit and his breath, ¹⁵*all flesh would perish together, and man would return to dust.*

The term "his spirit" could be speaking of one's spirit as that which God has given – making the verse pertinent to this subsection. However (as used earlier in this chapter) it may well be referring to the Holy Spirit.

People's spirits and souls exist after death

Eccl 3:20-21 All go to one place. All are from the dust, and to dust all return.²¹ Who knows whether the spirit of man goes upward and the spirit of the beast goes down into the earth?

Following his assertion of the certainty of death (v. 20), the author states his uncertainty as to what happens to the spirit when it departs after a person dies. In doing so he implies that the spirit continues to exist. Note that some commentators think that in v. 21 the author is alluding to the immortality of man in contrast to animals.

Eccl 12:6-7 ... before the silver cord is snapped, or the golden bowl is broken, or the pitcher is shattered at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern, ⁷*and the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to God who gave it.*

The illustrations in v.6 may well simply be general representations of death – after which the spirit returns to God (v. 7) – although some commentators see them as portraying particular aspects of the extinguishing of life.

Isa 14:9 Sheol beneath is stirred up to meet you when you come; it rouses the shades to greet you, all who were leaders of the earth; it raises from their thrones all who were kings of the nations.

The Hebrew translated here as "shades" can also be rendered as "spirits of the dead" (NASB, NCV; cf. NIV).

Luke 23:46 Then Jesus, calling out with a loud voice, said, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit!" And having said this he breathed his last.

The parallel verse in Matthew 27:50 says, "And Jesus cried out again with a loud voice and yielded up his spirit."

Acts 7:59 And as they were stoning Stephen, he called out, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

Heb 12:23 ... and to the assembly^c of the firstborn who are enrolled in heaven, and to God, the judge of all, and to the spirits of the righteous made perfect, ...

The reference is to the spirits of righteous people who had died (cf. NLT). The verse implies that their spirits still exist.

^d Or the Spirit, in whom

^f Or when

These "spirits" could well be referring to spirits of people long dead. As such the passage would be relevant to this subsection. Alternatively, fallen angels or demons may be in view.

1Pet 4:6 For this is why the gospel was preached even to those who are dead, that though judged in the flesh the way people are, they might live in the spirit the way God does.

This is most often taken to mean that God's people will be judged like all people in that their physical bodies will die, but they will live like God does in their spiritual existence (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT) – with their spirits continuing to exist.

Matt 10:28 And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather fear him who can destroy both soul and body in hell.^g

Rev 6:9-11 When he opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God

ⁱ Or brothers and sisters. The plural Greek word adelphoi (translated "brothers") refers to siblings in a family. In New Testament usage, depending on the context, adelphoi may refer either to men or to both men and women who are siblings (brothers and sisters) in God's family, the church

Verses 10-11 indicate that "the souls of those who had been slain" (v. 9) were still very much in existence (cf. Rev 20:4 ↓).

Rev 20:4 Then I saw thrones, and seated on them were those to whom the authority to judge was committed. Also I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for the testimony of Jesus and for the word of God, and those who had not worshiped the beast or its image and had not received its mark on their foreheads or their hands. They came to life and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

Here John appears to speak of the souls of dead believers existing even before they came back to life.

c) The Uniqueness of People

Note that some of the points made in the previous section on The Human Spirit also point to the uniqueness of people amongst God's creation.

Subsections

- God has made people in his own image
- People have an able mind, with which to think and reason intelligently . . .
- . . . People can make judgments
- People have the moral capacity to know good from evil and right from wrong . . .
- . . . People can choose between good and evil

- People are of much more value than other creatures
- God has made people ruler over all other creatures
- People are to care for other creatures
- People are to act responsibly towards all creation

God has made people in his own image

That God has made people in his own image is evident in that they reflect such things as his personal traits – e.g. aspects of his character and intellect – and that they have a spirit (as discussed in the previous section). Additionally, it is noteworthy that although God essentially is spirit, Ezekiel 1:26-28 below speaks of him in terms of a human-like form (cf. Ezek 1:26-28 ↓).

Gen 1:26-27 Then God said, "Let us make manⁱ in our image, after our likeness. And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth." ²⁷So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.

ⁱ The Hebrew word for man (adam) is the generic term for mankind and becomes the proper name Adam Gen 5:1 This is the book of the generations of Adam. When God created man, he made him in the likeness of God.

Gen 9:6 Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image.

1Cor 11:7 For a man ought not to cover his head, since he is the image and glory of God, but woman is the glory of man.

Paul appears to have in view Adam being made in the image of God and then Eve being made from Adam (cf. v. 8). As such, ultimately both male and female have been made in the image of God (cf. Gen 1:27 ↑).

Col 3:10 ... and have put on the new self, which is being renewed in knowledge after the image of its creator.

"Creator" could be referring to either God (cf. GNT) or Jesus Christ (cf. NLT). Particularly if the former is the case, Paul would probably have the above verses from Genesis in view. As such he would be implying that having been created in God's image but flawed by sin, God's people are to be renewed in his image.

James 3:9 With it we bless our Lord and Father, and with it we curse people who are made in the likeness of God.

Prov 14:31 Whoever oppresses a poor man insults his Maker, but he who is generous to the needy honors him.

Some commentators understand this to imply that oppressing the poor shows contempt for God their Maker because they have been made in his image. (The same could then be said of why being kind to them honors God.) However the writer may well simply mean that mistreating anything God has made is being contemptuous of God as its maker and of the purpose for which he has created it.

✦ A manifestation of the likeness of the glory of the LORD had a human appearance:

Ezek 1:26-28 And above the expanse over their heads there was the likeness of a throne, in appearance like sapphire;^k and seated above the likeness of a throne was a likeness with a human appearance. ²⁷And upward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were gleaming metal, like the appearance of fire enclosed all around. And downward from what had the appearance of his waist I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and there was brightness around him.¹²⁸Like the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud on the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness all around. Such was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. And when I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard the voice of one speaking.

^k Or lapis lazuli

People have an able mind, with which to think and reason intelligently . . .

Note that most of the following verses make reference to one's "heart" rather than "mind". As noted earlier, in the Bible "heart" can be understood to signify one's conscious inner-self – encompassing one's emotions, thoughts and will. As such, less literal translations mostly use "mind" in the following verses, reflecting modern terminology for the concept/s involved.

Job 38:36 Who has put wisdom in the inward parts^m or given understanding to the mind?ⁿ

^m Or in the ibis

ⁿ Or rooster

Ecc 2:3 I searched with my heart how to cheer my body with wine—my heart still guiding me with wisdom—and how to lay hold on folly, till I might see what was good for the children of man to do under heaven during the few days of their life.

Ecc 7:25 I turned my heart to know and to search out and to seek wisdom and the scheme of things, and to know the wickedness of folly and the foolishness that is madness.

Ecc 8:16 When I applied my heart to know wisdom, and to see the business that is done on earth, how neither day nor night do one's eyes see sleep, ...

Dan 5:14 I have heard of you [Daniel] that the spirit of the gods^o is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you.

^o Or Spirit of God

Acts 17:2-3 And Paul went in, as was his custom, and on three Sabbath days he reasoned with them from the Scriptures, ³*explaining and proving* that it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead, and saying, "This Jesus, whom I proclaim to you, is the Christ."

Neh 5:6-7a I was very angry when I heard their outcry and these words. ⁷*I took counsel with myself,* and I brought charges against the nobles and the officials. I said to them, "You are exacting interest, each from his brother."

On hearing of a significant problem (v. 6), Nehemiah "thought it over" (AMP, CEV, NIV) – giving the problem "serious thought" (NKJV) – and took appropriate action (v. 7; cf. vv. 8-13).

Rom 14:5 One person esteems one day as better than another, while another esteems all days alike. Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind.

. . . People can make judgments

▪ Neh 5:6-7 ; Rom 14:5

As with some of the verses in the surrounding subsections, most of the following verses contain examples illustrating the assertion in this subsection's heading.

2Sam 24:13-14 So Gad came to David and told him, and said to him, "Shall three^p years of famine come to you in your land? Or will you flee three months before your foes while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider, and decide what answer I shall return to him who sent me." ¹⁴Then David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let us fall into the hand of the LORD, for his mercy is great; but let me not fall into the hand of man."

^p Compare 1 Chronicles 21:12, Septuagint; Hebrew seven

David needed to decide or judge which of the three punishments (v. 13) would be his preferred option – which he quickly did (v. 14).

1Cor 7:40 Yet in my judgment she is happier if she remains as she is. And I think that I too have the Spirit of God.

Luke 14:31 Or what king, going out to encounter another king in war, will not sit down first and deliberate whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand?

Acts 15:38 But Paul thought best not to take with them one who had withdrawn from them in Pamphylia and had not gone with them to the work.

Acts 25:27 For it seems to me unreasonable, in sending a prisoner, not to indicate the charges against him.

Luke 1:3-4 ... it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, ⁴that you may have certainty concerning the things you have been taught.

The premise that people are able to intelligently make judgments is supported not only by Luke's reasoning in v. 3, but also in the assumption that Theophilus would be able to know the certainty of what he had been taught (v. 4), for to do so would likewise require him to reason intelligently.

Acts 17:11 Now these Jews were more noble than those in Thessalonica; they received the word with all eagerness, examining the Scriptures daily to see if these things were so.

People have the moral capacity to know good from evil and right from wrong . . .

Gen 3:22a Then the LORD God said, "Behold, the man has become like one of us in knowing good and evil.

1Ki 2:44 The king also said to Shimei, "You know in your own heart all the harm that you did to David my father. So the LORD will bring back your harm on your own head.

Ps 51:3-4 For I know my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me. ⁴Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight, so that you may be justified in your words and blameless in your judgment.

Ps 119:128 Therefore I consider all your precepts to be right; I hate every false way.

Luke 23:41 And we indeed justly, for we are receiving the due reward of our deeds; but this man has done nothing wrong.

Rom 2:14-15 For when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do what the law requires, they are a law to themselves, even though they do not have the law. ¹⁵They show that the work of the law is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them ...

People have an intrinsic awareness of the requirements of God's moral law, with their consciences and thoughts giving indication as to what is morally right and wrong.

. . . People can choose between good and evil

Amos 5:14-15 Seek good, and not evil, that you may live; and so the LORD, the God of hosts, will be with you, as you have said. ¹⁵Hate evil, and love good, and establish justice in the gate; it may be that the LORD, the God of hosts, will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.

People are of much more value than other creatures

Matt 6:26 Look at the birds of the air: they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?

Matt 10:31 Fear not, therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Matt 12:12a Of how much more value is a man than a sheep!

Ps 8:4-5 ... what is man that you are mindful of him, and the son of man that you care for him? ⁵Yet you have made him a little lower than the heavenly beings^a and crowned him with glory and honor.

^a Or than God; Septuagint than the angels

It is feasible to conclude from this – particularly in light of the subsequent verses (vv. 6-8) – that such a status implies that people are indeed much more valuable than other earthly creatures.

‡ God has made people more knowledgeable and wiser than other creatures:

Job 35:10-11 But none says, 'Where is God my Maker, who gives songs in the night, ¹¹who teaches us more than the beasts of the earth and makes us wiser than the birds of the heavens?'

God has made people ruler over all other creatures

Gen 1:26-28 Then God said, "Let us make man^r in our image, after our likeness. And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth." ²⁷So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them. ²⁸And God blessed them. And God said to them, "Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing that moves on the earth."

^r The Hebrew word for man (adam) is the generic term for mankind and becomes the proper name Adam

Note that a number of commentators consider that being in God's image indicates that people are in a sense God's representatives, and that it is as his representatives that they are to rule over all other creatures.

Gen 2:19-20a Now out of the ground the LORD God had formed^s every beast of the field and every bird of the heavens and brought them to the man to see what he would call them. And whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name. ²⁰*The man gave names to all livestock and to the birds of the heavens and to every beast of the field.*

^s Or And out of the ground the LORD God formed

Adam's naming of the animals is understood to be indicative of his – and all humankind's – authority over them.

Gen 9:2-3 The fear of you and the dread of you shall be upon every beast of the earth and upon every bird of the heavens, upon everything that creeps on the ground and all the fish of the sea. Into your hand they are delivered. ³*Every moving thing that lives shall be food for you. And as I gave you the green plants, I give you everything.*

"Into your hand they are delivered" (v. 2b) indicates that God placed all creation under the control and power of humankind (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT) – as alluded to by the fact that all creatures would "fear" and "dread" (v. 2a) humans and by them even being given to humans for food (v. 3).

Ps 8:6-8 You have given him dominion over the works of your hands; you have put all things under his feet, ⁷all sheep and oxen, and also the beasts of the field, ⁸the birds of the heavens, and the fish of the sea, whatever passes along the paths of the seas.

Ps 115:16 The heavens are the LORD's heavens, but the earth he has given to the children of man.

God is the ultimate ruler of the earth, but he has granted humankind dominion over it.

Heb 2:6b-8 "What is man, that you are mindful of him, or the son of man, that you care for him? ⁷You made him for a little while lower than the angels; you have crowned him with glory and honor,^t ⁸*putting everything in subjection under his feet.*" Now in putting everything in subjection to him, he left nothing outside his control. At present, we do not yet see everything in subjection to him.

^t Some manuscripts insert and set him over the works of your hands

Note that the last statement is often taken to be referring to humankind's power over creatures not being complete – a result of sin.

‡ All kinds of creatures have been tamed by people:

James 3:7 For every kind of beast and bird, of reptile and sea creature, can be tamed and has been tamed by mankind, ...

People are to care for other creatures

Ex 23:10-11 For six years you shall sow your land and gather in its yield, ¹¹*but the seventh year you shall let it rest and lie fallow, that the poor of your people may eat; and what they leave the beasts of the field may eat. You shall do likewise with your vineyard, and with your olive orchard.*

In addition to providing a year of rest for the land (cf. Lev 25:3-5 ↴) this law made provision for the wild animals (as well as the poor).

Deut 22:4 You shall not see your brother's donkey or his ox fallen down by the way and ignore them. You shall help him to lift them up again. 📖

Deut 22:6-7 If you come across a bird's nest in any tree or on the ground, with young ones or eggs and the mother sitting on the young or on the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young. ⁷You shall let the mother go, but the young you may take for yourself, that it may go well with you, and that you may live long. 📖

Most likely this command was aimed at the preservation of the species and so also this particular food source. Taking the mother would have meant that the young would also die, whereas leaving her would allow her to reproduce.

Deut 22:10 You shall not plow with an ox and a donkey together. 📖

The unequal strengths of the animals presumably would cause them discomfort in such work.

Deut 25:4 You shall not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the grain. 📖

An ox was not to have its mouth covered to prevent it from eating of the grain as it worked, for this would have been unfair to the animal, not allowing it to renew its strength while it did the work.

Prov 12:10 Whoever is righteous has regard for the life of his beast, but the mercy of the wicked is cruel. 📖

Prov 27:23 Know well the condition of your flocks, and give attention to your herds, ... 📖

Matt 12:11 He said to them, "Which one of you who has a sheep, if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not take hold of it and lift it out?" 📖

Luke 13:15b Does not each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or his donkey from the manger and lead it away to water it? 📖

People are to act responsibly towards all creation

Gen 2:15 The LORD God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it. 📖

Adam's responsibility to take care of the Garden of Eden is readily applicable to the relationship of humankind with all of creation.

Lev 25:3-5 For six years you shall sow your field, and for six years you shall prune your vineyard and gather in its fruits, ⁴*but in the seventh year there shall be a Sabbath of solemn rest for the land, a Sabbath to the LORD. You shall not sow your field or prune your vineyard. ⁵You shall not reap what grows of itself in your harvest, or gather the grapes of your undressed vine. It shall be a year of solemn rest for the land.* 📖

Such a sabbath year of rest would replenish the land, ensuring that it maintained its fertility – and hence its goodness.

Deut 20:19 When you besiege a city for a long time, making war against it in order to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by wielding an axe against them. You may eat from them, but you shall not cut them down. Are the trees in the field human, that they should be besieged by you? 📖

Num 35:33 You shall not pollute the land in which you live, for blood pollutes the land, and no atonement can be made for the land for the blood that is shed in it, except by the blood of the one who shed it. 📖

Although this is actually referring to "polluting" the land (specifically the promised land) by bloodshed, arguably it can also be applied to polluting the land in other ways. As such it would be applicable to this subsection.

Hab 2:17 The violence done to Lebanon will overwhelm you, as will the destruction of the beasts that terrified them, for the blood of man and violence to the earth, to cities and all who dwell in them. 📖

The Babylonians' desolation of the forests of Lebanon (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT) and their destruction of animals contravened humankind's responsibility towards nature – and they would be punished for such "violence to the earth", as well as their shedding of blood. Note that "them" may be referring to the forests of Lebanon.

John 6:12 And when they had eaten their fill, he told his disciples, "Gather up the leftover fragments, that nothing may be lost." 📖

Food – as with all resources – should not be wasted.

Rev 11:18 The nations raged, but your wrath came, and the time for the dead to be judged, and for rewarding your servants,^u the prophets and saints, and those who fear your name, both small and great, and for destroying the destroyers of the earth. 📖

^u Greek bondservants

If "destroyers of the earth" is referring to or applicable to the destruction of nature, then this of course underlines the necessity for people to care for all creation. But note that some commentators at least, interpret it to be referring to those who actively work against God to the detriment of the earth – in Revelation primarily Satan, the beast, and the false prophet.

✦ Israel's land still belonged to God:

Lev 25:23 The land shall not be sold in perpetuity, for the land is mine. For you are strangers and sojourners with me.

This truth can be applied to all land, for – as Scripture says a number of times – God made the whole earth and it belongs to him; people are merely strangers and temporary residents on the earth. This underlines the need for people to act responsibly towards the land.

John 5:37 And the Father who sent me has himself borne witness about me. His voice you have never heard, his form you have never seen, ...

Job 9:11 Behold, he passes by me, and I see him not; he moves on, but I do not perceive him.

Job 23:3, 8-9 Oh, that I knew where I might find him, that I might come even to his seat!  ...⁸Behold, I go forward, but he is not there, and backward, but I do not perceive him; ⁹on the left hand when he is working, I do not behold him; he turns to the right hand, but I do not see him.

Job 37:23 The Almighty—we cannot find him; he is great in power; justice and abundant righteousness he will not violate.

Isa 45:15 Truly, you are a God who hides himself, O God of Israel, the Savior.

This appears to be speaking of or at least pointing to God being beyond people's grasp. More specifically it may be speaking of God concealing himself or possibly of God working in what seems to people as "strange and mysterious ways" (NLT).

Matt 11:27 All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.

This and the following references indicate or suggest that by themselves people cannot know God.

1Cor 1:21 For since, in the wisdom of God, the world did not know God through wisdom, it pleased God through the folly of what we preach to save those who believe.

Acts 17:23 For as I passed along and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, 'To the unknown god.' What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you.

Similarly in John 4:22a Jesus says of the Samaritans, "You worship what you do not know ..."

1Thes 4:5 ... not in the passion of lust like the Gentiles who do not know God; ...

Ex 5:2 But Pharaoh said, “Who is the LORD, that I should obey his voice and let Israel go? I do not know the LORD, and moreover, I will not let Israel go.”

God reveals himself to people

Deut 5:24 And you said, ‘Behold, the LORD our God has shown us his glory and greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire. This day we have seen God speak with man, and man still live.’

1Sam 2:27 And there came a man of God to Eli and said to him, “Thus the LORD has said, ‘Did I indeed reveal myself to the house of your father when they were in Egypt subject to the house of Pharaoh?’”

The implication of the rhetorical question is that this was indeed the case.

Ezek 20:5 ... and say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD: On the day when I chose Israel, I swore^v to the offspring of the house of Jacob, making myself known to them in the land of Egypt; I swore to them, saying, I am the LORD your God.

^v Hebrew I lifted my hand; twice in this verse; also verses 6, 15, 23, 28, 42

Isa 65:1 I was ready to be sought by those who did not ask for me; I was ready to be found by those who did not seek me. I said, “Here am I, here am I,” to a nation that was not called by^w my name.

^w Or that did not call upon

Note that there is debate amongst scholars as to whether this is speaking of the nation of Israel – the first nation that God revealed himself to – or to the Gentiles. Paul applies it to the latter in Romans 10:20.

Num 12:6 And he said, “Hear my words: If there is a prophet among you, I the LORD make myself known to him in a vision; I speak with him in a dream.”

1Sam 3:7, 10, 21 Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, and the word of the LORD had not yet been revealed to him. ...
¹⁰And the LORD came and stood, calling as at other times, “Samuel! Samuel!” And Samuel said, “Speak, for your servant hears.” ...
²¹And the LORD appeared again at Shiloh, for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel at Shiloh by the word of the LORD.

These verses indicate that God revealed himself to Samuel through his word, including (or in particular) his spoken word.

Jer 24:7 I will give them a heart to know that I am the LORD, and they shall be my people and I will be their God, for they shall return to me with their whole heart.

This suggests that God enables people to know him (cf. AMP, NASB, NKJV) – or at least to know key things about him.

Note that the following three subsections further illustrate that God is revealed and made known in his works or deeds.

Ex 9:16-18 But for this purpose I have raised you up, to show you my power, so that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth. ¹⁷You are still exalting yourself against my people and will not let them go. ¹⁸Behold, about this time tomorrow I will cause very heavy hail to fall, such as never has been in Egypt from the day it was founded until now.

By sending Egypt's worst hailstorm (v. 18) – and other plagues (cf. 7:14-12:30) – God revealed his power, leading to him being made known throughout the earth (v. 16).

Deut 3:24 O Lord GOD, you have only begun to show your servant your greatness and your mighty hand. For what god is there in heaven or on earth who can do such works and mighty acts as yours?

1Ki 8:41-43 Likewise, when a foreigner, who is not of your people Israel, comes from a far country for your name's sake ⁴²(for they shall hear of your great name and your mighty hand, and of your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this house, ⁴³hear in heaven your dwelling place and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to you, in order that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your people Israel, and that they may know that this house that I have built is called by your name.

Isa 40:3-5 A voice cries:^x “In the wilderness prepare the way of the LORD; make straight in the desert a highway for our God. ⁴Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill be made low; the uneven ground shall become level, and the rough places a plain. ⁵And the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together, for the mouth of the LORD has spoken."

^x Or A voice of one crying

This initially refers to God's deliverance of the Jews from captivity in Babylon. One interpretation is that vv. 3-4 are speaking metaphorically of the preparation of God's way for the return of his people – by which God would be revealed (v. 5a). Another interpretation is that vv. 3-4 speak of the need to address the spiritual barrenness of God's people, before the coming of the King (v. 5). The passage is also understood to have a final fulfillment in God's redemption that would come through Jesus Christ.

Ezek 20:9 But I acted for the sake of my name, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations among whom they lived, in whose sight I made myself known to them in bringing them out of the land of Egypt.

God revealed himself to the Israelites by bringing them out of Egypt. Furthermore, this verse implies that by doing so in the sight of other nations, this act of deliverance also revealed God to some extent to these other nations.

Dan 2:45b, 47 [Daniel, to King Nebuchadnezzar:] A great God has made known to the king what shall be after this. The dream is certain, and its interpretation sure.  ... ⁴⁷*The king answered and said to Daniel, "Truly, your God is God of gods and Lord of kings, and a revealer of mysteries, for you have been able to reveal this mystery."*

God's revelation (through Daniel) of both the content and meaning of the king's mysterious dream (cf. vv. 1-11) showed him to be "God of gods and the Lord of kings" (v. 47) – as well as "a revealer of mysteries" (v. 47).

Rom 1:18-20 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth. ¹⁹For what can be known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. ²⁰For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse.

Job 36:24-25 Remember to extol his work, of which men have sung. ²⁵*All mankind has looked on it; man beholds it from afar.*

In v. 24, "work" probably refers primarily to creation. One can infer from these verses that in his work – which is most praiseworthy (v. 24b) – God is evidenced or revealed, with such traits as his power and goodness clearly being demonstrated.

Ps 8:1 O LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! You have set your glory above the heavens.

The exclamation "how majestic is your name in all the earth!" appears to be implying that God's majesty is displayed throughout the earth, the earth being so wonderfully created. Likewise the second part of the verse may well be speaking of God's glory being displayed by the creation of the heavens, with the stars, sun and moon (cf. v. 3; Ps 19:1-4a ; Ps 97:6 .

Ps 19:1-4a The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky above^y proclaims his handiwork. ²Day to day pours out speech, and night to night reveals knowledge. ³There is no speech, nor are there words, whose voice is not heard. ⁴Their voice^z goes out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world.

^y Hebrew the expanse; compare Genesis 1:6-8

^z Or Their measuring line

The marvelous heavens and skies are wonderful examples of God's work. Their magnificence is evidence – perpetually displayed to all – that there is a glorious Creator-God.

Acts 17:24-27 The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man,^a ²⁵nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything. ²⁶And he made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their dwelling place, ²⁷that they should seek God, in the hope that they might feel their way toward him and find him. Yet he is actually not far from each one of us, ...

^a Greek made by hands

Verse 27 indicates that God's creation of all things (v. 24) including all people (vv. 25-26a) – along with his providence over the nations (v. 26b) – should move people to seek him, for these things reveal God's existence and his concern with people.

... God's ongoing control over nature likewise testifies to him

Acts 14:17 Yet he did not leave himself without witness, for he did good by giving you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, satisfying your hearts with food and gladness.

God's provision through his regulation of nature testifies to people of his existence and reveals his kindness.

Job 37:6-7 For to the snow he says, 'Fall on the earth,' likewise to the downpour, his mighty downpour. ⁷He seals up the hand of every man, that all men whom he made may know it.

The powerful effects of God's work in nature can inhibit people's activities – "seals up the hand of every man" – making them stop and recognize his works and power (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT). As such God's works in nature are evidence of God's existence and reveal his power.

Isa 40:26 Lift up your eyes on high and see: who created these? He who brings out their host by number, calling them all by name, by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power not one is missing.

God not only created the stars, he controls or oversees the continuation of their display night by night. The first part of the verse suggests that one should stop and consider these things – and so realize that God is responsible for the universe and its continuance.

Ps 19:4b-6 In them [the heavens] he has set a tent for the sun, ⁵which comes out like a bridegroom leaving his chamber, and, like a strong man, runs its course with joy. ⁶Its rising is from the end of the heavens, and its circuit to the end of them, and there is nothing hidden from its heat.

Following on from the preceding verses regarding the heavens in general (cf. 1-4a ) , this suggests that the sun and its daily appearance are likewise evidence of God, revealing God and his glory to all things, with "nothing hidden from its heat" (v. 6).

Ps 97:3-6 Fire goes before him and burns up his adversaries all around. ⁴His lightnings light up the world; the earth sees and trembles. ⁵The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of all the earth. ⁶The heavens proclaim his righteousness, and all the peoples see his glory.

This may be speaking of dramatic physical occurrences in nature as revealing God and his reign (cf. vv. 1-2) before "all the peoples" (v. 6) – hence its inclusion here. However some commentators understand it to be referring to God coming and imposing his absolute reign over the earth.

Isa 41:17-20 When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue is parched with thirst, I the LORD will answer them; I the God of Israel will not forsake them. ¹⁸I will open rivers on the bare heights, and fountains in the midst of the valleys. I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water. ¹⁹I will put in the wilderness the cedar, the acacia, the myrtle, and the olive. I will set in the desert the cypress, the plane and the pine together, ²⁰that they may see and know, may consider and understand together, that the hand of the LORD has done this, the Holy One of Israel has created it.

Note that this is often understood to initially at least refer to God's provision for the Israelites returning from exile in Babylon (cf. 43:19-20). Some commentators, however, think it refers to conditions in the future renewed Israel.

Ezek 35:10-11 Because you said, 'These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will take possession of them'—although the LORD was there— ¹¹therefore, as I live, declares the Lord GOD, I will deal with you according to the anger and envy that you showed because of your hatred against them. And I will make myself known among them, when I judge you.

By his judgment of Edom, God would make himself known – i.e. make known that he exists and that he is God.

Ezek 38:22-23 With pestilence and bloodshed I will enter into judgment with him, and I will rain upon him and his hordes and the many peoples who are with him torrential rains and hailstones, fire and sulfur. ²³So I will show my greatness and my holiness and make myself known in the eyes of many nations. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

Ezek 39:4-7, 21-22 You shall fall on the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes and the peoples who are with you. I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured. ⁵You shall fall in the open field, for I have spoken, declares the Lord GOD. ⁶I will send fire on Magog and on those who dwell securely in the coastlands, and they shall know that I am the LORD. ⁷And my holy name I will make known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not let my holy name be profaned anymore. And the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel. ... ²¹And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them. ²²The house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD their God, from that day forward.

2Ki 19:19, 35 So now, O LORD our God, save us, please, from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you, O LORD, are God alone." ... ³⁵And that night the angel of the LORD went out and struck down 185,000 in the camp of the Assyrians. And when people arose early in the morning, behold, these were all dead bodies.

God's saving of his people makes him known to the nations. In conjunction with this, it makes known: his salvation and righteousness (cf. Ps 98:1-3 ↓); and his mighty power (cf. Ps 106:8 ↓).

Ps 98:1-3 Oh sing to the LORD a new song, for he has done marvelous things! His right hand and his holy arm have worked salvation for him. ²The LORD has made known his salvation; he has revealed his righteousness in the sight of the nations. ³He has remembered his steadfast love and faithfulness to the house of Israel. All the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God.

In v. 1 God's "right hand" and "arm" signify his great power (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

Ps 106:8 Yet he saved them for his name's sake, that he might make known his mighty power.

Isa 60:16 You shall suck the milk of nations; you shall nurse at the breast of kings; and you shall know that I, the LORD, am your Savior and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

God's salvation makes known unequivocally to his people that he is their Savior and Redeemer – "the Mighty One of Jacob".

John 1:18 No one has ever seen God; the only God,^c who is at the Father's side,^d he has made him known.

^c Or the only One, who is God; some manuscripts the only Son

^d Greek in the bosom of the Father

The phrase "the only God" refers to Jesus Christ.

John 17:6, 26 [Jesus:] "I have manifested your name to the people whom you gave me out of the world. Yours they were, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word. ... ²⁶I made known to them your name, and I will continue to make it known, that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them."

The references to "your name" are indicative of God himself. Jesus made God known to a deeper, more comprehensive extent than previous revelation had done, revealing more about such things as attributes of God and matters of his will.

Matt 11:27 All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father, and no one knows the Father except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.

John 8:19 They said to him therefore, "Where is your Father?" Jesus answered, "You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, you would know my Father also."

In coming to know Jesus Christ, one comes to know God (cf. John 14:6-7 ↓).

John 12:45 And whoever sees me sees him who sent me.

John 14:6-7 Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. ⁷*If you had known me, you would have known my Father also.*^e From now on you do know him and have seen him."

^e Or If you know me, you will know my Father also, or If you have known me, you will know my Father also

Note that the final statement may be speaking of the disciples knowing God more fully through Jesus following Jesus' forthcoming death and resurrection.

1Jn 5:20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

John 15:15 No longer do I call you servants,^f for the servant^g does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all that I have heard from my Father I have made known to you.

^f Greek bondservants

^g Greek bondservant; also verse 20

In conjunction with making God known, Jesus made known everything that he had heard from the Father.

Therefore your servant has found courage to pray before you.*

The "great things" (v. 19) that God made known to David concerned God's will and "all this greatness" (v. 19) that God had done in determining to build a "house" or dynasty for David (v. 25; cf. v. 19).

Ps 25:14 The friendship^h of the LORD is for those who fear him, and he makes known to them his covenant.

Note that the alternative rendering in the text note would make the first half of this verse more pertinent to this subsection.

Ps 103:7 He made known his ways to Moses, his acts to the people of Israel.

Amos 3:7 For the Lord GOD does nothing without revealing his secret to his servants the prophets.

God's "secret" would primarily be his plan/s.

Amos 4:13 For behold, he who forms the mountains and creates the wind, and declares to man what is his thought, who makes the morning darkness, and treads on the heights of the earth— the LORD, the God of hosts, is his name!

God's thoughts that he reveals to people would be inclusive of his plans and will.

Acts 22:14 And he said, 'The God of our fathers appointed you to know his will, to see the Righteous One and to hear a voice from his mouth; ...

Acts 27:22-24 Yet now I urge you to take heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. ²³*For this very night there stood before me an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I worship, ²⁴and he said, 'Do not be afraid, Paul; you must stand before Caesar. The LORD is God

Ps 100:3a Know that the LORD, he is God!

Josh 22:34 The people of Reuben and the people of Gad called the altar Witness, "For," they said, "it is a witness between us that the LORD is God."

The altar was set up as a witness and a reminder between the tribes on both sides of the Jordan River that the LORD is God.

1Ki 18:21, 36-39 And Elijah came near to all the people and said, "How long will you go limping between two different opinions? If the LORD is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him." And the people did not answer him a word.  ... ³⁶And at the time of the offering of the oblation, Elijah the prophet came near and said, "O LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known this day that you are God in Israel, and that I am your servant, and that I have done all these things at your word. ³⁷Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that you, O LORD, are God, and that you have turned their hearts back." ³⁸Then the fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt offering and the wood and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. ³⁹And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces and said, "The LORD, he is God; the LORD, he is God."

2Sam 7:28 And now, O Lord GOD, you are God, and your words are true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant.

When the Hebrew word for "Lord" (Adonai) immediately precedes the word for "the LORD" (YHWH), in English translations it is usually rendered as "Lord GOD" – as is the case in this verse – rather than as "Lord the LORD" or "Lord LORD".

Ps 46:10 "Be still, and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth!"

✦ The LORD is a great God:

Ps 95:3 For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all gods.

Gen 24:3 ... that I may make you swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell, ...

Deut 4:39 ... know therefore today, and lay it to your heart, that the LORD is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other.

Josh 2:11 And as soon as we heard it, our hearts melted, and there was no spirit left in any man because of you, for the LORD your God, he is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath.

Ezra 5:11 And this was their reply to us: 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the house that was built many years ago, which a great king of Israel built and finished.

Isa 54:5 For your Maker is your husband, the LORD of hosts is his name; and the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer, the God of the whole earth he is called.

Note that the title “the LORD of hosts” is probably speaking of God’s power or authority over all things or all forces in the universe – physical and spiritual. Other possibilities are that “hosts” refers in particular to Israel’s army or to angels.

Matt 11:25 At that time Jesus declared, “I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and revealed them to little children; ...

The fact that the LORD is the God of heaven and earth is reflected in him being acknowledged as the “Lord of heaven and earth” (cf. Luke 10:21; Acts 17:24).

✦ God makes peace in heaven:

Job 25:2 Dominion and fear are with God;^a he makes peace in his high heaven.

^a Hebrew him

This points to God’s authority in heaven, where he establishes peace.

The LORD is God of all people

2Ki 19:15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said: “O LORD, the God of Israel, enthroned above the cherubim, you are the God, you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; you have made heaven and earth.

Num 27:16 Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all flesh, appoint a man over the congregation ...

Jer 32:27 Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh. Is anything too hard for me?

Luke 20:38 Now he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all live to him.

The last clause appears to mean that all people remain “in definite relationship to Him” (AMP); no one ceases to exist and drops off God’s “radar”. In saying that to God all people including the physically dead are in this sense alive to God, Jesus has at least partially in view the resurrection of the dead (cf. vv. 27-37). He may also have in view people’s spirits existing after death (cf. People’s spirits and souls exist after death, p. 233).

Acts 3:13 The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified his servant^b Jesus, whom you delivered over and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had decided to release him.

^b Or child; also verse 26

Rom 3:29 Or is God the God of Jews only? Is he not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also, ...

Rev 22:6 And he said to me, “These words are trustworthy and true. And the Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets, has sent his angel to show his servants what must soon take place.”

This speaks of God as the one who “controls the spirits of his prophets” (CEV).

Ps 42:8 By day the LORD commands his steadfast love, and at night his song is with me, a prayer to the God of my life.

The LORD is the true and living God . . .

1Jn 5:20 And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

The last statement is most likely referring to God, although possibly Jesus Christ is in view. Particularly in view of the last statement, the earlier references to God being “true” may well more specifically be speaking of him as “the true God” (CEV, GNT, NLT). (Also note the comment on John 7:28 below.)

John 7:28 So Jesus proclaimed, as he taught in the temple, “You know me, and you know where I come from? But I have not come of my own accord. He who sent me is true, and him you do not know.

In saying here that God is “true” Jesus could have had in view one or more of the following: God is real, the true God (as in this subsection’s theme); God is truthful (cf. CEV, GNT); and/or God is faithful. The same can be said of "true" in Revelation 6:10, where God is called "Sovereign Lord, holy and true".

Dan 6:26 I make a decree, that in all my royal dominion people are to tremble and fear before the God of Daniel, for he is the living God, enduring forever; his kingdom shall never be destroyed, and his dominion shall be to the end.

Acts 14:15 Men, why are you doing these things? We also are men, of like nature with you, and we bring you good news, that you should turn from these vain things to a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them.

Deut 4:39 ... know therefore today, and lay it to your heart, that the LORD is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other.

2Sam 22:32 For who is God, but the LORD? And who is a rock, except our God?

Isa 44:6, 8b Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts: "I am the first and I am the last; besides me there is no god.  ...⁸ ... Is there a God besides me? There is no Rock; I know not any."

References to God as a "Rock" (v. 8) depict him as a secure mountain or stronghold of infallible strength, to whom his people can go for protection. With this use of "Rock", Isaiah is in effect saying that there is no other "powerful god" (GNT).

Isa 45:21-22 Declare and present your case; let them take counsel together! Who told this long ago? Who declared it of old? Was it not I, the LORD? And there is no other god besides me, a righteous God and a Savior; there is none besides me. ²²*Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other.*

Ps 86:10 For you are great and do wondrous things; you alone are God.

2Ki 19:15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said: "O LORD, the God of Israel, enthroned above the cherubim, you are the God, you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; you have made heaven and earth."

1Chr 16:26 For all the gods of the peoples are idols, but the LORD made the heavens.

All other "gods" are only idols – not real gods at all. In contrast the LORD is certainly not an idol, as shown by the fact that he made the heavens – evidencing that he is the only God.

Isa 43:9-13 All the nations gather together, and the peoples assemble. Who among them can declare this, and show us the former things? Let them bring their witnesses to prove them right, and let them hear and say, It is true. ¹⁰*You are my witnesses," declares the LORD, "and my servant whom I have chosen, that you may know and believe me and understand that I am he. Before me no god was formed, nor shall there be any after me.* ¹¹*I, I am the LORD, and besides me there is no savior.* ¹²*I declared and saved and proclaimed, when there was no strange god among you; and you are my witnesses," declares the LORD, "and I am God.* ¹³*Also henceforth I am he;*

there is none who can deliver from my hand; I work, and who can turn it back?"

Amongst other things, this speaks of God's declaration of future events and their fulfillment as evidencing that he is the only God. In v. 9, "this" probably refers to the rise of Cyrus the Great and/or the deliverance of the Jews through him (cf. AMP); and "the former things" speaks of previous prophecies that had been or were being fulfilled (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV). In v. 12, "I declared and saved and proclaimed" likely has in view God stating that he would save Israel and then doing so (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

Isa 45:5-7, 18 I am the LORD, and there is no other, besides me there is no God; I equip you, though you do not know me, that people may know, from the rising of the sun and from the west, that there is none besides me; I am the LORD, and there is no other. I form light and create darkness, I make well-being and create calamity, I am the LORD, who does all these things.  ...
¹⁸For thus says the LORD, who created the heavens (he is God!), who formed the earth and made it (he established it; he did not create it empty, he formed it to be inhabited!): "I am the LORD, and there is no other."

Isa 46:9-10 ... remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like me, ¹⁰declaring the end from the beginning and from ancient times things not yet done, saying, 'My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose,'

The first clause refers to things that God had done long before, possibly also alluding to his ability to foretell future events, which he has done throughout history (v. 10).

Isa 64:4 From of old no one has heard or perceived by the ear, no eye has seen a God besides you, who acts for those who wait for him.

Ps 46:8-10 Come, behold the works of the LORD, how he has brought desolations on the earth. He makes wars cease to the end of the earth; he breaks the bow and shatters the spear; he burns the chariots with fire. Be still, and know that I am God. I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth!"

2Ki 5:14-15 So he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean. ¹⁵Then he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and he came and stood before him. And he said, "Behold, I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel; so accept now a present from your servant."

When God's speaks of his deeds making known that he is "the LORD", he is in effect speaking of them making known that he is "the LORD, the God of Israel" (Isa 45:3 ↓; cf. Ezek 28:26 ↓) – the only true God.

1Ki 20:13, 21, 28-29 And behold, a prophet came near to Ahab king of Israel and said, "Thus says the LORD, Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, I will give it into your hand this day, and you shall know that I am the LORD."  ...
²¹And the king of Israel went out and struck the horses and chariots, and struck the Syrians with a great blow.  ...
²⁸And a man of God came near and said to the king of Israel, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because the Syrians have said, "The LORD is a god of the hills but he is not a god of the valleys," therefore I will give all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.'" ²⁹And they encamped opposite one another seven days. Then on the seventh day the battle was joined. And the people of Israel struck down of the Syrians 100,000 foot soldiers in one day.

Neh 9:6 ^d "You are the LORD, you alone. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them; and you preserve all of them; and the host of heaven worships you."

^d Septuagint adds And Ezra said

Isa 45:3 I will give you the treasures of darkness and the hoards in secret places, that you may know that it is I, the LORD, the God of Israel, who call you by your name.

The reference is to Cyrus, the Persian king.

Isa 49:23 Kings shall be your foster fathers, and their queens your nursing mothers. With their faces to the ground they shall bow down to you, and lick the dust of your feet. Then you will know that I am the LORD; those who wait for me shall not be put to shame.

Ezek 12:15, 20 And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I disperse them among the nations and scatter them among the countries.  ... ²⁰And the inhabited cities shall be laid waste, and the land shall become a desolation; and you shall know that I am the LORD.

The fulfillment of God's threatened judgment for the people's persistent unfaithfulness to him would make known that is the LORD.

Ezek 16:62 I will establish my covenant with you, and you shall know that I am the LORD, ...

This speaks of an “everlasting covenant” (v. 60). Some think it refers to the New Covenant, but other commentators claim that it is speaking of renewing the covenant with Abraham. In either case it would or will demonstrate God’s power and faithfulness, affirming that he is the LORD.

Ezek 25:17 I will execute great vengeance on them with wrathful rebukes. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I lay my vengeance upon them.

Ezek 20:38, 42, 44 I will purge out the rebels from among you, and those who transgress against me. I will bring them out of the land where they sojourn, but they shall not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ...  ... ⁴²*And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I bring you into the land of Israel, the country that I swore to give to your fathers.*  ... ⁴⁴*And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I deal with you for my name’s sake, not according to your evil ways, nor according to your corrupt deeds, O house of Israel, declares the Lord GOD.*

Ezek 28:26 And they shall dwell securely in it, and they shall build houses and plant vineyards. They shall dwell securely, when I execute judgments upon all their neighbors who have treated them with contempt. Then they will know that I am the LORD their God.

Ezek 34:27 And the trees of the field shall yield their fruit, and the earth shall yield its increase, and they shall be secure in their land. And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I break the bars of their yoke, and deliver them from the hand of those who enslaved them.

Ezek 36:11 And I will multiply on you man and beast, and they shall multiply and be fruitful. And I will cause you to be inhabited as in your former times, and will do more good to you than ever before. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

Ezek 37:13 And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I open your graves, and raise you from your graves, O my people.

Here God speaks figuratively of restoring the shattered and dispersed nation of Israel.

✦ God’s deeds show that he is “God of gods and Lord of kings”:

Dan 2:27-28, 47 Daniel answered the king and said, “No wise men, enchanters, magicians, or astrologers can show to the king the mystery that the king has asked, ²⁸but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and he has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar what will be in the latter days. Your dream and the visions of your head as you lay in bed are these:  ... ⁴⁷*The king answered and said to Daniel, “Truly, your God is God of gods and Lord of kings, and a revealer of mysteries, for you have been able to reveal this mystery.”*

God reigns . . .

Ps 93:1 The LORD reigns; he is robed in majesty; the LORD is robed; he has put on strength as his belt. Yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved.

Speaking of God as being “robed in majesty” immediately following the assertion that he reigns, appears to further point to his sovereignty.

Ps 96:10 Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns! Yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved; he will judge the peoples with equity."

Ps 99:1 The LORD reigns; let the peoples tremble! He sits enthroned upon the cherubim; let the earth quake!

As well as alluding to God's presence between the cherubim above the atonement cover of the ark of the covenant, this may be referring to such angelic beings being adjacent to his throne in heaven. From there God reigns, enthroned with mighty angelic beings at his side, to obey his command.

Isa 52:7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good news, who publishes peace, who brings good news of happiness, who publishes salvation, who says to Zion, "Your God reigns."

The "good news", "peace" and "salvation" refer to the Jews return from exile – illustrating and leading to the assertion: "Your God reigns."

Acts 4:24 And when they heard it, they lifted their voices together to God and said, "Sovereign Lord, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and everything in them, ...

The term "Sovereign Lord" acknowledges God as supreme ruler.

Isa 66:1 Thus says the LORD: "Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool; what is the house that you would build for me, and what is the place of my rest?"

Note that this portrays heaven itself as being God's throne (cf. Matt 5:34) rather than simply being where his throne is.

Matt 5:34-35 But I say to you, Do not take an oath at all, either by *heaven, for it is the throne of God,*³⁵ or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King.

Dan 8:25b And he shall even rise up against the Prince of princes, and he shall be broken—but by no human hand. 📖

The title “the Prince of princes” – indicative of authority over all other authorities – is often understood to be a reference to God (cf. CEV), although some think it refers to Jesus Christ.

Ps 95:3 For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all gods. 📖

God is “King over all gods” (NCV™; cf. CEV, GNT) – which is indicative of the fact that he is King over all other authorities.

✦ The LORD is God of all other powers:

Deut 10:17 For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who is not partial and takes no bribe. 📖

“God of gods” and “Lord of lords” are superlatives, “gods” not actually being indicative of the existence of such divine beings. The terms are used to describe God as sovereign over all other powers. (cf. ZBC)

This is part of Daniel's explanation of the meaning of Nebuchadnezzar's dream. Most understand the kingdom spoken of to be what the NT refers to as "the kingdom of God", the spiritual and ultimately definitive kingdom inaugurated by the first coming of Jesus Christ (cf. Jesus preached the good news of the kingdom of God, p. 566). Others think that it is speaking of the setting up of a millennial kingdom on Christ's return.

The assertion, "I am the Alpha and the Omega," implies that God is sovereign throughout all ages from the beginning to the end (cf. NKJV, NLT). This is reinforced by the second part of the verse, which indicates that God exists eternally ("who is...was...is to come") as the all powerful God.

^m Some manuscripts the ages

The text note indicates that the final clause is in some manuscripts as: "O King of the ages", which would make the verse pertinent to this subsection.

↳ God has reigned forever:

Ps 93:2 Your throne is established from of old; you are from everlasting.

Similarly Ps 55:19 describes God as: "... he who is enthroned from of old".

God will impose his absolute rule on all

Isa 24:21-23 On that day the LORD will punish the host of heaven, in heaven, and the kings of the earth, on the earth. ²²They will be gathered together as prisoners in a pit; they will be shut up in a prison, and after many days they will be punished. ²³Then the moon will be confounded and the sun ashamed, for the LORD of hosts reigns on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and his glory will be before his elders.

Note that v. 23 indicates that such will be the LORD's reign and the manifestation of his glory, that the sun and moon will be "confounded and ... ashamed" at their inferior light.

Dan 7:27 And the kingdom and the dominion and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High; their kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey them.ⁿ

ⁿ Or his kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him

This empowerment and rule of God's people will be one aspect of his imposition of his absolute rule on all.

Obad 1:21 Saviors shall go up to Mount Zion to rule Mount Esau, and the kingdom shall be the LORD's.

This refers to the implementation of God's absolute rule – from Jerusalem, figuratively or otherwise.

Zec 14:9, 16 And the LORD will be king over all the earth. On that day the LORD will be one and his name one. ... ¹⁶Then everyone who survives of all the nations that have come against Jerusalem shall go up year after year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the Feast of Booths.

Note that the context suggests that the reference here may be to the Messiah's rule or God's rule through him.

1Cor 15:24 Then comes the end, when he delivers the kingdom to God the Father after destroying every rule and every authority and power.

After Jesus Christ has destroyed all demonic and worldly powers, he will hand the kingdom over to God as the ultimate ruler – with all opposition removed.

Rev 11:15-17 Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ, and he shall reign forever and ever." ¹⁶And the twenty-four elders who sit on their thrones before God fell on their faces and worshiped God, ¹⁷saying, "We give thanks to you, Lord God Almighty, who is and who was, for you have taken your great power and begun to reign."

The proclamation in v. 15 and the final phrase "have begun to reign" (v. 17) may mean that at this point God has begun to impose his rule on all – the actualization of the kingdom (v. 15) implemented with the imposition of God's great power (v. 17). Alternatively the past tense may be used here to indicate the certainty of God doing so in the future. Some view these verses, particularly v. 15, as anticipating Christ's millennial reign. Note that 10:7 also likely refers to the event in question, describing it as "the mystery of God" – "But in the days when the seventh angel is about to sound his trumpet, the mystery of God will be accomplished, just as he announced to his servants the prophets."

Rev 19:6 Then I heard what seemed to be the voice of a great multitude, like the roar of many waters and like the sound of mighty peals of thunder, crying out, "Hallelujah! For the Lord our God the Almighty reigns."

Some commentators point out that the statement can be interpreted as saying that God "has begun to reign," or, "now rules as king" (CEV; cf. AMP). As such it would parallel 11:17 above, and signify God imposing his absolute rule.

✦ Everyone will submit to and acknowledge God's sovereignty:

Isa 45:23-24 By myself I have sworn; from my mouth has gone out in righteousness a word that shall not return: "To me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear allegiance." ²⁴*"Only in the LORD, it shall be said of me, are righteousness and strength; to him shall come and be ashamed all who were incensed against him."*

◦ Septuagint every tongue shall confess to God

Note that v. 23 is quoted in Romans 14:11 – "As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God." It is also alluded to in reference to Jesus Christ in Philippians 2:10.

Note: All things belong to God

See also:

- All things belong to God [implications of God being creator], p. 218

All things belong to God – as he made all things – and it is because of this that God has the right to his sovereignty over all things. This point is suggested by a number of the following verses. The subsection cross-referenced above makes it very clear.

1Chr 29:11 Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and you are exalted as head above all.

This verse clearly indicates that God's sovereignty over all things arises from the fact that everything belongs to him.

1Cor 10:26 For "the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof."

Gen 14:22 But Abram said to the king of Sodom, "I have lifted my hand^p to the LORD, God Most High, Possessor of heaven and earth, ...

^p Or I have taken a solemn oath

Ex 9:29 Moses said to him, "As soon as I have gone out of the city, I will stretch out my hands to the LORD. The thunder will cease, and there will be no more hail, so that you may know that the earth is the LORD's."

Ex 19:5 Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; ...

Deut 10:14 Behold, to the LORD your God belong heaven and the heaven of heavens, the earth with all that is in it.

Job 41:11 Who has first given to me, that I should repay him? Whatever is under the whole heaven is mine.

Ps 50:9-12 I will not accept a bull from your house or goats from your folds. ¹⁰For every beast of the forest is mine, the cattle on a thousand hills. ¹¹I know all the birds of the hills, and all that moves in the field is mine. ¹²If I were hungry, I would not tell you, for the world and its fullness are mine.

"I know all the birds" (v. 11a) appears to suggest that God owns them (cf. GNT, Nlrv, NLT), in keeping with the context.

Ps 95:4-5 In his hand are the depths of the earth; the heights of the mountains are his also. ⁵The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

"In his hand are the depths of the earth" (v. 4) is either implying that he owns them (cf. NCV, NLT) – as per the sense of the following clauses – or that he has control over them (cf. GNT).

1Sam 2:8b For the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and on them he has set the world.

Ezek 18:4 Behold, all souls are mine; the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son is mine: the soul who sins shall die.

Ps 47:9 The princes of the peoples gather as the people of the God of Abraham. For the shields of the earth belong to God; he is highly exalted!

The second sentence may be indicating that all the forces of the world belong to God, including their leaders/kings (cf. NCV, NIV, NLT).

Ps 82:8 Arise, O God, judge the earth; for you shall inherit all the nations!

God "possesses all the nations" (NASB). The verse may be suggesting that they will all submit to God as such.

Hag 2:8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, declares the LORD of hosts.

The context is the building of the new temple in Jerusalem. God appears to be implying that he would provide the silver and gold necessary as all silver and gold – like all things – belongs to him.

[†] Or in it (that is, the cross)

Rom 16:20 The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

In view of the preceding verses (vv. 17-19), Paul may be referring to God soon crushing the work of Satan carried out by false teachers. Alternatively he may have in view God's final comprehensive crushing of Satan himself (cf. Rev 20:7-10 ↓), the fulfillment of the promise in Genesis 3:15 which he appears to be alluding to here.

Pray for persecuted Christians

Rev 20:7-10 And when the thousand years are ended, Satan will be released from his prison ⁸and will come out to deceive the nations that are at the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them for battle; their number is like the sand of the sea. ⁹And they marched up over the broad plain of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city, but fire came down from heaven^s and consumed them, ¹⁰and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

^s Some manuscripts from God, out of heaven, or out of heaven from God

"Gog and Magog" (v. 7) are symbolic of the enemies of God's people in the end times. The names allude to identities in Ezekiel 38-39, from which extracts are included below; see comment there.

Ezek 39:1-6, 17-21 And you, son of man, prophesy against Gog and say, Thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I am against you, O Gog, chief prince of Meshech^t and Tubal. ²And I will turn you about and drive you forward, and bring you up from the uttermost parts of the north, and lead you against the mountains of Israel. ³Then I will strike your bow from your left hand, and will make your arrows drop out of your right hand. ⁴You shall fall on the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes and the peoples who are with you. I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured. ⁵You shall fall in the open field, for I have spoken, declares the Lord GOD. ⁶I will send fire on Magog and on those who dwell securely in the coastlands, and they shall know that I am the LORD. ... ¹⁷"As for you, son of man, thus says the Lord GOD: Speak to the birds of every sort and to all beasts of the field, 'Assemble and come, gather from all around to the sacrificial feast that I am preparing for you, a great sacrificial feast on the mountains of Israel, and you shall eat flesh and drink blood. ¹⁸You shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth—of rams, of lambs, and of he-goats, of bulls, all of them fat beasts of Bashan. ¹⁹And you shall eat fat till you are filled, and drink blood till you are drunk, at the sacrificial feast that I am preparing for you. ²⁰And you shall be filled at my table with horses and charioteers, with mighty men and all kinds of warriors,' declares the Lord GOD. ²¹"And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.

^t Or Gog, prince of Rosh, Meshech

Commentators are generally hesitant to identify this Gog with the Gog of Revelation 20:8 and this event with the final battle, but the consensus appears to be that the passage does refer to an event of the end times. It obviously illustrates God's overwhelming power over the forces of evil.

Dan 9:27 And he shall make a strong covenant with many for one week,^u and for half of the week he shall put an end to sacrifice and offering. And on the wing of abominations shall come one who makes desolate, until the decreed end is poured out on the desolator.

^u Or seven; twice in this verse

Many commentators consider that the antichrist is most likely in view here. God's complete power over him is demonstrated by the fact that God has determined what and when his ending will be – and will bring it to fruition.

Job 9:13 God will not turn back his anger; beneath him bowed the helpers of Rahab.

Rahab was a mythical sea monster, associated with chaos and evil (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT text notes). "Rahab" is also at times used to denote Egypt.)

God has power over death, to raise the dead

Deut 32:39 See now that I, even I, am he, and there is no god beside me; I kill and I make alive; I wound and I heal; and there is none that can deliver out of my hand.

"I make alive" may be speaking of God raising the dead (cf. CEV). Alternatively it may refer to him creating and so bringing to life (cf. ZBC). The same likely applies to "brings to life" in 1 Samuel 2:6 below.

1Sam 2:6 The LORD kills and brings to life; he brings down to Sheol and raises up.

1Ki 17:21-22 Then he stretched himself upon the child three times and cried to the LORD, "O LORD my God, let this child's life^v come into him again." ²²And the LORD listened to the voice of Elijah. And the life of the child came into him again, and he revived.

^v Or soul; also verse 22

2Ki 4:32-35 When Elisha came into the house, he saw the child lying dead on his bed. ³³So he went in and shut the door behind the two of them and prayed to the LORD. ³⁴Then he went up and lay on the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. And as he stretched himself upon him, the flesh of the child became warm. ³⁵Then he got up again and walked once back and forth in the house, and went up and stretched himself upon him. The child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes.

2Ki 5:7 And when the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his clothes and said, “Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends word to me to cure a man of his leprosy? Only consider, and see how he is seeking a quarrel with me.”

Using rhetorical questions, the king accentuates what is obvious – he is not God; he cannot kill and bring back to life as God can.

Hos 13:14a [God:] Shall I ransom them from the power of Sheol? Shall I redeem them from Death? O Death, where are your plagues? O Sheol, where is your sting?

The first two rhetorical questions point to the fact that God can indeed do such things. As such, God can take away the power of death, as indicated by the second two rhetorical questions.

John 5:21 For as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so also the Son gives life to whom he will.

Acts 26:8 Why is it thought incredible by any of you that God raises the dead?

Rom 4:17 ... as it is written, “I have made you the father of many nations”—in the presence of the God in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into existence the things that do not exist.

2Cor 1:9 Indeed, we felt that we had received the sentence of death. But that was to make us rely not on ourselves but on God who raises the dead.

God has power over all aspects of nature, including: the earth; the skies; . . .

- Ps 135:6-7 ; Ps 114:3-8
- b) God Has Control over Nature + ref., p. 276

The language in some of the following verses is figurative, but nevertheless illustrative of God's power over nature.

Rom 8:20-21 For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of him who subjected it, in hope ²¹*that the creation itself will be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God.*

God has subjected creation “to frailty (to futility, condemned to frustration)” (AMP) in accordance with his will (v. 20), by which it also will be renewed at the end of the age (v. 21). The glorious “freedom” (v. 21) would appear to encompass freedom from decay and anything harmful. These verses categorically illustrate God's power over nature.

Job 26:11 The pillars of heaven tremble and are astounded at his rebuke.

Mountains are possibly what is referred to here as the “pillars of heaven” – poetically portrayed as holding up the skies/heavens.

Amos 9:5 The Lord GOD of hosts, he who touches the earth and it melts, and all who dwell in it mourn, and all of it rises like the Nile, and sinks again, like the Nile of Egypt; ...

This and the following two references (Mic 1:4; Nah 1:5) use largely metaphorical language which possibly alludes to earthquakes. The images portray God's power as he comes in judgment.

Mic 1:4 And the mountains will melt under him, and the valleys will split open, like wax before the fire, like waters poured down a steep place.

Nah 1:5 The mountains quake before him; the hills melt; the earth heaves before him, the world and all who dwell in it.

Hab 3:6 He stood and measured the earth; he looked and shook the nations; then the eternal mountains were scattered; the everlasting hills sank low. His were the everlasting ways.

This is taken from a passage that some commentators think to be a poetically heightened description of the manifestation of God at Sinai. Alternatively, the comment on Amos 9:5 above may also apply here.

Job 9:5-7 ... he who removes mountains, and they know it not, when he overturns them in his anger, ⁶who shakes the earth out of its place, and its pillars tremble; ⁷who commands the sun, and it does not rise; who seals up the stars; ...

Verse 6 appears to be another reference to earthquakes. Verse 7 is probably not speaking of God controlling the cycle of day and night, but rather of his power to seal off the light of the sun and stars (cf. GNT, NLT).

Ps 29:5-9 The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars; the LORD breaks the cedars of Lebanon. ⁶He makes Lebanon to skip like a calf, and Sirion like a young wild ox. ⁷The voice of the LORD flashes forth flames of fire. ⁸The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness; the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh. ⁹The voice of the LORD makes the deer give birth^w and strips the forests bare, and in his temple all cry, "Glory!"

^w Revocalization yields makes the oaks to shake

This speaks of God's power in a thunderstorm – with thunder (his "voice") and lightning – and its effect on various parts of nature. Note the text note on v. 9.

Ezek 32:7-8 When I blot you out, I will cover the heavens and make their stars dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give its light. ⁸*All the bright lights of heaven will I make dark over you, and put darkness on your land, declares the Lord GOD.*

Hab 3:11 The sun and moon stood still in their place at the light of your arrows as they sped, at the flash of your glittering spear.

This may allude to the Israelite's victory at Gibeon – where due to God's intervention "... the sun stood still, and the moon stopped, until the nation took vengeance on their enemies ..." – Joshua 10:13.

Ps 78:26 He caused the east wind to blow in the heavens, and by his power he led out the south wind; ...

... and the waters

Ps 135:6-7 Whatever the LORD pleases, he does, in heaven and on earth, in the seas and all deeps. ⁷*He it is who makes the clouds rise at the end of the earth, who makes lightnings for the rain and brings forth the wind from his storehouses.*

Ex 15:8 At the blast of your nostrils the waters piled up; the floods stood up in a heap; the deeps congealed in the heart of the sea.

This speaks of God dividing the Red Sea (cf. Ex 14; Ps 18:15 ↓; Ps 74:13 ↓; Ps 77:16, 19 ↓).

Job 26:8, 12 He binds up the waters in his thick clouds, and the cloud is not split open under them.  ... ¹²*By his power he stilled the sea; by his understanding he shattered Rahab.*

Ps 18:15 Then the channels of the sea were seen, and the foundations of the world were laid bare at your rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of your nostrils.

This may be alluding to the parting of the Red Sea. Alternatively David may be using figurative language with images from nature to depict God's intervention to deliver him.

Ps 29:3, 10 The voice of the LORD is over the waters; the God of glory thunders, the LORD, over many waters.  ... ¹⁰*The LORD sits enthroned over the flood; the LORD sits enthroned as king forever.*

Verse 3 is quite possibly referring to God's power over the seas. In v. 10 "the flood" may denote the great flood of Noah's time.

Ps 74:13, 15 You divided the sea by your might; you broke the heads of the sea monsters^x on the waters.  ... ¹⁵*You split open springs and brooks; you dried up ever-flowing streams.*

^x Or the great sea creatures

The use of "the sea monsters" apparently is drawing upon Canaanite mythology, possibly in reference to Egypt in its defeat at the Red Sea. But note also the alternative rendering in the text note.

Ps 77:16, 19 When the waters saw you, O God, when the waters saw you, they were afraid; indeed, the deep trembled.  ... ¹⁹*Your way was through the sea, your path through the great waters; yet your footprints were unseen.^y*

^y Hebrew unknown

This appears to portray God's forging a path through the Red Sea.

Ps 89:9 You rule the raging of the sea; when its waves rise, you still them.

Ps 93:4 Mightier than the thunders of many waters, mightier than the waves of the sea, the LORD on high is mighty!

Ps 107:24-25, 29 ... they saw the deeds of the LORD, his wondrous works in the deep. ²⁵*For he commanded and raised the stormy wind, which lifted up the waves of the sea.*  ... ²⁹*He made the storm be still, and the waves of the sea were hushed.*

Ps 114:3-8 The sea looked and fled; Jordan turned back. ⁴*The mountains skipped like rams, the hills like lambs.* ⁵*What ails you, O sea, that you flee? O Jordan, that you turn back?* ⁶*O mountains, that you skip like rams? O hills, like lambs?* ⁷*Tremble, O earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob,* ⁸*who turns the rock into a pool of water, the flint into a spring of water.*

Elements of nature are personified and spoken of as having a great fear of God, to portray God's supreme power over them. Note that v. 8 is referring to the occasion when God brought water from a rock (Ex 17; Num 20) to provide for the wandering Israelites. God's power over other forms of water in nature besides the seas and oceans is also evident above (cf. Job 26:8; Ps 74:15).

Isa 50:2b Behold, by my rebuke I dry up the sea, I make the rivers a desert; their fish stink for lack of water and die of thirst.

Jer 5:22 Do you not fear me? declares the LORD. Do you not tremble before me? I placed the sand as the boundary for the sea, a perpetual barrier that it cannot pass; though the waves toss, they cannot prevail; though they roar, they cannot pass over it.

Job 12:23 He makes nations great, and he destroys them; he enlarges nations, and leads them away.

Ps 33:10 The LORD brings the counsel of the nations to nothing; he frustrates the plans of the peoples.

Ps 47:3 He subdued peoples under us, and nations under our feet.

Ps 65:7 ... who stills the roaring of the seas, the roaring of their waves, the tumult of the peoples, ...

Ps 66:7 ... who rules by his might forever, whose eyes keep watch on the nations— let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah

Ps 78:55 He drove out nations before them; he apportioned them for a possession and settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.

The middle clause refers to God apportioning the land of the nations that were driven out of Canaan to the tribes of Israel as their possession.

Ps 94:10a He who disciplines the nations, does he not rebuke?

Isa 17:13 The nations roar like the roaring of many waters, but he will rebuke them, and they will flee far away, chased like chaff on the mountains before the wind and whirling dust before the storm.

Isa 33:3 At the tumultuous noise peoples flee; when you lift yourself up, nations are scattered, ...

The "tumultuous noise" appears to speak of that caused by God – or the instrument/s of his wrath – in bringing judgment against nations.

Isa 54:15-17a If anyone stirs up strife, it is not from me; whoever stirs up strife with you shall fall because of you. ¹⁶Behold, I have created the smith who blows the fire of coals and produces a weapon for its purpose. I have also created the ravager to destroy; ¹⁷no weapon that is fashioned against you shall succeed, and you shall confute every tongue that rises against you in judgment.

The assertion that God is the one who created both the blacksmith who makes weapons (v. 16a) and the nations that use these weapons to wreak havoc (v. 16b), carries the implication that God has power over such nations and their weapons. As such, God is able to prevent them from prevailing over his people (vv. 15b, 17a).

Ezek 36:7 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: I swear that the nations that are all around you shall themselves suffer reproach.

Hab 2:13 Behold, is it not from the LORD of hosts that peoples labor merely for fire, and nations weary themselves for nothing?

God determined that all that the nations – primarily the Babylonians – had labored to build would go up in flames.

Mal 1:4-5 If Edom says, "We are shattered but we will rebuild the ruins," the LORD of hosts says, "They may build, but I will tear down, and they will be called 'the wicked country,' and 'the people with whom the LORD is angry forever.'" ⁵Your own eyes shall see this, and you shall say, "Great is the LORD beyond the border of Israel!"

On seeing God's dealings with Edom, the Israelites will realize how great God is – sovereign over all nations, "beyond the border of Israel!" (v. 5)

Ps 46:6, 8 The nations rage, the kingdoms totter; he utters his voice, the earth melts. 📖 ... ⁸*Come, behold the works of the LORD, how he has brought desolations on the earth.* 📖

The first phrase may be speaking of the nations being in uproar (cf. NASB, NIV, NLT, NRSV), quite possibly due to being in terror (cf. GNT, NCV). Verse 6 appears to be implying that the nations and kingdoms face calamity brought upon them by God – particularly with v. 8 speaking of "how he has brought desolations on the earth." Alternatively, it may be implying that amidst all the chaos, God is in control.

^z Or whom righteousness calls to follow?

This refers to God handing nations over to the Persian king Cyrus the Great.

Jer 25:12-16 Then after seventy years are completed, I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation, the land of the Chaldeans, for their iniquity, declares the LORD, making the land an everlasting waste. ¹³I will bring upon that land all the words that I have uttered against it, everything written in this book, which Jeremiah prophesied against all the nations. ¹⁴For many nations and great kings shall make slaves even of them, and I will recompense them according to their deeds and the work of their hands." ¹⁵Thus the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: "Take from my hand this cup of the wine of wrath, and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. ¹⁶They shall drink and stagger and be crazed because of the sword that I am sending among them." 📖

Jer 27:8 "But if any nation or kingdom will not serve this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will punish that nation with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence, declares the LORD, until I have consumed it by his hand. 📖

Hab 3:6, 12 He stood and measured the earth; he looked and shook the nations; then the eternal mountains were scattered; the everlasting hills sank low. His were the everlasting ways. 📖 ... ¹²*You marched through the earth in fury; you threshed the nations in anger.* 📖

Zeph 3:6 I have cut off nations; their battlements are in ruins; I have laid waste their streets so that no one walks in them; their cities have been made desolate, without a man, without an inhabitant. 📖

Hag 2:21-22 *Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying, I am about to shake the heavens and the earth, ²²and to overthrow the throne of kingdoms. Job 12:18-21, 24-25 He looses the bonds of kings and binds a waistcloth on their hips. ¹⁹He leads priests away stripped and overthrows the mighty. ²⁰He deprives of speech those who are trusted and takes away the discernment of the elders. ²¹He pours contempt on princes and loosens the belt of the strong. . . . ²⁴He takes away understanding from the chiefs of the people of the earth and makes them wander in a pathless waste. ²⁵They grope in the dark without light, and he makes them stagger like a drunken man.

The clause "binds a waistcloth on their hips" (v. 18b) may be referring to the kings, in which case it would signify their humiliation by God and possibly even enslavement. Alternatively it may be referring to those from whom the bonds put on by kings were torn off (v. 18a).

Job 34:18-19, 24-25 ... [God] who says to a king, 'Worthless one,' and to nobles, 'Wicked man,' ¹⁹who shows no partiality to princes, nor regards the rich more than the poor, for they are all the work of his hands? . . . ²⁴He shatters the mighty without investigation and sets others in their place. ²⁵Thus, knowing their works, he overturns them in the night, and they are crushed.

"Worthless" (v. 18) may have wickedness in view (cf. CEV, NRSV), as per the remainder of the verse. God has the authority and power to address rulers with such a rebuke. In v. 19, the fact that princes are "the work of his hands" – as with the rich and the poor – points to God's sovereignty and power over them.

Ps 76:12 ... [God] who cuts off the spirit of princes, who is to be feared by the kings of the earth.

Isa 40:23-24 ... [God] who brings princes to nothing, and makes the rulers of the earth as emptiness. ²⁴Scarcely are they planted, scarcely sown, scarcely has their stem taken root in the earth, when he blows on them, and they wither, and the tempest carries them off like stubble.

Jer 25:17-27 So I took the cup from the LORD's hand, and made all the nations to whom the LORD sent me drink it: ¹⁸Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, its kings and officials, to make them a desolation and a waste, a hissing and a curse, as at this day; ¹⁹Pharaoh king of Egypt, his servants, his officials, all his people, ²⁰and all the mixed tribes among them; all the kings of the land of Uz and all the kings of the land of the Philistines (Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod); ²¹Edom, Moab, and the sons of Ammon; ²²all the kings of Tyre, all the kings of Sidon, and the kings of the coastland across the sea; ²³Dedan, Tema, Buz, and all who cut the corners of their hair; ²⁴all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the mixed tribes who dwell in the desert; ²⁵all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of Media; ²⁶all the kings of the north, far and near, one after another, and all the kingdoms of the world that are on the face of the earth. And after them the king of Babylon^a shall drink. ²⁷"Then you shall say to them, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Drink, be drunk and vomit, fall and rise no more, because of the sword that I am sending among you."

Verse 17 speaks figuratively of Jeremiah pronouncing upon the nations God's judgments of destruction – the "cup of the wine of wrath" (v. 15 ↑).

Jer 49:19b For who is like me? Who will summon me? What shepherd can stand before me?

Here "shepherd" signifies a ruler or leader.

Rev 6:15-17 Then the kings of the earth and the great ones and the generals and the rich and the powerful, and everyone, slave^b and free, hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains, ¹⁶calling to the mountains and rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who is seated on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb, ¹⁷for the great day of their wrath has come, and who can stand?"

1Ki 22:23, 34-35 Now therefore behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; the LORD has declared disaster for you." . . . ³⁴But a certain man drew his bow at random^c and struck the king of Israel between the scale armor and the breastplate. Therefore he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn around and carry me out of the battle, for I am wounded." ³⁵And the battle continued that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Syrians, until at evening he died. And the blood of the wound flowed into the bottom of the chariot.

2Ki 19:28, 35-36 Because you have raged against me and your complacency has come into my ears, I will put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth, and I will turn you back on the way by which you came.  ... ³⁵And that night the angel of the LORD went out and struck down 185,000 in the camp of the Assyrians. And when people arose early in the morning, behold, these were all dead bodies. ³⁶Then Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and went home and lived at Nineveh.

As with his utter defeat here in attempting to capture Jerusalem, Sennacherib's final demise can also be attributed to God (cf. 2Ki 19:7, 37).

2Chr 22:7-9a But it was ordained by God that the downfall of Ahaziah should come about through his going to visit Joram. For when he came there, he went out with Jehoram to meet Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. ⁸And when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he met the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers, who attended Ahaziah, and he killed them. ⁹He searched for Ahaziah, and he was captured while hiding in Samaria, and he was brought to Jehu and put to death.

2Chr 25:15-16, 21-23 Therefore the LORD was angry with Amaziah and sent to him a prophet, who said to him, "Why have you sought the gods of a people who did not deliver their own people from your hand?" ¹⁶But as he was speaking, the king said to him, "Have we made you a royal counselor? Stop! Why should you be struck down?" So the prophet stopped, but said, "I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel."  ... ²¹So Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another in battle at Bethshemesh, which belongs to Judah. ²²And Judah defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his home. ²³And Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, son of Ahaziah, at Bethshemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem for 400 cubits,^d from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate.

^d A cubit was about 18 inches or 45 centimeters

Ps 135:10-11 ... [God] who struck down many nations and killed mighty kings, ¹¹Sihon, king of the Amorites, and Og, king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan, ...

Dan 5:18-21 O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father kingship and greatness and glory and majesty. ¹⁹And because of the greatness that he gave him, all peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him. Whom he would, he killed, and whom he would, he kept alive; whom he would, he raised up, and whom he would, he humbled. ²⁰But when his heart was lifted up and his spirit was hardened so that he dealt proudly, he was brought down from his kingly throne, and his glory was taken from him. ²¹He was driven from among the children of mankind, and his mind was made like that of a beast, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. He was fed grass like an ox, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, until he knew that the Most High God rules the kingdom of mankind and sets over it whom he will.

Dan 5:26-28, 30 This is the interpretation of the matter: MENE, God has numbered^e the days of your kingdom and brought it to an end; ²⁷TEKEL, you have been weighed^f in the balances and found wanting; ²⁸PERES, your kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians. ^g ... ³⁰That very night Belshazzar the Chaldean king was killed.

^e MENE sounds like the Aramaic for numbered

^f TEKEL sounds like the Aramaic for weighed

^g PERES (the singular of Parsin) sounds like the Aramaic for divided and for Persia

Dan 8:25 By his cunning he shall make deceit prosper under his hand, and in his own mind he shall become great. Without warning he shall destroy many. And he shall even rise up against the Prince of princes, and he shall be broken—but by no human hand.

The reference is to Antiochus IV Epiphanes, an evil king of the Seleucid dynasty which ruled over Syria and much of western Asia. He persecuted the Jews from about 171 B.C. to 165 B.C.

Job 11:10 If he passes through and imprisons and summons the court, who can turn him back?

The phrase "summons the court" appears to speak of God calling a person to account or trial.

Job 23:13 But he is unchangeable,^h and who can turn him back? What he desires, that he does.

^h Or one

Job 9:3-4, 12, 14-15 If one wished to contend with him, one could not answer him once in a thousand times. ⁴He is wise in heart and mighty in strength—who has hardened himself against him, and succeeded?— ... ¹²Behold, he snatches away; who can turn him back? Who will say to him, 'What are you doing?' ... ¹⁴How then can I answer him, choosing my words with him? ¹⁵Though I am in the right, I cannot answer him; I must appeal for mercy to my accuser.ⁱ

ⁱ Or to my judge

Verse 12b indicates that no one is in a position to dare question God.

Job 37:19-20 Teach us what we shall say to him; we cannot draw up our case because of darkness. ²⁰Shall it be told him that I would speak? Did a man ever wish that he would be swallowed up?

In v. 19 "darkness" refers to ignorance or lack of understanding – particularly in comparison to God. Verse 20 is suggesting that daring to oppose or quiz God is in effect asking "to be swallowed up". God's unmatched wisdom/knowledge and power both appear to be in view.

Job 40:1-5 And the LORD said to Job: ²'Shall a faultfinder contend with the Almighty? He who argues with God, let him answer it.'³Then Job answered the LORD and said: ⁴'Behold, I am of small account; what shall I answer you? I lay my hand on my mouth. ⁵I have spoken once, and I will not answer; twice, but I will proceed no further.'

Job 42:1-3 Then Job answered the LORD and said: ²'I know that you can do all things, and that no purpose of yours can be thwarted. ³Who is this that hides counsel without knowledge?' Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand, things too wonderful for me, which I did not know.

Job acknowledges that he was in no position to question or interpret God's counsel (cf. Job 40:3-5 ↑), for in comparison to God he was "without knowledge", and he had spoken of things beyond his comprehension. Note that in v. 3a Job repeats an earlier question of God to him.

Jer 49:19b And I will appoint over her whomever I choose. For who is like me? Who will summon me? What shepherd can stand before me?

Job 41:10 No one is so fierce that he dares to stir him up [the leviathan]. Who then is he who can stand before me?

The leviathan may be the crocodile.

2Chr 13:12b O sons of Israel, do not fight against the LORD, the God of your fathers, for you cannot succeed.

2Chr 20:6 ...and [Jehoshaphat] said, "O LORD, God of our fathers, are you not God in heaven? You rule over all the kingdoms of the nations. In your hand are power and might, so that none is able to withstand you."

No one can stand against God (cf. NASB, NCV, NLT).

Acts 5:39a ...but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. You might even be found opposing God!

John 10:29 My Father, who has given them to me,^j is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand.

^j Some manuscripts What my Father has given to me

God's supremacy means that no one can snatch his people from him.

Ps 21:11 Though they plan evil against you, though they devise mischief, they will not succeed.

Prov 21:30 No wisdom, no understanding, no counsel can avail against the LORD.

Ps 2:1-6 Why do the nations rage^k and the peoples plot in vain? ²The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD and against his Anointed, saying, ³“Let us burst their bonds apart and cast away their cords from us.” ⁴He who sits in the heavens laughs; the Lord holds them in derision. ⁵Then he will speak to them in his wrath, and terrify them in his fury, saying, ⁶“As for me, I have set my King on Zion, my holy hill.”

^k Or nations noisily assemble

God's initial reaction in v. 4 shows how pathetic the nations' plots are in his eyes; they are no threat to him whatsoever. In v. 6 God states that he will install his "King" in Jerusalem. In the context this is generally understood to point to a messianic king who will rule over all the nations, crushing any opponents (cf. vv. 8-9).

Nah 1:9-12a What do you plot against the LORD? He will make a complete end; trouble will not rise up a second time. ¹⁰For they are like entangled thorns, like drunkards as they drink; they are consumed like stubble fully dried. ¹¹From you came one who plotted evil against the LORD, a worthless counselor. ¹²Thus says the LORD, “Though they are at full strength and many, they will be cut down and pass away.

In speaking of this plotting "against the LORD" (vv. 9, 11), the prophet probably has primarily in view plotting against God's people, which ultimately is against him. Such plots cannot succeed (vv. 9b, 12a).

✦ God's power is so great that his enemies cringe before him:

Nah 1:2 The LORD is a jealous and avenging God; the LORD is avenging and wrathful; the LORD takes vengeance on his adversaries and keeps wrath for his enemies.

Deut 32:34-35, 40-43 *“Is not this laid up in store with me, sealed up in my treasuries? ³⁵Vengeance is mine, and recompense,¹ for the time when their foot shall slip; for the day of their calamity is at hand, and their doom comes swiftly.’ ... ⁴⁰For I lift up my hand to heaven and swear, As I live forever, ⁴¹if I sharpen my flashing sword^m and my hand takes hold on judgment, *I will take vengeance on my adversaries and will repay those who hate me. ⁴²I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh— with the blood of the slain and the captives, from the long-haired heads of the enemy.’ ⁴³“Rejoice with him, O heavens; bow down to him, all gods,ⁿ for he avenges the blood of his children^o and takes vengeance on his adversaries. Jer 46:10 That day is the day of the Lord GOD of hosts, a day of vengeance, to avenge himself on his foes. The sword shall devour and be sated and drink its fill of their blood. For the Lord GOD of hosts holds a sacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.

The last statement speaks figuratively of God slaughtering his enemies.

Jer 50:14-15 Set yourselves in array against Babylon all around, all you who bend the bow; shoot at her, spare no arrows, for she has sinned against the LORD. ¹⁵Raise a shout against her all around; she has surrendered; her bulwarks have fallen; her walls are thrown down. For this is the vengeance of the LORD: take vengeance on her; do to her as she has done.

Isa 66:6 The sound of an uproar from the city! A sound from the temple! The sound of the LORD, rendering recompense to his enemies!

Jer 51:6 Flee from the midst of Babylon; let every one save his life! Be not cut off in her punishment, for this is the time of the LORD's vengeance, the repayment he is rendering her.

Jer 50:29-30 Summon archers against Babylon, all those who bend the bow. Encamp around her; let no one escape. Repay her according to her deeds; do to her according to all that she has done. For she has proudly defied the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. ³⁰Therefore her young men shall fall in her squares, and all her soldiers shall be destroyed on that day, declares the LORD.

‡ The descendants of those who hate God also bear his punishment:

Deut 5:9-10 You shall not bow down to them or serve them; for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, ¹⁰but showing steadfast love to thousands^s of those who love me and keep my commandments.

^s Or to the thousandth generation

This appears to speak of the ongoing effects of severe punishment still being felt by future generations. Some commentators think that it alludes to the sin itself filtering through to later generations, and so being accompanied by appropriate punishment; certainly repentant children would not be subject to such punishment. Note the contrasting blessings for those who love God, with God blessing them with his love to a thousand generations (v. 10).

God destroys his enemies

Ex 15:6-7 Your right hand, O LORD, glorious in power, your right hand, O LORD, shatters the enemy. ⁷In the greatness of your majesty you overthrow your adversaries; you send out your fury; it consumes them like stubble.

Num 14:35 I, the LORD, have spoken. Surely this will I do to all this wicked congregation who are gathered together against me: in this wilderness they shall come to a full end, and there they shall die.

Deut 7:9-10 Know therefore that the LORD your God is God, the faithful God who keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations, ¹⁰and repays to their face those who hate him, by destroying them. He will not be slack with one who hates him. He will repay him to his face.

1Sam 2:10a The adversaries of the LORD shall be broken to pieces; against them he will thunder in heaven.

Ps 68:21 But God will strike the heads of his enemies, the hairy crown of him who walks in his guilty ways.

The "hairy crown" refers to long hair, with the term quite possibly being used to allude to the wickedness of God's enemies.

Ps 78:66 And he put his adversaries to rout; he put them to everlasting shame.

Ps 92:9 For behold, your enemies, O LORD, for behold, your enemies shall perish; all evildoers shall be scattered.

Ps 97:3 Fire goes before him and burns up his adversaries all around.

This may be using poetic imagery or possibly be prophetic of God's final judgment.

Jer 50:23-24 How the hammer of the whole earth is cut down and broken! How Babylon has become a horror among the nations! ²⁴I set a snare for you and you were taken, O Babylon, and you did not know it; you were found and caught, because you opposed the LORD. 📖

Isa 46:10-11 ... declaring the end from the beginning and from ancient times things not yet done, saying, 'My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose,' ¹¹calling a bird of prey from the east, the man of my counsel from a far country. I have spoken, and I will bring it to pass; I have purposed, and I will do it. 📖

Note that the "bird of prey from the east" is the Persian king Cyrus (cf. Isa 44:28 †), who God would use in fulfilling his purposes.

Gen 41:31-32 ... and the plenty will be unknown in the land by reason of the famine that will follow, for it will be very severe. ³²And the doubling of Pharaoh's dream means that the thing is fixed by God, and God will shortly bring it about. 📖

2Sam 7:21 Because of your promise, and according to your own heart, you have brought about all this greatness, to make your servant know it. 📖

This speaks of the fact that God's prophetic word is fulfilled; his will is carried out.

Prov 19:21 Many are the plans in the mind of a man, but it is the purpose of the LORD that will stand. 📖

Isa 48:16 Draw near to me, hear this: from the beginning I have not spoken in secret, from the time it came to be I have been there." And now the Lord GOD has sent me, and his Spirit. 📖

The words "from the time it came to be I have been there" imply that God is always present to ensure each "announcement" (NIV®) of his plans comes true (cf. GNT).

Isa 55:11 ... so shall my word be that goes out from my mouth; it shall not return to me empty, but it shall accomplish that which I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it. 📖

God's word accomplishes the purpose for which he imparts it.

Jer 23:20 The anger of the LORD will not turn back until he has executed and accomplished the intents of his heart. In the latter days you will understand it clearly.

Jer 51:12, 29 Set up a standard against the walls of Babylon; make the watch strong; set up watchmen; prepare the ambushes; for the LORD has both planned and done what he spoke concerning the inhabitants of Babylon.  ... ²⁹*The land trembles and writhes in pain, for the LORD's purposes against Babylon stand, to make the land of Babylon a desolation, without inhabitant.*

Ezek 17:24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I am the LORD; I bring low the high tree, and make high the low tree, dry up the green tree, and make the dry tree flourish. I am the LORD; I have spoken, and I will do it.

The "trees" symbolize nations.

Ezek 39:8 Behold, it is coming and it will be brought about, declares the Lord GOD. That is the day of which I have spoken.

Dan 11:36 And the king shall do as he wills. He shall exalt himself and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak astonishing things against the God of gods. He shall prosper till the indignation is accomplished; for what is decreed shall be done.

Zec 1:6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? So they repented and said, As the LORD of hosts purposed to deal with us for our ways and deeds, so has he dealt with us.

The rhetorical question indicates that God's warnings and plans that he proclaimed through his prophets caught up with their forefathers. They were fulfilled and so the forefathers suffered the punishment prophesied.

Rev 10:7 ... but that in the days of the trumpet call to be sounded by the seventh angel, the mystery of God would be fulfilled, just as he announced to his servants^u the prophets.

^u Greek bondservants

Commentators generally consider that the "the mystery of God" refers to – or at least encompasses – the establishment of God's kingdom and his absolute rule. This had been announced to and spoken of by the prophets, but aspects of it – such as the time of its fulfillment – remain a mystery.

Rev 17:17 ... for God has put it into their hearts to carry out his purpose by being of one mind and handing over their royal power to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled.

† God's will is good and perfect:

2Ki 19:25 Have you not heard that I determined it long ago? I planned from days of old what now I bring to pass, that you should turn fortified cities into heaps of ruins, ...

The phrases "long ago" and "days of old" do not necessarily denote the beginning of time, before creation, but quite possibly that is what is implied. This may also be the case in the use of "long ago" and "of old" below in Isaiah 22:11; 25:1; and Isa 48:3.

Isa 22:11 You made a reservoir between the two walls for the water of the old pool. But you did not look to him who did it, or see him who planned it long ago.

Isa 25:1 O LORD, you are my God; I will exalt you; I will praise your name, for you have done wonderful things, plans formed of old, faithful and sure.

Isa 46:9b-10 I am God, and there is none like me, ¹⁰declaring the end from the beginning and from ancient times things not yet done, saying, 'My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose,' ...

Isa 48:3 The former things I declared of old; they went out from my mouth, and I announced them; then suddenly I did them, and they came to pass.

Matt 25:34 Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

God has planned since the creation of the world that his people will inherit his kingdom.

1Cor 2:7 But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, which God decreed before the ages for our glory.

This "secret and hidden wisdom of God" is the gospel of salvation, which God purposed before time began to effect our glorification.

Titus 1:2 ... in hope of eternal life, which God, who never lies, promised before the ages began^x ...

^x Greek before times eternal

1Pet 1:20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you ...

This suggests that God's purposes for Jesus Christ were determined before the creation of the world.

When the time comes, God's plans are promptly fulfilled

Hab 2:3 For still the vision awaits its appointed time; it hastens to the end—it will not lie. If it seems slow, wait for it; it will surely come; it will not delay.

At the appointed time God's revealed plan would come about without delay.

Isa 60:22 The least one shall become a clan, and the smallest one a mighty nation; I am the LORD; in its time I will hasten it.

The use of "hasten" is indicative of prompt fulfillment.

Ezek 12:25, 28 For I am the LORD; I will speak the word that I will speak, and it will be performed. It will no longer be delayed, but in your days, O rebellious house, I will speak the word and perform it, declares the Lord GOD. ...²⁸Therefore say to them, Thus says the Lord GOD: None of my words will be delayed any longer, but the word that I speak will be performed, declares the Lord GOD.

God's may delay or prolong fulfillment of some of his plans. But when the right time comes – here, "in your days" (v. 25) – they are fulfilled.

Rom 9:28 ... for the Lord will carry out his sentence upon the earth fully and without delay.

Luke 1:19-20 And the angel answered him, "I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news. ²⁰And behold, you will be silent and unable to speak until the day that these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time."

✦ God has a right time for everything:

Ecc 3:11a He has made everything beautiful in its time.

This is usually understood to mean that God has a designated time for every activity in which each activity is "appropriate" (NASB) – God "has set the right time for everything." (GNT; cf. CEV, NCV).

God does not change his purposes and plans . . .

^y Septuagint every tongue shall confess to God

Acts 2:23 ... this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men.

This exemplifies that God's plans are "definite" – "definite and fixed ... and settled" (AMP).

Eph 3:11 This was according to the eternal purpose that he has realized in Christ Jesus our Lord, ...

Heb 6:17 So when God desired to show more convincingly to the heirs of the promise the unchangeable character of his purpose, he guaranteed it with an oath, ...

Heb 7:21 ... but this one was made a priest with an oath by the one who said to him: "The Lord has sworn and will not change his mind, 'You are a priest forever.'"

Rom 11:29 For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable.

This illustrates that God's purposes and plans are irrevocable.

... though God may have reason to alter something he did – or relent from something he proposed

- ... Thus God allows for repentance and for punishment to be averted, p. 433

As seen also in some of the above cross references, in some of God's intentions or plans he makes allowances for different outcomes, whether expressly stated or not. Reasons prominent amongst the following passages as to why God would change something he did or proposed, include: people's sin; God's grief; God's control of his anger; God's love and compassion; and the prayers of his people. A further reason shown in the above cross references is people's repentance.

Gen 6:5-7 The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. ⁶And the LORD was sorry that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him to his heart. ⁷So the LORD said, "I will blot out man whom I have created from the face of the land, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens, for I am sorry that I have made them."

Humankind's wickedness was such that God was grieved about having created them. So in a sense he changed or altered what he had done – though this is not shown to be outside of his plans – by wiping them out and continuing on with just Noah's family.

1Sam 15:11, 22-23, 29, 35 "I regret that I have made Saul king, for he has turned back from following me and has not performed my commandments." And Samuel was angry, and he cried to the LORD all night. ... ²²And Samuel said [to Saul], "Has the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to listen than the fat of rams. ²³For rebellion is as the sin of divination, and presumption is as iniquity and idolatry. Because you have rejected the word of the LORD, he has also rejected you from being king. ... ²⁹And also the Glory of Israel will not lie or have regret, for he is not a man, that he should have regret. ... ³⁵And Samuel did not see Saul again until the day of his death, but Samuel grieved over Saul. And the LORD regretted that he had made Saul king over Israel.

Note that vv. 11, 35 speak of God having regret, in contrast to v. 29 which states that God does not have regret. This appears to be due to differences in the way that the Hebrew term involved can be translated. It can speak of sorrow (as per vv. 11, 35) or of actually changing one's mind (as per v. 29). (ESVSB)

Hos 11:5-10 They shall not^z return to the land of Egypt, but Assyria shall be their king, because they have refused to return to me. ⁶The sword shall rage against their cities, consume the bars of their gates, and devour them because of their own counsels. ⁷My people are bent on turning away from me, and though they call out to the Most High, he shall not raise them up at all. ⁸How can I give you up, O Ephraim? How can I hand you over, O Israel? How can I make you like Admah? How can I treat you like Zeboiim? My heart recoils within me; my compassion grows warm and tender. ⁹I will not execute my burning anger; I will not again destroy Ephraim; for I am God and not a man, the Holy One in your midst, and I will not come in wrath.^a ¹⁰They shall go after the LORD; he will roar like a lion; when he roars, his children shall come trembling from the west; ...

^z Or surely

^a Or into the city

The LORD is the Holy God; he does not act out of unbridled wrath. Even amidst his great wrath and judgment there is allowance for his great love and compassion. He would not simply destroy his people because of their refusal to repent – an option he appears to propose or air (vv. 5-6). Rather, because of his great compassion (v. 8) he would turn them trembling to him (v. 10).

Isa 38:1-5 In those days Hezekiah became sick and was at the point of death. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came to him, and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: Set your house in order, for you shall die, you shall not recover."^b ²Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, ³and said, "Please, O LORD, remember how I have walked before you in faithfulness and with a whole heart, and have done what is good in your sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah: ⁵"Go and say to Hezekiah, Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: I have heard your prayer; I have seen your tears. Behold, I will add fifteen years to your life."^c

^b Or live; also verses 9, 21

^c Hebrew to your days

Ex 32:9-14 And the LORD said to Moses, "I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people. ¹⁰Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may burn hot against them and I may consume them, in order that I may make a great nation of you." ¹¹But Moses implored the LORD his God and said, "O LORD, why does your wrath burn hot against your people, whom you have brought out of the land of Egypt with great power and with a mighty hand? ¹²Why should the Egyptians say, 'With evil intent did he bring them out, to kill them in the mountains and to consume them from the face of the earth'? Turn from your burning anger and relent from this disaster against your people. ¹³Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, your servants, to whom you swore by your own self, and said to them, 'I will multiply your offspring as the stars of heaven, and all this land that I have promised I will give to your offspring, and they shall inherit it forever.'" ¹⁴And the LORD relented from the disaster that he had spoken of bringing on his people.

Some translations render v. 14 to indicate that God had earlier "threatened" (CEV, GNT, NIV, NLT) the punishment spoken of earlier (v. 10) – as opposed to resolving to carry it out. As such, God did not change any firm plan here.

✦ God may relent from implementing proposed plans, but not from any firm plan:

Amos 7:1-9 This is what the Lord GOD showed me: behold, he was forming locusts when the latter growth was just beginning to sprout, and behold, it was the latter growth after the king's mowings. ²When they had finished eating the grass of the land, I said, "O Lord GOD, please forgive! How can Jacob stand? He is so small!" ³The LORD relented concerning this: "It shall not be," said the LORD. ⁴This is what the Lord GOD showed me: behold, the Lord GOD was calling for a judgment by fire, and it devoured the great deep and was eating up the land. ⁵Then I said, "O Lord GOD, please cease! How can Jacob stand? He is so small!" ⁶The LORD relented concerning this: "This also shall not be," said the Lord GOD. ⁷This is what he showed me: behold, the Lord was standing beside a wall built with a plumb line, with a plumb line in his hand. ⁸And the LORD said to me, "Amos, what do you see?" And I said, "A plumb line." Then the Lord said, "Behold, I am setting a plumb line in the midst of my people Israel; I will never again pass by them; ⁹the high places of Isaac shall be made desolate, and the sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste, and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword."

With the first two proposed judgments God relents at Amos's intercession, but with the third proposed judgment it is implicit that no allowance will be made. Note that in the third judgment specific mention is made of improper worship and the house of the idolatrous King Jeroboam (v. 9), two of the main things characterizing or behind the people's sin.

Ps 33:10-11 The LORD brings the counsel of the nations to nothing; he frustrates the plans of the peoples. ¹¹*The counsel of the LORD stands forever, the plans of his heart to all generations.*

Following on the teaching in v. 10 that God is well able to foil the plans of the nations, v. 11 appears to be implying that not only does God not change his plans and purposes, neither can anyone else foil or alter them.

Isa 14:27 For the LORD of hosts has purposed, and who will annul it? His hand is stretched out, and who will turn it back?

Dan 4:35 ... all the inhabitants of the earth are accounted as nothing, and he does according to his will among the host of heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay his hand or say to him, "What have you done?"

No one can stop God doing what he wants to, neither can anyone call him to account for what he does.

Acts 5:38-39a So in the present case I tell you, keep away from these men and let them alone, for if this plan or this undertaking is of man, it will fail; ³⁹but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. You might even be found opposing God!

1Sam 14:6b It may be that the LORD will work for us, for nothing can hinder the LORD from saving by many or by few.

Eccl 7:13 Consider the work of God: who can make straight what he has made crooked?

The question posed may be making the general point that no one can change what God has done. But some scholars interpret “what he has made crooked” to refer in particular to things that appear to be incongruous or unfair, with possibly adversity primarily in view.

Job 12:14 If he tears down, none can rebuild; if he shuts a man in, none can open.

Ps 104:5 He set the earth on its foundations, so that it should never be moved.

‡ No one can deliver someone from God:

Ps 50:22 Mark this, then, you who forget God, lest I tear you apart, and there be none to deliver!

Isaiah 43:13 and Job 12:14 above also speak of this truth.

God works everything for his purposes and plans

Eph 1:11 In him we have obtained an inheritance, having been predestined according to the purpose of him who works all things according to the counsel of his will, ...

Rom 8:28 And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good,^d for those who are called according to his purpose.

^d Some manuscripts God works all things together for good, or God works in all things for the good

God works in all things for the good of his people, in accordance with his purpose in calling them.

Phil 2:13 ... for it is God who works in you, both to will and to work for his good pleasure.

God works in his people, so that they both desire to act in line with his purposes and actually do so. As such, this illustrates that God works things for his purposes and plans.

Prov 16:4 The LORD has made everything for its purpose, even the wicked for the day of trouble.

God has an end or purpose for everything – even evil and negative things fit into his purposes and plans.

‡ God predetermines all things:

Eccl 6:10 Whatever has come to be has already been named, and it is known what man is, and that he is not able to dispute with one stronger than he.

“Whatever has come to be has already been named” appears to mean that everything that happens has already been predetermined by God (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT). The clause “it is known what man is” may mean that God also predetermines each person’s nature, although his foreknowledge of them may instead be in view. The “one stronger” is quite possibly referring to God (cf. CEV, NCV, NLT). As such the final clause may be teaching that no one can alter what God does (the theme of the previous subsection).

II. God's Control over the World

God has power over everything. This includes control over evil powers, nature, the nations of the world and each person's life. Comprehending this is vital to having a sound understanding of God and of his relationship to the world – including his relationship with ourselves.

a) God Has Control over Evil

God exerts control over evil

Gen 31:7 ... yet your father has cheated me and changed my wages ten times. But God did not permit him to harm me. 📖

God had kept in check Laban's ill treatment of Jacob.

Num 24:12-13 And Balaam said to Balak, "Did I not tell your messengers whom you sent to me, ¹³*If Balak should give me his house full of silver and gold, I would not be able to go beyond the word of the LORD, to do either good or bad of my own will. What the LORD speaks, that will I speak?*" 📖

Balaam was a pagan diviner who Balak, the king of Moab, hired to curse the Israelites. But due to God's intervention Balaam could not, or would dare not. Instead God made him bless the Israelites (cf. Num 23:11-12; and God can use evil for the benefit of people, p. 275).

1Sam 2:25 [Eli, to his sons:] If someone sins against a man, God will mediate for him, but if someone sins against the LORD, who can intercede for him?" But they would not listen to the voice of their father, for it was the will of the LORD to put them to death. 📖

Eli's wicked sons were unwilling to respond to their father's rebuke to change their ways. This is attributed in part at least to God's will – no doubt as a judgment, so that punishment for their past wickedness would not be averted. Thus it illustrates God's control over such evil people – and over their destiny.

2Sam 7:10-11a And I will appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them, so that they may dwell in their own place and be disturbed no more. And violent men shall afflict them no more, as formerly, ¹¹from the time that I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I will give you rest from all your enemies. 📖

God has control over the activities of evil people. At times he allows them to oppress and at other times prevents them from doing so.

Job 12:16 With him are strength and sound wisdom; the deceived and the deceiver are his. 📖

Those who deceive – as well as those who are deceived – "are in his power" (GNT, NLT).

Prov 16:4 The LORD has made everything for its purpose, even the wicked for the day of trouble. 📖

God has a purpose for everything – even the wicked fit into his purposes and plans. In fact this verse may imply that God makes the wicked for a time of punishment (cf. NLT).

Ezek 14:9 And if the prophet is deceived and speaks a word, I, the LORD, have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand against him and will destroy him from the midst of my people Israel. 📖

This is speaking of false prophets, reflecting God's sovereignty over them and their words – as well as their end. It would appear that God's deceiving of such a prophet would be part of his judgment of them, culminating in destruction.

1Cor 10:13 No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it. 📖

God has control over and limits any temptation, whether it originates from Satan or from our own sinful nature. This is indicative of God's control over evil.

2Thes 2:7 For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work. Only he who now restrains it will do so until he is out of the way.

The "mystery of lawlessness" refers to that which is expressed through the "man of lawlessness" (v. 3) who is quite likely the final antichrist. There are a number of theories as to whom or what is "he who now restrains it" (vv. 6-7) – ensuring that the man of lawlessness is revealed at the right time and not before (ESVSB). It would appear to be one who will be both given power to do so and "taken out of the way" (NIV®) by God. As such this demonstrates God's control over this force of "lawlessness", initially through "he who now restrains it".

✦ God prevented David from doing wrong:

1Sam 25:26, 34, 39a [Abigail, to David:] Now then, my lord, as the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, because the LORD has restrained you from bloodguilt and from saving with your own hand, now then let your enemies and those who seek to do evil to my lord be as Nabal.  ... [David, to Abigail:] ³⁴For as surely as the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, who has restrained me from hurting you, unless you had hurried and come to meet me, truly by morning there had not been left to Nabal so much as one male."  ... ³⁹When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Blessed be the LORD who has avenged the insult I received at the hand of Nabal, and has kept back his servant from wrongdoing. The LORD has returned the evil of Nabal on his own head."

God can use evil

- Num 24:12-13 ; Prov 16:4

1Sam 18:10a The next day a harmful spirit from God rushed upon Saul, and he raved within his house while David was playing the lyre, as he did day by day.

The "harmful spirit" is generally understood to have been an "evil spirit" (AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NRSV). For further comment, see 16:14-16 in God can use evil and wrongdoing to punish, p. 275.

2Sam 16:10-11 But the king said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? If he is cursing because the LORD has said to him, 'Curse David,' who then shall say, 'Why have you done so?'" ¹¹And David said to Abishai and to all his servants, "Behold, my own son seeks my life; how much more now may this Benjaminite! Leave him alone, and let him curse, for the LORD has told him to."

David considered that the ill treatment he was receiving may well have been of God.

2Sam 24:1 Again the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he incited David against them, saying, "Go, number Israel and Judah."

1 Chronicles 21:1 says that it was Satan who incited David. It seems reasonable then to conclude from these two accounts that God used Satan to do this – illustrating God's use of evil. Even apart from Satan's involvement, this incident still illustrates God's use of evil as the action of taking a census was itself sinful. For taking a census – in particular of the fighting men (cf. v. 2) – displayed a lack of trust in God by David, who by doing this was looking to the strength of his own forces. God used the ramifications of this to bring judgment on Israel (cf. v. 15), apparently as punishment for something Israel had done earlier for which God's anger "was kindled against Israel".

Ps 105:24-25 And the LORD made his people very fruitful and made them stronger than their foes. ²⁵*He turned their hearts to hate his people, to deal craftily with his servants.*

The reference is to the Egyptians, in particular Pharaoh, reflecting that God's sovereignty over his people's destiny can involve even the malice of their enemies against them.

John 11:49-52 But one of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, said to them, "You know nothing at all. ⁵⁰Nor do you understand that it is better for you that one man should die for the people, not that the whole nation should perish." ⁵¹*He did not say this of his own accord, but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation,* ⁵²*and not for the nation only, but also to gather into one the children of God who are scattered abroad.*

Caiaphas wickedly oversaw the trial of Jesus which was engineered to condemn Jesus. But despite this evil context, God used Caiaphas – who "did not say this of his own accord" (v. 51) – to make a profound prophecy of Jesus' death and what it would accomplish.

Eph 4:6 ... one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in all.

The phrase "through all" may well mean "works through all" (GNT, cf. CEV). Note that "all" quite likely means all things or all people – arguably then inclusive of evil – but all Christians may instead be primarily in view.

Matt 2:1-2 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men^a from the east came to Jerusalem, ²saying, "Where is he who has been born king of the Jews? For we saw his star when it rose^b and have come to worship him." 📖

^a Greek magi; also verses 7, 16

^b Or in the east; also verse 9

A number of commentators think it likely that the "wise men" or magi (cf. text note) practiced astrology, a practice spoken of as evil or forbidden elsewhere in the Bible (cf. Isa 47:13-15; Jer 8:2). If this was the case, then it would appear that God used astrology – something understood as evil – to make a revelation to pagan people.

God can use evil to fulfill his purposes

- God may actually use his people's troubles in fulfilling his purposes for them . . ., p. 959
- . . . God may even initiate seemingly bad things to fulfill his purposes for his people, p. 960

Note that some of the verses in the previous subsection, to varying degrees, reflect that God can use evil to fulfill his purposes. The ones in this subsection do so more pointedly.

Acts 2:23 ... this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men. 📖

Acts 4:27-28 ... for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ²⁸to do whatever your hand and your plan had predestined to take place. 📖

Those mentioned were not all necessarily particularly evil in themselves, but their actions against Jesus basically were evil.

Rom 9:17 For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, "For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I might show my power in you, and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth." 📖

Rom 11:15, 25, 32 For if their rejection means the reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance mean but life from the dead? 📖 ... ²⁵Lest you be wise in your own sight, I want you to understand this mystery, brothers:^c a partial hardening has come upon Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in. 📖 ... ³²*For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.* 📖

^c Or brothers and sisters

The phrase "their rejection" (v. 15) may refer to the Jew's rejection of God's way of salvation (cf. CEV). This sinful rejection by the Jews was part of God's plan to fulfill his purpose of providing salvation to the Gentiles (vv. 25, 32) – hence the inclusion of v. 15 here. However it could instead be speaking of God rejecting the Jews (cf. GNT, NCV, NKJV).

Verse 32 can be interpreted as speaking of God sovereignly binding all people over to disobeying him, which is essentially to do evil, for his purpose of offering his mercy to all. However it is probably more often understood to mean that "God has imprisoned all people in their own disobedience" (NLT, cf. CEV).

Rev 17:17 ... for God has put it into their hearts to carry out his purpose by being of one mind and handing over their royal power to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled. 📖

This speaks of kings or world powers of the end times cooperating with the beast or anti-Christ, to unwittingly accomplish God's purpose.

Ezek 38:16-18, 21-23 You will come up against my people Israel, like a cloud covering the land. In the latter days I will bring you against my land, that the nations may know me, when through you, O Gog, I vindicate my holiness before their eyes. ¹⁷"Thus says the Lord GOD: Are you he of whom I spoke in former days by my servants the prophets of Israel, who in those days prophesied for years that I would bring you against them? ¹⁸But on that day, the day that Gog shall come against the land of Israel, declares the Lord GOD, my wrath will be roused in my anger. 📖 ... ²¹I will summon a sword against Gog^d on all my mountains, declares the Lord GOD. Every man's sword will be against his brother. ²²With pestilence and bloodshed I will enter into judgment with him, and I will rain upon him and his hordes and the many peoples who are with him torrential rains and hailstones, fire and sulfur. ²³So I will show my greatness and my holiness and make myself known in the eyes of many nations. Then they will know that I am the LORD. 📖

^d Hebrew against him

Note v. 17 appears to refer to prophecies in general that speak of future attacks on Israel by sizable enemy forces.

⚡ God's apparent use of insincere preachers to spread the gospel:

my imprisonment. ¹⁸What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed, and in that I rejoice. 📖

God can use evil and wrongdoing to punish

Judg 9:23-24 And God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the leaders of Shechem, and the leaders of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech, ²⁴that the violence done to the seventy sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid on Abimelech their brother, who killed them, and on the men of Shechem, who strengthened his hands to kill his brothers. 📖

1Sam 16:14-16 Now the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and a harmful spirit from the LORD tormented him. ¹⁵And Saul's servants said to him, "Behold now, a harmful spirit from God is tormenting you. ¹⁶Let our lord now command your servants who are before you to seek out a man who is skillful in playing the lyre, and when the harmful spirit from God is upon you, he will play it, and you will be well." 📖

It would appear that the "harmful" spirit was an evil spirit from God sent as a punishment for Saul's disobedient.

1Ki 22:20-23 ... and the LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said one thing, and another said another. ²¹Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD, saying, 'I will entice him.' ²²And the LORD said to him, 'By what means?' And he said, 'I will go out, and will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And he said, 'You are to entice him, and you shall succeed; go out and do so.' ²³Now therefore behold, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; the LORD has declared disaster for you. 📖

The "lying spirit" is often considered to be an evil spirit or demon, used by God to instigate Ahab's downfall.

Isa 10:5-7 Ah, Assyria, the rod of my anger; the staff in their hands is my fury! ⁶Against a godless nation I send him, and against the people of my wrath I command him, to take spoil and seize plunder, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets. ⁷But he does not so intend, and his heart does not so think; but it is in his heart to destroy, and to cut off nations not a few; ... 📖

Verse 7 shows the Assyrians to have been wicked. Despite this God used them to punish other godless people (vv. 5-6).

Isa 54:16 Behold, I have created the smith who blows the fire of coals and produces a weapon for its purpose. I have also created the ravager to destroy; ... 📖

As shown in 10:5-7 above, God raises up destructive and often wicked nations to execute his judgment. Assyria (cf. Isa 10:5-7 ↑) and Babylonia (cf. Hab 1:6-13 ↓), who God had used to punish Israel, are primarily in view – but arguably this can be said of all such destructive nations.

Hab 1:6-13 For behold, I am raising up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, who march through the breadth of the earth, to seize dwellings not their own. ⁷They are dreaded and fearsome; their justice and dignity go forth from themselves. ⁸Their horses are swifter than leopards, more fierce than the evening wolves; their horsemen press proudly on. Their horsemen come from afar; they fly like an eagle swift to devour. ⁹They all come for violence, all their faces forward. They gather captives like sand. ¹⁰At kings they scoff, and at rulers they laugh. They laugh at every fortress, for they pile up earth and take it. ¹¹Then they sweep by like the wind and go on, guilty men, whose own might is their god!" ¹²Are you not from everlasting, O LORD my God, my Holy One? We shall not die. O LORD, you have ordained them as a judgment, and you, O Rock, have established them for reproof. ¹³You who are of purer eyes than to see evil and cannot look at wrong, why do you idly look at traitors and remain silent when the wicked swallows up the man more righteous than he? 📖

God's use of the evil Babylonians "to execute judgment" and so "to punish" (v. 12) led to Habakkuk questioning God about it (v. 13). Note that v. 6b is indicating that the Babylonians acted only as they themselves saw fit.

† God may use evil people's wickedness in bringing punishment on them:

Josh 11:20 For it was the LORD's doing to harden their hearts that they should come against Israel in battle, in order that they should be devoted to destruction and should receive no mercy but be destroyed, just as the LORD commanded Moses. 📖

Note that one such occurrence in view here is contained in Deuteronomy 2:30 – "But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for the Lord your God hardened his spirit and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into your hand, as he is this day."

God can use evil for the benefit of people

Gen 45:4-8 So Joseph said to his brothers, "Come near to me, please." And they came near. And he said, "I am your brother,

Joseph, whom you sold into Egypt. ⁵And now do not be distressed or angry with yourselves because you sold me here, for God sent me before you to preserve life. ⁶For the famine has been in the land these two years, and there are yet five years in which there will be neither plowing nor harvest. ⁷And God sent me before you to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. ⁸*So it was not you who sent me here, but God.* He has made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house and ruler over all the land of Egypt.

Gen 50:20 [Joseph:] As for you, you meant evil against me, but God meant it for good, to bring it about that many people^e should be kept alive, as they are today.

^e Or a numerous people

Ex 10:1-2 Then the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants, that I may show these signs of mine among them, ²and that you may tell in the hearing of your son and of your grandson how I have dealt harshly with the Egyptians and what signs I have done among them, that you may know that I am the LORD.”

God hardened Pharaoh's heart for the good of the Israelites – i.e. that through God's miraculous signs they would know that he was the LORD (as well as set free).

Num 23:11-12 And Balak said to Balaam, “What have you done to me? I took you to curse my enemies, and behold, you have done nothing but bless them.” ¹²And he answered and said, “Must I not take care to speak what the LORD puts in my mouth?”

As noted earlier, Balaam was a pagan diviner hired by Balak to curse the Israelites. Instead God used this evil man to bless the Israelites.

2Cor 12:7-9 So to keep me from becoming conceited because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations,^f a thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to harass me, to keep me from becoming conceited. ⁸Three times I pleaded with the Lord about this, that it should leave me. ⁹But he said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

^f Or hears from me, even because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations. So to keep me from becoming conceited

God – or Christ – used Paul's affliction, which apparently came from Satan, to both keep him from becoming conceited (v. 7) and make him receptive to Christ's power working in him (v. 9).

God directs nature

Note that God Maintains Creation, cross-referenced above, has a number of subsections pertinent to this subsection's theme. The verses in this subsection are somewhat distinct in that they have a more authoritative tone, emphasizing God's direction or control over nature. Arguably they should be generally understood as speaking of God as having created nature and set its forces in motion, while maintaining his control over it – rather than meaning that God necessarily needs to direct every occurrence of natural phenomena.

Job 36:32 He covers his hands with the lightning and commands it to strike the mark.

Job 37:11-12, 14-15 He loads the thick cloud with moisture; the clouds scatter his lightning. ¹²They turn around and around by his guidance, to accomplish all that he commands them on the face of the habitable world.  . . . ¹⁴“Hear this, O

Job; stop and consider the wondrous works of God. ¹⁵Do you know how God lays his command upon them and causes the lightning of his cloud to shine?

Ps 78:23-24 Yet he commanded the skies above and opened the doors of heaven, ²⁴and he rained down on them manna to eat and gave them the grain of heaven.

Ps 89:9 You rule the raging of the sea; when its waves rise, you still them.

Ps 147:15-18 He sends out his command to the earth; his word runs swiftly. ¹⁶He gives snow like wool; he scatters hoarfrost like ashes. ¹⁷He hurls down his crystals of ice like crumbs; who can stand before his cold? ¹⁸He sends out his word, and melts them; he makes his wind blow and the waters flow.

Lev 14:34-35 When you come into the land of Canaan, which I give you for a possession, and I put a case of leprous disease in a house in the land of your possession, ³⁵then he who owns the house shall come and tell the priest, "There seems to me to be some case of disease in my house."

The term translated here as "leprous disease" may refer to a "spreading mildew" (GNT). Even such things as the blight of mildew are portrayed as being under God's control.

Nature serves God

Ps 104:3-4 He lays the beams of his chambers on the waters; he makes the clouds his chariot; he rides on the wings of the wind; ⁴he makes his messengers winds, his ministers a flaming fire.

Verse 3b appears to be figuratively portraying clouds and winds as God's servants (cf. Nlrv), being subservient to God. Verse 4 may well be similarly speaking of winds and lightning (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV) as his "messengers" and "ministers", i.e. his servants.

Ps 119:91 By your appointment they stand this day, for all things are your servants.

All things serve God, including all aspects of "nature".

Ps 148:7-8 Praise the LORD from the earth, you great sea creatures and all deeps, ⁸fire and hail, snow and mist, stormy wind fulfilling his word!

Isa 48:13 My hand laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand spread out the heavens; when I call to them, they stand forth together.

When God summons the earth and the heavens, "they come at once and present themselves" (GNT), ready to "obey my every command" (CEV). This portrays all creation as being at God's "beck and call".

† God uses elements of nature as combative forces:

Job 38:22-23 Have you entered the storehouses of the snow, or have you seen the storehouses of the hail, ²³which I have reserved for the time of trouble, for the day of battle and war?

God can control the elements of nature to bring plentiful provision . . .

Lev 25:21 I will command my blessing on you in the sixth year, so that it will produce a crop sufficient for three years.

Deut 33:13-16 And of Joseph he said, "Blessed by the LORD be his land, with the choicest gifts of heaven above,⁸ and of the deep that crouches beneath, ¹⁴with the choicest fruits of the sun and the rich yield of the months, ¹⁵with the finest produce of the ancient mountains and the abundance of the everlasting hills, ¹⁶with the best gifts of the earth and its fullness and the favor of him who dwells in the bush. May these rest on the head of Joseph, on the pate of him who is prince among his brothers.

⁸ Two Hebrew manuscripts and Targum; Hebrew with the dew

Jacob's blessing of Joseph implies that God is able to provide such abundant blessings of nature. Note that "him who dwells in the bush" (v. 16) refers to God's manifestation to Moses in the burning bush.

Ps 78:15-16 He split rocks in the wilderness and gave them drink abundantly as from the deep. ¹⁶He made streams come out of the rock and caused waters to flow down like rivers.

Ps 107:35-38 He turns a desert into pools of water, a parched land into springs of water. ³⁶And there he lets the hungry dwell, and they establish a city to live in; ³⁷they sow fields and plant vineyards and get a fruitful yield. ³⁸By his blessing they multiply greatly, and he does not let their livestock diminish.

Isa 41:18-20 I will open rivers on the bare heights, and fountains in the midst of the valleys. I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water. ¹⁹I will put in the wilderness the cedar, the acacia, the myrtle, and the olive. I will set in the desert the cypress, the plane and the pine together, ²⁰that they may see and know, may consider and understand together, that the hand of the LORD has done this, the Holy One of Israel has created it.

This is usually understood to refer initially at least to God's rich provision for the Israelites returning from exile in Babylon. Some commentators think it refers to conditions in the renewed Israel in the Millennium. Note that similar references to God providing "water" in harsh and dry conditions are made in 35:6-7; 43:19-20; 44:3. These and the passage here may well have both literal and figurative (or spiritual) applications.

Joel 2:19, 22-24 The LORD answered and said to his people, "Behold, I am sending to you grain, wine, and oil, and you will be satisfied; and I will no more make you a reproach among the nations.  ... ²²Fear not, you beasts of the field, for the pastures of the wilderness are green; the tree bears its fruit; the fig tree and vine give their full yield. ²³Be glad, O children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your God, for he has given the early rain for your vindication; he has poured down for you abundant rain, the early and the latter rain, as before. ²⁴The threshing floors shall be full of grain; the vats shall overflow with wine and oil.

Zec 8:12 For there shall be a sowing of peace. The vine shall give its fruit, and the ground shall give its produce, and the heavens shall give their dew. And I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

James 5:17-18 Elijah was a man with a nature like ours, and he prayed fervently that it might not rain, and for three years and six months it did not rain on the earth. ¹⁸*Then he prayed again, and heaven gave rain, and the earth bore its fruit.*

Lev 26:19-20 ... and I will break the pride of your power, and I will make your heavens like iron and your earth like bronze. ²⁰And your strength shall be spent in vain, for your land shall not yield its increase, and the trees of the land shall not yield their fruit.

Ps 107:33-34 He turns rivers into a desert, springs of water into thirsty ground, ^{34a} fruitful land into a salty waste, because of the evil of its inhabitants.

Jer 51:36 Therefore thus says the LORD: "Behold, I will plead your cause and take vengeance for you. I will dry up her sea and make her fountain dry, ...

The second half of the verse appears to be speaking of God drying up the Euphrates River and therefore Babylon's water supply, presumably through lack of rain. Alternatively, the language may be figurative.

Amos 4:7 I also withheld the rain from you when there were yet three months to the harvest; I would send rain on one city, and send no rain on another city; one field would have rain, and the field on which it did not rain would wither; ...

Hag 1:10-11 Therefore the heavens above you have withheld the dew, and the earth has withheld its produce. ¹¹And I have called for a drought on the land and the hills, on the grain, the new wine, the oil, on what the ground brings forth, on man and beast, and on all their labors.

Hag 2:17 I struck you and all the products of your toil with blight and with mildew and with hail, yet you did not turn to me, declares the LORD.

Blight is a disease affecting plants and crops.

Job 12:15 If he withholds the waters, they dry up; if he sends them out, they overwhelm the land.

Note that second part of the verse speaks of God using rains to devastate the land (cf. Job 37:13 ↓).

‡ God can use nature both to punish and, in contrast, to show his love:

Job 37:11-13 He loads the thick cloud with moisture; the clouds scatter his lightning. ¹²They turn around and around by his guidance, to accomplish all that he commands them on the face of the habitable world. ¹³*Whether for correction or for his land or for love, he causes it to happen.*

Gen 7:15-16 They went into the ark with Noah, two and two of all flesh in which there was the breath of life. ¹⁶And those that entered, male and female of all flesh, went in as God had commanded him. And the LORD shut him in.

God caused two of every kind of creature to come to Noah, as God had said (cf. 6:19-20).

1Ki 17:4-6 You shall drink from the brook, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there." ⁵So he went and did according to the word of the LORD. He went and lived by the brook Cherith that is east of the Jordan. ⁶And the ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening, and he drank from the brook.

Ps 78:27-29 ... he rained meat on them like dust, winged birds like the sand of the seas; ²⁸he let them fall in the midst of their camp, all around their dwellings. ²⁹And they ate and were well filled, for he gave them what they craved.

Isa 34:15-16 There the owl nests and lays and hatches and gathers her young in her shadow; indeed, there the hawks are gathered, each one with her mate. ¹⁶Seek and read from the book of the LORD: Not one of these shall be missing; none shall be without her mate. For the mouth of the LORD has commanded, and his Spirit has gathered them.

Note that the reference is to judgment on Edom. Such will be its desolation that the land will only be inhabited by such creatures – gathered there by the command and Spirit of God.

Jer 27:6 Now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, my servant, and I have given him also the beasts of the field to serve him.

Dan 6:22 My God sent his angel and shut the lions' mouths, and they have not harmed me, because I was found blameless before him; and also before you, O king, I have done no harm.

Hos 2:18 And I will make for them a covenant on that day with the beasts of the field, the birds of the heavens, and the creeping things of the ground. And I will abolish^h the bow, the sword, and war from the land, and I will make you lie down in safety.

God will cause all creatures to live in peace with the renewed Israel of the future – no longer will they harm the people or their crops.

Jonah 2:10 And the LORD spoke to the fish, and it vomited Jonah out upon the dry land.

In addition to birds and animals (which are largely in view in the above passages) God also has control over fish – and insects (cf. Joel 2:20, 25 ↴).

Joel 2:20, 25 I will remove the northerner far from you, and drive him into a parched and desolate land, his vanguardⁱ into the eastern sea, and his rear guard^j into the western sea; the stench and foul smell of him will rise, for he has done great things.  ... ²⁵I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten, the hopper, the destroyer, and the cutter, my great army, which I sent among you.

Verse 20 speaks of God driving away a great locust plague, which he had also sent (v. 25).

God can perform miracles of nature . . .

See also:

- a) Jesus Christ's Miracles, p. 559

Numerous other references used in the above subsections also illustrate that God can perform miracles of nature. The ones in this and the following subsection are generally more miraculous.

Ex 3:2 And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush. He looked, and behold, the bush was burning, yet it was not consumed.

Num 22:28 Then the LORD opened the mouth of the donkey, and she said to Balaam, "What have I done to you, that you have struck me these three times?"

Judg 13:3, 24a And the angel of the LORD appeared to the woman and said to her, "Behold, you are barren and have not borne children, but you shall conceive and bear a son.  ... ²⁴And the woman bore a son and called his name Samson.

1Ki 17:12-16 And she said, "As the LORD your God lives, I have nothing baked, only a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil in a jug. And now I am gathering a couple of sticks that I may go in and prepare it for myself and my son, that we may eat it and die." ¹³And Elijah said to her, "Do not fear; go and do as you have said. But first make me a little cake of it and bring it to me, and afterward make something for yourself and your son. ¹⁴For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, "The jar of flour shall not be spent, and the jug of oil shall not be empty, until the day that the LORD sends rain upon the earth." ¹⁵And she went and did as Elijah said. And she and he and her household ate for many days. ¹⁶The jar of flour was not spent, neither did the jug of oil become empty, according to the word of the LORD that he spoke by Elijah.

2Ki 2:19-22 Now the men of the city said to Elisha, "Behold, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees, but the water is bad, and the land is unfruitful." ²⁰He said, "Bring me a new bowl, and put salt in it." So they brought it to him. ²¹Then he went to the spring of water and threw salt in it and said, "Thus says the LORD, I have healed this water; from now on neither death nor miscarriage shall come from it." ²²So the water has been healed to this day, according to the word that Elisha spoke.

Exodus 15:25a tells of a similar miracle concerning water that was bitter – "And he cried to the LORD, and the LORD showed him a log, and he threw it into the water, and the water became sweet."

2Ki 3:17, 20 For thus says the LORD, 'You shall not see wind or rain, but that streambed shall be filled with water, so that you shall drink, you, your livestock, and your animals.'  ... ²⁰The next morning, about the time of offering the sacrifice, behold, water came from the direction of Edom, till the country was filled with water.

2Ki 4:32-35 When Elisha came into the house, he saw the child lying dead on his bed. ³³So he went in and shut the door behind the two of them and prayed to the LORD. ³⁴Then he went up and lay on the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. And as he stretched himself upon him, the flesh of the child became warm. ³⁵Then he got up again and walked once back and forth in the house, and went up and stretched himself upon him. The child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes.

Although not always expressly stated, Elisha – God's prophet – performed such miracles through God's power (cf. 2Ki 2:19-22 ↑; 2Ki 3:17, 20 ↑). Note that the woman was a Shunammite who had shown much hospitality to Elisha (cf. vv. 8-10).

2Ki 4:40-41 And they poured out some for the men to eat. But while they were eating of the stew, they cried out, "O man of God, there is death in the pot!" And they could not eat it. ⁴¹He said, "Then bring flour." And he threw it into the pot and said,

"Pour some out for the men, that they may eat." And there was no harm in the pot.

2Ki 5:14 So he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God, and his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

The man, Naaman, had had leprosy.

2Ki 6:4-7 So he went with them. And when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees. ⁵But as one was felling a log, his axe head fell into the water, and he cried out, "Alas, my master! It was borrowed." ⁶Then the man of God said, "Where did it fall?" When he showed him the place, he [Elisha] cut off a stick and threw it in there and made the iron float. ⁷And he said, "Take it up." So he reached out his hand and took it.

... God can miraculously use nature for his purposes

See also:

- b) God Has Control over Nature [means of God's judicial retribution], p. 442

Note that God also performed for his purposes the miracles mentioned in the previous subsection, but the extracts in this subsection generally show this more clearly.

Ex 4:2-9 The LORD said to him, "What is that in your hand?" He said, "A staff." ³And he said, "Throw it on the ground." So he threw it on the ground, and it became a serpent, and Moses ran from it. ⁴But the LORD said to Moses, "Put out your hand and catch it by the tail"—so he put out his hand and caught it, and it became a staff in his hand— ⁵"that they may believe that the LORD, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you." ⁶Again, the LORD said to him, "Put your hand inside your cloak." ⁷And he put his hand inside his cloak, and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous^l like snow. ⁷Then God said, "Put your hand back inside your cloak." So he put his hand back inside his cloak, and when he took it out, behold, it was restored like the rest of his flesh. ⁸"If they will not believe you," God said, "or listen to the first sign, they may believe the latter sign. ⁹If they will not believe even these two signs or listen to your voice, you shall take some water from the Nile and pour it on the dry ground, and the water that you shall take from the Nile will become blood on the dry ground."

^k Hebrew into your bosom; also verse 7

^l Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases; see Leviticus 13

Ex 16:12-15 "I have heard the grumbling of the people of Israel. Say to them, 'At twilight you shall eat meat, and in the morning you shall be filled with bread. Then you shall know that I am the LORD your God.'" ¹³In the evening quail came up and covered the camp, and in the morning dew lay around the camp. ¹⁴And when the dew had gone up, there was on the face of the wilderness a fine, flake-like thing, fine as frost on the ground. ¹⁵When the people of Israel saw it, they said to one another, "What is it?"^m For they did not know what it was. And Moses said to them, "It is the bread that the LORD has given you to eat."

^m Or "It is manna." Hebrew man hu

God used the quail and the flakes that formed from the dew to not only satisfy the desires of the people but also to again make known that he was the LORD their God (v. 12b).

Num 17:5, 8 And the staff of the man whom I choose shall sprout. Thus I will make to cease from me the grumbings of the people of Israel, which they grumble against you."  ...
⁸On the next day Moses went into the tent of the testimony, and behold, the staff of Aaron for the house of Levi had sprouted and put forth buds and produced blossoms, and it bore ripe almonds.

Josh 4:23-24 For the LORD your God dried up the waters of the Jordan for you until you passed over, as the LORD your God did to the Red Sea, which he dried up for us until we passed over, ²⁴so that all the peoples of the earth may know that the hand of the LORD is mighty, that you may fear the LORD your God forever.ⁿ

ⁿ Or all the days

Josh 10:11-14 And as they fled before Israel, while they were going down the ascent of Beth-horon, the LORD threw down large stones from heaven on them as far as Azekah, and they died. There were more who died because of the hailstones than the sons of Israel killed with the sword. ¹²At that time Joshua spoke to the LORD in the day when the LORD gave the Amorites over to the sons of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, "Sun, stand still at Gibeon, and moon, in the Valley of Aijalon."¹³And the sun stood still, and the moon stopped, until the nation took vengeance on their enemies. Is this not written in the Book of Jashar? The sun stopped in the midst of heaven and did not hurry to set for about a whole day. ¹⁴There has been no day like it before or since, when the LORD heeded the voice of a man, for the LORD fought for Israel.

2Ki 20:9-11 And Isaiah said, "This shall be the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he has promised:

shall the shadow go forward ten steps, or go back ten steps?"
¹⁰And Hezekiah answered, "It is an easy thing for the shadow to lengthen ten steps. Rather let the shadow go back ten steps." ¹¹And Isaiah the prophet called to the LORD, and he brought the shadow back ten steps, by which it had gone down on the steps of Ahaz.

Ps 78:42-52 They did not remember his power^o or the day when he redeemed them from the foe, ⁴³when he performed his signs in Egypt and his marvels in the fields of Zoan. ⁴⁴He turned their rivers to blood, so that they could not drink of their streams. ⁴⁵He sent among them swarms of flies, which devoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them. ⁴⁶He gave their crops to the destroying locust and the fruit of their labor to the locust. ⁴⁷He destroyed their vines with hail and their sycamores with frost. ⁴⁸He gave over their cattle to the hail and their flocks to thunderbolts. ⁴⁹He let loose on them his burning anger, wrath, indignation, and distress, a company of destroying angels. ⁵⁰He made a path for his anger; he did not spare them from death, but gave their lives over to the plague. ⁵¹He struck down every firstborn in Egypt, the firstfruits of their strength in the tents of Ham. ⁵²Then he led out his people like sheep and guided them in the wilderness like a flock.

‡ God's use of multiple elements of nature to teach Jonah a lesson:

Jonah 4:6-11 Now the LORD God appointed a plant^p and made it come up over Jonah, that it might be a shade over his head, to save him from his discomfort.^q So Jonah was exceedingly glad because of the plant. ⁷But when dawn came up the next day, God appointed a worm that attacked the plant, so that it withered. ⁸When the sun rose, God appointed a scorching east wind, and the sun beat down on the head of Jonah so that he was faint. And he asked that he might die and said, "It is better for me to die than to live." ⁹But God said to Jonah, "Do you do well to be angry for the plant?" And he said, "Yes, I do well to be angry, angry enough to die." ¹⁰And the LORD said, "You pity the plant, for which you did not labor, nor did you make it grow, which came into being in a night and perished in a night. ¹¹And should not I pity Nineveh, that great city, in which there are more than 120,000 persons who do not know their right hand from their left, and also much cattle?"

^p Hebrew qiqayon, probably the castor oil plant; also verses 7, 9, 10

^q Or his evil

Jonah had been angry that God had spared the people of Nineveh (cf. vv. 1-2). So, in conjunction with the sun, God maneuvered different elements of nature – vegetation, a wind, the sun and a creature (vv. 6-8) – to teach Jonah a lesson (vv. 9-11). Earlier of course God had miraculously employed a great fish – “And the LORD appointed a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.” (1:17)

God is in control of the nations

Ps 67:4 Let the nations be glad and sing for joy, for you judge the peoples with equity and guide the nations upon earth. Selah

Isa 14:26-27 This is the purpose that is purposed concerning the whole earth, and this is the hand that is stretched out over all the nations. ²⁷For the LORD of hosts has purposed, and who will annul it? His hand is stretched out, and who will turn it back?

What God determines for the whole world does take place, for his power to impose his will overshadows all nations. For God “controls every nation” (CEV) – none can prevent him from implementing his purposes concerning them.

Gen 15:13-16 Then the LORD said to Abram, “Know for certain that your offspring will be sojourners in a land that is not theirs and will be servants there, and they will be afflicted for four hundred years. ¹⁴But I will bring judgment on the nation that they serve, and afterward they shall come out with great possessions. ¹⁵As for yourself, you shall go to your fathers in peace; you shall be buried in a good old age. ¹⁶And they shall come back here in the fourth generation, for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet complete.”

This shows God’s sovereignty over not only his people Israel but also Egypt and the Amorites. The latter part of v. 16 refers to God’s plan to destroy the Amorites once their sin had “reached the point” (NIV®) where God determined that it could no longer go unpunished.

Jer 27:6-7 Now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, my servant, and I have given him also the beasts of the field to serve him. ⁷All the nations shall serve him and his son and his grandson, until the time of his own land comes. Then many nations and great kings shall make him their slave.

Ezek 17:24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I am the LORD; I bring low the high tree, and make high the low tree, dry up the green tree, and make the dry tree flourish. I am the LORD; I have spoken, and I will do it.

Here and in Ezekiel 31:14 below the trees symbolize nations.

Ezek 31:14 All this is in order that no trees by the waters may grow to towering height or set their tops among the clouds, and that no trees that drink water may reach up to them in height. For they are all given over to death, to the world below, among the children of man,^r with those who go down to the pit.

^r Or of Adam

Proud Assyria (cf. v. 3) and its downfall are primarily in view. The verse speaks of God curtailing the power of nations, in particular those in the region of “the waters”, probably the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

Dan 2:37-40, 44 You, O king, the king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, and the might, and the glory, ³⁸and into whose hand he has given, wherever they dwell, the children of man, the beasts of the field, and the birds of the heavens, making you rule over them all—you are the head of gold. ³⁹Another kingdom inferior to you shall arise after you, and yet a third kingdom of bronze, which shall rule over all the earth. ⁴⁰And there shall be a fourth kingdom, strong as iron, because iron breaks to pieces and shatters all things. And like iron that crushes, it shall break and crush all these. 📖 ... ⁴⁴And in the days of those kings the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that shall never be destroyed, nor shall the kingdom be left to another people. It shall break in pieces all these kingdoms and bring them to an end, and it shall stand forever, ... 📖

Here Daniel explains to Nebuchadnezzar – the king of Babylon – what God has revealed in the king's dream of future empires. The empires spoken of as following the Neo-Babylonian Empire are: the Medo-Persian Empire; the Grecian Empire, established by Alexander the Great; and the Roman Empire. The dream implies that the rise and fall of such empires is according to what God has determined. Commentators generally understand the eternal, all-conquering kingdom of v. 44 to be the kingdom of God.

Dan 4:25b You shall be made to eat grass like an ox, and you shall be wet with the dew of heaven, and seven periods of time shall pass over you, till you know that the Most High rules the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will. 📖

Amos 3:6 Is a trumpet blown in a city, and the people are not afraid? Does disaster come to a city, unless the LORD has done it? 📖

What is said here in regard to cities is readily applicable to nations. When disaster strikes a city or nation, God is ultimately behind it.

This speaks of God determining where nations would live. Note that the second part of the verse may mean that in determining the boundaries for the nations, God ensured that the land he would give to Israel would be of sufficient size (cf. text note).

Isa 41:4 Who has performed and done this, calling the generations from the beginning? I, the LORD, the first, and with the last; I am he. 📖

God "has controlled history" (NCV™, cf. GNT, NLT) since the first generation; and he will continue to do so through to the last.

Amos 9:7 "Are you not like the Cushites to me, O people of Israel?" declares the LORD. "Did I not bring up Israel from the land of Egypt, and the Philistines from Caphtor and the Syrians from Kir?" 📖

Acts 14:16 In past generations he allowed all the nations to walk in their own ways. 📖

The implication is that the nations had this liberty only because God allowed it. This points to God being in control of the nations in the past.

God appoints times for events affecting the nations

- God has set times for the end of the age and related events . . ., p. 696
- . . . God has set times for Jesus Christ's return and subsequent events, p. 697

In the following verses, references to appointed times all refer to times appointed by God.

Ps 75:2 At the set time that I appoint I will judge with equity. 📖

God's judgment spoken of here may well primarily be judgment on the nations (cf. v. 3); it is at least inclusive of this. As such the verse speaks of God choosing the times for his judgments of nations – presumably primarily the times of their downfall.

Ps 102:13 You will arise and have pity on Zion; it is the time to favor her; the appointed time has come. 📖

Dan 8:19 He said, "Behold, I will make known to you what shall be at the latter end of the indignation, for it refers to the appointed time of the end." 📖

The "appointed time of the end" (v. 19) appears to refer to the end of the period of history in view, with "the indignation" referring to manifestation/s of God's wrath (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV) amongst nations.

Dan 11:27-29 And as for the two kings, their hearts shall be bent on doing evil. They shall speak lies at the same table, but to no avail, for the end is yet to be at the time appointed.²⁸ And he shall return to his land with great wealth, but his heart shall be set against the holy covenant. And he shall work his will and return to his own land.²⁹ At the time appointed he shall return and come into the south, but it shall not be this time as it was before.

The kings referred to here are Ptolemy Philometor of Egypt and Antiochus IV Epiphanes, with the events concerned eventuating around 170-168 B.C. In v. 27, "the end" may be speaking of the end of Antiochus' plans to expand his dominion into Egypt.

Hab 2:3 For still the vision awaits its appointed time; it hastens to the end—it will not lie. If it seems slow, wait for it; it will surely come; it will not delay.

This verse referred to and was initially fulfilled in "the end" of Babylon in 539 B.C. The writer to the Hebrews applies it to Jesus Christ's return (cf. Heb 10:37). The clause "it hastens to the end" may speak of the time fast approaching (cf. GNT) or be alluding to the certainty of its coming (cf. NLT).

Luke 21:24 They will fall by the edge of the sword and be led captive among all nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The "times of the Gentiles" appears to most likely refer to the period of the Gentiles' domination over Jerusalem, a period designated by God.

Acts 7:17 But as the time of the promise drew near, which God had granted to Abraham, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt ...

This is referring to God's promise to Abraham that his descendants would possess the promised land (cf. v. 5). The time designated by God not only involved events affecting the nation of Israel, but also Egypt and the nations of Canaan – the latter whom would be crushed and dispossessed by Israel.

✦ God controls the course of world events:

Dan 2:21 He changes times and seasons; he removes kings and sets up kings; he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding; ...

"He changes times and seasons" likely means that God controls and "determines the course of world events" (NLT; cf. CEV), with the various eras or "epochs" (NASB).

God has control over the outcome of conflicts between nations

2Chr 25:8 But go, act, be strong for the battle. Why should you suppose that God will cast you down before the enemy? For God has power to help or to cast down.

1Sam 17:47 ... and that all this assembly may know that the LORD saves not with sword and spear. For the battle is the LORD's, and he will give you into our hand.

The battle – including its outcome – belonged to God.

1Chr 5:21-22 They carried off their livestock: 50,000 of their camels, 250,000 sheep, 2,000 donkeys, and 100,000 men alive.²² For many fell, because the war was of God. And they lived in their place until the exile.

The expression "the war was of God" appears to mean that "the war was God's" (NKJV; cf. AMP, NIV), in that he provided Israel's victory (cf. CEV, NCV, NLT). Alternatively, or in addition, it may be meaning that "the war was God's will" (GNT).

Prov 21:31 The horse is made ready for the day of battle, but the victory belongs to the LORD.

Judg 11:27, 32 I therefore have not sinned against you, and you do me wrong by making war on me. The LORD, the Judge, decide this day between the people of Israel and the people of Ammon. ...³² So Jephthah crossed over to the Ammonites to fight against them, and the LORD gave them into his hand.

In v. 27 Jephthah acknowledges that the outcome of any battle between the Israelites and the Ammonites would be in God's hands – which indeed it was (v. 32).

2Sam 5:19-20 And David inquired of the LORD, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will you give them into my hand?" *And the LORD said to David, "Go up, for I will certainly give the Philistines into your hand."*²⁰ And David came to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there. And he said, "The LORD has burst through my enemies before me like a bursting flood." Therefore the name of that place is called Baal-perazim.^u

^u Baal-perazim means lord of bursting through

2Sam 10:12-13 Be of good courage, and let us be courageous for our people, and for the cities of our God, and may the LORD do what seems good to him." ¹³So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him.

After encouraging his men (v. 12a), Joab then acknowledges God's sovereignty over the outcome of the battle (v. 12b). In conjunction with Joab's statement, God's sovereignty over the battle is also suggested by the outcome (v. 13).

Dan 1:1-2 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. ²*And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand,* with some of the vessels of the house of God. And he brought them to the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and placed the vessels in the treasury of his god.

The peoples surrounding the Jews on their return from exile are in view here (cf. v. 7), with their antagonistic schemes.

Ps 2:1-6 Why do the nations rage^v and the peoples plot in vain? ²*The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD and against his Anointed, saying,* ³*Let us burst their bonds apart and cast away their cords from us.* ⁴*He who sits in the heavens laughs; the Lord holds them in derision.* ⁵*Then he will speak to them in his wrath, and terrify them in his fury, saying,* ⁶*As for me, I have set my King on Zion, my holy hill." *

^z Or I will swallow up

The clause in question indicates that God would ruin the plans of the Egyptians.

Jer 19:7 And in this place I will make void the plans of Judah and Jerusalem, and will cause their people to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of those who seek their life. I will give their dead bodies for food to the birds of the air and to the beasts of the earth.

Hab 2:13 Behold, is it not from the LORD of hosts that peoples labor merely for fire, and nations weary themselves for nothing?

God determined that the wicked nations' endeavors – their attempts to implement their plans – would come to nothing.

✦ God frustrates the methods (and plans) of the crafty:

Job 5:12 He frustrates the devices of the crafty, so that their hands achieve no success.

God establishes all ruling authorities

Rom 13:1-2 Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. ²*Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed,* and those who resist will incur judgment.

Dan 4:17 The sentence is by the decree of the watchers, the decision by the word of the holy ones, to the end that the living may know that the Most High rules the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will and sets over it the lowliest of men.

1Sam 16:1 The LORD said to Samuel, "How long will you grieve over Saul, since I have rejected him from being king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil, and go. I will send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have provided for myself a king among his sons."

This is referring to God's choice of David as king of Israel, which David would recognize as shown in 2 Samuel 5:12 – "And David knew that the Lord had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel." (See also Psalms 18:43 below.)

1Ki 11:11-13 Therefore the LORD said to Solomon, "Since this has been your practice and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I have commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom from you and will give it to your servant.¹² Yet for the sake of David your father I will not do it in your days, but I will tear it out of the hand of your son.¹³ However, I will not tear away all the kingdom, but I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem that I have chosen."

1Ki 19:15 And the LORD said to him, "Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus. And when you arrive, you shall anoint Hazael to be king over Syria."

2Chr 36:23a "Thus says Cyrus king of Persia, 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth ...'

Ps 18:43 [David:] You delivered me from strife with the people; you made me the head of the nations; people whom I had not known served me.

Dan 2:21 He changes times and seasons; he removes kings and sets up kings; he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding; ...

Dan 2:37-38 You [Nebuchadnezzar], O king, the king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, and the might, and the glory,³⁸ and into whose hand he has given, wherever they dwell, the children of man, the beasts of the field, and the birds of the heavens, making you rule over them all—you are the head of gold.

John 19:10-11a So Pilate said to him, "You will not speak to me? Do you not know that I have authority to release you and authority to crucify you?"¹¹ Jesus answered him, "You would have no authority over me at all unless it had been given you from above."

Jesus asserts that Pilate's power – like that of all governing authorities – ultimately came from God.

✦ Condemnation of Israel for setting up rulers without God's consent:

Hos 8:4 They made kings, but not through me. They set up princes, but I knew it not. With their silver and gold they made idols for their own destruction.

Prov 21:1 The king's heart is a stream of water in the hand of the LORD; he turns it wherever he will.

Ex 7:3-4, 13 But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and though I multiply my signs and wonders in the land of Egypt,⁴ Pharaoh will not listen to you. Then I will lay my hand on Egypt and bring my hosts, my people the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt by great acts of judgment.  ...¹³ Still Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he would not listen to them, as the LORD had said.

Note that nine times in Exodus chapters 7-14 God is spoken of as hardening Pharaoh's heart (cf. Ex 10:1-2 ).

Deut 2:30 But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for the LORD your God hardened his spirit and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into your hand, as he is this day.

2Ki 19:7 Behold, I will put a spirit in him, so that he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land, and I will make him fall by the sword in his own land.

The reference is to Sennacherib, the king of Assyria.

2Chr 25:20-22 But Amaziah would not listen, for it was of God, in order that he [God] might give them into the hand of their enemies, because they had sought the gods of Edom.²¹ So Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another in battle at Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah.²² And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his home.

God caused Amaziah not to listen to the sound warning of Jehoash, king of Israel, to avoid war between their countries (cf. vv. 18-20), for God had determined to use Jehoash to punish Amaziah for his idolatry.

2Chr 35:21-22 [Neco, king of Egypt:] But he sent envoys to him, saying, "What have we to do with each other, king of Judah? I am not coming against you this day, but against the house with which I am at war. And God has commanded me to hurry. Cease opposing God, who is with me, lest he destroy you." ²²Nevertheless, Josiah did not turn away from him, but disguised himself in order to fight with him. He did not listen to the words of Neco from the mouth of God, but came to fight in the plain of Megiddo.

Freely or otherwise, Neco had responded to God's command (v. 21). Knowingly or otherwise, Neco was used by God to speak his words (v. 22). As such, these verses appear to reflect even illustrate God's control over rulers.

Ex 9:16 But for this purpose I have raised you [Pharaoh] up, to show you my power, so that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth.

Ex 10:1-2 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants, that I may show these signs of mine among them, ²and that you may tell in the hearing of your son and of your grandson how I have dealt harshly with the Egyptians and what signs I have done among them, that you may know that I am the LORD."

Similarly in 14:4 God says of his purpose in likewise hardening Pharaoh's heart to pursue the Israelites after they had left Egypt was so that: "I will get glory over Pharaoh and all his host, and the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD."

1Ki 12:15 So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of affairs brought about by the LORD that he might fulfill his word, which the LORD spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

Here God uses King Rehoboam – with Rehoboam's contrariness and the repercussions – for the purpose of fulfilling his word (cf. 2Chr 36:22-23 ↓).

2Chr 36:22-23 Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and also put it in writing: ²³"Thus says Cyrus king of Persia, 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Whoever is among you of all his people, may the LORD his God be with him. Let him go up.'"

This and the following three references all refer to the rebuilding of the temple after the Babylonian exile, but speak of three different kings that God used to accomplish the rebuilding – Cyrus (here and in Isaiah 44:28), Darius (Ezra 6:22) and Artaxerxes (Ezra 7:27).

Ezra 6:22 And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy, for the LORD had made them joyful and had turned the heart of the king of Assyria to them, so that he aided them in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Note that "the king of Assyria" is actually a reference to the Persian king, with its territory now including that of the earlier Assyrian Empire.

Ezra 7:27 Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, who put such a thing as this into the heart of the king, to beautify the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem, ...

Isa 44:28 ... [God] who says of Cyrus, 'He is my shepherd, and he shall fulfill all my purpose'; saying of Jerusalem, 'She shall be built,' and of the temple, 'Your foundation shall be laid.'

This and the following two passages (46:11; 48:14-15) speak of the Persian king, Cyrus the Great. The purposes of God referred to in these passages involved the defeat of Babylon, the ensuing return from exile of God's people and the rebuilding of Jerusalem, notably the temple.

Isa 46:10b-11 'My counsel shall stand, and I will accomplish all my purpose,' ¹¹*calling a bird of prey from the east, the man of my counsel from a far country. I have spoken, and I will bring it to pass; I have purposed, and I will do it.*

Isa 48:14-15 Assemble, all of you, and listen! Who among them has declared these things? The LORD loves him; he shall perform his purpose on Babylon, and his arm shall be against the Chaldeans. ¹⁵*I, even I, have spoken and called him; I have brought him, and he will prosper in his way.*

Acts 4:27-28 ... for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ²⁸*to do whatever your hand and your plan had predestined to take place.*

Rev 17:17 ... for God has put it into their hearts to carry out his purpose by being of one mind and handing over their royal power to the beast, until the words of God are fulfilled.

As noted earlier in this chapter, this speaks of kings or world powers of the end times working with the beast or anti-Christ, to unwittingly accomplish God's purpose. No matter how evil rulers might be, God can still use them to accomplish his purposes.

✦ Rulers are in effect God's servants:

Rom 13:4a ... for he is God's servant for your good.

The reference is to "governing authorities" (v. 1) or "rulers" (v. 3) in general. Note that Isaiah 41:2 speaks of God calling Cyrus "to his service".

2Sam 17:14 And Absalom and all the men of Israel said, "The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel." For the LORD had ordained^a to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, so that the LORD might bring harm upon Absalom.

^a Hebrew commanded

God caused Absalom and all the men of Israel to follow Hushai's advice, designed to fool them, rather than the sound advice of Ahithophel.

1Ki 18:37 Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that you, O LORD, are God, and that you have turned their hearts back.

Dan 1:9 And God gave Daniel favor and compassion in the sight of the chief of the eunuchs, ...

Luke 9:43b-45 Jesus^b said to his disciples, ⁴⁴"Let these words sink into your ears: The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men." ⁴⁵But they did not understand this saying, and it was concealed from them, so that they might not perceive it. And they were afraid to ask him about this saying.

^b Greek he

It is implicit in this and the following passages from Luke that the lack of perception is caused by God.

Luke 18:31-34 And taking the twelve, he said to them, "See, we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that is written about the Son of Man by the prophets will be accomplished. ³²For he will be delivered over to the Gentiles and will be mocked and shamefully treated and spit upon. ³³And after flogging him, they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise." ³⁴But they understood none of these things. This saying was hidden from them, and they did not grasp what was said.

Luke 24:15-16, 30-31 While they were talking and discussing together, Jesus himself drew near and went with them. ¹⁶But their eyes were kept from recognizing him.  ... ³⁰When he was at table with them, he took the bread and blessed and broke it and gave it to them. ³¹And their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. And he vanished from their sight.

John 12:40 "He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, lest they see with their eyes, and understand with their heart, and turn, and I would heal them."

This is interpreted by many commentators to mean not that God prevented them from believing, but rather because the people had purposely and repeatedly rejected God's message (cf. vv. 37-38), God bestowed on them a judicial blindness and hardening of heart. This mirrors the fact that the consequence of rejecting God's message time after time is that one's capacity to believe is greatly curtailed. A similar point can be made regarding Romans 11:7-8 below; see also 2 Thessalonians 2:11-12 and comment below.

Rom 11:7-8 What then? Israel failed to obtain what it was seeking. The elect obtained it, but the rest were hardened, ⁸as it is written, "God gave them a spirit of stupor, eyes that would not see and ears that would not hear, down to this very day."

2Thes 2:11-12 Therefore God sends them a strong delusion, so that they may believe what is false, ¹²in order that all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

Note that those here that are so deluded by God (v. 11) are ones who themselves "did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness" (v. 12b).

Dan 5:23b God in whose hand is your breath, and whose are all your ways, you have not honored.

God "has power over your life and everything you do" (NCV™; cf. CEV, GNT).

Ecc 9:1a But all this I laid to heart, examining it all, how the righteous and the wise and their deeds are in the hand of God.

God has control over (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV) that which is said to be in his hands. Here this would encompass what the righteous actually do, along with the success and effect of these deeds.

Ecc 3:1-8, 11a For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven: ²a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted; ³a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; ⁴a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; ⁵a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; ⁶a time to seek, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away; ⁷a time to tear, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; ⁸a time to love, and a time to hate; a time for war, and a time for peace.  ... ¹¹*He has made everything beautiful in its time.*

This suggests that God determines a point in time for all the activities people have to do, times in which the activities are appropriate (v. 11). Often it is understood to mean that people will do these things "at the time God chooses" (GNT, v. 1) – making it applicable to this subsection. However, some take the view that it is meaning that God has chosen a fitting time for such things, with the implication that people should try to carry them out when appropriate, at God's chosen time.

1Sam 25:32 And David said to Abigail, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me!"

There is no indication that God overtly directed Abigail to go to meet David; Abigail had acted apparently on her own initiative (cf. vv. 18-20). As such it can be inferred from this verse that Abigail's actions were unconsciously directed by God.

1Sam 26:12 So David took the spear and the jar of water from Saul's head, and they went away. No man saw it or knew it, nor did any awake, for they were all asleep, because a deep sleep from the LORD had fallen upon them.

Ps 105:25 He turned their hearts to hate his people, to deal craftily with his servants.

The reference is to the Egyptians, in particular Pharaoh, who God used so as to allow him to provide a miraculous deliverance for his people.

Isa 63:17 O LORD, why do you make us wander from your ways and harden our heart, so that we fear you not? Return for the sake of your servants, the tribes of your heritage.

Some commentators understand this to be speaking of God confirming the people in their rebellion and sin; certainly he does not initiate it. Alternatively the prophet may be asking why God lets them wander from his ways (cf. GNT, Nlrv, NLT).

Zec 8:10 For before those days there was no wage for man or any wage for beast, neither was there any safety from the foe for him who went out or came in, for I set every man against his neighbor.

The people had previously ignored the need to start building the temple. This led to God's punishment in the form of division and hostility against each other.

... Despite people's plans, their steps are directed by God

Prov 16:1, 9 The plans of the heart belong to man, but the answer of the tongue is from the LORD. ...⁹The heart of man plans his way, but the LORD establishes his steps.

The clause "the answer of the tongue is from the LORD" (v. 1) quite possibly means that God has "the last word" (GNT, cf. CEV). As such v. 1 is saying that a person may make plans, but God has the say on whether or not they come to fruition. This interpretation is reflected in v. 9 – "the LORD directs his steps" (NASB, NKJV; cf. AMP, NRSV).

Prov 19:21 Many are the plans in the mind of a man, but it is the purpose of the LORD that will stand.

Prov 20:24 A man's steps are from the LORD; how then can man understand his way?

Jer 10:23 I know, O LORD, that the way of man is not in himself, that it is not in man who walks to direct his steps.

The implication is that God directs people's steps or ways.

Lam 3:37 Who has spoken and it came to pass, unless the Lord has commanded it?

People's plans for their own activities may well be primarily in view (cf. CEV).

James 4:13-15 Come now, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we will go into such and such a town and spend a year there and trade and make a profit"—¹⁴yet you do not know what tomorrow will bring. What is your life? For you are a mist that appears for a little time and then vanishes. ¹⁵Instead you ought to say, "If the Lord wills, we will live and do this or that."

This is not necessarily meaning that God directs people's steps or ways, but it certainly at least shows that people's steps or plans are subject to God's will.

‡ People die and then their plans come to nothing:

Ex 4:11 Then the LORD said to him, “Who has made man’s mouth? Who makes him mute, or deaf, or seeing, or blind? Is it not I, the LORD?”

Job 2:4-7, 10 Then Satan answered the LORD and said, “Skin for skin! All that a man has he will give for his life. ⁵But stretch out your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse you to your face.” ⁶And the LORD said to Satan, “Behold, he is in your hand; only spare his life.” ⁷So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD and struck Job with loathsome sores from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. ... ¹⁰But he [Job] said to her, “You speak as one of the foolish women would speak. Shall we receive good from God, and shall we not receive evil?”^c In all this Job did not sin with his lips.

^c Or disaster; also verse 11

Although it was Satan who actually afflicted Job (v. 7), in v. 10 Job acknowledges that God was the ultimate source or regulator of the good and bad things that happened to him – as indicated by v. 6 (cf. Job 42:11b-12 ↓). In regard to the use of “evil” (v. 10; Job 42:11b ↓), as the text note suggests, adversity is in view (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV).

Job 5:18 For he wounds, but he binds up; he shatters, but his hands heal.

Eliphaz may be indicating that he sees God as the ultimate source of all injury and healing.

Job 12:6-9 The tents of robbers are at peace, and those who provoke God are secure, who bring their god in their hand.^d ⁷“But ask the beasts, and they will teach you; the birds of the heavens, and they will tell you; ⁸or the bushes of the earth,^e and they will teach you; and the fish of the sea will declare to you. ⁹*Who among all these does not know that the hand of the LORD has done this?*”

^d The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain

^e Or speak to the earth

Verses 7-9 appear to be referring to people’s circumstances being given them by God’s “hand” (v. 9) – including that of the wicked who often prosper, and righteous Job’s miserable lot. Note that the meaning of the Hebrew of “who bring their god in their hand” is uncertain (cf. text note). It may actually be referring to what such people have as being provided by God’s hand (cf. NASB, NKJV).

Job 42:11b-13, 16-17 And they showed him sympathy and comforted him for all the evil^f that the LORD had brought upon him. And each of them gave him a piece of money^g and a ring of gold. ¹²And the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning. And he had 14,000 sheep, 6,000 camels, 1,000 yoke of oxen, and 1,000 female donkeys. ¹³He had also seven sons and three daughters. ... ¹⁶And after this Job lived 140 years, and saw his sons, and his sons’ sons, four generations. ¹⁷And Job died, an old man, and full of days.

Ecc 5:19 Everyone also to whom God has given wealth and possessions and power to enjoy them, and to accept his lot and rejoice in his toil—this is the gift of God.

Just as this verse shows that there are instances when God gives a man wealth and the “power to enjoy them” (cf. Ecc 2:24-25 ↑), note that later the writer indicates that there are also instances of: “a man to whom God gives wealth, possessions, and honor, so that he lacks nothing of all that he desires, yet God does not give him power to enjoy them, but a stranger enjoys them” (6:2).

1Pet 4:19 Therefore let those who suffer according to God’s will entrust their souls to a faithful Creator while doing good.

Although this is not saying that suffering in general is according to God’s will, this does illustrate that some suffering at least is. As such, arguably it is reflective of God being in control of what happens to people.

‡ An example of God appointing a time for an event in an individual’s life:

Rom 9:9 For this is what the promise said: “About this time next year I will return, and Sarah shall have a son.”

Note that one cannot necessarily conclude from this one instance that God appoints a time for every single event or even every key event in each person’s life – although there may be further verses supporting such an assertion.

The barren has borne seven, but she who has many children is forlorn. ⁶The LORD kills and brings to life; he brings down to Sheol and raises up. ⁷The LORD makes poor and makes rich; he brings low and he exalts. ⁸He raises up the poor from the dust; he lifts the needy from the ash heap to make them sit with princes and inherit a seat of honor. For the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and on them he has set the world.*

Note that vv. 4-5, 8 in particular, illustrate God's capacity and inclination to reverse the roles of the privileged (who are often proud, cf. v. 3) and the disadvantaged. Luke 1:52-53 below has a similar theme. The phrase "the feeble bind on strength" (v. 4) speaks of weak people being strengthened.

Luke 1:52-53 ... he has brought down the mighty from their thrones and exalted those of humble estate; ⁵³he has filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he has sent away empty.

2Sam 22:28 You save a humble people, but your eyes are on the haughty to bring them down.

Matt 23:12 Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

These outcomes can be seen as inherent consequences of such actions. But Jesus may well be speaking primarily of God bringing them about.

God determines the length of people's lives . . .

Job 14:5 Since his [man's] days are determined, and the number of his months is with you, and you have appointed his limits that he cannot pass, ...

Ps 37:18 The LORD knows the days of the blameless, and their heritage will remain forever; ...

This may be implying that God controls both the content and number of the days of the blameless. A similar comment could be made regarding Psalms 139:16 above.

Ecc 3:1-2a For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven: ^{2a}a time to be born, and a time to die ...

Some commentators interpret this to mean that God has appointed a time for each person to be born and to die.

Note that this and the following reference also speak of the converse of God bringing death – which is that he brings to life. God gives life in the first place and is even able to raise people from the dead.

Job 14:20 You prevail forever against him [man], and he passes; you change his countenance, and send him away. 📖

Ex 21:12-13 Whoever strikes a man so that he dies shall be put to death. ¹³*But if he did not lie in wait for him, but God let him fall into his hand, then I will appoint for you a place to which he may flee.* 📖

The reference in v. 13 is to killing a person unintentionally. The verse offers clear support for God's sovereignty over human life and death.

Matt 10:29-31 Are not two sparrows sold for a penny?ⁿ And not one of them will fall to the ground apart from your Father. ³⁰*But even the hairs of your head are all numbered.* ³¹*Fear not, therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.* 📖

ⁿ Greek assarion, Roman copper coin (Latin quadrans) worth about 1/16 of a denarius (which was a day's wage for a laborer)

Even the life of a sparrow is in God's hands; how much more then are the lives of Jesus' disciples. The fact that even the hairs of their head are all numbered implies that God is sovereign over and cares for even the minutest details of their lives. This teaching appears to be applicable to all people.

✦ Time and chance undermine a person's control over their own life:

Eccl 9:11 Again I saw that under the sun the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, nor bread to the wise, nor riches to the intelligent, nor favor to those with knowledge, but time and chance happen to them all. 📖

Note that some commentators understand "time and chance" to allude to God's control over people's lives including the apparently indiscriminate events that often occur in them.

e) Addendum: God's Early Dealings with Humankind

From the time he created the first people, God has ruled over them, exerting his authority and control when necessary – as evidenced throughout this section.

God's creation of the first people, in an ideal environment

Gen 2:7-10, 15 ... then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature. ⁸And the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed. ⁹And out of the ground the LORD God made to spring up every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food. The tree of life was in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. ¹⁰A river flowed out of Eden to water the garden, and there it divided and became four rivers.  ... ¹⁵The LORD God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it.

Gen 2:18, 21-25 Then the LORD God said, "It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him a helper fit for^o him."  ... ²¹So the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, and while he slept took one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh. ²²And the rib that the LORD God had taken from the man he made^p into a woman and brought her to the man. ²³Then the man said, "This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man."^q ²⁴Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and they shall become one flesh. ²⁵And the man and his wife were both naked and were not ashamed.

^r Or when you eat

A number of commentators understand the reason for God prohibiting eating from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil was that the acquisition of such knowledge would lead to independence from God, with people trusting in their own limited knowledge and perception of what is and is not good. As such God would not allow people to live forever (cf. Gen 3:22 ↓).

And they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves loincloths.  ... ¹¹He [God] said, "Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten of the tree of which I commanded you not to eat?" ¹²The man said, "The woman whom you gave to be with me, she gave me fruit of the tree, and I ate." ¹³Then the LORD God said to the woman, "What is this that you have done?" The woman said, "The serpent deceived me, and I ate."

Generally Satan is understood to be behind the serpent's action, speaking through the serpent.

Gen 3:16-19, 22-24 To the woman he said, "I will surely multiply your pain in childbearing; in pain you shall bring forth children. Your desire shall be for^u your husband, and he shall rule over you." ¹⁷And to Adam he said, "Because you have listened to the voice of your wife and have eaten of the tree of which I commanded you, 'You shall not eat of it,' cursed is the ground because of you; in pain you shall eat of it all the days of your life; ¹⁸thorns and thistles it shall bring forth for you; and you shall eat the plants of the field. ¹⁹By the sweat of your face you shall eat bread, till you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken; for you are dust, and to dust you shall return." ¶ ... ²²Then the LORD God said, "Behold, the man has become like one of us in knowing good and evil. Now, lest he reach out his hand and take also of the tree of life and eat, and live forever—" ²³therefore the LORD God sent him out from the garden of Eden to work the ground from which he was taken. ²⁴He drove out the man, and at the east of the garden of Eden he placed the cherubim and a flaming sword that turned every way to guard the way to the tree of life. ¶

^u Or against

"Your desire shall be for your husband," (v. 16) probably refers to the woman's attraction and/or devotion to the man, but some interpret it to mean a desire to usurp or breakout of the husband's leadership. The following clause, "he shall rule over you," possibly alludes to a degree of anguish under his rule. Verse 2 effectively speaks of the punishment of death (v. 19; cf. v. 3 ↑), with people no longer able to eat from the tree of life and live forever.

† Cain's murder of Abel and the judgment:

Gen 4:8-12 Cain spoke to Abel his brother.^v And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel and killed him. ⁹Then the LORD said to Cain, "Where is Abel your brother?" He said, "I do not know; am I my brother's keeper?" ¹⁰And the LORD said, "What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood is crying to me from the ground. ¹¹And now you are cursed from the ground, which has opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand. ¹²When you work the ground, it shall no longer yield to you its strength. You shall be a fugitive and a wanderer on the earth." ¶

^v Hebrew; Samaritan, Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate add Let us go out to the field

Cain and Abel were sons of Adam and Eve. Cain's motive arose from his anger over God's acceptance of Abel's offering and rejection of his less than wholehearted offering (cf. vv. 3-5).

The flood and Noah: Escalated sin and judgment; righteousness and salvation

Gen 6:5-14, 17-19 The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. ⁶And the LORD was sorry that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him to his heart. ⁷So the LORD said, "I will blot out man whom I have created from the face of the land, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens, for I am sorry that I have made them." ⁸But Noah found favor in the eyes of the LORD. ⁹These are the generations of Noah. Noah was a righteous man, blameless in his generation. Noah walked with God. ¹⁰And Noah had three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth. ¹¹Now the earth was corrupt in God's sight, and the earth was filled with violence. ¹²And God saw the earth, and behold, it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted their way on the earth. ¹³And God said to Noah, "I have determined to make an end of all flesh,^w for the earth is filled with violence through them. Behold, I will destroy them with the earth. ¹⁴Make yourself an ark of gopher wood.^x Make rooms in the ark, and cover it inside and out with pitch. ¶ ... ¹⁷For behold, I will bring a flood of waters upon the earth to destroy all flesh in which is the breath of life under heaven. Everything that is on the earth shall die. ¹⁸But I will establish my covenant with you, and you shall come into the ark, you, your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives with you. ¹⁹And of every living thing of all flesh, you shall bring two of every sort into the ark to keep them alive with you. They shall be male and female. ¶

^w Hebrew The end of all flesh has come before me

^x An unknown kind of tree; transliterated from Hebrew

Gen 7:1, 4-7 Then the LORD said to Noah, "Go into the ark, you and all your household, for I have seen that you are righteous before me in this generation. ¶ ... ⁴For in seven days I will send rain on the earth forty days and forty nights, and every living thing^y that I have made I will blot out from the face of the ground." ⁵And Noah did all that the LORD had commanded him. ⁶Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters came upon the earth. ⁷And Noah and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him went into the ark to escape the waters of the flood. ¶

^y Hebrew all existence; also verse 23

Gen 7:20-24 The waters prevailed above the mountains, covering them fifteen cubits^z deep. ²¹And all flesh died that moved on the earth, birds, livestock, beasts, all swarming creatures that swarm on the earth, and all mankind. ²²Everything on the dry land in whose nostrils was the breath of life died. ²³He blotted out every living thing that was on the face of the ground, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens. They were blotted out from the earth. Only Noah was left, and those who were with him in the ark. ²⁴And the waters prevailed on the earth 150 days.

^z A cubit was about 18 inches or 45 centimeters

Gen 8:1, 14-19 But God remembered Noah and all the beasts and all the livestock that were with him in the ark. And God made a wind blow over the earth, and the waters subsided.  ... ¹⁴In the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth had dried out. ¹⁵Then God said to Noah, ¹⁶“Go out from the ark, you and your wife, and your sons and your sons’ wives with you. ¹⁷Bring out with you every living thing that is with you of all flesh—birds and animals and every creeping thing that creeps on the earth—that they may swarm on the earth, and be fruitful and multiply on the earth.” ¹⁸So Noah went out, and his sons and his wife and his sons’ wives with him. ¹⁹Every beast, every creeping thing, and every bird, everything that moves on the earth, went out by families from the ark.

✦ God's covenant with Noah and the earth:

Gen 9:8-17 Then God said to Noah and to his sons with him, ⁹“Behold, I establish my covenant with you and your offspring after you, ¹⁰and with every living creature that is with you, the birds, the livestock, and every beast of the earth with you, as many as came out of the ark; it is for every beast of the earth. ¹¹I establish my covenant with you, that never again shall all flesh be cut off by the waters of the flood, and never again shall there be a flood to destroy the earth.” ¹²And God said, “This is the sign of the covenant that I make between me and you and every living creature that is with you, for all future generations: ¹³I have set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. ¹⁴When I bring clouds over the earth and the bow is seen in the clouds, ¹⁵I will remember my covenant that is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh. And the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh. ¹⁶When the bow is in the clouds, I will see it and remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is on the earth.” ¹⁷God said to Noah, “This is the sign of the covenant that I have established between me and all flesh that is on the earth.”

The Tower of Babel: Sinful pride and the dispersion of humankind

Gen 11:1-9 Now the whole earth had one language and the same words. ²And as people migrated from the east, they found a plain in the land of Shinar and settled there. ³And they said to one another, “Come, let us make bricks, and burn them thoroughly.” And they had brick for stone, and bitumen for mortar. ⁴Then they said, “Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower with its top in the heavens, and let us make a name for ourselves, lest we be dispersed over the face of the whole earth.” ⁵And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of man had built. ⁶And the LORD said, “Behold, they are one people, and they have all one language, and this is only the beginning of what they will do. And nothing that they propose to do will now be impossible for them. ⁷Come, let us go down and there confuse their language, so that they may not understand one another’s speech.” ⁸So the LORD dispersed them from there over the face of all the earth, and they left off building the city. ⁹Therefore its name was called Babel, because there the LORD confused^a the language of all the earth. And from there the LORD dispersed them over the face of all the earth.

^a Babel sounds like the Hebrew for confused

Verse 4 suggests that human pride was behind the building of this tower, known as the Tower of Babel. With the people’s pride fuelling their aspirations and accomplishments, God would have foreseen the potential for self-reliance and rebellion against him. As such God confused their language (v. 7), so that they did not speak the same language (v. 6). Moreover – in direct contrast to the people’s second objective for the tower (v. 4b) – God scattered them throughout the earth (v. 9b).

I. General

God's word is our window to God. For through it we learn about God and his relationship with us. Moreover, its unique characteristics and functions have the imprint of God.

Note that in the headings of this chapter "word" is generally used to refer to, or at least apply to, God's written word – the Bible or Scripture. In the verses themselves, more specifically "word" usually refers to either: Scripture itself (as a whole or in particular to God's laws, promises or prophecies); words that God spoke (many of which have been included in Scripture); or the gospel message (which of course is contained in Scripture).

a) What God's Word Comprises

Subsections

- God's word primarily is Scripture
- God's word includes his laws
- God's word includes his covenants and promises
- God's word includes his prophecies
- God's word includes the gospel, proclaimed by his people
- Note: Jesus Christ is the Word of God

God's word primarily is Scripture

Scripture is the writings contained in the Bible.

2Tim 3:16a All Scripture is breathed out by God ...

All Scripture "is inspired by God" (GNT, NASB, NLT, NRSV), which means that effectively all Scripture "is God's Word" (CEV).

Dan 9:2 ... in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, perceived in the books the number of years that, according to the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet, must pass before the end of the desolations of Jerusalem, namely, seventy years.

The "books" were, or included, the writings of the prophets – the "Scriptures" (NCV™, NIV®).

John 10:35 If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be broken—

This speaks of Scripture as "the word of God".

Rom 3:2 Much in every way. To begin with, the Jews were entrusted with the oracles of God.

This refers to the Jews being entrusted with the "the oracles of God" (AMP) in the OT Scriptures. In doing so it indicates that the Scriptures are – or at least contain – "the very words of God" (NIV®).

Ecc 12:11 The words of the wise are like goads, and like nails firmly fixed are the collected sayings; they are given by one Shepherd.

This appears to be a claim of God's inspiration for Ecclesiastes – it being "given by one Shepherd" – and perhaps also for the other "wisdom" books of the Bible.

2Pet 3:15-16a And count the patience of our Lord as salvation, just as our beloved brother Paul also wrote to you according to the wisdom given him, ¹⁶as he does in all his letters when he speaks in them of these matters.

This is not expressly saying that what Paul wrote was God's words – referring to wisdom from God rather than actual words from God – but it does point to this. Additionally, note that in 1 Corinthians 14:37 Paul claims: "...the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord."

Rev 19:9 And the angel said^a to me, "Write this: Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb." And he said to me, "These are the true words of God."

^a Greek he said

The final statement is referring to the earlier one and the preceding verses, but it is also applicable to the whole of the book of Revelation (cf. 22:6) – and the Scriptures in general.

God's word includes his laws

Ex 20:1-3 And God spoke all these words, saying, ²"I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. ³*You shall have no other gods before^b me.*

^b Or besides

This introduces the Ten Commandments (cf. vv. 1-17) – as being spoken by God – followed shortly afterwards by further laws of the old covenant (cf. chs 21-23).

Ex 24:3-4a, 12 Moses came and told the people all the words of the LORD and all the rules.^c And all the people answered with one voice and said, “All the words that the LORD has spoken we will do.”⁴ And Moses wrote down all the words of the LORD. ...¹² The LORD said to Moses, “Come up to me on the mountain and wait there, that I may give you the tablets of stone, with the law and the commandment, which I have written for their instruction.”

^c Or all the just decrees

Note that 32:16 says of the tablets, “The tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, engraved on the tablets.” As such they were “written with the finger of God” (Deut 9:10), who “wrote on the tablets ... the Ten Commandments” (Deut 10:4).

Ps 147:19 He declares his word to Jacob, his statutes and rules^d to Israel.

^d Or and just decrees

Isa 2:3b For out of Zion shall go the law,^e and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

^e Or teaching

Isa 5:24 Therefore, as the tongue of fire devours the stubble, and as dry grass sinks down in the flame, so their root will be as rotteness, and their blossom go up like dust; for they have rejected the law of the LORD of hosts, and have despised the word of the Holy One of Israel.

God's word includes his covenants and promises

Ex 34:27-28 And the LORD said to Moses, “Write these words, for in accordance with these words I have made a covenant with you and with Israel.”²⁸ So he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights. He neither ate bread nor drank water. And he wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Commandments.^f

^f Hebrew the ten words

This speaks of words of God forming God's covenant with Israel.

Deut 33:9b For they observed your word and kept your covenant.

This associates, even correlates, God's word and his covenant.

Ps 105:8-9 He remembers his covenant forever, the word that he commanded, for a thousand generations, ⁹the covenant that he made with Abraham, his sworn promise to Isaac, ...

2Sam 7:28 And now, O Lord GOD, you are God, and your words are true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant.

1Ki 8:25-26 Now therefore, O LORD, God of Israel, *keep for your servant David my father what you have promised him, saying, ‘You shall not lack a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons pay close attention to their way, to walk before me as you have walked before me.’*²⁶ Now therefore, O God of Israel, let your word be confirmed, which you have spoken to your servant David my father.

Ps 119:49 Remember your word to your servant, in which you have made me hope.

Here God's “word” is his “promise” (CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

God's word includes his prophecies

2Ki 20:16-17 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, “Hear the word of the LORD: ¹⁷Behold, the days are coming, when all that is in your house, and that which your fathers have stored up till this day, shall be carried to Babylon. Nothing shall be left, says the LORD.”

Jer 36:2 Take a scroll and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel and Judah and all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah until today.

Prophecies regarding the future of nations are referred to here, ones which are included in the book of Jeremiah.

Ezek 6:1-4 The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them, ³and say, You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains and the hills, to the ravines and the valleys: Behold, I, even I, will bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high places. ⁴Your altars shall become desolate, and your incense altars shall be broken, and I will cast down your slain before your idols.”

Dan 9:2 ... in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, perceived in the books the number of years that, according to the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet, must pass before the end of the desolations of Jerusalem, namely, seventy years.

Zeph 2:5 Woe to you inhabitants of the seacoast, you nation of the Cherethites! The word of the LORD is against you, O Canaan, land of the Philistines; and I will destroy you until no inhabitant is left.

Rev 1:1-3 The revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show to his servants^g the things that must soon take place. He made it known by sending his angel to his servant^h John, ²who bore witness to the word of God and to the testimony of Jesus Christ, even to all that he saw. ³Blessed is the one who reads aloud the words of this prophecy, and blessed are those who hear, and who keep what is written in it, for the time is near.

^h Greek bondservant

God's word includes the gospel, proclaimed by his people

Most of the following verses do not actually use the word "gospel", but it is clearly what is being referred to in the references to God's word.

Acts 8:25 Now when they had testified and spoken the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel to many villages of the Samaritans.

Acts 13:5 When they arrived at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had John to assist them.

1Cor 15:1-2 Now I would remind you, brothers,ⁱ of the gospel I preached to you, which you received, in which you stand, ²and by which you are being saved, if you hold fast to the word I preached to you—unless you believed in vain.

ⁱ Or brothers and sisters; also verses 6, 31, 50, 58

The "word" (v. 2) Paul preached to the Corinthians was essentially God's word – "the gospel" (v. 1).

Phil 1:14 And most of the brothers, having become confident in the Lord by my imprisonment, are much more bold to speak the word^j without fear.

^j Some manuscripts add of God

The text note indicates that some manuscripts add "of God", clearly indicating that the gospel spoken by the believers was "the word of God".

Col 1:25 ... of which I became a minister according to the stewardship from God that was given to me for you, to make the word of God fully known, ...

1Thes 2:13 And we also thank God constantly^k for this, that when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers.

^k Or without ceasing

Titus 1:3 ... and at the proper time manifested in his word through the preaching with which I have been entrusted by the command of God our Savior; ...

Note: Jesus Christ is the Word of God

Many people link the description of Jesus Christ as the "Word" of God with God acting by or through his word (cf. God made and maintains all things by his word or command, p. 214; and Note: God acts by his word, p. 315). This link reflects the fact that God works through Jesus Christ (cf. d\) Epilogue: God Works through Jesus Christ, p. 530).

Rev 19:13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in^l blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God.

John 1:1, 14 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.  ... ¹⁴*And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us*, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth.

John's description of Jesus Christ as "the Word" points to Jesus Christ's deity, as well as the claim that God spoke through Jesus Christ, with him being the Word of God.

1Jn 1:1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we looked upon and have touched with our hands, concerning the word of life—

Commentators differ over whether "the word of life" refers to Jesus Christ or to the gospel message. Most modern translations capitalize "word", implying the former. One could argue from this that the title "the word of life" alludes to Jesus Christ as being the one in whom God's message of life was manifested, and as such to him being "the word of God".

‡ Paul's writings included Jesus Christ's commands:

1Cor 14:37 If anyone thinks that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord.

In Paul's letters, "Lord" is usually understood to refer to Jesus Christ. Thus this indicates that what Paul wrote contained or included commands of Jesus Christ and so – in light of the above teaching – was in effect God's word.

God has given his word by the Holy Spirit . . .

See also:

- . . . Examples of the Holy Spirit enabling believers to speak in other languages and to prophesy, p. 1432

2Pet 1:20-21 ... knowing this first of all, that no prophecy of Scripture comes from someone's own interpretation. ²¹For no prophecy was ever produced by the will of man, but men spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit.

Neh 9:30 Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets. Yet they would not give ear. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.

Zec 7:12 They made their hearts diamond-hard lest they should hear the law and the words that the LORD of hosts had sent by his Spirit through the former prophets. Therefore great anger came from the LORD of hosts.

Undoubtedly many of these "words" that God sent by his Holy Spirit through the prophets include passages recorded in the OT.

2Sam 23:1-4 Now these are the last words of David: The oracle of David, the son of Jesse, the oracle of the man who was raised on high, the anointed of the God of Jacob, the sweet psalmist of Israel:^m ²*The Spirit of the LORD speaks by me; his word is on my tongue.* ³*The God of Israel has spoken; the Rock of Israel has said to me: When one rules justly over men, ruling in the fear of God,* ⁴*he dawns on them like the morning light, like the sun shining forth on a cloudless morning, like rainⁿ that makes grass to sprout from the earth.*

^mOr the favorite of the songs of Israel

ⁿHebrew from rain

As with the following passages, it can be inferred from this that God spoke by the Holy Spirit (recorded here through David).

Ezek 11:5 And the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and he said to me, "Say, Thus says the LORD: So you think, O house of Israel. For I know the things that come into your mind.

Acts 4:25 ... [God] who through the mouth of our father David, your servant,^o said by the Holy Spirit, "Why did the Gentiles rage, and the peoples plot in vain?

^o Or child; also verses 27, 30

Heb 3:7-11 Therefore, as the Holy Spirit says, "Today, if you hear his voice,⁸ do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion, on the day of testing in the wilderness, ⁹where your fathers put me to the test and saw my works for forty years. ¹⁰Therefore I was provoked with that generation, and said, "They always go astray in their heart; they have not known my ways. ¹¹As I swore in my wrath, "They shall not enter my rest."

The fact that God was speaking through the Holy Spirit is reflected by the quotation being attributed to the Holy Spirit (v. 7), while in the quotation "I" refers to God (vv. 9-11). This assertion is supported by Hebrews 4:3 which in quoting Psalm 95:11 (quoted here in v. 11) directly attributes the words to God, "...as he [God] has said, "As I swore in my wrath, 'They shall not enter my rest'".

Heb 10:15-17 And the Holy Spirit also bears witness to us; for after saying, ¹⁶"This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, declares the Lord: I will put my laws on their hearts, and write them on their minds,"¹⁷ then he adds, "I will remember their sins and their lawless deeds no more."

As per 3:7-11 above, the quotation is attributed to the Holy Spirit (v. 15), while in the quotation "I" refers to God (vv. 16-17) – thus implying that God was speaking through the Holy Spirit.

... Further mention of Scripture coming by the Holy Spirit

Mark 12:36 David himself, in the Holy Spirit, declared, "The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, until I put your enemies under your feet."

As with the following couple of references from Acts, this illustrates Scripture or God's Word coming by the Holy Spirit in attributing an OT quotation to him.

Acts 1:16 Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus.

Acts 28:25-26 And disagreeing among themselves, they departed after Paul had made one statement: "The Holy Spirit was right in saying to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet: ²⁶"Go to this people, and say, You will indeed hear but never understand, and you will indeed see but never perceive."

Eph 3:4-5 When you read this, you can perceive my insight into the mystery of Christ, ⁵which was not made known to the sons of men in other generations as it has now been revealed to his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit.

The "mystery of Christ" – God's message about Christ – was revealed through the Holy Spirit to God's "holy apostles and prophets" (v. 5), presumably inclusive of all the writers of the NT. As such this points to the NT generally as being God's word revealed through the Holy Spirit.

1Pet 1:10-11 Concerning this salvation, the prophets who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours searched and inquired carefully, ¹¹inquiring what person or time the Spirit of Christ in them was indicating when he predicted the sufferings of Christ and the subsequent glories.

That referred to here as what the prophets spoke of (v. 10) is that which the Holy Spirit "predicted" (v. 11) – i.e. the sufferings of the Messiah given by the Holy Spirit in OT prophecies.

Rev 2:7 He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the one who conquers I will grant to eat of the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.

The book of Revelation is the word of God as testified to by Jesus Christ (cf. 1:1-2). The fact that here Jesus Christ specifically refers to parts of it as being "what the Spirit says" (cf. 2:11, 17, 29; 3:6, 13, 22) suggests that the Holy Spirit played a key role in the imparting of it (cf. Rev 1:10-11 ↓).

✦ John was "in the Spirit" when he began receiving Revelation:

Rev 1:10-11 I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice like a trumpet ¹¹saying, "Write what you see in a book and send it to the seven churches, to Ephesus and to Smyrna and to Pergamum and to Thyatira and to Sardis and to Philadelphia and to Laodicea."

The term "in the Spirit" is understood by a number of commentators as referring to a heightened state of spirituality, through the Holy Spirit. Two other possibilities, similar to this one, are that: it speaks of the Holy Spirit's enablement and influence – "the Spirit took control of me" (CEV, GNT); and it refers to John being "in tune" with or in fellowship with the Holy Spirit. These interpretations are not mutually exclusive and all three point to the Spirit having a critical role in John writing Revelation.

1Ki 2:3 ... and keep the charge of the LORD your God, walking in his ways and keeping his statutes, his commandments, his rules, and his testimonies, as it is written in the Law of Moses, that you may prosper in all that you do and wherever you turn, ...

The Law is sometimes referred to as “the Law of Moses” indicative of it being given through him.

To signify that he had given (or would give) Jeremiah his words to speak, God touched Jeremiah’s mouth. This may have occurred in a vision; some think this actually took place, in a physical sense.

Dan 9:10 ... and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God by walking in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

Note that in referring to God’s “laws”, in the latter part of the verse Daniel may have Moses primarily in view or may more generally be speaking of the “teachings” (CEV, NASB, NCV) and commands given by the prophets.

Mic 1:1 The word of the LORD that came to Micah of Moresheth in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

Micah subsequently spoke the “word” that God gave him.

Hag 1:1, 12-13 In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came by the hand of Haggai the prophet to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest: ... ¹²Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him. And the people feared the LORD. ¹³Then Haggai, the messenger of the LORD, spoke to the people with the LORD's message, "I am with you, declares the LORD."

Zec 7:12 They made their hearts diamond-hard lest they should hear the law and the words that the LORD of hosts had sent by his Spirit through the former prophets. Therefore great anger came from the LORD of hosts.

† God showed Ezekiel things in visions, which he was to tell the people:

Ezek 40:1-4 In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city was struck down, on that very day, the hand of the LORD was upon me, and he brought me to the city.^s ²In visions of God he brought me to the land of Israel, and set me down on a very high mountain, on which was a structure like a city to the south. ³When he brought me there, behold, there was a man whose appearance was like bronze, with a linen cord and a measuring reed in his hand. And he was standing in the gateway. ⁴And the man said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes, and hear with your ears, and set your heart upon all that I shall show you, for you were brought here in order that I might show it to you. Declare all that you see to the house of Israel."

^s Hebrew brought me there

In addition to actual words of God, descriptions of things that God shows in a vision are in effect also part of his word or message. Note that God gave Ezekiel a number of visions.

Note that the last clause probably means that God gave to Jesus Christ the Spirit without any limit (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

John 14:24 Whoever does not love me does not keep my words. And the word that you hear is not mine but the Father's who sent me.

John 12:49-50 For I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has himself given me a commandment—what to say and what to speak. ⁵⁰And I know that his commandment is eternal life. What I say, therefore, I say as the Father has told me.

In v. 2, “the word of God and ... the testimony of Jesus Christ” appears to refer to the book of Revelation, which God gave Jesus Christ to disclose (v. 1). In contrast, “the word of God and the testimony of Jesus” (v. 9) may instead refer to the gospel and Jesus’ testimony to God’s word during his mission, with it being given as the reason for John’s imprisonment or exile on Patmos. In v. 5, “Jesus Christ the faithful witness” is speaking of Christ’s faithfulness in his conveying of God’s word.

Rom 1:2 ... which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, ...

Ps 105:42 For he remembered his holy promise, and Abraham, his servant.

Rom 7:12 So the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

Deut 4:8 And what great nation is there, that has statutes and rules so righteous as all this law that I set before you today?

Ps 12:6 The words of the LORD are pure words, like silver refined in a furnace on the ground, purified seven times.

The description of God’s words as being “pure” (cf. Ps 19:8 ) reflects that they are holy and righteous.

Ps 19:8-9 ... the precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes; ⁹the fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever; the rules^v of the LORD are true, and righteous altogether.

^v Or just decrees

In v. 9, “fear” is understood by many as a reference to the law, alluding to the fact that one of its purposes was to inspire fear of God (cf. NIV) and/or that fear of God leads one to obey his law. In a sense the fear of the LORD is effectively what the law requires of us (cf. NSB).

Ps 33:4 For the word of the LORD is upright, and all his work is done in faithfulness.

Ps 119:7, 123, 137-138, 144, 172 I will praise you with an upright heart, when I learn your righteous rules.^w ... ¹²³My eyes long for your salvation and for the fulfillment of your righteous promise. ... ¹³⁷Righteous are you, O LORD, and right are your rules. ¹³⁸You have appointed your testimonies in righteousness and in all faithfulness. ... ¹⁴⁴Your testimonies are righteous forever; give me understanding that I may live. ... ¹⁷²My tongue will sing of your word, for all your commandments are right.

^w Or your just and righteous decrees; also verses 62, 106, 160, 164

The occurrences of "right" (vv. 137, 172; cf. Ps 19:8 ↑; Neh 9:13 ↓) indicate or reflect that God's commands are righteous or upright (cf. NASB, NRSV). Here "testimonies" (vv. 138, 144) denote rules or decrees.

Neh 9:13 You came down on Mount Sinai and spoke with them from heaven and gave them right rules and true laws, good statutes and commandments, ...

Heb 6:5 ... and have tasted the goodness of the word of God and the powers of the age to come, ...

Prov 30:5 Every word of God proves true; he is a shield to those who take refuge in him.

John 21:24 This is the disciple who is bearing witness about these things, and who has written these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

Rev 19:9 And the angel said^y to me, "Write this: Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb." And he said to me, "These are the true words of God."

^y Greek he said

Rev 21:5 And he who was seated on the throne said, "Behold, I am making all things new." Also he said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true."

1Ki 17:24 And the woman said to Elijah, "Now I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in your mouth is truth."

Ps 119:43, 160 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth, for my hope is in your rules. ... ¹⁶⁰The sum of your word is truth, and every one of your righteous rules endures forever.

"The sum of your word" (v. 160) means all of God's word.

Ecc 12:10 The Preacher sought to find words of delight, and uprightly he wrote words of truth.

"The Preacher" refers to the person who wrote Ecclesiastes, possibly Solomon or a later editor. As such this speaks of what is ultimately God's word as being true.

John 17:17 Sanctify them^z in the truth; your word is truth.

^z Greek Set them apart (for holy service to God)

Here "your word" may be referring to Scripture generally, the gospel message primarily or, possibly, Jesus himself.

Ps 19:7, 9 The law of the LORD is perfect,^a reviving the soul; the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple; ... ⁹the fear of the LORD is clean, enduring forever; the rules^b of the LORD are true, and righteous altogether.

^a Or blameless

^b Or just decrees

In conjunction with being true (v. 9) God's word/law is perfect (v. 7; cf. James 1:25 ↓) and sure (v. 7; cf. Ps 119:86 ↓).

Ps 111:7 The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy; ...

Ps 119:86 All your commandments are sure; they persecute me with falsehood; help me!

James 1:25 But the one who looks into the perfect law, the law of liberty, and perseveres, being no hearer who forgets but a doer who acts, he will be blessed in his doing.

Matt 5:18 For truly, I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not an iota, not a dot, will pass from the Law until all is accomplished.

As he does here, Jesus often introduced his teachings with “truly, I say to you”, underlining the importance and truthfulness of the words to follow.

Luke 1:1-4 Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the things that have been accomplished among us, ²*just as those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word have delivered them to us*, ³*it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus*, ⁴*that you may have certainty concerning the things you have been taught*.

Luke’s Gospel was based on eyewitnesses’ accounts and careful investigation, to show the certainty – or truth – of gospel teaching (cf. John 21:24 ↑).

John 10:35 If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be broken—

The clause “Scripture cannot be broken” is often understood to be a reference to the inerrancy of God’s word, meaning that it cannot be faulted, being true and remaining so. Hence the inclusion of this verse here. However it may instead mean that Scripture cannot be “altered” (NLT) or “annulled” (NRSV).

1Ki 8:56 Blessed be the LORD who has given rest to his people Israel, according to all that he promised. Not one word has failed of all his good promise, which he spoke by Moses his servant.

2Ki 10:10 Know then that there shall fall to the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab, for the LORD has done what he said by his servant Elijah.

The phrase “fall to the earth” speaks of failure.

Isa 44:26 ... [God] who confirms the word of his servant and fulfills the counsel of his messengers, who says of Jerusalem, ‘She shall be inhabited,’ and of the cities of Judah, ‘They shall be built, and I will raise up their ruins’; ...

Jer 1:12 Then the LORD said to me, “You have seen well, for I am watching over my word to perform it.”

Jer 39:16 Go, and say to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, “Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold, I will fulfill my words against this city for harm and not for good, and they shall be accomplished before you on that day.”

The fulfillment spoken of here is testified to in Lamentations 2:17 below.

Lam 2:17 The LORD has done what he purposed; he has carried out his word, which he commanded long ago; he has thrown down without pity; he has made the enemy rejoice over you and exalted the might of your foes.

Ezek 12:25 For I am the LORD; I will speak the word that I will speak, and it will be performed. It will no longer be delayed, but in your days, O rebellious house, I will speak the word and perform it, declares the Lord GOD.

Zec 1:6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? So they repented and said, As the LORD of hosts purposed to deal with us for our ways and deeds, so has he dealt with us.

God’s words – primarily threatened judgments – “caught up with” (CEV) the people’s ancestors.

Matt 2:14-18, 22-23 And he rose and took the child and his mother by night and departed to Egypt ¹⁵and remained there until the death of Herod. This was to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet, “Out of Egypt I called my son.” ¹⁶Then Herod, when he saw that he had been tricked by the wise men, became furious, and he sent and killed all the male children in Bethlehem and in all that region who were two years old or under, according to the time that he had ascertained from the wise men. ¹⁷Then was fulfilled what was spoken by the prophet Jeremiah: ¹⁸"A voice was heard in Ramah, weeping and loud lamentation, Rachel weeping for her children; she refused to be comforted, because they are no more." ... ²²But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there, and being warned in a dream he withdrew to the district of Galilee. ²³And he went and lived in a city called Nazareth, that what was spoken by the prophets might be fulfilled: "He shall be called a Nazarene."

Acts 1:16 Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus.

Acts 3:17-18 And now, brothers, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. ¹⁸But what God foretold by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer, he thus fulfilled.

Rev 10:7 ... but that in the days of the trumpet call to be sounded by the seventh angel, the mystery of God would be fulfilled, just as he announced to his servants the prophets.

^c Greek bondservants

This "mystery of God" which he had announced (by his word) to the prophets appears to primarily refer to his quashing of all evil and enforcement of his rule, eternally (cf. 11:15-18).

✦ It is God's word that stands:

Jer 44:28 And those who escape the sword shall return from the land of Egypt to the land of Judah, few in number; and all the remnant of Judah, who came to the land of Egypt to live, shall know whose word will stand, mine or theirs.

God's word is living and active

See also:

- Note: God acts by his word, p. 315
- Note: God's word and truth dwell in his people – but not in others, p. 869

Two reasons for describing God's word as "living" are that it never ceases to be pertinent and it keeps on influencing and affecting people. The latter reason also shows it to be active. Note that the following subsection also reflects that God's word is living and active.

Heb 4:12a For the word of God is living and active ...

Acts 7:38b He [Moses] received living oracles to give to us.

1Pet 1:23 ...since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; ...

1Jn 2:14 I write to you, fathers, because you know him who is from the beginning. I write to you, young men, because you are strong, and the word of God abides in you, and you have overcome the evil one.

God's word "lives" (GNT, NCV, NIV; cf. NLT) in believers.

2Jn 1:1-2 The elder to the elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not only I, but also all who know the truth, ²because of the truth that abides in us and will be with us forever: ...

Acts 12:24 But the word of God increased and multiplied.

1Thes 2:13 And we also thank God constantly^d for this, that when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers.

^d Or without ceasing

2Tim 2:8-9 Remember Jesus Christ, risen from the dead, the offspring of David, as preached in my gospel, ⁹for which I am suffering, bound with chains as a criminal. But the word of God is not bound!

Although Paul was imprisoned – with his activities curtailed – in contrast God's word was not. It continued to spread and change people's lives.

God's word is powerful

Heb 4:12 For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart.

God's word can penetrate to the very depths of our inner-selves, exposing our thoughts and intentions for what they really are.

Jer 5:14 Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of hosts: "Because you have spoken this word, behold, I am making my words in your mouth a fire, and this people wood, and the fire shall consume them."

The use of "fire" (cf. Jer 20:9 ↓; Jer 23:29 ↓) depicts the power and intensity of God's words, particularly applicable in the case of his words of judgment. The declaration that it would consume the people probably alludes to its fulfillment, which would bring their destruction (cf. Jer 23:29 ↓; Hos 6:5 ↓).

Jer 20:9 If I say, "I will not mention him, or speak any more in his name," there is in my heart as it were a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I am weary with holding it in, and I cannot.

Jeremiah found that he was not able to refrain from speaking the word of God given to him to proclaim. Its intensity was such that he could not hold it in.

Jer 23:29 Is not my word like fire, declares the LORD, and like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?

The second simile depicts the destructive power of the fulfillment of God's words of judgment.

Hos 6:5 Therefore I have hewn them by the prophets; I have slain them by the words of my mouth, and my judgment goes forth as the light.

God's words, spoken by the prophets, cut and slew the unrepentant people, pronouncing their condemnation with frightening judgments – which if not heeded would kill the people on their fulfillment (cf. Jer 5:14 ↑).

Acts 19:20 So the word of the Lord continued to increase and prevail mightily.

This speaks of God's word triumphing in power over spiritual opposition.

Eph 6:17 ... and take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, ...

The description of God's word as "the sword of the Spirit", the only offensive weapon listed in "the whole armor of God" (cf. vv. 13-17), emphasizes its power and thrust.

✦ God's word accomplishes his purpose for it:

Isa 55:10-11 For as the rain and the snow come down from heaven and do not return there but water the earth, making it bring forth and sprout, giving seed to the sower and bread to the eater, ¹¹so shall my word be that goes out from my mouth; it shall not return to me empty, but it shall accomplish that which I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it.

Romans 9:6a similarly refers to the fact that God's word does not fail – "... it is not as though the word of God has failed."

God's word is everlasting

1Pet 1:23-25 ...since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; ²⁴for "All flesh is like grass and all its glory like the flower of grass. The grass withers, and the flower falls, ²⁵but the word of the Lord remains forever." And this word is the good news that was preached to you.

A number of commentators assert that the imperishable "seed" refers to "the living and abiding word of God" (cf. CEV). Alternatively it may allude to God's own immortality (cf. GNT).

Ps 111:7-8 The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy; ⁸*they are established forever and ever,* to be performed with faithfulness and uprightness.

In v. 8, "they" may well be referring to God's precepts (v. 7b; cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NirV, NLT), hence the inclusion of the verse here. But note that the reference could instead be to his works (v. 7a), being "performed" in faithfulness and uprightness (v. 8b).

Ps 119:89, 144, 152, 160 Forever, O LORD, your word is firmly fixed in the heavens.  ... ¹⁴⁴*Your testimonies are righteous forever; give me understanding that I may live.*  ... ¹⁵²*Long have I known from your testimonies that you have founded them forever.*  ... ¹⁶⁰*The sum of your word is truth, and every one of your righteous rules endures forever.*

Verse 89b may be implying that God's word "stands firm as the heavens" (AMP; cf. CEV, Matt 5:18 ↓). Or it may have in view the authority or standing of God's word over all things.

Matt 5:18 For truly, I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not an iota, not a dot, will pass from the Law until all is accomplished.

The phrase "until all is accomplished" refers to Jesus fulfilling "all" of which the law spoke. Presumably this will come to pass in full at the consummation of his work at the end of the age.

Matt 24:35 Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

Note: God's word surpasses everything of this world

Ps 138:2 I bow down toward your holy temple and give thanks to your name for your steadfast love and your faithfulness, for you have exalted above all things your name and your word.^e

^e Or you have exalted your word above all your name

Ps 19:10 More to be desired are they [the ordinances of God] than gold, even much fine gold; sweeter also than honey and drippings of the honeycomb.

God's word is "sweeter ... than honey" in that it brings pure enjoyment, like honey, but even more so.

Ps 119:96 I have seen a limit to all perfection, but your commandment is exceedingly broad.

The most perfect things of this world have limitations – but not God's commands. The implication may well be that God's word is the only thing in this world that is entirely perfect (cf. CEV, GNT).

✦ God's promises are precious and very great:

2Pet 1:4 ... by which he has granted to us his precious and very great promises, so that through them you may become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped from the corruption that is in the world because of sinful desire.

God's word is also spoken of as great in Psalms 119:162 – "I rejoice at your word like one who finds great spoil."

On it you shall not do any work, you or your son or your daughter or your male servant or your female servant, or your ox or your donkey or any of your livestock, or the sojourner who is within your gates, that your male servant and your female servant may rest as well as you. ¹⁵You shall remember that you were a slave^h in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God brought you out from there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the LORD your God commanded you to keep the Sabbath day. ¹⁶"Honor your father and your mother, as the LORD your God commanded you, that your days may be long, and that it may go well with you in the land that the LORD your God is giving you. ¹⁷"You shall not murder.ⁱ ¹⁸"And you shall not commit adultery. ¹⁹"And you shall not steal. ²⁰"And you shall not bear false witness against your neighbor. ²¹"And you shall not covet your neighbor's wife. And you shall not desire your neighbor's house, his field, or his male servant, or his female servant, his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor's.'²²"These words the LORD spoke to all your assembly at the mountain out of the midst of the fire, the cloud, and the thick darkness, with a loud voice; and he added no more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me. *

ⁱ The Hebrew word also covers causing human death through carelessness or negligence

That the Ten Commandments (vv. 7-21; cf. Ex 20:1-17) are made known by God's word – in what he said and wrote – is clearly indicated in vv. 4-5, 22.

Num 15:31 Because he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken his commandment, that person shall be utterly cut off; his iniquity shall be on him.

Although having a negative context, this and 1 Kings 13:21b below do indicate or at least imply that God's word makes known his commands.

1Ki 13:21b Because you have disobeyed the word of the LORD and have not kept the command that the LORD your God commanded you, ...

Ps 119:172 My tongue will sing of your word, for all your commandments are right.

Ps 147:19 He declares his word to Jacob, his statutes and rules to Israel.

^j Or and just decrees

Isa 1:10 Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom! Give ear to the teaching^k of our God, you people of Gomorrah!

^k Or law

The "teaching of our God" primarily has God's law in view (cf. text note).

Isa 2:3 ... and many peoples shall come, and say: "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob, that he may teach us his ways and that we may walk in his paths." For out of Zion shall go the law,^l and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

^l Or teaching

God makes known his "ways" or law through his word.

✦ Through God's word one knows God's will:

Rom 2:18 ... and [you] know his will and approve what is excellent, because you are instructed from the law; ...

Through learning God's word or law, one is able to gain a good knowledge of God's will – here primarily God's will for us, regarding how he wants us to live. The term "what is excellent" quite possibly is speaking of what is best or "what is right" (CEV, GNT, Nlrv) as in knowing "right from wrong" (NLT).

God's word make known to Solomon God's plan, which was dependant on Solomon's obedience. God planned to fulfill his covenant promise to David and to remain amongst the people, most prominently in the newly completed temple (v. 12a).

Isa 38:4-6 Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah: ⁵"Go and say to Hezekiah, Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: I have heard your prayer; I have seen your tears. Behold, I will add fifteen years to your life.^m ⁶I will deliver you and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria, and will defend this city.

Jer 29:10 For thus says the LORD: When seventy years are completed for Babylon, I will visit you, and I will fulfill to you my promise and bring you back to this place.

Lam 2:17 The LORD has done what he purposed; he has carried out his word, which he commanded long ago; he has thrown down without pity; he has made the enemy rejoice over you and exalted the might of your foes.

Heb 6:13-14 For when God made a promise to Abraham, since he had no one greater by whom to swear, he swore by himself, ¹⁴saying, "Surely I will bless you and multiply you."

✦ God's gospel of Jesus Christ is made known – in part at least – through the prophetic writings in God's word:

Rom 16:25-26 Now to him who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery that was kept secret for long ages ²⁶but has now been disclosed and through the prophetic writings has been made known to all nations, according to the command of the eternal God, to bring about the obedience of faith—

Eph 1:13 In him you also, when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation, and believed in him, were sealed with the promised Holy Spirit, ...

On believing God's word, the gospel of our salvation, one is included in Christ and marked as such with a seal – the Holy Spirit – providing and ensuring one's salvation.

2Tim 3:15 ... and how from childhood you have been acquainted with the sacred writings, which are able to make you wise for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus.

James 1:18, 21 Of his own will he brought us forth by the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures.  ... ²¹Therefore put away all filthiness and rampant wickedness and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.

Verse 18 speaks of the key role of God's word in the rebirth of believers (cf. 1Pet 1:23 ↓), which of course leads to salvation (v. 21).

1Pet 1:23 ... since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; ...

1Pet 2:2 Like newborn infants, long for the pure spiritual milk, that by it you may grow up into salvation—

The "pure spiritual milk" most likely primarily refers to God's word – "the pure milk of the word" (NKJV).

John 5:24 Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life. He does not come into judgment, but has passed from death to life.

‡ Salvation is far from those who ignore God's word:

Ps 119:155 Salvation is far from the wicked, for they do not seek your statutes.

God's word plays a role in sanctification

Sanctification refers to the process in which believers are made holy. This is primarily achieved through Jesus Christ's sacrificial death. Additionally, believers are continually being transformed by God, becoming more like Jesus Christ and increasingly devoid of sin.

John 15:3 Already you are clean because of the word that I have spoken to you.

By Jesus imparting his God-given words to the disciples, they were cleansed of that which is sinful.

John 17:17 Sanctify them^o in the truth; your word is truth.

^o Greek Set them apart (for holy service to God)

Here Jesus effectively prays that God would sanctify his people by his word.

Acts 20:32 And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up and to give you the inheritance among all those who are sanctified.

This suggests that God's word sanctifies, by virtue of the fact that it builds up believers and qualifies them for an inheritance that belongs to those who are sanctified.

Eph 5:25-27 Husbands, love your wives, as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her, ²⁶*that he might sanctify her, having cleansed her by the washing of water with the word,* ²⁷*so that he might present the church to himself in splendor, without spot or wrinkle or any such thing, that she might be holy and without blemish.*^p

^p Or holy and blameless

The phrase "washing with water" (v. 26) is understood by some to be a reference to baptism, but more often it is seen simply as a figurative description of Christ's cleansing of the church through its exposure to God's word (v. 26). As such, in conjunction with his death, through the word Jesus Christ makes the church holy.

1Tim 4:4-5 For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving, ⁵*for it is made holy by the word of God and prayer.*

Although food is primarily in view here (cf. v. 3), v. 5 illustrates that God's word sanctifies.

Deut 32:2 May my teaching drop as the rain, my speech distill as the dew, like gentle rain upon the tender grass, and like showers upon the herb.

Here Moses asserts that his teaching rejuvenates and nourishes, fostering spiritual growth. This can be applied to all God's word and the spiritual growth and renewal that it brings to believers – aspects of their sanctification.

‡ God's word is at work in those who believe:

1Thes 2:13 And we also thank God constantly^a for this, that when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers.

^a Or without ceasing

This in part points to the sanctifying work of God's word in believers.

God's word helps people avoid sin

Ps 119:9-11, 127-128, 165 How can a young man keep his way pure? By guarding it according to your word. ¹⁰With my whole heart I seek you; let me not wander from your commandments! ¹¹*I have stored up your word in my heart, that I might not sin against you.*  ... ¹²⁷*Therefore I love your commandments above gold, above fine gold.* ¹²⁸*Therefore I consider all your precepts to be right; I hate every false way.*  ... ¹⁶⁵*Great peace have those who love your law; nothing can make them stumble.*

In v. 165, "stumble" is quite possibly a reference to committing sin, as is the similar expression "his steps do not slip", below in Psalms 37:31.

Ps 17:4 With regard to the works of man, by the word of your lips I have avoided the ways of the violent.

Ps 37:31 The law of his God is in his heart; his steps do not slip.

2Pet 1:4 ... by which he has granted to us his precious and very great promises, so that through them you may become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped from the corruption that is in the world because of sinful desire.

1Jn 2:1 My little children, I am writing these things to you so that you may not sin. But if anyone does sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.

John 16:1 I have said all these things to you to keep you from falling away.

Jesus told his disciples about coming persecutions (cf. 15:18-25), so that when these did come his disciples would not fall away – which is indeed sin. Likewise, taking such words of Jesus to heart helps keep us from faltering or falling away in times of persecution and hardship.

‡ God's people are warned by his word:

Ps 19:11 Moreover, by them [God's rules] is your servant warned; in keeping them there is great reward.

God's word helps people learn to fear God

God's word helps people learn to revere and fear God by teaching about who he is, what he has done, what he requires of us and the consequences of not obeying him.

Deut 4:10 ... how on the day that you stood before the LORD your God at Horeb, the LORD said to me, 'Gather the people to me, that I may let them hear my words, so that they may learn to fear me all the days that they live on the earth, and that they may teach their children so.'

Deut 17:18-19 And when he sits on the throne of his kingdom, he shall write for himself in a book a copy of this law, approved by^r the Levitical priests. ¹⁹*And it shall be with him, and he shall read in it all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the LORD his God by keeping all the words of this law and these statutes, and doing them, ...*

^r Hebrew from before

Deut 31:12-13 Assemble the people, men, women, and little ones, and the sojourner within your towns, that they may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, and be careful to do all the words of this law, ¹³*and that their children, who have not known it, may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as you live in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.*

Prov 2:1-2, 5 My son, if you receive my words and treasure up my commandments with you, ²*making your ear attentive to wisdom and inclining your heart to understanding;*  ... ⁵*then you will understand the fear of the LORD and find the knowledge of God.*

God's word encourages people

Rom 15:4 For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. 📖

1Thes 4:16-18 For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. ¹⁷Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we will always be with the Lord. ¹⁸Therefore encourage one another with these words. 📖

Heb 12:5-6 And have you forgotten the exhortation that addresses you as sons? "My son, do not regard lightly the discipline of the Lord, nor be weary when reproved by him. ⁶For the Lord disciplines the one he loves, and chastises every son whom he receives." 📖

In exhorting us (v. 5), God's word encourages us (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT) to think and act as God wants.

Rom 16:25 Now to him who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery that was kept secret for long ages ... 📖

Strengthening is an aspect and goal of encouragement. This verse may be meaning that God strengthens people in the faith through the proclamation of the gospel (cf. CEV, NCV, NIV); hence the verse's inclusion here. Alternatively, it may be speaking of God strengthening people as being consistent with the gospel's message (AMP; cf. GNT, NLT).

✦ God's word brings comfort:

Ps 119:50, 52 This is my comfort in my affliction, that your promise gives me life. 📖 ... ⁵²*When I think of your rules from of old, I take comfort, O LORD.* 📖

In v. 50 the psalmist says that his comfort in suffering is God's promise which preserves or renews ("revives", NLT) his life, through the hope that it gives. Perhaps the reason the psalmist found comfort in God's laws (v. 52) was that in obeying them he could be confident that he remained in God's will and could look forward to the fulfillment of it, including God's promises.

Other roles of God's word

1Sam 3:21 And the LORD appeared again at Shiloh, for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel at Shiloh by the word of the LORD. 📖

Here "word" is probably referring to direct revelation or God's spoken word, rather than God's written word. But the concept of God revealing himself through his "word" can certainly be applied to his written word.

Hos 4:1 Hear the word of the LORD, O children of Israel, for the LORD has a controversy with the inhabitants of the land. There is no faithfulness or steadfast love, and no knowledge of God in the land; ... 📖

This verse speaks of God making a charge against the people. It illustrates that God admonishes his people through his word, which is very common in the OT.

1Tim 4:4-5 For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving, ⁵*for it is made holy by the word of God and prayer.* 📖

The expression "the word of God and prayer" may have in view the use/role of God's word in prayer or as the basis for prayer. Alternatively "the word of God" could instead be referring to God's word teaching that all food is acceptable (cf. . . . Believers are released from the food regulations of the law, p. 656).

Heb 4:12 For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart. 📖

As noted earlier, a person's thoughts and attitudes are shown clearly for what they are in the light of God's word. Thus it allows a person's thoughts and attitudes to be judged, by the person themselves and also by others. But note that God's judgment may what is primarily in view here (cf. v. 13).

✦ On Judgment Day people will be judged in the light of Jesus' words, including their response to them:

John 12:48 The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has a judge; the word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day. 📖

- Note: Jesus Christ is the Word of God, p. 300

The references to God's "word" in this subsection are essentially speaking of his command. These verses imply that God merely needs to command things to be done for them to happen.

Ps 33:6 By the word of the LORD the heavens were made, and by the breath of his mouth all their host.

2Pet 3:5 For they deliberately overlook this fact, that the heavens existed long ago, and the earth was formed out of water and through water by the word of God, ...

Ps 147:15-18 He sends out his command to the earth; his word runs swiftly. ¹⁶He gives snow like wool; he scatters hoarfrost like ashes. ¹⁷He hurls down his crystals of ice like crumbs; who can stand before his cold? ¹⁸He sends out his word, and melts them; he makes his wind blow and the waters flow.

This passage suggests that God controls nature by his word (vv. 15, 18a).

Ps 107:20 He sent out his word and healed them, and delivered them from their destruction.

Isa 55:11 ... so shall my word be that goes out from my mouth; it shall not return to me empty, but it shall accomplish that which I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it.

✦ Jesus Christ sustains all things by his powerful word:

Heb 1:3a He is the radiance of the glory of God and the exact imprint of his nature, and he upholds the universe by the word of his power.

Lev 18:5 You shall therefore keep my statutes and my rules; if a person does them, he shall live by them: I am the LORD.

Deut 8:3 And he humbled you and let you hunger and fed you with manna, which you did not know, nor did your fathers know, that he might make you know that man does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word^s that comes from the mouth of the LORD.

^s Hebrew by all

The supernatural provision of manna by God through his command or word, demonstrated that it is God's word which is the ultimate source of life's sustenance. This is true of both his spoken and written word, and is applicable to both physical and spiritual life.

Deut 32:46-47 ... he said to them, "Take to heart all the words by which I am warning you today, that you may command them to your children, that they may be careful to do all the words of this law. ⁴⁷*For it is no empty word for you, but your very life, and by this word you shall live long in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.*"

The Israelites' lives were to be based on God's word. By taking God's words to heart the Israelites would have life (cf.

Lev 18:5 †). Possibly a fullness of life is partly in view, along with longevity.

Ps 119:93 I will never forget your precepts, for by them you have given me life. 📖

The psalmist appears to have in view the strength and meaning he found in God's word reviving (cf. NASB, NLT) and/or preserving (cf. GNT, NIV) his life during affliction.

Prov 7:2 ... keep my commandments and live; keep my teaching as the apple of your eye; ... 📖

God is not the speaker here. Rather it appears that the writer is addressing a son. But biblical wisdom literature – as with all Scripture – is accepted as God's word, inspired by God. As such these "commandments" are correlated with God's word and commands.

Prov 19:16 Whoever keeps the commandment keeps his life; he who despises his ways will die. 📖

... including spiritual and eternal life

John 5:24 Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life. He does not come into judgment, but has passed from death to life. 📖

John 6:63, 68 [Jesus:] It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh is no help at all. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. 📖 ... ⁶⁸Simon Peter answered him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life, ... 📖

In v. 63b Jesus appears to be saying that his words are spiritual, producing spiritual or eternal life. With the preceding reference to the Holy Spirit giving life (v. 63a), Jesus may well be implying that it is by the Holy Spirit that his words produce this life.

John 8:51 Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death. 📖

John 20:31 ... but these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name. 📖

John wrote in his gospel of certain miraculous signs of Jesus (cf. v. 30), so that in reading it people would believe in Jesus and so "have life in his name".

Phil 2:16 ... holding fast to the word of life, so that in the day of Christ I may be proud that I did not run in vain or labor in vain. 📖

† The Scriptures testify about Jesus Christ (in whom is eternal life):

John 5:39 You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me, ... 📖

Jesus appears to be meaning that the Jewish leaders studied OT Scripture as an end in itself, thinking that doing this alone would lead to eternal life. Thus they failed to look beyond OT Scripture to whom the Scriptures testified, in whom is eternal life. In effect they failed to believe the Scriptures (cf. vv. 46-47).

Light

See also:

- Instead of living in darkness, live according to the light and truth . . ., p. 1862
- . . . Insights on living in darkness and living in God's light and truth, p. 1863

God's word gives "light" in the sense that it gives insight, which is largely what is in view in the verses here – and is reflected in the following pair of subsections. Also bear in mind that God's word also gives "light" in the sense that it leads to well-being or salvation, turning the darkness of one's circumstances to light (cf. . . . God gives his people light even amidst darkness, p. 910). Such outcomes are an effect of the insight and hope that God's word gives – and/or a product of God's favor towards those who live by his word.

Ps 19:8 ... the precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes; ... 📖

God's commands "light up the way" (NCV™), "giving insight to life" (NLT).

Ps 119:105, 130 Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path. 📖 ... ¹³⁰*The unfolding of your words gives light; it imparts understanding to the simple.* 📖

Prov 6:22-23 When you walk, they^t will lead you; when you lie down, they will watch over you; and when you awake, they will talk with you. ²³*For the commandment is a lamp and the teaching a light, and the reproofs of discipline are the way of life, ...* 📖

^t Hebrew it; three times in this verse

Note that in saying "when you lie down, they will watch over you" (v. 22), the writer appears to be referring to the security and peace that is produced by following God's word.

John 8:12 Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

Jesus and his teaching give light (cf. Jesus came to bring spiritual light into the world . . ., p. 510).

Heb 10:32 But recall the former days when, after you were enlightened, you endured a hard struggle with sufferings, ...

The spiritual light of the gospel is referred to here.

Knowledge

See also:

- d) God's Knowledge and Wisdom [blessings of obeying God], p. 40

Isa 51:7 Listen to me, you who know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; fear not the reproach of man, nor be dismayed at their revilings.

Luke 1:3-4 ... it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, that you may have certainty concerning the things you have been taught.

Along with providing knowledge, Scripture provides confidence in the truthfulness of it.

John 8:31-32 So Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him, "If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples, ³²and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

Hos 4:6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge; because you have rejected knowledge, I reject you from being a priest to me. And since you have forgotten the law of your God, I also will forget your children.

In ignoring God's law the people had effectively rejected knowledge (cf. Jer 8:9 ↓). Thus this correlates God's law with knowledge.

Dan 9:2 ... in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, perceived in the books the number of years that, according to the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet, must pass before the end of the desolations of Jerusalem, namely, seventy years.

This and the remaining references illustrate that Scripture teaches and gives knowledge, by stating particular things that we learn or come to know through Scripture.

John 20:9 ... for as yet they did not understand the Scripture, that he must rise from the dead.

Gal 3:8 And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify^u the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham, saying, "In you shall all the nations be blessed."

^u Or count righteous; also verses 11, 24

Scripture made known elements of the gospel.

1Jn 5:13 I write these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God that you may know that you have eternal life.

‡ Not knowing God's work leads to error:

Matt 22:29 But Jesus answered them, "You are wrong, because you know neither the Scriptures nor the power of God."

A corollary of God's word giving knowledge is that not knowing it leads to error (cf. Hos 4:6 †).

Wisdom

See also:

- Fear of God is the beginning of wisdom and knowledge, p. 1160

Deut 4:5-6 See, I have taught you statutes and rules, as the LORD my God commanded me, that you should do them in the land that you are entering to take possession of it. ⁶*Keep them and do them, for that will be your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the peoples, who, when they hear all these statutes, will say, 'Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.'*

God's laws give reliable instruction as to what is best to do in life. Those who observe them are recognized as wise by others (v. 6).

Ps 119:24, 98-100, 104 Your testimonies are my delight; they are my counselors.  ... ⁹⁸*Your commandment makes me wiser than my enemies, for it is ever with me.* ⁹⁹*I have more understanding than all my teachers, for your testimonies are my meditation.* ¹⁰⁰*I understand more than the aged,^v for I keep your precepts.*  ... ¹⁰⁴*Through your precepts I get understanding; therefore I hate every false way.*

^v Or the elders

The psalmist could say that God's laws were his "counselors" (v. 24), for they gave him sound direction as to which paths to take.

Jer 8:8-9 How can you say, 'We are wise, and the law of the LORD is with us'? But behold, the lying pen of the scribes has made it into a lie. ⁹The wise men shall be put to shame; they shall be dismayed and taken; behold, they have rejected the word of the LORD, so what wisdom is in them?

The people's assertion that wisdom came with the word of the LORD (v. 8a) was correct, but they were mistaken in thinking that they had the word of the LORD (v. 8b).

Dan 9:13 As it is written in the Law of Moses, all this calamity has come upon us; yet we have not entreated the favor of the LORD our God, turning from our iniquities and gaining insight by your truth.

Matt 7:24, 26 Everyone then who hears these words of mine and does them will be like a wise man who built his house on the rock. ... ²⁶*And everyone who hears these words of mine and does not do them will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand.*

God had given the psalmist hope by his word, or promise (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

Rom 15:4 For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope.

Col 1:23 ... if indeed you continue in the faith, stable and steadfast, not shifting from the hope of the gospel that you heard, which has been proclaimed in all creation^w under heaven, and of which I, Paul, became a minister.

† The gospel tells of "the hope" stored in heaven:

Col 1:5 ... because of the hope laid up for you in heaven. Of this you have heard before in the word of the truth, the gospel, ...

Here "the hope" refers to the object of our hope, i.e. what we hope for.

Joy

Neh 8:8, 12 They read from the book, from the Law of God, clearly,^x and they gave the sense, so that the people understood the reading. ... ¹²*And all the people went their way to eat and drink and to send portions and to make great rejoicing, because they had understood the words that were declared to them.*

^x Or with interpretation, or paragraph by paragraph

Note that v. 9 tells of the people weeping in response to what was being read. Thus it shows that God's word can also bring sorrow when it convicts people of how they have failed to live up to what it requires.

Ps 19:8a ... the precepts of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart; ...

Ps 119:111 Your testimonies are my heritage forever, for they are the joy of my heart.

Jer 15:16 Your words were found, and I ate them, and your words became to me a joy and the delight of my heart, for I am called by your name, O LORD, God of hosts.

1Jn 1:4 And we are writing these things so that our^y joy may be complete.

^y Some manuscripts your

If the meaning given by the text note was intended (cf. NCV, NKJV), then this attests to the joy given by the writings of the Scriptures to its readers.

† God's word brings peace:

Ps 119:165 Great peace have those who love your law; nothing can make them stumble.

Those who love (and so live by) God's laws have great peace – peace with God, inner peace and no needless conflict with others.

Freedom

Ps 119:45 ... and I shall walk in a wide place, for I have sought your precepts.

The psalmist appears to be speaking of freedom from things that ordinarily confine or burden a person. Possibly sin and its effects are in view (cf. John 8:31-32 ↓), but in the context it is more likely emotional burdens and oppression that normally would have accompanied hard times.

John 8:31-32 So Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him, "If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples, ³²and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

This is probably primarily referring to freedom from sin (cf. vv. 34-36).

James 1:25 But the one who looks into the perfect law, the law of liberty, and perseveres, being no hearer who forgets but a doer who acts, he will be blessed in his doing.

The "law of liberty" (cf. James 2:12 ↓) refers to God's word (cf. vv. 22-24) – seemingly including the OT moral law as interpreted by the NT. This "law" that Christians are under gives liberty/freedom from both OT rigorous regulations and sin.

James 2:12 So speak and so act as those who are to be judged under the law of liberty.

Note: Rejecting and not keeping God's word brings his judgment

Isa 30:9, 12-13 For they are a rebellious people, lying children, children unwilling to hear the instruction of the LORD;  ... ¹²Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel, "Because you despise this word and trust in oppression and perverseness and rely on them, ¹³therefore this iniquity shall be to you like a breach in a high wall, bulging out, and about to collapse, whose breaking comes suddenly, in an instant; ...

2Chr 36:16 But they kept mocking the messengers of God, despising his words and scoffing at his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD rose against his people, until there was no remedy.

Prov 13:13 Whoever despises the word brings destruction on himself, but he who reveres the commandment will be rewarded.

Isa 5:24 Therefore, as the tongue of fire devours the stubble, and as dry grass sinks down in the flame, so their root will be as rottenness, and their blossom go up like dust; for they have rejected the law of the LORD of hosts, and have despised the word of the Holy One of Israel.

Jer 6:10-12, 19 To whom shall I speak and give warning, that they may hear? Behold, their ears are uncircumcised, they cannot listen; behold, the word of the LORD is to them an object of scorn; they take no pleasure in it. ¹¹Therefore I am full of the wrath of the LORD; I am weary of holding it in. "Pour it out upon the children in the street, and upon the gatherings of young men, also; both husband and wife shall be taken, the elderly and the very aged. ¹²Their houses shall be turned over to others, their fields and wives together, for I will stretch out my hand against the inhabitants of the land," declares the LORD.  ... ¹⁹Hear, O earth; behold, I am bringing disaster upon this people, the fruit of their devices, because they have not paid attention to my words; and as for my law, they have rejected it.

Hos 8:12-13 Were I to write for him my laws by the ten thousands, they would be regarded as a strange thing. ¹³As for my sacrificial offerings, they sacrifice meat and eat it, but the LORD does not accept them. Now he will remember their iniquity and punish their sins; they shall return to Egypt.

The clause "they shall return to Egypt" (v. 13b) speaks figuratively of Israel returning to slavery, which this time would be in Assyria.

Zec 7:12-14 They made their hearts diamond-hard lest they should hear the law and the words that the LORD of hosts had sent by his Spirit through the former prophets. Therefore great anger came from the LORD of hosts. ¹³"As I^z called, and they would not hear, so they called, and I would not hear," says the LORD of hosts, ¹⁴"and I scattered them with a whirlwind among all the nations that they had not known. Thus the land they left was desolate, so that no one went to and fro, and the pleasant land was made desolate."

Matt 7:26-27 And everyone who hears these words of mine and does not do them will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand. ²⁷And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it.

John 12:47-48 If anyone hears my words and does not keep them, I do not judge him; for I did not come to judge the world but to save the world. ⁴⁸The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has a judge; the word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day. 📖

Those who have known Jesus' words will be judged in accordance with having known the teaching and by the content of it. This means that those who have rejected and not obeyed it will be condemned (v. 48b).

1Cor 14:37-38 *If anyone thinks that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord. ³⁸*If anyone does not recognize this, he is not recognized. 📖

The final clause may be speaking of being "not recognized" by God or Jesus Christ, presumably on judgment day. Alternatively, it may be speaking of church members expelling such people.

✦ Those who fail to take hold of God's word:

Luke 8:11-14 *Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. ¹²*The ones along the path are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not believe and be saved.* ¹³*And the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear the word, receive it with joy. But these have no root; they believe for a while, and in time of testing fall away.* ¹⁴*And as for what fell among the thorns, they are those who hear, but as they go on their way they are choked by the cares and riches and pleasures of life, and their fruit does not mature. 📖

The two groups portrayed in vv. 13-14 show some interest in God's word, but lack commitment to it. Additionally, the group in v. 14 are noted as having higher priorities.

- a) God's New Covenant, p. 664

A covenant is a solemn agreement between two parties. As indicated earlier, God's covenants are a key aspect of his word – along with his commands, prophecies and promises.

God's covenants with people were all initiated by God. They generally confirmed his relationship with the persons concerned – who were or who became his people. The covenants included binding promises by God of blessings for his people, reflecting his purposes for them. In some cases God's covenants also outlined what God required of his people and how they were to relate to him.

God's covenants with Abraham, Israel and David are prime instances of the role of God's word. They expound pivotal promises and (in the covenant with Israel) laws of God. They also form the background of God's relationship with his people today. Learning about them enables us to better understand the significance of much of the NT's teachings.

God called Abraham to go to the land of Canaan – and Abraham went

Gen 12:1, 4-6 Now the LORD said^a to Abram, "Go from your country and your kindred and your father's house to the land that I will show you. ☞ ... ⁴So Abram went, as the LORD had told him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran. ⁵And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all their possessions that they had gathered, and the people that they had acquired in Haran, and they set out to go to the land of Canaan. Note that Abraham's name was initially "Abram". God later changed it to "Abraham" (cf. Gen 17:5 ↓).

Acts 7:2-4 And Stephen said: "Brothers and fathers, hear me. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran, ³and said to him, 'Go out from your land and from your kindred and go into the land that I will show you.' ⁴Then he went out from the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran. And after his father died, God removed him [Abraham] from there into this land in which you are now living. ☞

God "removed him" (v. 4) in the sense that God had him move.

Heb 11:8-9 By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place that he was to receive as an inheritance. And he went out, not knowing where he was going. ⁹By faith he went to live in the land of promise, as in a foreign land, living in tents with Isaac and Jacob, heirs with him of the same promise. ☞

I gave him Isaac. ☞

Subsequently, God made a covenant with Abraham, promising him: countless descendants; the land of Canaan; . . .

God made an everlasting covenant with the Israelite's ancestor Abraham, aspects of which were included in God's later covenant with Israel. In the covenant God promised Abraham that if he obeyed, God would: give him countless descendants; give his descendants the land of Canaan; and bless all nations through him (as per the following subsection). In conjunction with this, God would be Abraham's and his descendants' God.

Gen 15:1-7, 18-21 After these things the word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision: "Fear not, Abram, I am your shield; your reward shall be very great."² But Abram said, "O Lord GOD, what will you give me, for I continue^c childless, and the heir of my house is Eliezer of Damascus?"³ And Abram said, "Behold, you have given me no offspring, and a member of my household will be my heir."⁴ And behold, *the word of the LORD came to him: "This man shall not be your heir; your very own son^d shall be your heir."*⁵ *And he brought him outside and said, "Look toward heaven, and number the stars, if you are able to number them." This was a confirmation (v. 2) of the covenant recorded in 15:4-7, 18-21 above, and indicated it was to be an "everlasting covenant" (vv. 7, 19). Its promises were fulfilled through Abraham's second son Isaac (v. 19, 21) borne by his wife Sara – rather than his first son Ishmael (cf. vv. 20) borne by Sara's maidservant Hagar. This was reiterated later in 21:12 – "...through Isaac shall your offspring be named." In turn the promises were fulfilled through Isaac's second son Jacob – who was later renamed "Israel" – and his descendants (cf. 28:10-15).

¹¹By faith Sarah herself received power to conceive, even when she was past the age, since she considered him faithful who had promised. ¹²Therefore from one man, and him as good as dead, were born descendants as many as the stars of heaven and as many as the innumerable grains of sand by the seashore. 𐀀 ... ¹⁷By faith Abraham, when he was tested, offered up Isaac, and he who had received the promises was in the act of offering up his only son, ¹⁸of whom it was said, "Through Isaac shall your offspring be named." ¹⁹He considered that God was able even to raise him from the dead, from which, figuratively speaking, he did receive him back.

God also required Abraham to direct his children and his household to obey God.

Gen 22:1-2, 9-12, 15-18 After these things God tested Abraham and said to him, "Abraham!" And he said, "Here am I." ²He said, "Take your son, your only son Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a burnt offering on one of the mountains of which I shall tell you."  ...⁹When they came to the place of which God had told him, Abraham built the altar there and laid the wood in order and bound Isaac his son and laid him on the altar, on top of the wood. ¹⁰Then Abraham reached out his hand and took the knife to slaughter his son. ¹¹But the angel of the LORD called to him from heaven and said, "Abraham, Abraham!" And he said, "Here am I." ¹²He said, "Do not lay your hand on the boy or do anything to him, for now I know that you fear God, seeing you have not withheld your son, your only son, from me."  ...¹⁵And the angel of the LORD called to Abraham a second time from heaven ¹⁶and said, "By myself I have sworn, declares the LORD, because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your only son, ¹⁷I will surely bless you, and I will surely multiply your offspring as the stars of heaven and

Ps 105:8-11 He remembers his covenant forever, the word that he commanded, for a thousand generations, ⁹the covenant that he made with Abraham, his sworn promise to Isaac, ¹⁰which he confirmed to Jacob as a statute, to Israel as an everlasting covenant, ¹¹saying, “To you I will give the land of Canaan as your portion for an inheritance.”

This appears to be speaking of God making or confirming his covenant with: Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and “the people of Israel” (NLT). The following references speak of God affirming with the Israelite people the promise of the Abrahamic covenant to give Abraham’s descendants the land of Canaan.

Ex 33:1 The LORD said to Moses, “Depart; go up from here, you and the people whom you have brought up out of the land of Egypt, to the land of which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, ‘To your offspring I will give it.’”

The first mention of Jacob being renamed “Israel” occurs in 32:24-30, which contains the account of Jacob struggling with God, or at least an angel of God (cf. Hos 12:3-4). As a result of Jacob being renamed “Israel”, his descendants were called the people of Israel or Israelites. Note that “Israel” is usually understood to mean: “he strives with God”. This was significant, for the people of Israel would frequently struggle with God.

Note: God made circumcision the sign of the covenant with Abraham and his descendants

Gen 17:9-14 And God said to Abraham, “As for you, you shall keep my covenant, you and your offspring after you throughout their generations. ¹⁰This is my covenant, which you shall keep, between me and you and your offspring after you: Every male among you shall be circumcised. ¹¹You shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskins, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and you. ¹²He who is eight days old among you shall be circumcised. Every male throughout your generations, whether born in your house or bought with your money from any foreigner who is not of your offspring, ¹³both he who is born in your house and he who is bought with your money, shall surely be circumcised. So shall my covenant be in your flesh an everlasting covenant. ¹⁴Any uncircumcised male who is not circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin shall be cut off from his people; he has broken my covenant.”

Acts 7:8 And he gave him the covenant of circumcision. And so Abraham became the father of Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day, and Isaac became the father of Jacob, and Jacob of the twelve patriarchs.

Rom 4:11 He [Abraham] received the sign of circumcision as a seal of the righteousness that he had by faith while he was still uncircumcised.

In association with being a sign of the covenant, the sign of circumcision was a “seal” of the righteousness that Abraham was accredited with by God for believing God’s covenant promise that Abraham would be the father of countless descendants (cf. Gen 15:5-6).

‡ The sign of circumcision would be included in God’s covenant with Israel:

Lev 12:1-3 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, ‘If a woman conceives and bears a male child, then she shall be unclean seven days. As at the time of her menstruation, she shall be unclean. ³And on the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised.’”

God made the nation of Israel . . .

Deut 32:6 Do you thus repay the LORD, you foolish and senseless people? Is not he your father, who created you, who made you and established you?

Isa 43:1, 15, 20-21 But now thus says the LORD, he who created you, O Jacob, he who formed you, O Israel: "Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name, you are mine. ... ¹⁵I am the LORD, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King." ... ²⁰The wild beasts will honor me, the jackals and the ostriches, for I give water in the wilderness, rivers in the desert, to give drink to my chosen people, ²¹*the people whom I formed for myself* that they might declare my praise.

Note that with the nation of Israel getting its name from its ancestor Jacob who was renamed "Israel", sometimes it is referred to as "Jacob" (v. 1; Isa 44:2, 21 ↓; Isa 41:8 ↓).

Isa 44:2, 21 Thus says the LORD who made you, who formed you from the womb and will help you: Fear not, O Jacob my servant, Jeshurun whom I have chosen. ... ²¹Remember these things, O Jacob, and Israel, for you are my servant; I formed you; you are my servant; O Israel, you will not be forgotten by me.

Isa 45:11 Thus says the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and the one who formed him: "Ask me of things to come; will you command me concerning my children and the work of my hands?"^x ^x A slight emendation yields will you question me about my children, or command me concerning the work of my hands?

Here God refers to Israel as "my children... the work of my hands" (cf. Isa 64:8 ↓), referring to the fact that he is "the one who formed" Israel.

Ps 95:6 Oh come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the LORD, our Maker!

Ps 100:3 Know that the LORD, he is God! It is he who made us, and we are his;^y we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

^y Or and not we ourselves

Isa 64:8 But now, O LORD, you are our Father; we are the clay, and you are our potter; we are all the work of your hand.

This and Malachi 2:10a below are probably speaking of Israel's creation as a nation, but note that it is possible that the physical creation of each individual one of them is primarily in view.

Mal 2:10a Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us?

Ex 4:22 Then you shall say to Pharaoh, 'Thus says the LORD, Israel is my firstborn son, ...'

The description of Israel as "my firstborn son" reflects the fact that God created Israel, while also alluding to Israel's prominent status amongst the nations.

. . . The people of Israel were Abraham's descendants

The people of Israel were Abraham's descendants through Isaac, his second son, and then Jacob, Isaac's second son. Making the nation of Israel from Abraham's descendants was a key part of God's fulfillment of his covenant promise to Abraham that he would give him countless descendants (cf. Heb 11:11-12 ↓).

2Chr 20:7 Did you not, our God, drive out the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel, and give it forever to the descendants of Abraham your friend?

Isa 41:8 But you, Israel, my servant, Jacob, whom I have chosen, the offspring of Abraham, my friend; ...

Isa 51:1-2 Listen to me, you who pursue righteousness, you who seek the LORD: look to the rock from which you were hewn, and to the quarry from which you were dug. ²*Look to Abraham your father and to Sarah who bore you; for he was but one when I called him, that I might bless him and multiply him.*

Here God calls on the faithful amongst the people of Israel to reflect upon their roots – their amazing creation from just one man, Abraham, and his wife Sarah.

Luke 1:54-55 He has helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy, ⁵⁵*as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his offspring forever.*

Rom 11:1 I ask, then, has God rejected his people? By no means! For I myself am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham,^z a member of the tribe of Benjamin.

^z Or one of the offspring of Abraham

✦ God fulfilled his promise to Abraham of giving him countless descendants:

Heb 11:11-12 By faith Sarah herself received power to conceive, even when she was past the age, since she considered him faithful who had promised. ¹²*Therefore from one man, and him as good as dead, were born descendants as many as the stars of heaven and as many as the innumerable grains of sand by the seashore.*

God redeemed the Israelites out of Egypt to take them as his own . . .

In redeeming the Israelites from enslavement in Egypt, God in a sense bought them as his own, making them his people. (See the introductory comment on c) Jesus Christ's Death and Redemption from Sin, p. 596.)

Ex 6:6-7 Say therefore to the people of Israel, 'I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment. ⁷*I will take you to be my people, and I will be your God, and you shall know that I am the LORD your God, who has brought you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians.*

2Sam 7:23-24 And who is like your [God's] people Israel, the one nation on earth whom God went to redeem to be his people, making himself a name and doing for them^a great and awesome things by driving out^b before your people, whom you redeemed for yourself from Egypt, a nation and its gods? ²⁴*And you established for yourself your people Israel to be your people forever.* And you, O LORD, became their God.

And when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and no plague will befall you to destroy you, when I strike the land of Egypt.

^d Hebrew between the two evenings

The young male lamb (vv. 3, 5-7) was to be sacrificed as a substitute for each family, in particular each firstborn male, with its shed blood symbolizing redemption.

Ex 12:28-33 Then the people of Israel went and did so; as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did. ²⁹At midnight the LORD struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the dungeon, and all the firstborn of the livestock. ³⁰And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants and all the Egyptians. And there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where someone was not dead. ³¹Then he summoned Moses and Aaron by night and said, "Up, go out from among my people, both you and the people of Israel; and go, serve the LORD, as you have said. ³²Take your flocks and your herds, as you have said, and be gone, and bless me also!" ³³The Egyptians were urgent with the people to send them out of the land in haste. For they said, "We shall all be dead."

Ex 12:40-42 The time that the people of Israel lived in Egypt was 430 years. ⁴¹At the end of 430 years, on that very day, all the hosts of the LORD went out from the land of Egypt. ⁴²It was a night of watching by the LORD, to bring them out of the land of Egypt; so this same night is a night of watching kept to the LORD by all the people of Israel throughout their generations.

Ex 14:5-6, 9-10, 15-16, 21-22 When the king of Egypt was told that the people had fled, the mind of Pharaoh and his servants was changed toward the people, and they said, "What is this we have done, that we have let Israel go from serving us?" ⁶So he made ready his chariot and took his army with him, ...

⁹The Egyptians pursued them, all Pharaoh's horses and chariots and his horsemen and his army, and overtook them encamped at the sea, by Pi-hahiroth, in front of Baal-zephon. ¹⁰When Pharaoh drew near, the people of Israel lifted up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians were marching after them, and they feared greatly. And the people of Israel cried out to the LORD. ... ¹⁵The LORD said to Moses, "Why do you cry to me? Tell the people of Israel to go forward. ¹⁶Lift up your staff, and stretch out your hand over the sea and divide it, that the people of Israel may go through the sea on dry ground. ... ²¹Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the LORD drove the sea back by a strong east wind all night and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. ²²And the people of Israel went into the midst of the sea on dry ground, the waters being a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

Ex 14:23-28 The Egyptians pursued and went in after them into the midst of the sea, all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen. ²⁴And in the morning watch the LORD in the pillar of fire and of cloud looked down on the Egyptian forces and threw the Egyptian forces into a panic, ²⁵clogging^e their chariot wheels so that they drove heavily. And the Egyptians said, "Let us flee from before Israel, for the LORD fights for them against the Egyptians." ²⁶Then the LORD said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand over the sea, that the water may come back upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen." ²⁷So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the sea returned to its normal course when the morning appeared. And as the Egyptians fled into it, the LORD threw^f the Egyptians into the midst of the sea. ²⁸The waters returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen; of all the host of Pharaoh that had followed them into the sea, not one of them remained.

† God had earlier performed a number of miraculous signs, culminating in the deaths of the Egyptian firstborn and Israel's deliverance:

Ps 105:26-38 He sent Moses, his servant, and Aaron, whom he had chosen. ²⁷They performed his signs among them and miracles in the land of Ham. ²⁸He sent darkness, and made the land dark; they did not rebel^g against his words. ²⁹He turned their waters into blood and caused their fish to die. ³⁰Their land swarmed with frogs, even in the chambers of their kings. ³¹He spoke, and there came swarms of flies, and gnats throughout their country. ³²He gave them hail for rain, and fiery lightning bolts through their land. ³³He struck down their vines and fig trees, and shattered the trees of their country. ³⁴He spoke, and the locusts came, young locusts without number, ³⁵which devoured all the vegetation in their land and ate up the fruit of their ground. ³⁶He struck down all the firstborn in their land, the firstfruits of all their strength. ³⁷Then he brought out Israel with silver and gold, and there was none among his tribes who stumbled. ³⁸Egypt was glad when they departed, for dread of them had fallen upon it.

^g Septuagint, Syriac omit not

The miraculous signs – which involved plagues – are recorded in Exodus 7-11.

God chose Israel out of all the nations to be his holy people . . .

Note that other people were not totally excluded from coming to God – as indicated later in Foreigners were accepted into Israel and able to worship God, p. 330. But the Israelites were the ones that God chose to firstly be his people – “the firstfruits of his harvest” (Jer 2:3).

Lev 20:24b, 26 I am the LORD your God, who has separated you from the peoples.  ... ²⁶*You shall be holy to me, for I the LORD am holy and have separated you from the peoples, that you should be mine.*

Deut 7:6-8 For you are a people holy to the LORD your God. The LORD your God has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth. ⁷It was not because you were more in number than any other people that the LORD set his love on you and chose you, for you were the fewest of all peoples, ⁸but it is because the LORD loves you and is keeping the oath that he swore to your fathers, that the LORD has brought you out with a mighty hand and redeemed you from the house of slavery, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt.

God describes Israel as his “treasured possession” on a number of occasions (cf. Deut 26:18 ↓). Somewhat similarly, Psalms 148:14 describes Israel as “the people of Israel who are near to him”.

Deut 26:18-19 And the LORD has declared today that you are a people for his treasured possession, as he has promised you, and that you are to keep all his commandments, ¹⁹and that he will set you in praise and in fame and in honor high above all nations that he has made, and that you shall be a people holy to the LORD your God, as he promised.

Note that v. 19a speaks of the honor God would bestow on Israel, his holy people.

Ps 135:4 For the LORD has chosen Jacob for himself, Israel as his own possession.

1Ki 8:53 For you separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be your heritage, as you declared through Moses your servant, when you brought our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God.

Rom 9:4 They are Israelites, and to them belong the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the worship, and the promises.

God effectively adopted the people of Israel as his children.

. . . Israel was God’s chosen servant

In saying that he chose Israel as his servant, God intended that the people of Israel serve him. Additionally, this points to the fact that God would fulfill his will for the world through Israel (cf. Isa 26:18 ↓).

Isa 41:8-9 But you, Israel, my servant, Jacob, whom I have chosen, the offspring of Abraham, my friend; ⁹you whom I took from the ends of the earth, and called from its farthest corners, saying to you, “You are my servant, I have chosen you and not cast you off”; ...

Isa 44:1-2, 21 But now hear, O Jacob my servant, Israel whom I have chosen! ²Thus says the LORD who made you, who formed you from the womb and will help you: Fear not, O Jacob my servant, Jeshurun whom I have chosen.  ... ²¹*Remember these things, O Jacob, and Israel, for you are my servant; I formed you; you are my servant; O Israel, you will not be forgotten by me.*

Isa 45:4 For the sake of my servant Jacob, and Israel my chosen, I call you by your name, I name you, though you do not know me.

Lev 25:55 For it is to me that the people of Israel are servants.^h They are my servants whom I brought out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

^h Or slaves

Isa 49:3 And he said to me, “You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will be glorified.”ⁱ

ⁱ Or I will display my beauty

This is speaking in particular of the messianic servant, as the one in whom Israel’s role as God’s servant would be ultimately fulfilled.

Ex 19:5-6 Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; ⁶and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation. These are the words that you shall speak to the people of Israel.

Verse 6a speaks of Israel's role as God's servant, being for him a kingdom of priests. The description of them as "priests" (cf. Isa 61:6 ↓) points to their dedication or consecration to God's service – which involved them being a "holy nation". In addition it is understood by some commentators as alluding to God mediating salvation and other blessings through Israel to the other nations.

Isa 61:6 ... but you shall be called the priests of the LORD; they shall speak of you as the ministers of our God; you shall eat the wealth of the nations, and in their glory you shall boast.

The reference is actually to the renewed Israel of the future, a fulfillment of their role as priests of God (cf. Ex 19:6 ↑).

✦ Israel's failure in being a vehicle for God's salvation to the other nations:

Isa 26:18 ... we were pregnant, we writhed, but we have given birth to wind. We have accomplished no deliverance in the earth, and the inhabitants of the world have not fallen.

This speaks of God's intention to bring salvation to the world through Israel – possibly also in view in Jeremiah 4:2 – and the people's general failure in this regard. God would later accomplish such salvation through the Messiah of Israel. Bear in mind that the Hebrew in the last clause is not clear; it can be translated: "Nor were inhabitants of the world born" (NASB) – further pointing to Israel's failure to bring salvation to the world. Note that Israel's shortcomings as God's servant are also referred to in 42:19 – "Who is blind but my servant, or deaf as my messenger whom I send? Who is blind as my dedicated one, or blind as the servant of the LORD?"

Foreigners were accepted into Israel and able to worship God

In making Israel his own people or nation, God did not exclude other people from living among them and worshipping him.

Num 9:14 And if a stranger sojourns among you and would keep the Passover to the LORD, according to the statute of the Passover and according to its rule, so shall he do. You shall have one statute, both for the sojourner and for the native.

Num 15:14-16 And if a stranger is sojourning with you, or anyone is living permanently among you, and he wishes to offer a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD, he shall do as you do. ¹⁵For the assembly, there shall be one statute for you and for the stranger who sojourns with you, a statute forever throughout your generations. You and the sojourner shall be alike before the LORD. ¹⁶One law and one rule shall be for you and for the stranger who sojourns with you.

Deut 16:10-14 Then you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the LORD your God with the tribute of a freewill offering from your hand, which you shall give as the LORD your God blesses you. ¹¹And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite who is within your towns, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are among you, at the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name dwell there. ¹²You shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt; and you shall be careful to observe these statutes. ¹³You shall keep the Feast of Booths seven days, when you have gathered in the produce from your threshing floor and your winepress. ¹⁴You shall rejoice in your feast, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are within your towns.

1Ki 8:41-43 Likewise, when a foreigner, who is not of your people Israel, comes from a far country for your name's sake ⁴²(for they shall hear of your great name and your mighty hand, and of your outstretched arm), when he comes and prays toward this house, ⁴³hear in heaven your dwelling place and do according to all for which the foreigner calls to you, in order that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your people Israel, and that they may know that this house that I have built is called by your name.

Isa 56:6-8 "And the foreigners who join themselves to the LORD, to minister to him, to love the name of the LORD, and to be his servants, everyone who keeps the Sabbath and does not profane it, and holds fast my covenant— ⁷these I will bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my house of prayer; their burnt offerings and their sacrifices will be accepted on my altar; for my house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples." ⁸The Lord GOD, who gathers the outcasts of Israel, declares, "I will gather yet others to him besides those already gathered."

Note that the future renewed Israel may be in view here.

✦ The OT speaks of praise and worship of God amongst the Gentile nations:

Rom 15:9-11 ... and in order that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. *As it is written, "Therefore I will praise you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name."*¹⁰ *And again it is said, "Rejoice, O Gentiles, with his people."*¹¹ And again, "Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, and let all the peoples extol him."

These quotations from the OT speak of praise and worship of God amongst the Gentile nations, implying that the Gentiles themselves would be participants in this.

Note: The tribes of Israel

The tribes of Israel were descended from Israel's (Jacob's) twelve sons. His son Joseph was especially blessed in that two tribes were descended from him, one from each of his two sons Ephraim and Manasseh. The tribe of Judah became prominent, particularly in the time of David who was from the tribe of Judah and with the promise of the Messiah from David's line. When the kingdom of Israel was split in two, Judah was the prominent tribe of the southern kingdom of Judah, and Ephraim became the prominent tribe of the northern kingdom. The tribe of Levi was also particularly notable, with the Levites being set apart to God. They were placed in charge of God's tabernacle and the priests, the sons of Aaron, were from their tribe.

Gen 35:22b-26 *Now the sons of Jacob were twelve.*²³ *The sons of Leah: Reuben (Jacob's firstborn), Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun.*²⁴ *The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin.*²⁵ *The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's servant: Dan and Naphtali.*²⁶ The sons of Zilpah, Leah's servant: Gad and Asher. These were the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Paddan-aram.

Gen 49:8-11 *Judah, your brothers shall praise you; your hand shall be on the neck of your enemies; your father's sons shall bow down before you.*⁹ *Judah is a lion's cub; from the prey, my son, you have gone up. He stooped down; he crouched as a lion and as a lioness; who dares rouse him?*¹⁰ The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from between his feet, until tribute comes to him;^j *and to him shall be the obedience of the peoples.*¹¹ Binding his foal to the vine and his donkey's colt to the choice vine, he has washed his garments in wine and his vesture in the blood of grapes.

^j By a slight revocalization; a slight emendation yields (compare Septuagint, Syriac, Targum) until he comes to whom it belongs; Hebrew until Shiloh comes, or until he comes to Shiloh

This is from Jacob's blessing of his twelve sons (cf. vv. 1-28), reflecting Judah's emerging prominence amongst the brothers/tribes, even with Jacob's wonderful blessing on Joseph (cf. vv. 22-26). Verse 11 speaks of prosperity.

Num 2:1-4, 9 The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, ² *"The people of Israel shall camp each by his own standard, with the banners of their fathers' houses. They shall camp facing the tent of meeting on every side.*³ *Those to camp on the east side toward the sunrise shall be of the standard of the camp of Judah by their companies, the chief of the people of Judah being Nahshon the son of Amminadab,*⁴ his company as listed being 74,600.  ... ⁹ All those listed of the camp of Judah, by their companies, were 186,400. They shall set out first on the march.

Judah's prominence is reflected in it being mentioned first and having the most prominent position of the twelve tribes in the Israelite camp (v. 3) and by it setting out first (v. 9).

Num 1:50 But appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of the testimony, and over all its furnishings, and over all that belongs to it. They are to carry the tabernacle and all its furnishings, and they shall take care of it and shall camp around the tabernacle.

Num 8:15-18 *And after that the Levites shall go in to serve at the tent of meeting, when you have cleansed them and offered them as a wave offering.*¹⁶ *For they are wholly given to me from among the people of Israel. Instead of all who open the womb, the firstborn of all the people of Israel, I have taken them for myself.*¹⁷ *For all the firstborn among the people of Israel are mine, both of man and of beast. On the day that I struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt I consecrated them for myself,*¹⁸ and I have taken the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the people of Israel.

Josh 14:4a For the people of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim.

Ps 78:67-68 *He rejected the tent of Joseph; he did not choose the tribe of Ephraim,*⁶⁸ but he chose the tribe of Judah, Mount Zion, which he loves.

Ephraim's prominence amongst the tribes of the northern kingdom of Israel is often seen in it being used as representative of the northern kingdom as a whole – particularly by the OT prophets (cf. Isa 1:13 ↓; Jer 31:9, 20) – at times in contrast to Judah, as is the case here and in Isaiah 1:13 below.

Isa 11:13 The jealousy of Ephraim shall depart, and those who harass Judah shall be cut off; Ephraim shall not be jealous of Judah, and Judah shall not harass Ephraim.

And they said, "All that the LORD has spoken we will do, and we will be obedient." ⁸And Moses took the blood and threw it on the people and said, "Behold the blood of the covenant that the LORD has made with you in accordance with all these words."

The Book of the Covenant (v. 7a) is generally understood to have contained the laws stipulated in 20:22-23:33, which follow and to a large extent expand on the Ten Commandments (20:2-17). It possibly also included the Ten Commandments themselves. (See also the comment on Deuteronomy 29:21 below.) The sprinkling of blood (vv. 6, 8) – of sacrificed bulls – ceremonially confirmed the covenant. The half sprinkled on the altar (v. 6) appears to point to God's part in the covenant. The purification of the altar – as being that on which sacrifices were to be made for the forgiveness of sin – was quite possibly signified by this act. The half sprinkled on the people (v. 8) signifies their commitment to keeping the terms of the covenant, as in a blood oath. The "blood of the covenant" (v. 8) is an important theme in the new covenant that God would make through Jesus Christ (cf. Jesus Christ's blood ratified the new covenant, p. 667).

Ex 34:10-11a, 27-28 And he said, "Behold, I am making a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels, such as have not been created in all the earth or in any nation. And all the people among whom you are shall see the work of the LORD, for it is an awesome thing that I will do with you. ¹¹"Observe what I command you this day.  ... ²⁷And the LORD said to Moses, "Write these words, for in accordance with these words I have made a covenant with you and with Israel." ²⁸So he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights. He neither ate bread nor drank water. And he wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Commandments.^k

^k Hebrew the ten words

Although under the covenant Israel was to keep all God's laws, the Ten Commandments were the main focus, the essential basis of the covenant (v. 28; cf. Deut 4:13 ↓; The core of the law: The Ten Commandments, p. 334).

Deut 4:13-14 And he declared to you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, that is, the Ten Commandments,¹ and he wrote them on two tablets of stone. ¹⁴And the LORD commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and rules, that you might do them in the land that you are going over to possess.

Deut 5:1-3 And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them, "Hear, O Israel, the statutes and the rules that I speak in your hearing today, and you shall learn them and be careful to do them. ²The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. ³Not with our fathers did the LORD make this covenant, but with us, who are all of us here alive today.

Note that “fathers” refers to the people’s ancestors, rather than simply the previous generation.

Deut 29:1-2, 9, 29 ^m These are the words of the covenant that the LORD commanded Moses to make with the people of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant that he had made with them at Horeb. ²ⁿ And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: “You have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land, ³ ... ⁹Therefore keep the words of this covenant and do them, that you may prosper^o in all that you do. ⁴ ... ²⁹“The secret things belong to the LORD our God, but the things that are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law. ⁵

This was the confirmation in Moab (cf. Deut 5:1 [†]; Deut 26:17-18 [‡]; Deut 29:12-15 [‡]) of the covenant made at Sinai (Horeb, v. 1; Ex 24:6-8 [†]; Ex 34:10-11a, 27-28 [†]). Presumably this confirmation was related to the fact that the generation that had made the covenant with God at Sinai had virtually died out in the desert.

Deut 29:21 And the LORD will single him out from all the tribes of Israel for calamity, in accordance with all the curses of the covenant written in this Book of the Law. ⁶

The Book of the Law is thought by many to be the law – or sections of it – as given in Deuteronomy, much of which is a reiteration of the law given in Exodus 20-23. Quite possibly this is the book spoken of in 2 Kings 23:1-3 below.

2Ki 23:1-3 Then the king sent, and all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem were gathered to him. ²And the king went up to the house of the LORD, and with him all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the priests and the prophets, all the people, both small and great. And he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in the house of the LORD. ³*And the king stood by the pillar and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people joined in the covenant.* ⁴

Here King Josiah and the people renewed the covenant that God had made many years earlier through Moses. In doing so, they pledged themselves to obey God’s law (v. 3).

... If the Israelites obeyed God, then they would be his people and he would be their God

If Israel kept the covenant by obeying God’s commands, then under the covenant they would be God’s people and he would be their God.

Ex 19:5-6 Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; ⁶and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation. These are the words that you shall speak to the people of Israel. ⁷

Lev 26:3, 11-12 If you walk in my statutes and observe my commandments and do them, ³ ... ¹¹I will make my dwelling^p among you, and my soul shall not abhor you. ¹²And I will walk among you and will be your God, and you shall be my people. ⁴

^p Hebrew tabernacle

In conjunction with him being their God and they being his people (v. 12), God would dwell amongst the Israelites (vv. 11-12a).

Deut 26:17-18 You have declared today that the LORD is your God, and that you will walk in his ways, and keep his statutes and his commandments and his rules, and will obey his voice. ¹⁸And the LORD has declared today that you are a people for his treasured possession, as he has promised you, and that you are to keep all his commandments, ... ⁵

Deut 28:9-10 The LORD will establish you as a people holy to himself, as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of the LORD your God and walk in his ways. ¹⁰And all the peoples of the earth shall see that you are called by the name of the LORD, and they shall be afraid of you. ⁶

Deut 29:10a, 12-15 You are standing today all of you before the LORD your God ¹² ... ¹²so that you may enter into the sworn covenant of the LORD your God, which the LORD your God is making with you today, ¹³that he may establish you today as his people, and that he may be your God, as he promised you, and as he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. ¹⁴*It is not with you alone that I am making this sworn covenant, ¹⁵but with whoever is standing here with us today before the LORD our God, and with whoever is not here with us today.* ⁷

Verses 14-15 indicate that the covenant extended to future generations – “whoever is not here with us today.”

Jer 7:23a But this command I gave them: ‘Obey my voice, and I will be your God, and you shall be my people. ⁸

Jer 11:2-4 Hear the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. ³You shall say to them, Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Cursed be the man who does not hear the words of this covenant ⁴that I commanded your fathers when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Listen to my voice, and do all that I command you. So shall you be my people, and I will be your God, ...

The core of the law: The Ten Commandments

The Ten Commandments form the fundamentals of the law that God gave through Moses (sometimes referred to as the Mosaic Law). Much of the other stipulations of the law are based on and expand on these commandments. The first four commandments (Ex 20:1-11 ↓) concern one's relationship with God. The remaining six (Ex 20:12-17 ↓) concern one's relationships with other people.

Ex 20:1-11 And God spoke all these words, saying, ²"I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. ³*You shall have no other gods before^a me. ⁴You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. ⁵You shall not bow down to them or serve them, for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and the fourth generation of those who hate me, ⁶but showing steadfast love to thousands^r of those who love me and keep my commandments. ⁷*You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain, for the LORD will not hold him guiltless who takes his name in vain. ⁸Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. ⁹Six days you shall labor, and do all your work, ¹⁰but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the LORD your God. On it you shall not do any work, you, or your son, or your daughter, your male servant, or your female servant, or your livestock, or the sojourner who is within your gates. ¹¹For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy.* *

^a Or besides

^r Or to the thousandth generation

The command to not take the LORD's name in vain (v. 7) is applicable to any misuse of it. This includes: deceptive use of it – which is likely primarily in view – such as in taking an oath in his name in order to deceive; intentionally blaspheming it; and disrespectful or irreverent use. Note that any such misuse of God's name blasphemes it.

Ex 20:12-17 "Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land that the LORD your God is giving you. ¹³You shall not murder.^s ¹⁴You shall not commit adultery. ¹⁵You shall not steal. ¹⁶You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor. ¹⁷You shall not covet your neighbor's house; you shall not covet your neighbor's wife, or his male servant, or his female servant, or his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor's."

^s The Hebrew word also covers causing human death through carelessness or negligence

Note that Moses later repeats the Ten Commandments in Deuteronomy 5:6-21.

† God wrote the Ten Commandments on two stone tablets:

Deut 5:22 These words the LORD spoke to all your assembly at the mountain out of the midst of the fire, the cloud, and the thick darkness, with a loud voice; and he added no more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me.

None shall appear before me empty-handed. ¹⁶You shall keep the Feast of Harvest, of the firstfruits of your labor, of what you sow in the field. You shall keep the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in from the field the fruit of your labor. ¹⁷Three times in the year shall all your males appear before the Lord GOD.*

Lev 4:27-31 *If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, ²⁸or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed. ²⁹And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering. ³⁰And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. ³¹And all its fat he shall remove, as the fat is removed from the peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. By obeying all the law, the Israelites would be holy

Deut 28:9 The LORD will establish you as a people holy to himself, as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of the LORD your God and walk in his ways. 📖

Ex 19:5-6 Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; ⁶and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation. These are the words that you shall speak to the people of Israel. 📖

Being holy involves being set apart for God (cf. Lev 20:24, 26 ↓). If the Israelites fully obeyed God and kept his covenant, then they would be set apart “from among and above all peoples” (AMP) for God, as his “treasured possession” (v. 5) – “a holy nation” (v. 6).

Lev 19:2-3 Speak to all the congregation of the people of Israel and say to them, You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy. ³Every one of you shall revere his mother and his father, and you shall keep my Sabbaths: I am the LORD your God. 📖

The command in v. 2 introduces a number of commands that the people were to keep, beginning at v. 3. This reflects that the people would be holy by obeying God's law.

Lev 20:7-8 Consecrate yourselves, therefore, and be holy, for I am the LORD your God. ⁸Keep my statutes and do them; I am the LORD who sanctifies you. 📖

The people were to be holy (v. 7a), keeping God's commands (v. 8a). In conjunction, God would make them holy (v. 8b).

Lev 20:22-24, 26 You shall therefore keep all my statutes and all my rules and do them, that the land where I am bringing you to live may not vomit you out. ²³And you shall not walk in the customs of the nation that I am driving out before you, for they did all these things, and therefore I detested them. ²⁴But I have said to you, ‘You shall inherit their land, and I will give it to you to possess, a land flowing with milk and honey.’ I am the LORD your God, who has separated you from the peoples. 📖 ... ²⁶You shall be holy to me, for I the LORD am holy and have separated you from the peoples, that you should be mine. 📖

Deut 26:18-19 And the LORD has declared today that you are a people for his treasured possession, as he has promised you, and that you are to keep all his commandments, ¹⁹and that he will set you in praise and in fame and in honor high above all nations that he has made, and that you shall be a people holy to the LORD your God, as he promised. 📖

‡ Anyone who defiantly broke God's law was to be cut off from Israel:

Num 15:30-31 But the person who does anything with a high hand, whether he is native or a sojourner, reviles the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from among his people. ³¹Because he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken his commandment, that person shall be utterly cut off; his iniquity shall be on him. 📖

To act as such “with a high hand” (v. 30) is to do so “defiantly” (NASB, NIV).

By obeying all the law, the Israelites would be righteous and live

In this and the following subsection, “life” is largely referring to physical life, at times possibly along with a fullness of life.

Deut 6:25 And it will be righteousness for us, if we are careful to do all this commandment before the LORD our God, as he has commanded us. 📖

Isa 48:18 Oh that you had paid attention to my commandments! Then your peace would have been like a river, and your righteousness like the waves of the sea; ... 📖

Ezek 18:9 ... [If a man] walks in my statutes, and keeps my rules by acting faithfully—he is righteous; he shall surely live, declares the Lord GOD. 📖

Lev 18:5 You shall therefore keep my statutes and my rules; if a person does them, he shall live by them: I am the LORD. 📖

Neh 9:29b Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey. 📖

Ezek 20:11 I gave them my statutes and made known to them my rules, by which, if a person does them, he shall live. 📖

Deut 4:1 And now, O Israel, listen to the statutes and the rules^w that I am teaching you, and do them, that you may live, and go in and take possession of the land that the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you. 📖

Deut 28:1-3, 6-8, 11-13 And if you faithfully obey the voice of the LORD your God, being careful to do all his commandments that I command you today, the LORD your God will set you high above all the nations of the earth. ²And all these blessings shall come upon you and overtake you, if you obey the voice of the LORD your God. ³Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed shall you be in the field.  ... ⁶Blessed shall you be when you come in, and blessed shall you be when you go out. ⁷“The LORD will cause your enemies who rise against you to be defeated before you. The phrases “when you come in” and “when you go out” (v. 6) are equivalent to speaking of one’s “coming and going” (cf. NLT), a reference to the people’s “daily work” (CEV). In v. 13, “the head and not the tail” is speaking of Israel being the head or “leader” (CEV, GNT) among the nations rather than having a lowly position.

Note that the blessings and punishments of the first covenant are more tangible and physical – and more immediate – than their parallels in the NT under the new covenant. This reflects the greater spiritual nature of the second covenant; rather than material and physical prosperity or desolation, the outcomes are generally spiritual ones. In a sense, the eternal ramifications of the second covenant are a more obvious parallel of the first covenant outcomes.

Deut 28:15-20 But if you will not obey the voice of the LORD your God or be careful to do all his commandments and his statutes that I command you today, then all these curses shall come upon you and overtake you. ¹⁶Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the field. ¹⁷Cursed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl. ¹⁸Cursed shall be the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock. ¹⁹Cursed shall you be when you come in, and cursed shall you be when you go out. ²⁰“The LORD will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in all that you undertake to do, until you are destroyed and perish quickly on account of the evil of your deeds, because you have forsaken me.

Deut 28:25-29, 45 The LORD will cause you to be defeated before your enemies. You shall go out one way against them and flee seven ways before them. And you shall be a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. ²⁶And your dead body shall be food for all birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth, and there shall be no one to frighten them away. ²⁷The LORD will strike you with the boils of Egypt, and with tumors and scabs and itch, of which you cannot be healed. ²⁸The LORD will strike you with madness and blindness and confusion of mind, ²⁹and

Deut 28:58-59 If you are not careful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God,⁵⁹ then the LORD will bring on you and your offspring extraordinary afflictions, afflictions severe and lasting, and sicknesses grievous and lasting.

Note that Numbers 35:34 mentions God's presence as an additional reason as to why the people were not to defile the land: "You shall not defile the land in which you live, in the midst of which I dwell, for I the LORD dwell in the midst of the people of Israel."

Lev 26:27-34, 38 But if in spite of this you will not listen to me, but walk contrary to me,²⁸ then I will walk contrary to you in fury, and I myself will discipline you sevenfold for your sins.²⁹ You shall eat the flesh of your sons, and you shall eat the flesh of your daughters.³⁰ And I will destroy your high places and cut down your incense altars and cast your dead bodies upon the dead bodies of your idols, and my soul will abhor you.³¹ And I will lay your cities waste and will make your sanctuaries desolate, and I will not smell your pleasing aromas.³² And I myself will devastate the land, so that your enemies who settle in it shall be appalled at it.³³ And I will scatter you among the nations, and I will unsheathe the sword after you, and your land shall be a desolation, and your cities shall be a waste.³⁴“Then the land shall enjoy^e its Sabbaths as long as it lies desolate, while you are in your enemies' land; then the land shall rest, and enjoy its Sabbaths. ...³⁸ And Presumably v. 29 has in view a time of being under siege (c.f. Deuteronomy 28:53-57).

Deut 4:23-27 Take care, lest you forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which he made with you, and make a carved image, the form of anything that the LORD your God has forbidden you.²⁴ For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.²⁵“When you father children and children's children, and have grown old in the land, if you act corruptly by making a carved image in the form of anything, and by doing what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, so as to provoke him to anger,²⁶ I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that you will soon utterly perish from the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess. You will not live long in it, but will be utterly destroyed.²⁷ And the LORD will scatter you among the peoples, and you will be left few in number among the nations where the LORD will drive you.

Deut 28:58, 63-67 If you are not careful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God, ...⁶³ And as the LORD took delight in doing you good and multiplying you, so the LORD will take delight in bringing ruin upon you and destroying you. And you shall be plucked off the land that you are entering to take possession of it.⁶⁴“And the LORD will scatter you among all peoples, from one end of the earth to the other, and there you shall serve other gods of wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers have known.⁶⁵ And among these nations you shall find no respite, and there shall be no resting place for the sole of your foot, but the LORD will give you there a trembling heart and failing eyes and a languishing soul.⁶⁶ Your life shall hang in doubt before you. Night and day you shall be in dread and have no assurance of your life.⁶⁷ In the morning you shall say, 'If only it were evening!' and at evening you shall say, 'If only it were morning!' because of the dread that your heart shall feel, and the sights that your eyes shall see.

Deut 29:25-28 Then people will say, 'It is because they abandoned the covenant of the LORD, the God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt,²⁶ and went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they had not known and whom he had not allotted to them.²⁷ Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against this land, bringing upon it all the curses written in this book,²⁸ and the LORD uprooted them from their

The ark of the covenant – which contained the stone tablets of the covenant

Ex 37:1-9 Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood. Two cubits^f and a half was its length, a cubit and a half its breadth, and a cubit and a half its height. ²And he overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside, and made a molding of gold around it. ³And he cast for it four rings of gold for its four feet, two rings on its one side and two rings on its other side. ⁴And he made poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold ⁵and put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark to carry the ark. ⁶And he made a mercy seat of pure gold. Two cubits and a half was its length, and a cubit and a half its breadth. ⁷And he made two cherubim of gold. He made them of hammered work on the two ends of the mercy seat, ⁸one cherub on the one end, and one cherub on the other end. Of one piece with the mercy seat he made the cherubim on its two ends. ⁹The cherubim spread out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, with their faces one to another; toward the mercy seat were the faces of the cherubim.

^f A cubit was about 18 inches or 45 centimeters

The ark was made in this way in accordance with the instructions God had given to Moses (cf. Ex 25:10-20). The "mercy seat" (vv. 6-9) was the cover or lid. Note that cherubim (vv. 7-9) are understood to be one of the highest orders of angels.

Ex 40:20 He [Moses] took the testimony and put it into the ark, and put the poles on the ark and set the mercy seat above on the ark.

The "testimony" refers to the two stone tablets with the Ten Commandments written on them, which were essentially the terms of the covenant. As such the stone tablets bore "testimony" to God's covenant with Israel.

Deut 10:5 Then I turned and came down from the mountain and put the tablets in the ark that I had made. And there they are, as the LORD commanded me.

1Ki 8:9, 21 There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone that Moses put there at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the people of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.  ... ²¹And there I [Solomon] have provided a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD that he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

Heb 9:4 ... having the golden altar of incense and the ark of the covenant covered on all sides with gold, in which was a golden urn holding the manna, and Aaron's staff that budded, and the tablets of the covenant.

In saying that the ark also contained the jar of manna and Aaron's staff, this verse contrasts with 1 Kings 8:9 above. These two items were earlier stated to have been placed "before the testimony" (Num 17:10; cf. Ex 16:34), which arguably could mean before the testimony/tablets inside the ark. Note that Aaron's staff had budded as a vindication of him being chosen by God, with the priesthood being of him and his line (cf. Num 16-17).

‡ The Book of the Law was placed beside the ark of the covenant:

Deut 31:24-26 When Moses had finished writing the words of this law in a book to the very end, ²⁵Moses commanded the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, ²⁶*“Take this Book of the Law and put it by the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against you.”* 📖

The Book of the Law was placed beside the ark of the covenant as a witness or testimony against any future apostasy of the people (cf. v. 27), proof that they had known what God had wanted them to do (cf. CEV).

The ark signified God’s presence amongst the people

Lev 16:2 ... and the LORD said to Moses, “Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat.” 📖

The latter part of the verse suggests that the glory of God’s presence appeared over the mercy seat.

Num 10:33-36 So they set out from the mount of the LORD three days’ journey. And the ark of the covenant of the LORD went before them three days’ journey, to seek out a resting place for them. ³⁴And the cloud of the LORD was over them by day, whenever they set out from the camp. ³⁵And whenever the ark set out, Moses said, “Arise, O LORD, and let your enemies be scattered, and let those who hate you flee before you.” ³⁶And when it rested, he said, “Return, O LORD, to the ten thousand thousands of Israel.” 📖

Moses’ words (vv. 35-36) correlate the Ark with God’s presence – as do Joshua’s in Joshua 7:6-7 immediately below.

Josh 7:6-7 Then Joshua tore his clothes and fell to the earth on his face before the ark of the LORD until the evening, he and the elders of Israel. And they put dust on their heads. ⁷And Joshua said, “Alas, O Lord GOD, why have you brought this people over the Jordan at all, to give us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us? Would that we had been content to dwell beyond the Jordan!” 📖

1Sam 6:19-20 And he struck some of the men of Beth-shemesh, because they looked upon the ark of the LORD. He struck seventy men of them,⁸ and the people mourned because the LORD had struck the people with a great blow. ²⁰Then the men of Beth-shemesh said, “Who is able to stand before the LORD, this holy God? And to whom shall he go up away from us?” 📖

‡ Hebrew of the people seventy men, fifty thousand men

Here looking at the ark results in death, which parallels the ark with God’s presence, as per Ex 33:20 – “man shall not see me and live”. “Who is able to stand before the LORD” (v. 20) further correlates “the ark of the LORD” (v. 19) with the presence of the LORD (v. 20; cf. NIV, NLT).

2Sam 6:2 And David arose and went with all the people who were with him from Baale-judah to bring up from there the ark of God, which is called by the name of the LORD of hosts who sits enthroned on the cherubim. 📖

The reference is to God’s presence between the cherubim “that are on the ark” (NIV®; cf. CEV).

Signifying God’s presence, the ark was where God would meet with Moses and the people

Note that apart from Moses and Joshua, only the High Priest could meet with God before the ark itself. The larger structures within which the ark was held was where others could meet with God. These structures were the tabernacle – a tent structure – and later the temple.

Ex 25:22 There I will meet with you, and from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim that are on the ark of the testimony, I will speak with you about all that I will give you in commandment for the people of Israel. 📖

Ex 30:36 You shall beat some of it very small, and put part of it before the testimony in the tent of meeting where I shall meet with you. It shall be most holy for you. 📖

Num 7:89 And when Moses went into the tent of meeting to speak with the LORD, he heard the voice speaking to him from above the mercy seat that was on the ark of the testimony, from between the two cherubim; and it spoke to him. 📖

Ex 29:42-46 It shall be a regular burnt offering throughout your generations at the entrance of the tent of meeting before the LORD, where I will meet with you, to speak to you there. ⁴³*There I will meet with the people of Israel, and it shall be sanctified by my glory.* ⁴⁴I will consecrate the tent of meeting and the altar. Aaron also and his sons I will consecrate to serve me as priests. ⁴⁵*I will dwell among the people of Israel and will be their God.* ⁴⁶And they shall know that I am the LORD their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt that I might dwell among them. I am the LORD their God. 📖

Here "the tent of meeting" (v. 42) refers to the tabernacle, which would contain the ark. By containing the ark it signified the dwelling of God amongst the Israelites (vv. 45-46), where he would meet with the people (vv. 42-43).

Judg 20:26-28 Then all the people of Israel, the whole army, went up and came to Bethel and wept. They sat there before the LORD and fasted that day until evening, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD. ²⁷And the people of Israel inquired of the LORD (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, ²⁸and Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron, ministered before it in those days), saying, "Shall we go out once more to battle against our brothers, the people of Benjamin, or shall we cease?" And the LORD said, "Go up, for tomorrow I will give them into your hand."

Here the Israelites met with God before the ark of the covenant, with the high priest Phinehas interceding for them.

✦ The earlier "tent of meeting":

Ex 33:7, 9-11 Now Moses used to take the tent and pitch it outside the camp, far off from the camp, and he called it the tent of meeting. And everyone who sought the LORD would go out to the tent of meeting, which was outside the camp.  ... ⁹When Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud would descend and stand at the entrance of the tent, and the LORD^h would speak with Moses. ¹⁰And when all the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, all the people would rise up and worship, each at his tent door. ¹¹Thus the LORD used to speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. When Moses turned again into the camp, his assistant Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, would not depart from the tent.

^h Hebrew he

This "tent of meeting" was a temporary structure used prior to the construction of the tabernacle. The term was then later often used in reference to the tabernacle (cf. Ex 30:36 ↑; Num 7:89 ↑; Ex 29:42-46 ↑). The tabernacle is clearly correlated with the term in 39:32a – "Thus all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting was finished ..."

The ark brought great power and dreadful effects

2Chr 6:41a "And now arise, O LORD God, and go to your resting place, you and the ark of your might."

Here Solomon speaks of "the Ark... that shows your strength" (NCV™), "the symbol of your power" (GNT; cf. CEV, Nlrv).

Josh 4:7 ... then you shall tell them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD. When it passed over the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off. So these stones shall be to the people of Israel a memorial forever.

Lev 10:1-3 Now Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, each took his censer and put fire in it and laid incense on it and offered unauthorizedⁱ fire before the LORD, which he had not commanded them. ²And fire came out from before the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD. ³Then Moses said to Aaron, "This is what the LORD has said, 'Among those who are near me I will be sanctified, and before all the people I will be glorified.'" And Aaron held his peace.

ⁱ Or strange

The occurrences of the phrase "before the LORD" (vv. 1, 2) indicate that this incident occurred in front of the ark. It is not clear exactly why what Nadab and Abihu did was wrong. Either presumptuously or carelessly they violated God's regulations in some manner.

Lev 16:2 ... and the LORD said to Moses, "Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat."

1Sam 5:1-12 When the Philistines captured the ark of God, they brought it from Ebenezer to Ashdod. ²Then the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it into the house of Dagon and set it up beside Dagon. ³And when the people of Ashdod rose early the next day, behold, Dagon had fallen face downward on the ground before the ark of the LORD. So they took Dagon and put him back in his place. ⁴But when they rose early on the next morning, behold, Dagon had fallen face downward on the ground before the ark of the LORD, and the head of Dagon and both his hands were lying cut off on the threshold. Only the trunk of Dagon was left to him. ⁵This is why the priests of Dagon and all who enter the house of Dagon do not tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day. ⁶The hand of the LORD was heavy against the people of Ashdod, and he terrified and afflicted them with tumors, both Ashdod and its territory. ⁷And when the men of Ashdod saw how things were, they said, "The ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for his hand is hard against us and against Dagon our god." ⁸So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines and said, "What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?" They answered, "Let the ark of the God of Israel be brought around to Gath." So they brought the ark of the God of Israel there. ⁹But after they had brought it around, the hand of the LORD was against the city, causing a very great panic, and he afflicted the men of the city, both young and old, so that tumors broke out on them. ¹⁰So they sent the ark of God to Ekron. But as soon as the ark of God came to Ekron, the people of Ekron cried out, "They have brought around to us the ark of the God of Israel to kill us and our people." ¹¹They sent therefore and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines and said, "Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it return to its own place, that it may not kill us and our people." For there was a deathly panic throughout the whole city. The hand of God was very heavy there. ¹²The men who did not die were struck with tumors, and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

1Sam 6:19 And he [God] struck some of the men of Bethshemesh, because they looked upon the ark of the LORD. He struck seventy men of them,^j and the people mourned because the LORD had struck the people with a great blow.

^j Hebrew of the people seventy men, fifty thousand men

2Sam 6:3-4, 6-10 And they carried the ark of God on a new cart and brought it out of the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill. And Uzzah and Ahio,^k the sons of Abinadab, were driving the new cart,^l with the ark of God, and Ahio went before the ark.  ... ⁶And when they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah put out his hand to the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen stumbled. ⁷And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah, and God struck him down there because of his error, and he died there beside the ark of God. ⁸And David was angry because the LORD had burst forth against Uzzah. And that place is called Perez-uzzah,^m to this day. ⁹And David was afraid of the LORD that day, and he said, "How can the ark of the LORD come to me?" ¹⁰So David was not willing to take the ark of the LORD into the city of David. But David took it aside to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

The ark was kept in the Most Holy Place, shielded by a veil – in the tabernacle and later the temple . . .

See also:

- Places where God dwells are also holy . . ., p. 56

The tabernacle and later the temple had an inner sanctuary known as the Most Holy Place, in which the ark of the covenant was kept. The Most Holy Place was sectioned off from an outer section, the Holy Place, by a veil or curtain.

Note that the Holy Place contained the table with the bread of the Presence, the lampstand and the altar of incense (cf. Ex 40:4-5 ).

Ex 26:31-34 And you shall make a veil of blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen. It shall be made with cherubim skillfully worked into it. ³²And you shall hang it on four pillars of acacia overlaid with gold, with hooks of gold, on four bases of silver. ³³And you shall hang the veil from the clasps, and bring the ark of the testimony in there within the veil. And the veil shall separate for you the Holy Place from the Most Holy. ³⁴You shall put the mercy seat on the ark of the testimony in the Most Holy Place.

Ex 30:6 And you shall put it in front of the veil that is above the ark of the testimony, in front of the mercy seat that is above the testimony, where I will meet with you.

Num 4:5 When the camp is to set out, Aaron and his sons shall go in and take down the veil of the screen and cover the ark of the testimony with it.

The veil was used to shield the ark when in transit, as well as when the tabernacle was set up.

1Ki 6:14, 16, 19-20 So Solomon built the house and finished it.  ... ¹⁶He built twenty cubits of the rear of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the walls, and he built this within as an inner sanctuary, as the Most Holy Place.  ... ¹⁹The inner sanctuary he prepared in the innermost part of the house, to set there the ark of the covenant of the LORD. ²⁰The inner sanctuaryⁿ was twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and twenty cubits high, and he overlaid it with pure gold. He also overlaid^o an altar of cedar.

The "house" is the houses of the LORD, the temple.

1Ki 8:3-8 And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark. ⁴And they brought up the ark of the LORD, the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; the priests and the Levites brought them up. ⁵And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who had assembled before him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing so many sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or numbered. ⁶Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place in the inner sanctuary of the house, in the Most Holy Place, underneath the wings of the cherubim. ⁷For the cherubim spread out their wings over the place of the ark, so that the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. ⁸And the poles were so long that the ends of the poles were seen from the Holy Place before the inner sanctuary; but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day.

2Chr 3:8, 14 And he [Solomon] made the Most Holy Place. Its length, corresponding to the breadth of the house, was twenty cubits, and its breadth was twenty cubits. He overlaid it with 600 talents^p of fine gold.  ... ¹⁴And he made the veil of blue and purple and crimson fabrics and fine linen, and he worked cherubim on it.

Heb 9:2-4 For a tent^a was prepared, the first section, in which were the lampstand and the table and the bread of the Presence.^r It is called the Holy Place. ³Behind the second curtain was a second section^s called the Most Holy Place, ⁴having the golden altar of incense and the ark of the covenant covered on all sides with gold, in which was a golden urn holding the manna, and Aaron's staff that budded, and the tablets of the covenant.

... Access into the Most Holy Place and the whole sanctuary was greatly restricted

Only the high priest was allowed to enter the Most Holy Place, and only once a year. The other priests were allowed access into the Holy Place. Other Levites who assisted the priests could enter the tabernacle's courtyard and later the outer restricted sections of the temple. Any access they may have had into the Holy Place was very much restricted (cf. Num 18:2-4, 6-7 ↓).

Lev 16:2 ... and the LORD said to Moses, "Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat.

Heb 9:6-8 These preparations having thus been made, the priests go regularly into the first section, performing their ritual duties, ⁷but into the second only the high priest goes, and he but once a year, and not without taking blood, which he offers for himself and for the unintentional sins of the people. ⁸By this the Holy Spirit indicates that the way into the holy places is not yet opened as long as the first section is still standing ...

Note that the reference to "the first section" in v. 8 is often understood to allude to the covenant that God made with Israel (cf. AMP, NCV, NLT), of which the whole structure described here was a key component.

Num 3:8, 10 They [the Levites] shall guard all the furnishings of the tent of meeting, and keep guard over the people of Israel as they minister at the tabernacle.  ... ¹⁰And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall guard their priesthood. But if any outsider comes near, he shall be put to death.

Num 18:1-4, 6-7 So the LORD said to Aaron, "You and your sons and your father's house with you shall bear iniquity connected with the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you shall bear iniquity connected with your priesthood. ²And with you bring your brothers also, the tribe of Levi, the tribe of your father, that they may join you and minister to you while you and your sons with you are before the tent of the testimony. ³They shall keep guard over you and over the whole tent, but shall not come near to the vessels of the sanctuary or to the altar lest they, and you, die. ⁴They shall join you and keep guard over the tent of meeting for all the service of the tent, and no outsider shall come near you.  ... ⁶And behold, I have taken your brothers the Levites from among the people of Israel. They are a gift to you, given to the LORD, to do the service of the tent of meeting. ⁷And you and your sons with you shall guard your priesthood for all that concerns the altar and that is within the veil; and you shall serve. I give your priesthood as a gift,^t and any outsider who comes near shall be put to death."

^t Hebrew service of gift

Note that v. 1 speaks of Aaron and his sons bearing responsibility for the sanctuary and the priesthood.

Lev 21:21-23 No man of the offspring of Aaron the priest who has a blemish shall come near to offer the LORD's food offerings; since he has a blemish, he shall not come near to offer the bread of his God. ²²He may eat the bread of his God, both of the most holy and of the holy things, ²³but he shall not go through the veil or approach the altar, because he has a blemish, that he may not profane my sanctuaries, for I am the LORD who sanctifies them.

This restriction regarding defects emphasized the need for perfection in the regulations regarding approaching God.

2Chr 26:16-20 But when he was strong, he grew proud, to his destruction. For he was unfaithful to the LORD his God and entered the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. ¹⁷But Azariah the priest went in after him, with eighty priests of the LORD who were men of valor, ¹⁸and they withstood King Uzziah and said to him, "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated to burn incense. Go out of the sanctuary, for you have done wrong, and it will bring you no honor from the LORD God.”¹⁹Then Uzziah was angry. Now he had a censer in his hand to burn incense, and when he became angry with the priests, leprosy^u broke out on his forehead in the presence of the priests in the house of the LORD, by the altar of incense.²⁰And Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked at him, and behold, he was leprous in his forehead! And they rushed him out quickly, and he himself hurried to go out, because the LORD had struck him.

^u Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases; see Leviticus 13

Even the king did not have the right to enter the Holy Place.

✦ The setting up of the tabernacle, with all its components:

Ex 40:1-9, 18-21 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²“On the first day of the first month you shall erect the tabernacle of the tent of meeting. ³And you shall put in it the ark of the testimony, and you shall screen the ark with the veil. ⁴And you shall bring in the table and arrange it, and you shall bring in the lampstand and set up its lamps. ⁵And you shall put the golden altar for incense before the ark of the testimony, and set up the screen for the door of the tabernacle. ⁶You shall set the altar of burnt offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, ⁷and place the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it. ⁸And you shall set up the court all around, and hang up the screen for the gate of the court. ⁹“Then you shall take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle and all that is in it, and consecrate it and all its furniture, so that it may become holy.  ...¹⁸Moses erected the tabernacle. He laid its bases, and set up its frames, and put in its poles, and raised up its pillars. ¹⁹And he spread the tent over the tabernacle and put the covering of the tent over it, as the LORD had commanded Moses. ²⁰He took the testimony and put it into the ark, and put the poles on the ark and set the mercy seat above on the ark. ²¹And he brought the ark into the tabernacle and set up the veil of the screen, and screened the ark of the testimony, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Containing the ark, the tabernacle and later the temple signified God’s presence . . .

Ex 25:8-10a, 21-22 And let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell in their midst. ⁹Exactly as I show you concerning the pattern of the tabernacle, and of all its furniture, so you shall make it. ¹⁰“They shall make an ark of acacia wood.  ...²¹And you shall put the mercy seat on the top of the ark, and in the ark you shall put the testimony that I shall give you. ²²There I will meet with you, and from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim that are on the ark of the testimony, I will speak with you about all that I will give you in commandment for the people of Israel.

Chief amongst the tabernacle’s “furniture” (v. 9) was of course the ark (vv. 10-22). Containing the ark, the tabernacle was an observable sign of God’s presence to all the people.

Ex 40:33-38 And he erected the court around the tabernacle and the altar, and set up the screen of the gate of the court. So Moses finished the work. ³⁴Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. ³⁵And Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting because the cloud settled on it, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. ³⁶Throughout all their journeys, whenever the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the people of Israel would set out. ³⁷But if the cloud was not taken up, then they did not set out till the day that it was taken up. ³⁸For the cloud of the LORD was on the tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel throughout all their journeys.

Note that in vv. 34-35 the terms “the tent of meeting” and “the tabernacle” appear to be used interchangeably, although the former may refer to the inner section.

1Ki 8:6, 10-13 Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place in the inner sanctuary of the house, in the Most Holy Place, underneath the wings of the cherubim.  ...¹⁰And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, a cloud filled the house of the LORD, ¹¹so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD. ¹²Then Solomon said, “The LORD^v has said that he would dwell in thick darkness. ¹³I have indeed built you an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever.”

^v Septuagint The LORD has set the sun in the heavens, but
As noted earlier, the “house” is the temple.

1Ki 8:20-21 Now the LORD has fulfilled his promise that he made. For I have risen in the place of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised, and I have built the house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. ²¹And there I have provided a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD that he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

The reference to "the name of the LORD" (v. 20; cf. 1Ki 9:3 ↓; Deut 12:5 ↓) speaks of God's presence.

2Chr 6:41-42; 7:1 "And now arise, O LORD God, and go to your resting place, you and the ark of your might. Let your priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and let your saints rejoice in your goodness. ⁴²O LORD God, do not turn away the face of your anointed one! Remember your steadfast love for David your servant."  ^{7:1}As soon as Solomon finished his prayer, fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

1Ki 9:3 And the LORD said to him, "I have heard your prayer and your plea, which you have made before me. I have consecrated this house that you have built, by putting my name there forever. My eyes and my heart will be there for all time.

... Thus the temple became the focus of worship and prayer to God

Deut 12:2, 4-7 You shall surely destroy all the places where the nations whom you shall dispossess served their gods, on the high mountains and on the hills and under every green tree.  ... ⁴You shall not worship the LORD your God in that way. ⁵But you shall seek the place that the LORD your God will choose out of all your tribes to put his name and make his habitation^w there. There you shall go, ⁶and there you shall bring your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, your vow offerings, your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your herd and of your flock. ⁷And there you shall eat before the LORD your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your households, in all that you undertake, in which the LORD your God has blessed you.

^w Or name as its habitation

Ultimately this place would be where the temple was built at Jerusalem (cf. 1Ki 8:29 ↓).

1Ki 8:28-30, 44-45 Yet have regard to the prayer of your servant and to his plea, O LORD my God, listening to the cry and to the prayer that your servant prays before you this day, ²⁹that your eyes may be open night and day toward this house, the place of which you have said, 'My name shall be there,' that you may listen to the prayer that your servant offers toward this place. ³⁰And listen to the plea of your servant and of your people Israel, when they pray toward this place. And listen in heaven your dwelling place, and when you hear, forgive.  ... ⁴⁴"If your people go out to battle against their enemy, by whatever way you shall send them, and they pray to the LORD toward the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built for your name, ⁴⁵then hear in heaven their prayer and their plea, and maintain their cause.

The people would pray towards the temple, it signifying God's presence.

2Chr 20:27-28 Then they returned, every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat at their head, returning to Jerusalem with joy, for the LORD had made them rejoice over their enemies. ²⁸They came to Jerusalem with harps and lyres and trumpets, to the house of the LORD.

2Chr 30:1 Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem to keep the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel.

Ps 5:7 But I, through the abundance of your steadfast love, will enter your house. I will bow down toward your holy temple in the fear of you.

John 4:20 Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you say that in Jerusalem is the place where people ought to worship.

Containing the site of the temple, Jerusalem was the designated centre of worship.

Heb 9:1 Now even the first covenant had regulations for worship and an earthly place of holiness.

The author associates worship of God with his earthly sanctuary – the tabernacle and then the temple.

‡ The sanctuary was made so as to reflect the place of God's presence in heaven:

Heb 8:5 They serve a copy and shadow of the heavenly things. For when Moses was about to erect the tent, he was instructed by God, saying, "See that you make everything according to the pattern that was shown you on the mountain." 📖

The sanctuary (the tabernacle and then that of the temple) reflected the place of God's presence in heaven, in signifying God's presence amongst his people.

Note: God's presence amongst the Israelites was dependant on their continued obedience

Lev 26:3, 11-12 If you walk in my statutes and observe my commandments and do them, ...¹¹I will make my dwelling^z among you, and my soul shall not abhor you. ¹²And I will walk among you and will be your God, and you shall be my people. 📖

1Ki 6:12-13 "Concerning this house that you are building, if you will walk in my statutes and obey my rules and keep all my commandments and walk in them, then I will establish my word with you, which I spoke to David your father. ¹³And I will dwell among the children of Israel and will not forsake my people Israel." 📖

1Ki 8:57-58, 61 The LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers. May he not leave us or forsake us, ⁵⁸that he may incline our hearts to him, to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments, his statutes, and his rules, which he commanded our fathers. ... ⁶¹Let your heart therefore be wholly true to the LORD our God, walking in his statutes and keeping his commandments, as at this day. 📖

Solomon said this at the dedication of the temple. As such he would have had primarily in view God's presence (amongst his people) in the temple.

‡ If the people turned away from God, the temple would be destroyed:

1Ki 9:6-9 But if you turn aside from following me, you or your children, and do not keep my commandments and my statutes that I have set before you, but go and serve other gods and worship them, ⁷then I will cut off Israel from the land that I have given them, and the house that I have consecrated for my name I will cast out of my sight, and Israel will become a

God faithfully led Israel through the desert and provided for them

Neh 9:12, 15, 19-21 By a pillar of cloud you led them in the day, and by a pillar of fire in the night to light for them the way in which they should go. ... ¹⁵You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger and brought water for them out of the rock for their thirst, and you told them to go in to possess the land that you had sworn to give them. ... ¹⁹you in your great mercies did not forsake them in the wilderness. The pillar of cloud to lead them in the way did not depart from them by day, nor the pillar of fire by night to light for them the way by which they should go. ²⁰You gave your good Spirit to instruct them and did not withhold your manna from their mouth and gave them water for their thirst. ²¹Forty years you sustained them in the wilderness, and they lacked nothing. Their clothes did not wear out and their feet did not swell.

Ps 78:52-54 Then he led out his people like sheep and guided them in the wilderness like a flock. ⁵³He led them in safety, so that they were not afraid, but the sea overwhelmed their enemies. ⁵⁴And he brought them to his holy land, to the mountain which his right hand had won.

Ps 105:39-42 He spread a cloud for a covering, and fire to give light by night. ⁴⁰They asked, and he brought quail, and gave them bread from heaven in abundance. ⁴¹He opened the rock, and water gushed out; it flowed through the desert like a river. ⁴²For he remembered his holy promise, and Abraham, his servant.

Deut 2:7 For the LORD your God has blessed you in all the work of your hands. He knows your going through this great wilderness. These forty years the LORD your God has been with you. You have lacked nothing.

"He knows your going" refers to God having watched over the people's journey (cf. NIV, NLT).

Deut 29:5 [Moses:] I have led you forty years in the wilderness. Your clothes have not worn out on you, and your sandals have not worn off your feet.

Ps 77:20 You led your people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

✦ God chose Joshua to lead the people after Moses:

Num 27:15-21 Moses spoke to the LORD, saying, ¹⁶"Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all flesh, appoint a man over the congregation ¹⁷who shall go out before them and come in before them, who shall lead them out and bring them in, that the congregation of the LORD may not be as sheep that have no shepherd." ¹⁸So the LORD said to Moses, "Take Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the Spirit, and lay your hand on him. ¹⁹Make him stand before Eleazar the priest and all the congregation, and you shall commission him in their sight. ²⁰You shall invest him with some of your authority, that all the congregation of the people of Israel may obey. ²¹And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall inquire for him by the judgment of the Urim before the LORD. At his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he and all the people of Israel with him, the whole congregation."

God promised that none of Israel's enemies would withstand it – which he fulfilled

Ex 23:27 I will send my terror before you and will throw into confusion all the people against whom you shall come, and I will make all your enemies turn their backs to you.

The last clause speaks of enemies turning around to flee.

Deut 9:1-3 Hear, O Israel: you are to cross over the Jordan today, to go in to dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves, cities great and fortified up to heaven, ²a people great and tall, the sons of the Anakim, whom you know, and of whom you have heard it said, 'Who can stand before the sons of Anak?' ³Know therefore today that he who goes over before you as a consuming fire is the LORD your God. He will destroy them and subdue them before you. So you shall drive them out and make them perish quickly, as the LORD has promised you.

Deut 11:25 No one shall be able to stand against you. The LORD your God will lay the fear of you and the dread of you on all the land that you shall tread, as he promised you.

Deut 28:7 The LORD will cause your enemies who rise against you to be defeated before you. They shall come out against you one way and flee before you seven ways.

Josh 1:5 No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. Just as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not leave you or forsake you.

Here God is speaking to Joshua as leader of the Israelites.

Deut 2:36 From Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and from the city that is in the valley, as far as Gilead, there was not a city too high for us. The LORD our God gave all into our hands.

Deut 3:2-5 But the LORD said to me, 'Do not fear him, for I have given him and all his people and his land into your hand. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.' ³So the LORD our God gave into our hand Og also, the king of Bashan, and all his people, and we struck him down until he had no survivor left. ⁴And we took all his cities at that time—there was not a city that we did not take from them—sixty cities, the whole region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan. ⁵All these were cities fortified with high walls, gates, and bars, besides very many unwalled villages. 📖

This and 2:36 above speak of Israel defeating enemies prior to crossing the Jordan to enter the promised land of Canaan. Note that some of the Israelite tribes – the Gadites, the Reubenites and the half-tribe of Manasseh – settled in the land of the kingdoms mentioned here (cf. Num 32:33; Josh 13:8-13; 22:1-9).

Josh 6:2-5, 16, 20 And the LORD said to Joshua, “See, I have given Jericho into your hand, with its king and mighty men of valor. ³You shall march around the city, all the men of war going around the city once. Thus shall you do for six days. ⁴Seven priests shall bear seven trumpets of rams’ horns before the ark. On the seventh day you shall march around the city seven times, and the priests shall blow the trumpets. ⁵And when they make a long blast with the ram’s horn, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, then all the people shall shout with a great shout, and the wall of the city will fall down flat,^b and the people shall go up, everyone straight before him.”

📖 ... ¹⁶And at the seventh time, when the priests had blown the trumpets, Joshua said to the people, “Shout, for the LORD has given you the city. 📖 ... ²⁰*So the people shouted, and the trumpets were blown. As soon as the people heard the sound of the trumpet, the people shouted a great shout, and the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they captured the city.* 📖

Josh 21:44b-45 Not one of all their enemies had withstood them, for the LORD had given all their enemies into their hands. ⁴⁵Not one word of all the good promises that the LORD had made to the house of Israel had failed; all came to pass. 📖

Josh 23:9 For the LORD has driven out before you great and strong nations. And as for you, no man has been able to stand before you to this day. 📖

Conquering its inhabitants, God gave the promised land of Canaan to Israel – as an inheritance . . .

Josh 21:43 Thus the LORD gave to Israel all the land that he swore to give to their fathers. And they took possession of it, and they settled there. 📖

Neh 9:23-24 You multiplied their children as the stars of heaven, and you brought them into the land that you had told their fathers to enter and possess. ²⁴So the descendants went in and possessed the land, and you subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gave them into their hand, with their kings and the peoples of the land, that they might do with them as they would. 📖

Ps 44:1-3 O God, we have heard with our ears, our fathers have told us, what deeds you performed in their days, in the days of old: ²you with your own hand drove out the nations, but them you planted; you afflicted the peoples, but them you set free; ³for not by their own sword did they win the land, nor did their own arm save them, but your right hand and your arm, and the light of your face, for you delighted in them. 📖

Ps 78:55 He drove out nations before them; he apportioned them for a possession and settled the tribes of Israel in their tents. 📖

Ps 105:44-45 And he gave them the lands of the nations, and they took possession of the fruit of the peoples’ toil, ⁴⁵that they might keep his statutes and observe his laws. Praise the LORD! 📖

Ps 136:17-22 ... to him who struck down great kings, for his steadfast love endures forever; ¹⁸and killed mighty kings, for his steadfast love endures forever; ¹⁹Sihon, king of the Amorites, for his steadfast love endures forever; ²⁰and Og, king of Bashan, for his steadfast love endures forever; ²¹and gave their land as a heritage, for his steadfast love endures forever; ²²a heritage to Israel his servant, for his steadfast love endures forever. 📖

Amos 2:9-10 Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars and who was as strong as the oaks; I destroyed his fruit above and his roots beneath. ¹⁰Also it was I who brought you up out of the land of Egypt and led you forty years in the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite. 📖

Josh 14:1-5 These are the inheritances that the people of Israel received in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers’ houses of the tribes of the people of Israel gave them to inherit. ²Their inheritance was by lot, just as the LORD had commanded by the hand of Moses for the nine and one-half tribes. ³For Moses had given an inheritance to the two and one-half tribes beyond the Jordan, but to the Levites he gave no inheritance among them. ⁴For the people of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. And no portion was given to the Levites in the land, but only cities to dwell in, with their pasturelands for their livestock and their substance. ⁵The people of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses; they allotted the land. 📖

The allocation of particular sections of the land to each of the tribes of Israel is detailed in Joshua 13-21.

And they took possession of it, and they settled there. ⁴⁴And the LORD gave them rest on every side just as he had sworn to their fathers. Not one of all their enemies had withstood them, for the LORD had given all their enemies into their hands. ⁴⁵Not one word of all the good promises that the LORD had made to the house of Israel had failed; all came to pass.

Josh 23:10, 14 One man of you puts to flight a thousand, since it is the LORD your God who fights for you, just as he promised you.  ... ¹⁴“And now I am about to go the way of all the earth, and you know in your hearts and souls, all of you, that not one word has failed of all the good things^g that the LORD your God promised concerning you. All have come to pass for you; not one of them has failed.

1Ki 8:56 Blessed be the LORD who has given rest to his people Israel, according to all that he promised. Not one word has failed of all his good promise, which he spoke by Moses his servant.

Josh 14:10 And now, behold, the LORD has kept me alive, just as he said, these forty-five years since the time that the LORD spoke this word to Moses, while Israel walked in the wilderness. And now, behold, I am this day eighty-five years old.

Apart from Joshua and Caleb, all the Israelites had not trusted in God to enable them to conquer the promised land. So God had stated that that generation would die in the desert wanderings apart from Joshua and Caleb (cf. Num 14:26-30). Here Caleb attests to God's faithfulness to this promise to him.

Luke 1:54-55, 69-75 He has helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy, ⁵⁵*as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his offspring forever.*"  ... ⁶⁹*and has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David,* ⁷⁰*as he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old,* ⁷¹*that we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us;* ⁷²*to show the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant,* ⁷³*the oath that he swore to our father Abraham, to grant us* ⁷⁴*that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear,* ⁷⁵*in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.*

The "horn of salvation" (v. 69) refers to the promised Messiah – Jesus Christ, by whom God would fulfill the promises referred to regarding salvation.

✦ God spoke of David as being his servant:

1Ki 11:31-32, 36, 38 And he said to Jeroboam, “Take for yourself ten pieces, for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Behold, I am about to tear the kingdom from the hand of Solomon and will give you ten tribes ³²(but he shall have one tribe, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), ... ³⁶Yet to his son I will give one tribe, that David my servant may always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem, the city where I have chosen to put my name. ... ³⁸And if you will listen to all that I command you, and will walk in my ways, and do what is right in my eyes by keeping my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did, I will be with you and will build you a sure house, as I built for David, and I will give Israel to you.’”

David is spoken of numerous times as God’s servant (cf. v. 34 ↑; Ps 78:70 ↑; Ps 89:3, 20 ↑), in a manner implying that he was so in a unique sense.

David reigned over Israel, as a powerful and righteous king – undergirded by God . . .

2Sam 5:1-4 Then all the tribes of Israel came to David at Hebron and said, “Behold, we are your bone and flesh. ²In times past, when Saul was king over us, it was you who led out and brought in Israel. And the LORD said to you, ‘You shall be shepherd of my people Israel, and you shall be prince over Israel.’” ³So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel. ⁴David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years.

2Sam 5:10, 12 And David became greater and greater, for the LORD, the God of hosts, was with him. ... ¹²And David knew that the LORD had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel.

1Chr 14:8, 16-17 When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to search for David. But David heard of it and went out against them. ... ¹⁶And David did as God commanded him, and they struck down the Philistine army from Gibeon to Gezer. ¹⁷And the fame of David went out into all lands, and the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations.

2Sam 8:6, 11-14 Then David put garrisons in Aram of Damascus, and the Syrians became servants to David and brought tribute. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went. ... ¹¹These [articles of tribute] also King David dedicated to the LORD, together with the silver and gold that he dedicated from all the nations he subdued, ¹²from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistines, Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer the son of Rehob, king of Zobah. ¹³And David made a name for himself when he returned from striking down 18,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt. ¹⁴Then he put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom he put garrisons, and all the Edomites became David’s servants. And the LORD gave victory to David wherever he went.

2Sam 8:15 So David reigned over all Israel. And David administered justice and equity to all his people.

Ps 78:72 With upright heart he [David] shepherded them and guided them with his skillful hand.

Acts 13:22 And when he had removed him, he raised up David to be their king, of whom he testified and said, 'I have found in David the son of Jesse a man after my heart, who will do all my will.'

... However, David was not free of sin and trouble during his reign

2Sam 11:2-4 It happened, late one afternoon, when David arose from his couch and was walking on the roof of the king's house, that he saw from the roof a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful. ³*And David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is not this Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?"* ⁴*So David sent messengers and took her, and she came to him, and he lay with her.* (Now she had been purifying herself from her uncleanness.) Then she returned to her house.

2Sam 11:14-17, 26-27 In the morning David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. ¹⁵*In the letter he wrote, "Set Uriah in the forefront of the hardest fighting, and then draw back from him, that he may be struck down, and die."* ¹⁶*And as Joab was besieging the city, he assigned Uriah to the place where he knew there were valiant men.* ¹⁷*And the men of the city came out and fought with Joab, and some of the servants of David among the people fell. Uriah the Hittite also died.*  ... ²⁶When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she lamented over her husband. ²⁷And when the mourning was over, David sent and brought her to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

2Sam 12:9-10 [The prophet Nathan, to David:] Why have you despised the word of the LORD, to do what is evil in his sight? You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword and have taken his wife to be your wife and have killed him with the sword of the Ammonites. ¹⁰*Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.*

2Sam 24:10, 15 But David's heart struck him after he had numbered the people. And David said to the LORD, "I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But now, O LORD, please take away the iniquity of your servant, for I have done very foolishly."  ... ¹⁵*So the LORD sent a pestilence on Israel from the morning until the appointed time. And there died of the people from Dan to Beersheba 70,000 men.*

David's sin in counting his fighting men was one of pride and self-reliance. It resulted in a devastating judgment on his kingdom (v. 15), which would have significantly reduced the number of his fighting men.

Ps 3:1-2 O LORD, how many are my foes! Many are rising against me; ²many are saying of my soul, there is no salvation for him in God. Selah^k

^k The meaning of the Hebrew word Selah, used frequently in the Psalms, is uncertain. It may be a musical or liturgical direction

This is the beginning of a psalm that David wrote when he fled from his son Absalom. Absalom led a rebellion against David (cf. 2Sam 15-18). It was the major part of the fulfillment of the prophesied punishment against David for his sin in regard to Uriah (cf. 2Sam 12:10 ↑). Absalom was successful for a time, even making himself king, before his death and the re-establishment of David's rule over Israel. Note that there are a number of other psalms attributed to David which also speak of him undergoing great difficulties.

↑ David ruled from Jerusalem, known as the City Of David:

2Sam 5:5-7, 9 At Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and *at Jerusalem he reigned over all Israel and Judah thirty-three years.*¹ ⁶And the king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, who said to David, "You will not come in here, but the blind and the lame will ward you off"—thinking, "David cannot come in here." ⁷Nevertheless, David took the stronghold of Zion, that is, the city of David.  ... ⁹*And David lived in the stronghold and called it the city of David. And David built the city all around from the Millo inward.*

¹ Dead Sea Scroll lacks verses 4-5

Apart from the first few years of his reign (v. 5a), David ruled from Jerusalem – after conquering its inhabitants, the Jebusites (vv. 6-7).

In his devotion to God, David desired to build a temple or house for God. This led to God subsequently making a wonderful and highly significant promise or covenant with David regarding David's own "house" and descendants (cf. vv. 11-16 ↓).

2Sam 7:8-16 Now, therefore, thus you shall say to my servant David, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, that you should be prince over my people Israel. ⁹And I have been with you wherever you went and have cut off all your enemies from before you. And I will make for you a great name, like the name of the great ones of the earth. ¹⁰And I will appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them, so that they may dwell in their own place and be disturbed no more. And violent men shall afflict them no more, as formerly, ¹¹from the time that I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I will give you rest from all your enemies. Moreover, the LORD declares to you that the LORD will make you a house. ¹²When your days are fulfilled and you lie down with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. ¹³He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. ¹⁴I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. When he commits iniquity, I will discipline him with the rod of men, with the stripes of the sons of men, ¹⁵but my steadfast love will not depart from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away from before you. ¹⁶And your house and your kingdom shall be made sure forever before me.^m Your throne shall be established forever.'ⁿ

^mSeptuagint; Hebrew you

In vv. 11, 16 "house" refers to a royal dynasty that God would build for David, in response to his desire to build a "house" (v. 13) or temple for God. The "offspring" spoken of in vv. 12-15 initially refers to David's son Solomon, but is generally understood to ultimately speak of the Messiah. As such this covenant provided the people of Israel with the hope of a permanently secure kingdom (vv. 10-11a) under a godly and powerful king.

2Sam 23:5 For does not my house stand so with God? For he has made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and secure. For will he not cause to prosper all my help and my desire?ⁿ

The first rhetorical question is either referring to David's house being chosen by God (cf. NLT) in God's "everlasting covenant" with him, or to it being righteous before God (cf. vv. 3-4; AMP, NRSV).

1Ki 2:45 But King Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever.ⁿ

2Chr 13:5 Ought you not to know that the LORD God of Israel gave the kingship over Israel forever to David and his sons by a covenant of salt?ⁿ

Jer 33:25-26 Thus says the LORD: If I have not established my covenant with day and night and the fixed order of heaven and earth, ²⁶then I will reject the offspring of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his offspring to rule over the offspring of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes and will have mercy on them.ⁿ

↳ Extracts from David's response to God's covenant promises:

2Sam 7:18-19, 28-29 Then King David went in and sat before the LORD and said, "Who am I, O Lord GOD, and what is my house, that you have brought me thus far? ¹⁹And yet this was a small thing in your eyes, O Lord GOD. You have spoken also of your servant's house for a great while to come, and this is instruction for mankind, O Lord GOD!ⁿ ... ²⁸And now, O Lord GOD, you are God, and your words are true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. ²⁹Now therefore may it please you to bless the house of your servant, so that it may continue forever before you. For you, O Lord GOD, have spoken, and with your blessing shall the house of your servant be blessed forever.”

The meaning of the Hebrew for the last clause in v. 19 is uncertain. It may be speaking of God's gracious promise to David providing a lesson for all people, or of it being unusually gracious – “Is this the way you usually treat people?” (CEV; cf. NCV, NIV, NLT).

Jer 22:1-5 Thus says the LORD: “Go down to the house of the king of Judah and speak there this word, ²and say, ‘Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, who sits on the throne of David, you, and your servants, and your people who enter these gates.’ ³Thus says the LORD: Do justice and righteousness, and deliver from the hand of the oppressor him who has been robbed. And do no wrong or violence to the resident alien, the fatherless, and the widow, nor shed innocent blood in this place. ⁴*For if you will indeed obey this word, then there shall enter the gates of this house kings who sit on the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they and their servants and their people.* ⁵*But if you will not obey these words, I swear by myself, declares the LORD, that this house shall become a desolation.*

Note that in v. 5, “this house” refers to the king's palace (cf. v. 1).

Jer 36:30-31 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah: He shall have none to sit on the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out to the heat by day and the frost by night. ³¹*And I will punish him and his offspring and his servants for their iniquity.* I will bring upon them and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem and upon the people of Judah all the disaster that I have pronounced against them, but they would not hear.

✦ Despite the wickedness of some descendants of David, God would not destroy David's house, because of his covenant with David:

2Chr 21:5-7 Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. ⁶And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for the daughter of Ahab was his wife. And he did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. ⁷*Yet the LORD was not willing to destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and since he had promised to give a lamp to him and to his sons forever.*

Although God may have destroyed the family line of some of David's descendants who were wicked (cf. Jer 36:30 ) , God would not destroy the whole house of David because of his covenant with David.

Note: God chose Jerusalem, David's city, as his dwelling place . . .

God chose the city of Jerusalem, from which David ruled, to be the place which signified his presence among his people – as consummately indicated by the building of God's temple there. As such it was the center of worship of God. Note that Jerusalem is often referred to as “Zion”. This was originally the name of one of the hills on which Jerusalem was built, but came to be used to signify all of Jerusalem.

As seen in the second half of chapter 20, there are numerous prophecies portraying Jerusalem as becoming: the place of God's renewed, consummate presence; the center of worldwide worship of God; and the focal point of God's kingdom.

Ps 132:13-14 For the LORD has chosen Zion; he has desired it for his dwelling place: ¹⁴“This is my resting place forever; here I will dwell, for I have desired it. 📖

1Ki 11:13, 32, 36 However, I will not tear away all the kingdom, but I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem that I have chosen.” 📖 ... ³²(but he shall have one tribe, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), 📖 ... ³⁶Yet to his son I will give one tribe, that David my servant may always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem, the city where I have chosen to put my name. 📖

In v. 36b (cf. 2Chr 3:7 ↴) God speaks of Jerusalem as being the city he chose to signify his presence, in effect where he “chose to be worshiped” (NCV™; cf. CEV, GNT).

1Chr 23:25 For David said, “The LORD, the God of Israel, has given rest to his people, and he dwells in Jerusalem forever.” 📖

Ps 46:4-5 There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy habitation of the Most High. ⁵*God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God will help her when morning dawns.* 📖

Note that in regard to the “river” (v. 4), Jerusalem had no actual river. It appears to be a metaphor for blessings.

Ps 48:1-2 Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised in the city of our God! His holy mountain, ²beautiful in elevation, is the joy of all the earth, Mount Zion, in the far north, the city of the great King. 📖

Ps 50:2 Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God shines forth. 📖

Ps 68:16, 18 Why do you look with hatred, O many-peaked mountain, at the mount that God desired for his abode, yes, where the LORD will dwell forever? 📖 ... ¹⁸You ascended on high, leading a host of captives in your train and receiving gifts among men, even among the rebellious, that the LORD God may dwell there. 📖

“You ascended on high” (v. 18) appears to speak of God ascending to the heights of Mount Zion, so as to “dwell there” (cf. NIV). With the reference to captives and to God receiving gifts, David may be referring to his own conquest of enemies and receiving tribute from them, much of which he devoted to God (cf. 2Sam 8:11).

Ps 87:1-2 On the holy mount stands the city he founded; ²the LORD loves the gates of Zion more than all the dwelling places of Jacob. 📖

Ps 135:21 Blessed be the LORD from Zion, he who dwells in Jerusalem! Praise the LORD! 📖

... As such, God's temple was built in Jerusalem – by Solomon, David's son

2Chr 3:1 Then Solomon began to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the LORD^a had appeared to David his father, at the place that David had appointed, on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 📖

^a Septuagint; Hebrew lacks the LORD

1Ki 6:1-2, 7, 22, 38 In the four hundred and eightieth year after the people of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, he began to build the house of the LORD. ²The house that King Solomon built for the LORD was sixty cubits^r long, twenty cubits wide, and thirty cubits high. 📖 ... ⁷*When the house was built, it was with stone prepared at the quarry, so that neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron was heard in the house while it was being built.* 📖 ... ²²*And he overlaid the whole house with gold, until all the house was finished. Also the whole altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary he overlaid with gold.* 📖 ... ³⁸*And in the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished in all its parts, and according to all its specifications. He was seven years in building it.* 📖

^r A cubit was about 18 inches or 45 centimeters

2Chr 6:1-2, 4-10 Then Solomon said, “The LORD has said that he would dwell in thick darkness. ²*But I have built you an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever.*” 📖 ... ⁴And he said, “Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his hand has fulfilled what he promised with his mouth to David my father, saying, ⁵‘Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house, that my name might be there, and I chose no man as prince over my people Israel; ⁶*but I have chosen Jerusalem that my name may be there, and I have chosen David to be over my people Israel.*’ ⁷Now it was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel. ⁸*But the LORD said to David my father, ‘Whereas it was in your heart to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your heart. ⁹Nevertheless, it is not you who shall build the house, but your son who shall be*

Note the references to God fulfilling his promise to David regarding the building of the temple (vv. 4, 10). Later in v. 15 Solomon further attests to God's faithfulness to David: [You God] "who have kept with your servant David my father what you declared to him. You spoke with your mouth, and with your hand have fulfilled it this day."

2Chr 33:7 And the carved image of the idol that he had made he set in the house of God, of which God said to David and to Solomon his son, "In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my name forever, ...

This and the following references speak further of the temple, God's house, being in Jerusalem.

2Chr 36:14 All the officers of the priests and the people likewise were exceedingly unfaithful, following all the abominations of the nations. And they polluted the house of the LORD that he had made holy in Jerusalem.

Ezra 1:3 Whoever is among you of all his people, may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and rebuild the house of the LORD, the God of Israel—he is the God who is in Jerusalem.

This refers to the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem after its destruction by the Babylonians and the exile.

Ps 68:29 Because of your temple at Jerusalem kings shall bear gifts to you.

Isa 31:9 His rock shall pass away in terror, and his officers desert the standard in panic," declares the LORD, whose fire is in Zion, and whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

The use of "fire" and "furnace" may refer to God's altar – and the offerings made on it – in the temple in Jerusalem.

✦ The background to the choosing of the site of the temple:

1Chr 21:13-19, 25-30; 22:1 Then David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let me fall into the hand of the LORD, for his mercy is very great, but do not let me fall into the hand of man." ¹⁴So the LORD sent a pestilence on Israel, and 70,000 men of Israel fell. ¹⁵And God sent the angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was about to destroy it, the LORD saw, and he relented from the calamity. And he said to the angel who was working destruction, "It is enough; now stay your hand." And the angel of the LORD was standing by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. ¹⁶And David lifted his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, and in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces. ¹⁷And David said to God, "Was it not I who gave command to number the people? It is I who have sinned and done great evil. But these sheep, what have they done? Please let your hand, O LORD my God, be against me and against my father's house. But do not let the plague be on your people." ¹⁸Now the angel of the LORD had commanded Gad to say to David that David should go up and raise an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. ¹⁹So David went up at Gad's word, which he had spoken in the name of the LORD.  ... ²⁵So David paid Ornan 600 shekels^s of gold by weight for the site. ²⁶And David built there an altar to the LORD and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings and called on the LORD, and the LORD^t answered him with fire from heaven upon the altar of burnt offering. ²⁷Then the LORD commanded the angel, and he put his sword back into its sheath. ²⁸At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him at the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. ²⁹For the tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that time in the high place at Gibeon, ³⁰but David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.  ^{22:1} Then David said, "Here shall be the house of the LORD God and here the altar of burnt offering for Israel."

^s A shekel was about 2/5 ounce or 11 grams

I. General

Knowing what sin is and what its consequences are is vital to understanding God's relationship with humankind and to appreciating the need for Jesus Christ's mission. It also helps us not to sin by: clarifying what sin is (which this chapter does in general terms); and providing great motivation to avoid sin.

a) What Sin Is

Subsections

- Sin is breaking God's law
- Even unintentionally breaking God's law is sin
- Doing evil and acting wickedly is sin
- All wrongdoing is sin
- Not doing what we should do is sin

Sin is breaking God's law

1Jn 3:4 Everyone who makes a practice of sinning also practices lawlessness; sin is lawlessness.

Sin is lawlessness – acting apart from and contrary to God's law. As such, basically it is breaking God's law. Conversely, breaking God's law is sin,

Lev 26:43 But the land shall be abandoned by them and enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies desolate without them, and they shall make amends for their iniquity, because they spurned my rules and their soul abhorred my statutes.

The term "iniquity" means an offense/s against God's law. Thus "iniquity" (v. 12) is equivalent to "sin".

1Sam 15:24 Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned, for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD and your words, because I feared the people and obeyed their voice."

In addition to breaking any command in God's law, disobeying any other command or instruction from God is also sin.

Neh 1:6-7 ... let your ear be attentive and your eyes open, to hear the prayer of your servant that I now pray before you day and night for the people of Israel your servants, confessing the sins of the people of Israel, which we have sinned against you. Even I and my father's house have sinned. ⁷We have acted very corruptly against you and have not kept the commandments, the statutes, and the rules that you commanded your servant Moses.

Neh 9:29 And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey.

Ps 89:30-32 If his children forsake my law and do not walk according to my rules,^a ³¹if they violate my statutes and do not keep my commandments, ³²then I will punish their transgression with the rod and their iniquity with stripes, ...

^a Or my just decrees

The terms "transgression" and "sin" are synonyms. The former speaks of acting out of line in regard to rules or breaking them. The latter speaks of missing the mark or target.

Isa 42:24 Who gave up Jacob to the looter, and Israel to the plunderers? Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned, in whose ways they would not walk, and whose law they would not obey?

Note that in saying "we" have sinned, the prophet appears to identify himself with his people – "they" who had not obeyed God's law.

Dan 9:11 All Israel has transgressed your law and turned aside, refusing to obey your voice. And the curse and oath that are written in the Law of Moses the servant of God have been poured out upon us, because we have sinned against him.

James 2:8-9 If you really fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself," you are doing well. ⁹But if you show partiality, you are committing sin and are convicted by the law as transgressors.

To show partiality breaks the law to "love your neighbor as yourself" – and so is committing sin.

Even unintentionally breaking God's law is sin

Lev 4:2-3, 13-14 Speak to the people of Israel, saying, If anyone sins unintentionally^b in any of the Lord's commandments about things not to be done, and does any one of them, ³if it is the anointed priest who sins, thus bringing guilt on the people, then he shall offer for the sin that he has committed a bull from the herd without blemish to the Lord for a sin offering.  ... ¹³“If the whole congregation of Israel sins unintentionally^c and the thing is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and they do any one of the things that by the LORD’s commandments ought not to be done, and they realize their guilt,^d ¹⁴when the sin which they have committed becomes known, the assembly shall offer a bull from the herd for a sin offering and bring it in front of the tent of meeting.

^b Or by mistake; so throughout Leviticus

^c Or makes a mistake

^d Or suffer for their guilt, or are guilty; also verses 22, 27, and chapter 5

Lev 4:22-24, 27-28 When a leader sins, doing unintentionally any one of all the things that by the commandments of the LORD his God ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, ²³or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring as his offering a goat, a male without blemish, ²⁴and shall lay his hand on the head of the goat and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt offering before the LORD; it is a sin offering.  ... ²⁷“If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD’s commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, ²⁸or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed.

Lev 5:17-18 If anyone sins, doing any of the things that by the LORD’s commandments ought not to be done, though he did not know it, then realizes his guilt, he shall bear his iniquity. ¹⁸He shall bring to the priest a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering, and the priest shall make atonement for him for the mistake that he made unintentionally, and he shall be forgiven.

Ezek 45:20 You shall do the same on the seventh day of the month for anyone who has sinned through error or ignorance; so you shall make atonement for the temple.

The reference to sin has in view breaking God’s law.

‡ However, sinning unintentionally is not as serious as sinning defiantly:

Num 15:27-28, 30-31 “If one person sins unintentionally, he shall offer a female goat a year old for a sin offering. ²⁸And the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the person who makes a mistake, when he sins unintentionally, to make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.  ... ³⁰But the person who does anything with a high hand, whether he is native or a sojourner, reviles the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from among his people. ³¹Because he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken his commandment, that person shall be utterly cut off; his iniquity shall be on him.”

To act as such “with a high hand” (v. 30) is to do so “defiantly” (NASB, NIV). Forgiveness could be obtained for a person who sinned unintentionally (vv. 27-28) but no such provision is given for one who sinned defiantly (vv. 30-31).

Doing evil and acting wickedly is sin

Deut 9:18 Then I lay prostrate before the LORD as before, forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water, because of all the sin that you had committed, in doing what was evil in the sight of the LORD to provoke him to anger.

1Ki 14:22 And Judah did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealousy with their sins that they committed, more than all that their fathers had done.

Ps 51:4 Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight, so that you may be justified in your words and blameless in your judgment.

Ecc 8:12 Though a sinner does evil a hundred times and prolongs his life, yet I know that it will be well with those who fear God, because they fear before him.

Rom 7:20-21 Now if I do what I do not want, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me. ²¹So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand.

Dan 9:15 And now, O Lord our God, who brought your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and have made a name for yourself, as at this day, we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

1Ki 8:47b ‘We have sinned and have acted perversely and wickedly,’ ...

Ps 106:6 Both we and our fathers have sinned; we have committed iniquity; we have done wickedness.

Prov 5:22 The iniquities of the wicked ensnare him, and he is held fast in the cords of his sin.

‡ Whoever makes a practice of sinning is of Satan:

1Jn 3:8a Whoever makes a practice of sinning is of the devil, for the devil has been sinning from the beginning.

This illustrates that sin is evil, indicating that those who habitually continue to sin show that they are of – or belong to – the devil.

All wrongdoing is sin

At least in terms of the Bible's perspective, wrongdoing involves breaking God's law. Any morally wrong action can be shown to break one or more of God's commands. Thus wrongdoing is sin – as is any evil action.

1Jn 5:17 All wrongdoing is sin, but there is sin that does not lead to death.

Dan 9:5 ... we have sinned and done wrong and acted wickedly and rebelled, turning aside from your commandments and rules.

Ex 9:27 Then Pharaoh sent and called Moses and Aaron and said to them, "This time I have sinned; the LORD is in the right, and I and my people are in the wrong.

Num 5:6-7 Speak to the people of Israel, When a man or woman commits any of the sins that people commit by breaking faith with the LORD, and that person realizes his guilt, ⁷he shall confess his sin that he has committed.^e And he shall make full restitution for his wrong, adding a fifth to it and giving it to him to whom he did the wrong.

^e Hebrew they shall confess their sin that they have committed

Ezek 18:18 As for his father, because he practiced extortion, robbed his brother, and did what is not good among his people, behold, he shall die for his iniquity.

Not doing what we should do is sin

James 4:17 So whoever knows the right thing to do and fails to do it, for him it is sin.

Lev 5:1 If anyone sins in that he hears a public adjuration to testify, and though he is a witness, whether he has seen or come to know the matter, yet does not speak, he shall bear his iniquity; ...

Num 32:23 But if you will not do so, behold, you have sinned against the LORD, and be sure your sin will find you out.

2Chr 19:10 ... whenever a case comes to you from your brothers who live in their cities, concerning bloodshed, law or commandment, statutes or rules, then you shall warn them, that they may not incur guilt before the LORD and wrath may not come upon you and your brothers. Thus you shall do, and you will not incur guilt.

This indicates that the judges would sin if they did not warn the people as they had been instructed to do.

Luke 12:47 And that servant who knew his master's will but did not get ready or act according to his will, will receive a severe beating.

Those who know God or Christ's will and do not do it will be punished – indicative of the fact that not doing what one should is sin.

‡ Acting contrary to one's beliefs is sin:

Rom 14:14, 23 I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus that nothing is unclean in itself, but it is unclean for anyone who thinks it unclean.  ... ²³But whoever has doubts is condemned if he eats, because the eating is not from faith. For whatever does not proceed from faith is sin.^f

^f Some manuscripts insert here 16:25-27

In v. 14 Paul is referring particularly to food, as in v. 23. In v. 23 "faith" is being used in a subjective sense. It refers to our beliefs or convictions (cf. AMP) as to what is right – or at least what is right for ourselves – before God. As such, Paul is saying that acting in a way that is opposed to our beliefs and conscience is in effect sin.

- Sin is action against God
- Even acting wrongfully against other people is sinning against God
- Sin is rebellion against God
- For sin involves: turning away from God and his commands; ...
- ... and going our own way

- Sin is hated by God
- God can be grieved by sin

Sin is action against God

Sin is against God primarily because it is acting contrary to his commands and so against his will. As such the previous section also reflects the fact that sin is against God, by defining sin as breaking God's law (cf. Neh 1:6-7 ↓; ISA 42:24 ↓; Dan 9:11 ↓; Rom 8:7 ↓).

Lev 26:40 But if they confess their iniquity and the iniquity of their fathers in their treachery that they committed against me, and also in walking contrary to me, ...

Neh 1:6-7 ... let your ear be attentive and your eyes open, to hear the prayer of your servant that I now pray before you day and night for the people of Israel your servants, confessing the sins of the people of Israel, which we have sinned against you. Even I and my father's house have sinned. ⁷*We have acted very corruptly against you and have not kept the commandments, the statutes, and the rules that you commanded your servant Moses.*

Ps 41:4 As for me, I said, "O LORD, be gracious to me; heal me,^g for I have sinned against you!"

^g Hebrew my soul

Isa 3:8-9 For Jerusalem has stumbled, and Judah has fallen, because their speech and their deeds are against the LORD, defying his glorious presence.^h ⁹For the look on their faces bears witness against them; they proclaim their sin like Sodom; they do not hide it. Woe to them! For they have brought evil on themselves.

^h Hebrew the eyes of his glory

The fact that the people's words and deeds are said to be "against the LORD" (v. 8) and are latter referred to as "sin" (v. 9), implies that sin involves words and deeds against the LORD. This is reinforced by v. 8 indicating that sinning defies God's glorious presence.

Isa 42:24 Who gave up Jacob to the looter, and Israel to the plunderers? Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned, in whose ways they would not walk, and whose law they would not obey?

Jer 14:20 We acknowledge our wickedness, O LORD, and the iniquity of our fathers, for we have sinned against you.

Dan 9:11 All Israel has transgressed your law and turned aside, refusing to obey your voice. And the curse and oath that are written in the Law of Moses the servant of God have been poured out upon us, because we have sinned against him.

Gen 13:13 Now the men of Sodom were wicked, great sinners against the LORD.

Rom 8:7 For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God, for it does not submit to God's law; indeed, it cannot.

Those who are "under the control of their sinful nature" (NLT) are actively hostile towards God.

Num 15:30 But the person who does anything with a high hand, whether he is native or a sojourner, reviles the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from among his people.

Sinning defiantly actually "reviles, and blasphemes the Lord" (AMP) as it is very dishonoring to him. This is largely because it: discredits his laws and him as the one who instituted the laws; and shows disdain towards him as the one to whom we are accountable for breaking the laws.

Even acting wrongfully against other people is sinning against God

Gen 39:6-9 So he left all that he had in Joseph's charge, and because of him he had no concern about anything but the food he ate. Now Joseph was handsome in form and appearance. ⁷*And after a time his master's wife cast her eyes on Joseph and said, "Lie with me."* ⁸But he refused and said to his master's wife, "Behold, because of me my master has no concern about anything in the house, and he has put everything that he has in my charge. ⁹He is not greater in this house than I am, nor has he kept back anything from me except yourself, because you are his wife. How then can I do this great wickedness and sin against God?"

The proposed action (v. 7) would have been acting against his master, but ultimately it would have been sin against God (v. 9).

Lev 6:2 If anyone sins and commits a breach of faith against the LORD by deceiving his neighbor in a matter of deposit or security, or through robbery, or if he has oppressed his neighbor ...

Being "a breach of faith" against God is equivalent to sinning against him (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT). Thus deceiving one's neighbor is sinning against God.

1Sam 12:23 Moreover, as for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD by ceasing to pray for you, and I will instruct you in the good and the right way.

Failure to fulfill one's responsibilities towards others – which is wronging them and so in effect acting against them – is sinning against God.

2Sam 12:10, 13a Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.' ...
¹³David said to Nathan, "I have sinned against the LORD."

Note that in v. 10 Nathan is conveying God's words to David.

Ps 51:4 Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight, so that you may be justified in your words and blameless in your judgment.

Here David reiterates his words above in 2 Samuel 12:13a, acknowledging his committing of adultery with Bathsheba and subsequent murder of Uriah (her husband) as sinning against God.

Luke 15:21 *And the son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.'*ⁱ ⁱ Some manuscripts add treat me as one of your hired servants

The prodigal son is saying in effect: "I have sinned against God in heaven and against you." (CEV)

✦ Sinning against other Christians is sinning against Christ:

1Cor 8:12 Thus, sinning against your brothersⁱ and wounding their conscience when it is weak, you sin against Christ.

ⁱ Or brothers and sisters

The sins referred to in the verses above are against God because they are acting against his commands. Here the sin is spoken of as being against Christ because Christians are members of Christ's body and so what one does to another Christian, one in effect does to Christ.

Sin is rebellion against God

Ps 5:10 Make them bear their guilt, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; because of the abundance of their transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against you.

Ps 78:17 Yet they sinned still more against him, rebelling against the Most High in the desert.

Jer 33:8 I will cleanse them from all the guilt of their sin against me, and I will forgive all the guilt of their sin and rebellion against me.

Lam 3:42 We have transgressed and rebelled, and you have not forgiven.

Ezek 2:3 And he said to me, "Son of man, I send you to the people of Israel, to nations of rebels, who have rebelled against me. They and their fathers have transgressed against me to this very day."

Dan 9:9-10 To the Lord our God belong mercy and forgiveness, for *we have rebelled against him*¹⁰*and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God by walking in his laws*, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

Hos 8:1 Set the trumpet to your lips! One like a vulture is over the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant and rebelled against my law.

For sin involves: turning away from God and his commands; . . .

See also:

▪ Isa 53:6 ; Jer 8:5

Isa 59:12-13 For *our transgressions are multiplied before you, and our sins testify against us; for our transgressions are with us, and we know our iniquities:*¹³*transgressing, and denying the LORD, and turning back from following our God*, speaking oppression and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart lying words.

Job 34:26-27 He strikes them for their wickedness in a place for all to see,²⁷*because they turned aside from following him and had no regard for any of his ways, ...*

Sin or wickedness involves turning from following God and his ways (or commands).

Isa 1:4 Ah, sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, offspring of evildoers, children who deal corruptly! They have forsaken the LORD, they have despised the Holy One of Israel, they are utterly estranged.

In their persistence in sin, the people had forsaken God – and so "turned away from him" (NCV™; cf. CEV, GNT, NASB, NIV, NLT). Thus they had alienated themselves from God, becoming “utterly estranged”.

Dan 9:5, 11a ... we have sinned and done wrong and acted wickedly and rebelled, turning aside from your commandments and rules. ... ¹¹*All Israel has transgressed your law and turned aside, refusing to obey your voice.*

Rom 3:12 All have turned aside; together they have become worthless; no one does good, not even one.

All have sinned and turned away from God (cf. GNT, NLT).

2Sam 22:22-23 For I have kept the ways of the LORD and have not wickedly departed from my God. ²³*For all his rules were before me, and from his statutes I did not turn aside.*

In contrast to the subjects of the above verses, David had not sinned by turning away from God and his laws.

... and going our own way

Isa 53:6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned—every one—to his own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all.

In committing iniquity we in effect turn from God to our own way.

Jer 8:5-6 Why then has this people turned away in perpetual backsliding? They hold fast to deceit; they refuse to return. ⁶I have paid attention and listened, but they have not spoken rightly; no man relents of his evil, saying, ‘What have I done?’ Everyone turns to his own course, like a horse plunging headlong into battle.

Jer 16:12 ... and because you have done worse than your fathers, for behold, every one of you follows his stubborn, evil will, refusing to listen to me.

Jer 18:11-12 Now, therefore, say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: ‘Thus says the LORD, Behold, I am shaping disaster against you and devising a plan against you. Return, every one from his evil way, and amend your ways and your deeds.’ ¹²‘But they say, ‘That is in vain! We will follow our own plans, and will every one act according to the stubbornness of his evil heart.’

Ecc 7:29 See, this alone I found, that God made man upright, but they have sought out many schemes.

God made people upright, but they have “turned to follow their own downward path” (NLT).

Sin is hated by God

Isa 61:8 For I the LORD love justice; I hate robbery and wrong;^k I will faithfully give them their recompense, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them.

^k Or robbery with a burnt offering

Deut 12:31 You shall not worship the LORD your God in that way, for every abominable thing that the LORD hates they have done for their gods, for they even burn their sons and their daughters in the fire to their gods.

Any such “abominable thing” is sin – as are the actions mentioned in the verses below.

Prov 6:16-19 There are six things that the LORD hates, seven that are an abomination to him: ¹⁷haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, ¹⁸a heart that devises wicked plans, feet that make haste to run to evil, ¹⁹a false witness who breathes out lies, and one who sows discord among brothers.

Zec 8:17 ... do not devise evil in your hearts against one another, and love no false oath, for all these things I hate, declares the LORD.

Ps 5:4-6 For you are not a God who delights in wickedness; evil may not dwell with you. ⁵The boastful shall not stand before your eyes; you hate all evildoers. ⁶You destroy those who speak lies; the LORD abhors the bloodthirsty and deceitful man.

In conjunction with hating sin, God hates those who willfully persist in sin – as spoken of in the following three references. In conjunction, note the comment below on Psalms 11:5.

Ps 11:5 The LORD tests the righteous, but his soul hates the wicked and the one who loves violence.

The Hebrew word translated as “hates” speaks of rejection and disassociation.

Prov 3:32 ... for the devious person is an abomination to the LORD, but the upright are in his confidence.

An “abomination” is something that is detestable.

Hos 9:15 Every evil of theirs is in Gilgal; there I began to hate them. Because of the wickedness of their deeds I will drive them out of my house. I will love them no more; all their princes are rebels.

✦ God cannot tolerate sin:

Hab 1:13a You who are of purer eyes than to see evil and cannot look at wrong ...

Further to God hating sin, he cannot tolerate it.

God can be grieved by sin

Ps 78:40 How often they rebelled against him in the wilderness and grieved him in the desert!

Isa 63:10 But they rebelled and grieved his Holy Spirit; therefore he turned to be their enemy, and himself fought against them.

Ezek 6:9a ... then those of you who escape will remember me among the nations where they are carried captive, how I have been broken over their whoring heart that has departed from me and over their eyes that go whoring after their idols.

To have been “broken” is to have been grieved (cf. NIV, NLT).

Gen 6:5-6 The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. ⁶And the LORD was sorry that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him to his heart.

This is not saying that God was grieved by the sin, but it is apparent that sin was the root cause of the grief.

✦ Sin can burden and weary God:

Isa 43:24 You have not bought me sweet cane with money, or satisfied me with the fat of your sacrifices. But you have burdened me with your sins; you have wearied me with your iniquities.

Sin – particularly that of his people – burdens God in the sense that it weighs heavily on his heart. In saying that it wearies God, Isaiah may be alluding to the fact that it tries his patience.

Rom 11:32 For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

Note that this is not generally interpreted to mean that God made all people become disobedient – but rather that “God has imprisoned all people in their own disobedience” (NLT, cf. CEV).

Gal 3:22 But the Scripture imprisoned everything under sin, so that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.

The reference to “the Scripture” primarily has the law in view. Under the law the people were effectively imprisoned by sin, with one implication being that all people have sinned.

James 3:2 For we all stumble in many ways. And if anyone does not stumble in what he says, he is a perfect man, able also to bridle his whole body.

1Jn 1:8, 10 If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.  ... ¹⁰*If we say we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.*

✦ The original sin:

Gen 3:1-6 Now the serpent was more crafty than any other beast of the field that the LORD God had made. He said to the woman, “Did God actually say, ‘Youⁿ shall not eat of any tree in the garden?’” ²And the woman said to the serpent, “We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden, ³but God said, ‘You shall not eat of the fruit of the tree that is in the midst of the garden, neither shall you touch it, lest you die.’” ⁴But the serpent said to the woman, “You will not surely die. ⁵For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil.” ⁶*So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise,^o she took of its fruit and ate, and she also gave some to her husband who was with her, and he ate.*

ⁿ In Hebrew you is plural in verses 1-5

^o Or to give insight

Presumably why Adam and Eve were commanded to not eat from the tree of “the knowledge of good and evil” (v. 2:17) was that having such knowledge would lead to reliance on their own imperfect knowledge and wisdom, which in turn would lead to independence from God. The end result of this is death.

No one is righteous before God

Ps 143:2 Enter not into judgment with your servant, for no one living is righteous before you.

Rom 3:10-12 ... as it is written: “None is righteous, no, not one; ¹¹*no one understands; no one seeks for God.* ¹²*All have turned aside; together they have become worthless; no one does good, not even one.*”

The clause “no one does good” (v. 12) is quoted from Psalms 14:3. It may be hyperbole emphasizing the depravity of human nature, or a generalization of sinful man’s conduct. Possibly the writer may be taking the view that no matter what one does, as a whole one’s acts do not meet God’s standard of righteousness.

Job 15:14-16 What is man, that he can be pure? Or he who is born of a woman, that he can be righteous? ¹⁵*Behold, God^p puts no trust in his holy ones, and the heavens are not pure in his sight;* ¹⁶*how much less one who is abominable and corrupt, a man who drinks injustice like water!*

^p Hebrew he

Job 25:4-6 How then can man be in the right before God? How can he who is born of woman be pure? ⁵*Behold, even the moon is not bright, and the stars are not pure in his eyes;* ⁶*how much less man, who is a maggot, and the son of man, who is a worm!*

Ecc 7:20, 29 Surely there is not a righteous man on earth who does good and never sins.  ... ²⁹*See, this alone I found, that God made man upright, but they have sought out many schemes.*

Isa 64:6a We have all become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous deeds are like a polluted garment.

In saying “all our righteous deeds are like a polluted garment” Isaiah may be: speaking of the people’s righteous acts being polluted or stained by their sin; implying that even their good acts do not meet God’s standard of righteousness, as per the comment on Romans 3:12 above; or using “righteous” in an ironic sense.

People have a sinful nature . . .

Gal 5:24 And those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires.

Here and in Colossians 2:13 immediately below, the term “flesh” refers to our sinful human nature.

Col 2:13 And you, who were dead in your trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, God made alive together with him, having forgiven us all our trespasses, ...

In speaking of the “uncircumcision” of their sinful nature, Paul underlines the sinfulness of one’s nature by alluding to its non-renewed or pagan state.

Deut 31:20-21 For when I have brought them into the land flowing with milk and honey, which I swore to give to their fathers, and they have eaten and are full and grown fat, they will turn to other gods and serve them, and despise me and break my covenant. ²¹And when many evils and troubles have come upon them, this song shall confront them as a witness (for it will live unforgotten in the mouths of their offspring). For I know what they are inclined to do even today, before I have brought them into the land that I swore to give.

By nature people are inclined to turning from God and breaking his law.

Job 14:4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? There is not one. ☰

This is speaking of how human beings are essentially “born impure” (NLT; cf. Ps 51:5 ↓; Gen 8:21a ↓); i.e. they have an “unclean” nature from the start.

Ps 51:5 Behold, I was brought forth in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me. ☰

Matt 7:11 If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask him! ☰

In describing his listeners as “evil”, Jesus is probably alluding to their sinful nature. Having a sinful nature, all people are evil – particularly in comparison to God and his standards.

Rom 5:19 For as by the one man’s disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man’s obedience the many will be made righteous. ☰

Adam became a sinner through his disobedience, by which his nature either became or proved to be sinful. People were made sinners through their relationship to Adam. Possible reasons as to why this is so include: it is due to Adam’s descendants naturally inheriting this characteristic and his susceptibility to sin; and it is due to their association with Adam as the head of the human race.

Rom 6:6 We know that our old self^a was crucified with him in order that the body of sin might be brought to nothing, so that we would no longer be enslaved to sin. ☰

^a Greek man

The term “the body of sin” points to our sinful nature – our “sinful selves” (NCV™; cf. GNT).

... People have hearts and minds inclined towards evil

In the Bible “heart” is usually used figuratively, to denote one’s conscious self – somewhat akin to one’s mind. As such it can be used to refer more specifically to one’s intellect, one’s will or one’s emotions.

Gen 6:5 The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. ☰

Gen 8:21a And when the LORD smelled the pleasing aroma, the LORD said in his heart, “I will never again curse^r the ground because of man, for the intention of man’s heart is evil from his youth. ☰

^r Or dishonor

Ps 64:6 They search out injustice, saying, “We have accomplished a diligent search.” For the inward mind and heart of a man are deep! ☰

The Hebrew of the last statement is somewhat difficult to translate (cf. CEV text note). The context suggests that it has in view the corruptness of people’s “mind and heart”, implying that they are “cunning” (NIV®, NLT).

Ecc 8:11 Because the sentence against an evil deed is not executed speedily, the heart of the children of man is fully set to do evil. ☰

This is probably not meaning that people’s hearts are always “fully set to do evil”. But it does point to their natural disposition towards such wrongdoing – particularly if they think it may go unpunished.

Ecc 9:3b Also, the hearts of the children of man are full of evil, and madness is in their hearts while they live, and after that they go to the dead. ☰

Note that “madness” – or foolishness (cf. CEV, NCV, NIV) – is often associated with evil and sin.

Jer 17:9 The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately sick; who can understand it? ☰

People are led into sin by their sinful nature . . .

- Rom 8:5 ↓

Rom 7:5, 18-25 For while we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit for death. ☰ ... ¹⁸For I know that nothing good dwells in me, that is, in my flesh. For I have the desire to do what is right, but not the ability to carry it out. ¹⁹For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I keep on doing. ²⁰Now if I do what I do not want, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me. ²¹So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand. ²²For I delight in the law of God, in my inner being, ²³but I see in my members another law waging war against the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members. ²⁴Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death? ²⁵Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I myself serve the law of God with my mind, but with my flesh I serve the law of sin.

Verse 5 indicates that our sinful natures are such that the effect of the law is actually to arouse sinful passions. The expression “sin that dwells within me” (v. 20) reflects the fact that sin is something that is within us, a part of us and so a part of our nature. In vv. 21-25, the use of “law” is similar to “rule”, referring to a ruling power and/or a prevailing principle (cf. NSB).

Rom 8:8 Those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

When a person’s sinful nature controls them, they act contrary to God’s will; i.e. they sin.

Gal 5:17, 19-21a For the desires of the flesh are against the Spirit, and the desires of the Spirit are against the flesh, for these are opposed to each other, to keep you from doing the things you want to do.  ... ¹⁹Now the works of the flesh are evident: sexual immorality, impurity, sensuality, ²⁰*idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, fits of anger, rivalries, dissensions, divisions,* ²¹*envy,^s drunkenness, orgies, and things like these.*

^s Some manuscripts add murder

In v. 17, “to keep you from doing the things you want to do” is probably speaking of the influence of the sinful nature in hindering one from doing the good one wants to do – in conflict with the Holy Spirit; in effect sinning. Alternatively, it possibly could be speaking of the Spirit helping us to not indulge the desires that we naturally want to fulfill.

Eph 2:3 ... among whom we all once lived in the passions of our flesh, carrying out the desires of the body^t and the mind, and were by nature children of wrath, like the rest of mankind.

^t Greek flesh

2Pet 2:18 For, speaking loud boasts of folly, they entice by sensual passions of the flesh those who are barely escaping from those who live in error.

Peter speaks of false teachers enticing people into sin by the sensual passions of their sinful natures.

Matt 26:41 Watch and pray that you may not enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.

Here “temptation” most likely is referring to the temptation to be unfaithful in the testing time about to begin, rather than simply to giving in to sleep (cf. v. 40). If this is the case, “the flesh is weak” would primarily be speaking of the spiritual weakness and sinfulness of the sinful nature, not just physical limitations such as need for sleep.

... People are led into sin by their corrupt hearts and minds

Most of the following references are speaking of notably wicked or corrupt people. But what they say regarding the hearts and minds of such people is true to some degree of all people and illustrates the sinful effects of the corrupt human heart and mind.

Ps 73:7 Their eyes swell out through fatness; their hearts overflow with follies.

Isa 44:20 He feeds on ashes; a deluded heart has led him astray, and he cannot deliver himself or say, “Is there not a lie in my right hand?”

Jer 7:24 But they did not obey or incline their ear, but walked in their own counsels and the stubbornness of their evil hearts, and went backward and not forward.

Ezek 20:16 ... because they rejected my rules and did not walk in my statutes, and profaned my Sabbaths; for their heart went after their idols.

Mark 7:21-23 For from within, out of the heart of man, come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, theft, murder, adultery, ²²*coveting, wickedness, deceit, sensuality, envy, slander, pride, foolishness.* ²³*All these evil things come from within, and they defile a person.*

Rom 8:5-7 For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on the things of the Spirit. ⁶For to set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace. ⁷For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God, for it does not submit to God’s law; indeed, it cannot.

Those who carry on in sin – living according to the “flesh” – do so because their corrupt minds are focused on the desires of their sinful natures (v. 5). Such sinful minds are opposed to God and his laws (v. 7), ultimately producing death (v. 6).

Eph 4:17-19 Now this I say and testify in the Lord, that you must no longer walk as the Gentiles do, in the futility of their minds. ¹⁸*They are darkened in their understanding, alienated from the life of God because of the ignorance that is in them, due to their hardness of heart.* ¹⁹*They have become callous and have given themselves up to sensuality, greedy to practice every kind of impurity.*

Due to “their hardness of heart” (v. 18b), such people’s minds and thinking become so darkened that in fact they end up spiritually ignorant (v. 18a). As such their thinking is futile (v. 17b) and leads to a sinful lifestyle (vv. 17, 19).

Col 2:18 Let no one disqualify you, insisting on asceticism and worship of angels, going on in detail about visions,^u puffed up without reason by his sensuous mind, ...

^u Or about the things he has seen

Corrupted unspiritual minds lead to “foolish pride” (NCV™) – which is associated with sin.

2Tim 3:8 Just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these men also oppose the truth, men corrupted in mind and disqualified regarding the faith.

This suggests that the men’s depraved minds had led them to oppose the truth – effectively leading them into sin.

‡ Those who become accustomed to doing evil cannot change and do good:

Jer 13:23 Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard his spots? Then also you can do good who are accustomed to do evil.

. . . and God remembers sin

Hos 7:2 But they do not consider that I remember all their evil. Now their deeds surround them; they are before my face.

“Now their deeds surround them” probably means that in God’s eyes their sins covered them; he could not help but see their sins.

Hos 13:12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up; his sin is kept in store.

This indicates that God keeps a record of sin (cf. GNT, NCV). The suggestion appears to be that sin is “kept in store” till the time of judgment (cf. NCV, NLT).

Hos 9:9 They have deeply corrupted themselves as in the days of Gibeah: he will remember their iniquity; he will punish their sins.

Amos 8:7 The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob: “Surely I will never forget any of their deeds.

Shame and disgrace

Ezra 9:6 ... saying: “O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift my face to you, my God, for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has mounted up to the heavens.

Prov 6:32-33 He who commits adultery lacks sense; he who does it destroys himself. ³³He will get wounds and dishonor, and his disgrace will not be wiped away.

Prov 13:5 The righteous hates falsehood, but the wicked brings shame^w and disgrace.

^w Or stench

Isa 1:29 For they^x shall be ashamed of the oaks that you desired; and you shall blush for the gardens that you have chosen.

^x Some Hebrew manuscripts you
Idolatry is referred to here.

Jer 3:25 Let us lie down in our shame, and let our dishonor cover us. For we have sinned against the LORD our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even to this day, and we have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God.

Jer 31:19 For after I had turned away, I relented, and after I was instructed, I struck my thigh; I was ashamed, and I was confounded, because I bore the disgrace of my youth.

Ezek 16:52-54 Bear your disgrace, you also, for you have intervened on behalf of your sisters. Because of your sins in which you acted more abominably than they, they are more in the right than you. So be ashamed, you also, and bear your disgrace, for you have made your sisters appear righteous. ⁵³“I will restore their fortunes, both the fortunes of Sodom and her daughters, and the fortunes of Samaria and her daughters, and I will restore your own fortunes in their midst, ⁵⁴that you may bear your disgrace and be ashamed of all that you have done, becoming a consolation to them.

Note that the last statement in v. 52 indicates that Jerusalem's sins were such that they made sinful “sister” cities appear relatively righteous.

Ezek 36:32b Be ashamed and confounded for your ways, O house of Israel.

Dan 9:7-8 To you, O Lord, belongs righteousness, but to us open shame, as at this day, to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, those who are near and those who are far away, in all the lands to which you have driven them, because of the treachery that they have committed against you. ⁸*To us, O LORD, belongs open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against you.*

Rom 6:20-21 For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. ²¹But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

‡ The secret acts of the ungodly are too shameful to talk about:

Eph 5:12 For it is shameful even to speak of the things that they do in secret.

Spiritual defilement . . .

See also:

- Note: The people polluted and defiled the land by their sin, p. 415

Isa 59:3 For your hands are defiled with blood and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies; your tongue mutters wickedness.

Ezek 14:11 ... that the house of Israel may no more go astray from me, nor defile themselves anymore with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people and I may be their God, declares the Lord GOD.

Ezek 20:43 And there you shall remember your ways and all your deeds with which you have defiled yourselves, and you shall loathe yourselves for all the evils that you have committed.

Matt 15:18-20 But what comes out of the mouth proceeds from the heart, and this defiles a person. ¹⁹For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false witness, slander. ²⁰These are what defile a person. But to eat with unwashed hands does not defile anyone.

2Cor 7:1 Since we have these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of body^y and spirit, bringing holiness to completion in the fear of God.

^y Greek flesh

Here “every defilement” would appear to refer to all sinful influences that defile both our body and spirit – effectively our whole being.

Heb 12:15 See to it that no one fails to obtain the grace of God; that no “root of bitterness” springs up and causes trouble, and by it many become defiled; ...

The “root of bitterness” denotes either sinfulness itself (cf. AMP), or a person (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV) who exhibits such sinfulness. In light of the earlier reference to God’s grace, possibly unbelief in particular is in view (cf. NLT). Sin in the church can influence others to sin accordingly; thus by it many can “become defiled”.

Jude 1:7-8 ...just as Sodom and Gomorrah and the surrounding cities, which likewise indulged in sexual immorality and pursued unnatural desire,^z serve as an example by undergoing a punishment of eternal fire. ⁸Yet in like manner these people also, relying on their dreams, defile the flesh, reject authority, and blaspheme the glorious ones.

^z Greek other flesh

. . . Spiritual uncleanness

See also:

- Note: Spiritual purity is paralleled with cleanness, and sin with uncleanness, p. 408

Lev 18:24-25, 30 “Do not make yourselves unclean by any of these things, for by all these the nations I am driving out before you have become unclean, ²⁵and the land became unclean, so that I punished its iniquity, and the land vomited out its inhabitants. ... ³⁰So keep my charge never to practice any of these abominable customs that were practiced before you, and never to make yourselves unclean by them: I am the LORD your God.”

The acts to which vv. 24, 30 refer, were unlawful sexual relations (vv. 6-23). The nations’ sin was such that in God’s eyes even the land was made unclean (v. 25), resulting in God wiping the land clean of them.

Ps 106:39 Thus they became unclean by their acts, and played the whore in their deeds.

Lam 1:8-9a Jerusalem sinned grievously; therefore she became filthy; all who honored her despise her, for they have seen her nakedness; she herself groans and turns her face away. ⁹Her uncleanness was in her skirts; she took no thought of her future;^a therefore her fall is terrible; she has no comforter.

^a Or end

“Her uncleanness was in her skirts” (v. 9a) refers to Jerusalem’s uncleanness clinging to her, due to her sin (v. 8a).

Isa 64:5b-6 Behold, you were angry, and we sinned; in our sins we have been a long time, and shall we be saved?^b ⁶We have all become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous deeds are like a polluted garment. We all fade like a leaf, and our iniquities, like the wind, take us away.

^b Or in your ways is continuance, that we might be saved

For comment on v. 6a, see Isa 64:6a – under No one is righteous before God, p. 367.

Prov 30:12 There are those who are clean in their own eyes but are not washed of their filth.

This speaks of uncleanness and filth caused by sin (cf. vv. 11-14).

Isa 1:18 Come now, let us reason^c together, says the LORD: though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red like crimson, they shall become like wool.

^c Or dispute

The blood-guilt of murder had stained the people, like a red dye – thus making them unclean.

✦ Sin is spoken of as making God's dwelling place among the Israelites unclean:

Lev 20:2-3 Say to the people of Israel, Any one of the people of Israel or of the strangers who sojourn in Israel who gives any of his children to Molech shall surely be put to death. The people of the land shall stone him with stones. ³I myself will set my face against that man and will cut him off from among his people, because he has given one of his children to Molech, to make my sanctuary unclean and to profane my holy name.

The sin referred to here was a particularly serious one, but any sin – particularly if not appropriately addressed – would have in a sense defiled God's dwelling place among the Israelites. Note that similarly – in regard to the sin of murder defiling the land, where God dwelt – Numbers 35:34 says: "You shall not defile the land in which you live, in the midst of which I dwell, for I the LORD dwell in the midst of the people of Israel."

Separation from God . . .

See also:

- The ungodly will be separated from God and Jesus Christ – shut out from the holy city, p. 751
- God turns away from those who persist in sin . . ., p. 1835
- . . . God rejects them and thrusts them from his presence, p. 1835

Because sin defiles us and makes us spiritually unclean, it necessarily separates us from God. For God is holy – set apart from sin and consequent spiritual "uncleanness".

Isa 59:2 ... but your iniquities have made a separation between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear.

Eph 2:3, 12 ... among whom we all once lived in the passions of our flesh, carrying out the desires of the body^d and the mind, and were by nature children of wrath, like the rest of mankind.  ... ¹²remember that you were at that time separated from Christ, alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world.

^d Greek flesh

Separation from God and Jesus Christ involves exclusion from God's people and the associated blessings (v. 12).

Eph 4:18 They are darkened in their understanding, alienated from the life of God because of the ignorance that is in them, due to their hardness of heart.

Such people are alienated or separated from God and the life only he can give, due to their willful ignorance and stubbornness towards God – which is itself sin and also points to other sinful behavior.

Col 1:21 And you, who once were alienated and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds, ...

Rom 3:23 ... for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, ...

With the expression "fall short of the glory of God", Paul most likely is saying that all have failed to measure up to a standard compatible with God's glory – which is required by God – and so cannot share in his glory. As such, a further implication is that we cannot stand in God's presence, i.e. sin causes us to be separated from God.

Ezra 9:15 O LORD, the God of Israel, you are just, for we are left a remnant that has escaped, as it is today. Behold, we are before you in our guilt, for none can stand before you because of this.

This is not speaking of sin actually separating us from God, but it does illustrate that sin impairs our relationship with God.

. . . and spiritual death

See also:

- Rom 7:24
- Sin brings the prospect of eternal "death", p. 381

The state of spiritual death involves being cut off from God – "dead to God" – without his Holy Spirit, who brings spiritual life and spiritual awareness.

Rom 7:5, 9-11, 13 For while we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit for death.  ... ⁹I was once alive apart from the law, but when the commandment came, sin came alive and I died. ¹⁰The very commandment that promised life proved to be death to me. ¹¹For sin, seizing an opportunity through the commandment, deceived me and through it killed me.  ... ¹³Did that which is good, then, bring death to me? By no means! It was sin, producing death in me through what is good, in order that sin might be shown to be sin, and through the commandment might become sinful beyond measure.

In this passage, “death” appears to primarily refer to spiritual death, although not all commentators would agree. It possibly encompasses being under condemnation of death – both physical and eternal. In v. 5, “bear fruit for death” presumably is referring to “sinful deeds” (NLT) that produce death. In v. 9, “when the commandment came” may refer to the introduction of the law which brought sin into the picture, but more often it is interpreted to be referring to Paul’s full realization of what the law meant in his own life. This caused sin to come to life in him – i.e. sin was aroused and usurped control – bringing his death (vv. 9b-11). Verse 13 further speaks of sin producing death in us through the good law, showing sin for what it is – with the last clause possibly meaning that sin is shown to be evil and contrary to the law, beyond any argument or by any measure.

Eph 2:1-2 And you were dead in the trespasses and sins ²*in which you once walked, following the course of this world, following the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work in the sons of disobedience—*

Col 2:13 And you, who were dead in your trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, God made alive together with him, having forgiven us all our trespasses, ...

1Tim 5:6 ... but she who is self-indulgent is dead even while she lives.

Giving oneself up to luxury and self-indulgence is sinful. Accordingly, anyone who lives as such is “spiritually dead” (NLT).

Rom 8:6, 13 For to set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace.  ... ¹³*For if you live according to the flesh you will die, but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live.*

Here the references to “death” (v. 6) and to dying (v. 13) are probably referring to – or are at least inclusive of – spiritual death in both the present form and the future form of the afterlife.

Hos 13:1 When Ephraim spoke, there was trembling; he was exalted in Israel, but he incurred guilt through Baal and died.

Spiritual death may well be in view here, along with physical destruction – “he died [spiritually, and then outward ruin came also, sealing Israel’s doom as a nation]” (AMP).

✦ God’s law is spiritual but people are not:

Rom 7:14 For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of the flesh, sold under sin.

Captivity to sin . . .

Acts 8:23 For I see that you are in the gall^e of bitterness and in the bond of iniquity.

^e That is, a bitter fluid secreted by the liver; bile

Gal 3:22 But the Scripture imprisoned everything under sin, so that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.

Under the law the people were effectively imprisoned by sin.

Rom 7:21-24 So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand. ²²*For I delight in the law of God, in my inner being,* ²³*but I see in my members another law waging war against the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members.* ²⁴*Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death?*

The final question (v. 24), though not actually mentioning sin, reflects Paul’s captive state under the rule of sin. The power of sin held such sway over him (v. 21) that in his body or sinful nature, he was its prisoner (v. 23). Note that opinions differ on whether Paul is speaking in this passage (including vv. 14-17, 25 ↓) of a Christian or a pre-Christian experience.

Rom 3:9 What then? Are we Jews^f any better off?^g No, not at all. For we have already charged that all, both Jews and Greeks, are under sin, ...

^f Greek Are we

^g Or at any disadvantage?

All people (both Jews and Gentiles) are sinners. The phrase “under sin” appears to primarily refer to being “under the power of sin” (GNT, NLT; cf. AMP). Being under the condemnation that results from sin may also be encompassed.

Rom 11:32 For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

As noted earlier in the chapter, this is not generally interpreted to mean that God made all people become disobedient – but rather that “God has imprisoned all people in their own disobedience” (NLT, cf. CEV). As such it alludes to people’s captivity to sin, produced by sin (i.e. disobedience to God).

Gen 4:7 If you do well, will you not be accepted?^h And if you do not do well, sin is crouching at the door. Its desire is forⁱ you, but you must rule over it.

^h Hebrew will there not be a lifting up [of your face]?

ⁱ Or against

"Its desire is for you" speaks either of sin desiring to have one as a captive or desiring to have one so as to devour one.

Ecc 8:8 No man has power to retain the spirit, or power over the day of death. There is no discharge from war, nor will wickedness deliver those who are given to it.

The second statement appears to be teaching that wickedness enslaves the wicked – indicative of the fact that sin enslaves sinners; hence its inclusion here. However, in light of the first statement, it could instead mean that wickedness will not deliver one from death (cf. GNT, NLT).

Hos 5:4 Their deeds do not permit them to return to their God. For the spirit of whoredom is within them, and they know not the LORD.

Their sinful deeds prevented them from returning to God. As such their deeds effectively held them captive.

. . . involving enslavement to sin

John 8:34 Jesus answered them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, everyone who commits sin is a slave^l to sin.

^l Greek bondservant; also verse 35

Rom 6:16-20 Do you not know that if you present yourselves to anyone as obedient slaves,^k you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? ¹⁷But thanks be to God, that you who were once slaves of sin have become obedient from the heart to the standard of teaching to which you were committed, ¹⁸and, having been set free from sin, have become slaves of righteousness. ¹⁹I am speaking in human terms, because of your natural limitations. For just as you once presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness leading to sanctification. ²⁰For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness.

^k Greek bondservants. Twice in this verse and verse 19; also once in verses 17, 20

Rom 7:14-17, 25 For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of the flesh, sold under sin. ¹⁵For I do not understand my own actions. For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate. ¹⁶Now if I do what I do not want, I agree with the law, that it is good. ¹⁷So now it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me.  ... ²⁵Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I myself serve the law of God with my mind, but with my flesh I serve the law of sin.

In saying, "... it is no longer I who do it ..." (v. 17), Paul is not portraying himself as innocent, but pointing out his helplessness in the face of sin's control over what he does – "I can't help myself" (NLT). (As noted on vv. 21-24 in the previous subsection, bear in mind that here Paul may well be speaking of his pre-Christian experience.)

Titus 3:3 For we ourselves were once foolish, disobedient, led astray, slaves to various passions and pleasures, passing our days in malice and envy, hated by others and hating one another.

2Pet 2:19 They promise them freedom, but they themselves are slaves^l of corruption. For whatever overcomes a person, to that he is enslaved.

^l Greek bondservants

The latter part of the verse may be implying that we are all mastered by something, whether it be sin and the devil, or God.

Eph 4:19 They have become callous and have given themselves up to sensuality, greedy to practice every kind of impurity.

Giving oneself up to or over to sin is in a real sense giving or offering oneself to it as a slave (cf. Rom 6:16 ↑).

2Tim 3:6 For among them are those who creep into households and capture weak women, burdened with sins and led astray by various passions, ...

Being "burdened with sins" points to being "slaves of sin" (CEV). In such a predicament, sinful desires hold sway over a person.

Gal 5:17 For the desires of the flesh are against the Spirit, and the desires of the Spirit are against the flesh, for these are opposed to each other, to keep you from doing the things you want to do.

The latter part of the verse may be in the same vein as Romans 7:15 above, reflecting one's captivity and enslavement to sin. However, as noted earlier in this chapter, it could instead be speaking of the Holy Spirit's influence in inhibiting us from simply doing as we please; as such it would not be so pertinent to this subsection.

Ps 107:17 Some were fools through their sinful ways, and because of their iniquities suffered affliction; ...

Ps 36:3 The words of his mouth are trouble and deceit; he has ceased to act wisely and do good.

The fact that those who work “trouble and deceit” have “ceased to act wisely”, illustrates that sinful behaviour brings foolishness.

Ecc 7:7 Surely oppression drives the wise into madness, and a bribe corrupts the heart.

Here “madness” speaks of foolishness (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT, NRSV).

Rom 1:18-22 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth. ¹⁹For what can be known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. ²⁰For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse. ²¹For although they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they became futile in their thinking, and their foolish hearts were darkened. ²²*Claiming to be wise, they became fools, ...*

The “truth” (v. 18) is the truth about God revealed to all through the testimony of creation (vv. 19-21a). By ungodliness and unrighteousness, such people “suppress” the truth – in which they “push the truth away from themselves” (NLT). Verses 21-22 also demonstrate that ungodliness, with its disregard of God, leads to spiritual darkness and foolishness. The following references (Ezek 12:2; John 3:19-20) further indicate that sin leads to a lack of spiritual insight, or spiritual ignorance.

Ezek 12:2 Son of man, you dwell in the midst of a rebellious house, who have eyes to see, but see not, who have ears to hear, but hear not, for they are a rebellious house.

John 3:19-20 And this is the judgment: the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness rather than the light because their works were evil. ²⁰*For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his works should be exposed.*

Because of their evil deeds, such people spurn the light of Jesus Christ and his truth.

Further intrinsic harmful consequences

See also:

- The wicked reap what they sow . . ., p. 460

Jude 1:10 But these people blaspheme all that they do not understand, and they are destroyed by all that they, like unreasoning animals, understand instinctively.

The things that such people “understand instinctively” are their immoral practices – by which as a natural consequence “they are destroyed”.

Num 32:23 But if you will not do so, behold, you have sinned against the LORD, and be sure your sin will find you out.

The final clause appears to imply that sin brings its own harmful consequences – sin “catches up with you”. As such it is a similar concept to reaping what one sows (the theme of the above cross reference).

Prov 13:21-22 Disaster^m pursues sinners, but the righteous are rewarded with good. ²²A good man leaves an inheritance to his children’s children, but the sinner’s wealth is laid up for the righteous.

^mOr Evil

Isa 30:12-13 Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel, “Because you despise this word and trust in oppression and perverseness and rely on them, ¹³therefore this iniquity shall be to you like a breach in a high wall, bulging out, and about to collapse, whose breaking comes suddenly, in an instant; ...

This is possibly speaking of the natural harmful consequences of the people’s oppression and deceit; hence its inclusion here. Alternatively it may have in view God himself implementing such destruction in judgment.

✦ Sin produces nothing good:

Rom 6:20-21 For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. ²¹But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

Note: Sometimes God “gives people over” to sin

Living according to God’s ways produces a fullness of life – a spiritual life, founded on a relationship with God. However for those who choose to live a life apart from God, the Bible at times speaks of God in a sense handing over such people to sin. This appears to mean that God leaves them captive to sin and facing the consequences that naturally result from living contrary to the way that produces a fullness of life.

Ps 81:11-12 But my people did not listen to my voice; Israel would not submit to me. ¹²*So I gave them over to their stubborn hearts, to follow their own counsels.*

Acts 7:41-42 And they made a calf in those days, and offered a sacrifice to the idol and were rejoicing in the works of their hands. ⁴²But God turned away and gave them over to worship the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets: “Did you bring to me slain beasts and sacrifices, during the forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel?”

Rom 1:22-29a Claiming to be wise, they became fools, ²³and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man and birds and animals and creeping things. ²⁴*Therefore God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, to the dishonoring of their bodies among themselves,* ²⁵*because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever! Amen.* ²⁶*For this reason God gave them up to dishonorable passions.* For their women exchanged natural relations for those that are contrary to nature; ²⁷and the men likewise gave up natural relations with women and were consumed with passion for one another, men committing shameless acts with men and receiving in themselves the due penalty for their error. ²⁸*And since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, God gave them up to a debased mind to do what ought not to be done.* ²⁹*They were filled with all manner of unrighteousness, evil, covetousness, malice. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness.*

Note that the latter part of v. 27 clearly supports the concept of sin having intrinsic harmful consequences.

Job 8:4 If your children have sinned against him, he has delivered them into the hand of their transgression.

Here Bildad hypothesizes about what was behind the fete of Job’s children.

When one sins, one becomes guilty

Lev 6:1-7 ¹The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²*“If anyone sins and commits a breach of faith against the LORD by deceiving his neighbor in a matter of deposit or security, or through robbery, or if he has oppressed his neighbor ³or has found something lost and lied about it, swearing falsely—in any of all the things that people do and sin thereby— ⁴if he has sinned and has realized his guilt* and will restore what he took by robbery or what he got by oppression or the deposit that was committed to him or the lost thing that he found ⁵or anything about which he has sworn falsely, he shall restore it in full and shall add a fifth to it, and give it to him to whom it belongs on the day he realizes his guilt. ⁶And he shall bring to the priest as his compensation to the LORD a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering. ⁷And the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD, and he shall be forgiven for any of the things that one may do and thereby become guilty."

ⁿ Ch 5:20 in Hebrew

Num 5:5-6 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, "Speak to the people of Israel, When a man or woman commits any of the sins that people commit by breaking faith with the LORD, and that person realizes his guilt, ...

2Chr 19:10 ... whenever a case comes to you from your brothers who live in their cities, concerning bloodshed, law or commandment, statutes or rules, then you shall warn them, that they may not incur guilt before the LORD and wrath may not come upon you and your brothers. Thus you shall do, and you will not incur guilt.

This indicates that sin incurs guilt.

Ps 5:10 Make them bear their guilt, O God; let them fall by their own counsels; because of the abundance of their transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against you.

Isa 24:5-6 The earth lies defiled under its inhabitants; for they have transgressed the laws, violated the statutes, broken the everlasting covenant. Therefore a curse devours the earth, and its inhabitants suffer for their guilt; therefore the inhabitants of the earth are scorched, and few men are left.

Jer 33:8 I will cleanse them from all the guilt of their sin against me, and I will forgive all the guilt of their sin and rebellion against me.

Ezek 22:4a You have become guilty by the blood that you have shed, and defiled by the idols that you have made, and you have brought your days near, the appointed time of^o your years has come.

^o Some Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate, Targum; most Hebrew manuscripts until

Ezra 9:6-7, 13, 15 ... saying: "O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift my face to you, my God, for *our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has mounted up to the heavens.*⁷From the days of our fathers to this day we have been in great guilt. And for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been given into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, to plundering, and to utter shame, as it is today.  ...¹³And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, seeing that you, our God, have punished us less than our iniquities deserved and have given us such a remnant as this,  ...¹⁵O LORD, the God of Israel, you are just, for we are left a remnant that has escaped, as it is today. Behold, we are before you in our guilt, for none can stand before you because of this."

Ezek 21:24 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you have made your guilt to be remembered, in that your transgressions are uncovered, so that in all your deeds your sins appear—because you have come to remembrance, you shall be taken in hand.

Hos 13:1 When Ephraim spoke, there was trembling; he was exalted in Israel, but he incurred guilt through Baal and died.

† People cannot themselves remove their guilt:

Jer 2:21-22 Yet I planted you a choice vine, wholly of pure seed. How then have you turned degenerate and become a wild vine? ²²*Though you wash yourself with lye and use much soap, the stain of your guilt is still before me,* declares the Lord GOD.

God holds one responsible for one's sin

As reflected by verses in this subsection, being held responsible for one's sin involves such concepts as: bearing one's sins, facing its consequences (Lev 5:17; Num 9:13; Ezek 16:58; Hos 13:16); and being held accountable to God (Rom 3:19; James 2:10; Deut 18:19; Job 31:13-14).

Lev 5:1, 17 If anyone sins in that he hears a public adjuration to testify, and though he is a witness, whether he has seen or come to know the matter, yet does not speak, he shall bear his iniquity;  ...¹⁷*If anyone sins,* doing any of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, though he did not know it, then realizes his guilt, he shall bear his iniquity.

Num 9:13 But if anyone who is clean and is not on a journey fails to keep the Passover, that person shall be cut off from his people because he did not bring the LORD's offering at its appointed time; that man shall bear his sin.

Ezek 16:58 You bear the penalty of your lewdness and your abominations, declares the LORD.

Hos 13:16 ^p Samaria shall bear her guilt, because she has rebelled against her God; they shall fall by the sword; their little ones shall be dashed in pieces, and their pregnant women ripped open.

¶ Ch 14:1 in Hebrew

Rom 3:19 Now we know that whatever the law says it speaks to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be stopped, and the whole world may be held accountable to God.

Accountability for sin is clearly in view (cf. vv. 9-20).

James 2:10 For whoever keeps the whole law but fails in one point has become accountable for all of it.

The thought behind this appears to be that whenever a person sins and breaks one command of the law, the person is held accountable for breaking the law as a whole.

Deut 18:19 And whoever will not listen to my words that he shall speak in my name, I myself will require it of him.

Not listening to God's words involves disobedience to them – i.e. sin. The final clause speaks of God holding people accountable for this (cf. NIV, NRSV).

Job 31:13-14 If I have rejected the cause of my manservant or my maidservant, when they brought a complaint against me, ¹⁴what then shall I do when God rises up? When he makes inquiry, what shall I answer him?

Verse 14 suggests that God calls people to account for their sin (cf. NASB, NIV).

✦ Sinners face having to pay for their sins:

Lev 5:5-7, 15-16 ... when he realizes his guilt in any of these and confesses the sin he has committed, ⁶*he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation^a for the sin that he has committed, a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, for a sin offering.* And the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin. ⁷*But if he cannot afford a lamb, then he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation for the sin that he has committed two turtledoves or two pigeons,^r one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering.*  ... ¹⁵*“If anyone commits a breach of faith and sins unintentionally in any of the holy things of the LORD, he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation, a ram without blemish out of the flock, valued^s in silver shekels,^t according to the shekel of the sanctuary, for a guilt offering. ¹⁶He shall also make restitution for what he has done amiss in the holy thing and shall add a fifth to it and give it to the priest.* And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven.

^a Hebrew his guilt penalty; so throughout Leviticus

^r Septuagint two young pigeons; also verse 11

^s Or flock, or its equivalent

^t A shekel was about 2/5 ounce or 11 grams

This speaks of guilt offerings, required in matters where restitution was quantifiable and so could be made for the wrongdoing. As indicated in the text note on v. 6, such “compensation” (vv. 6, 7, 15) was a “guilt penalty”. Note that the concept of payment for sin is also referred to later in Leviticus in 26:43 – “they shall make amends for their iniquity.”

Sin makes one subject to God's wrath

See also:

- God's anger arises in response to sin and disobedience, p. 70
- God's wrath and destruction will be the recompense for ungodliness, p. 709
- The ungodly face God's wrath . . ., p. 749

Being guilty of sin and held responsible by God for it, means that one becomes subject to God's wrath.

2Ki 17:11b And they did wicked things, provoking the LORD to anger, ...

2Ki 22:13 “Go, inquire of the LORD for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that has been found. For great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us.”

Rom 1:18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth.

Rom 2:5 But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God's righteous judgment will be revealed.

Those who stubbornly do not repentant of sin and disobedience face the ultimate expression of God's wrath on the final judgment day.

Eph 2:3 ... among whom we all once lived in the passions of our flesh, carrying out the desires of the body^u and the mind, and were by nature children of wrath, like the rest of mankind.

^u Greek flesh

The expression “children of wrath” speaks of facing God's wrath. Because of who and what we are, with our sinful nature, we stand to “inherit” God's wrath (cf. AMP).

Eph 5:5-6 For you may be sure of this, that everyone who is sexually immoral or impure, or who is covetous (that is, an idolater), has no inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God. ⁶Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.

1Thes 2:15-16 ... who killed both the Lord Jesus and the prophets, and drove us out, and displease God and oppose all mankind ¹⁶by hindering us from speaking to the Gentiles that they might be saved—so as always to fill up the measure of their sins. But God's wrath has come upon them at last!^v

^v Or completely, or forever

Opinions vary as to which revelation of God's wrath is being referred to here. It could be a contemporary occurrence, or possibly a future one – with the present tense being used to indicate its certainty. Note that “fill up the measure of their sins” (v. 16) may be speaking of: excessive sin; reaching some limit of sin, possibly that which can trigger manifestation of God's wrath; or perhaps bringing the sin that they were destined to do to completion. The preceding phrase “so as always to” suggests that the third alternative is less likely.

God's wrath against sinners is manifested in punishment

Ps 90:7-9 For we are brought to an end by your anger; by your wrath we are dismayed. ⁸*You have set our iniquities before you, our secret sins in the light of your presence.* ⁹*For all our days pass away under your wrath; we bring our years to an end like a sigh.*

Isa 57:17 Because of the iniquity of his unjust gain I was angry, I struck him; I hid my face and was angry, but he went on backsliding in the way of his own heart.

Dan 9:11, 16 All Israel has transgressed your law and turned aside, refusing to obey your voice. And the curse and oath that are written in the Law of Moses the servant of God have been poured out upon us, because we have sinned against him. ... ¹⁶*“O Lord, according to all your righteous acts, let your anger and your wrath turn away from your city Jerusalem, your holy hill, because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and your people have become a byword among all who are around us.*

Ps 38:3-5 There is no soundness in my flesh because of your indignation; there is no health in my bones because of my sin. ⁴*For my iniquities have gone over my head; like a heavy burden, they are too heavy for me.* ⁵*My wounds stink and fester because of my foolishness, ...*

Ps 102:9-11 For I eat ashes like bread and mingle tears with my drink, ¹⁰*because of your indignation and anger; for you have taken me up and thrown me down.* ¹¹*My days are like an evening shadow; I wither away like grass.*

Zeph 1:17-18 I will bring distress on mankind, so that they shall walk like the blind, because they have sinned against the LORD; their blood shall be poured out like dust, and their flesh like dung. ¹⁸*Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them on the day of the wrath of the LORD. In the fire of his jealousy, all the earth shall be consumed; for a full and sudden end he will make of all the inhabitants of the earth.*

Note that this and the following references appear to refer to a final fulfillment at the end of the age.

Zeph 3:7b-8 But all the more they were eager to make all their deeds corrupt. ⁸*“Therefore wait for me,” declares the LORD, “for the day when I rise up to seize the prey. For my decision is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out upon them my indignation, all my burning anger; for in the fire of my jealousy all the earth shall be consumed.*

Isa 13:9, 11 Behold, the day of the LORD comes, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger, to make the land a desolation and to destroy its sinners from it. ... ¹¹*I will punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; I will put an end to the pomp of the arrogant, and lay low the pompous pride of the ruthless.*

Isa 26:20-21 Come, my people, enter your chambers, and shut your doors behind you; hide yourselves for a little while until the fury has passed by. ²¹*For behold, the LORD is coming out from his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity, and the earth will disclose the blood shed on it, and will no more cover its slain.*

The reference to God's “fury” (v. 20b) may be to his fury or wrath against Israel, which they are assured will pass. But it is more likely speaking of his wrath manifested in his punishment of the nations due to their sins (v. 21a), notably their killings of many innocent people (v. 21b) (cf. ZBC).

‡ Those who persist in sin will certainly receive their due punishment:

People may experience God’s wrath and judgment for sin in various forms during their lifetime, but common to all is the judgment of physical death.

Rom 5:12, 15-18, 21 Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all sinned— 📖 ... ¹⁵But the free gift is not like the trespass. For if many died through one man’s trespass, much more have the grace of God and the free gift by the grace of that one man Jesus Christ abounded for many. ¹⁶And the free gift is not like the result of that one man’s sin. For the judgment following one trespass brought condemnation, but the free gift following many trespasses brought justification. ¹⁷For if, because of one man’s trespass, death reigned through that one man, much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and the free gift of righteousness reign in life through the one man Jesus Christ. ¹⁸Therefore, as one trespass^w led to condemnation for all men, so one act of righteousness^x leads to justification and life for all men. 📖 ... ²¹so that, as sin reigned in death, grace also might reign through righteousness leading to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. 📖

^w Or the trespass of one

^x Or the act of righteousness of one

Paul appears to be saying that all people are viewed as having sinned in Adam’s sin (at times referred to as “original sin”) and therefore are subject to death. Presumably this has to do with Adam being the head of the human race. The thought may be intended in a legal sense, with Adam being the representative of all people. Alternatively it may be intended in a natural or physical sense, with all people viewed as being seminally in Adam and thus “participating” in his sin. (cf. BKC)

Death reigned (v. 17) in the sense that it held sway over all people, with all people being subject to it, destined to die. In turn, v. 21 teaches that sin reigned or “exercised dominion” (NRSV) “by means of death” (CEV, GNT). However the supremacy and finality of the reign of sin and death no longer extends over those who receive God’s grace and his gift of righteousness, through Jesus Christ (vv. 17-18, 21; cf. vv. 15-16).

Rom 8:10 But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness. 📖

The clause “the body is dead because of sin” most likely is referring to the fact that believers will die physically as a consequence of their sin (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT).

1Cor 15:21-22 For as by a man came death, by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. ²²For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. 📖

As with the extracts above from Romans 5, Paul is speaking of all people being subject to death because of their relationship to Adam, with Adam’s sin being in view as the cause.

1Cor 15:56 The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law. 📖

“The sting of death is sin” means that death gets its power to harm from sin (cf. CEV, GNT); without sin there would be no death. This is indicative of the fact that physical death is a consequence of sin.

Sin brings the prospect of eternal “death”

- e) The Punishment for the Ungodly, p. 749

Because of his justice God demands that unforgiven sin be punished with what is sometimes referred to as eternal “death” or destruction, involving eternal separation from God in hell. A complementary reason for this state is that sin necessitates separation from God, because of his holiness.

Rom 6:16, 21, 23 Do you not know that if you present yourselves to anyone as obedient slaves,^y you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? 📖 ... ²¹But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death. 📖 ... ²³*For the wages of sin is death*, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. 📖

^y Greek bondservants. Twice in this verse and verse 19; also once in verses 17, 20

Here “death” appears to primarily refer to or at least encompass eternal “death”, particularly in view of the contrast with “eternal life” (v. 23). But quite possibly it also encompasses being dead spiritually in the present life as well – which may also be the case in James 1:15 below. Additionally, with physical death being prominent in the previous chapter of Romans (cf. Rom 5:12, 15-18, 21 ↑), arguably Paul could be speaking of death generally. (A similar point could be made regarding the extracts from Romans 5 in the previous subsection.)

Rom 8:13 For if you live according to the flesh you will die, but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. 📖

Gal 6:8 For the one who sows to his own flesh will from the flesh reap corruption, but the one who sows to the Spirit will from the Spirit reap eternal life. 📖

The term “corruption” denotes “decay and ruin and destruction” (AMP), things which have an eternal application in keeping with the latter reference to “eternal life”.

James 1:15 Then desire when it has conceived gives birth to sin, and sin when it is fully grown brings forth death. 📖

James 5:20 ... let him know that whoever brings back a sinner from his wandering will save his soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins. 📖

The reference to saving one’s “soul” from death suggests that eternal “death” is in view.

Rom 2:12 For all who have sinned without the law will also perish without the law, and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. 📖

Only those who have the law will be judged by it; others will be judged according to whatever revelation they had. But the common principle is: all who are found wanting because of their sin will perish.

Rev 21:8 But as for the cowardly, the faithless, the detestable, as for murderers, the sexually immoral, sorcerers, idolaters, and all liars, their portion will be in the lake that burns with fire and sulfur, which is the second death. 📖

The “second death” is eternal “death”.

Ex 32:33 But the LORD said to Moses, “Whoever has sinned against me, I will blot out of my book.” 📖

The reference appears to be to the “book of life” spoken of in the NT as containing the names of those who will live forever. One can infer from this that those who have sinned – and have not accepted God’s provision of forgiveness – will not be listed among those who will live forever; i.e. they will die an eternal “death”.

Note: Sin can lead to consequences that affect others – notably children . . .

Josh 22:18b And if you too rebel against the LORD today then tomorrow he will be angry with the whole congregation of Israel. 📖

Joshua is here speaking to the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh. Joshua says that any rebellion of theirs against God would lead to God’s anger against the Israelites as a whole (cf. Josh 7:1, 25a ↑).

Ex 20:4-6 You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. ⁵You shall not bow down to them or serve them, for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and the fourth generation of those who hate me, ⁶but showing steadfast love to thousands^z of those who love me and keep my commandments. 📖

^z Or to the thousandth generation

Verse 5b (cf. Ex 34:7 ↓) appears to speak of the ongoing effects of punishment still being felt by future generations. Some commentators think that it alludes to the sin itself filtering through to later generations, and so being accompanied by appropriate punishment – although this would not apply to repentant children. Note the contrasting blessings for those who love God, with God blessing them with his love to a thousand generations.

Ex 34:6-7 The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, ⁷keeping steadfast love for thousands,^a forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, but who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children and the children’s children, to the third and the fourth generation.”

Under the Mosaic Law, one who sinned intentionally was to be put to death for their sin. Whatever other repercussions a father’s sin might have for his children, the father alone was to be put to death for his sin; no one was to die for another’s sin. The stipulation has an eternal application: one will not suffer eternal “death” for another’s sin; those who will be condemned will be condemned for their own unforgiven sin.

The proverb quoted (v. 29; cf. Ezek 18:3 ↓) spoke of the fathers doing wrong and the children supposedly suffering the consequences, effectively sharing in the guilt of the father (v. 19a). God indicates that this is not the case, that only the one who sins will die for his or her sin (v. 30; cf. Ezek 18:3-4, 19-20 ↓).

II. The Law's Provision for Israel's Sin

See also:

- 1. Jesus Christ and the Law's Diminished Role, p. 640

In the law on which his covenant with Israel was based, God made provision for atonement to be made for anyone who sinned, and so for the sinner to be forgiven. This allowed the Israelites to remain in their covenant relationship with him, providing that they did not actually give up following God and his laws, as per the terms of the covenant. Sadly Israel would fail to hold to the covenant, willfully forsaking God's laws and persisting in sin.

The NT contains numerous references to the Mosaic Law's provision for Israel's sin. An understanding of what this provision involved enables us to more fully comprehend why Jesus Christ came and the significance of his work. For many of the concepts involved in Jesus Christ's work have their origin in the law's stipulations for making offerings for atonement for sin. These aspects of the law actually foreshadowed – and would be superseded by – what Jesus Christ would do and implement.

Note that most of the following passages involve instructions given by God to Moses for the Israelites, with either God or Moses speaking.

The law made provision for the offering of a life of an animal, to make atonement for one who had sinned

Under the Mosaic Law, when a person sinned the person had to bring an animal for a priest to sacrifice as an offering of a life to make atonement for the person. Biblical atonement is where God accepts such an offering or sacrifice of a living being as a substitute for the life of a person who has sinned – the person's life otherwise being required as punishment for their sin. As such, God accepts the sacrifice as payment for the person's sin. The result is that sin is taken away – and so the sinner is forgiven, pronounced righteous and reconciled to God.

Lev 4:27-31 If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt,²⁸ or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed.²⁹ And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering.³⁰ And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar.³¹ And all its fat he shall remove, as the fat is removed from the peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. And the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

Note that the altar of burnt offering was used in making atonement for individuals generally, and the altar of incense (which was in the Holy Place) was used in the cases of the high priest and Israel as a whole (cf. vv. 7, 18).

Lev 10:17 Why have you not eaten the sin offering in the place of the sanctuary, since it is a thing most holy and has been given to you that you may bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the LORD?

The expression "bear the iniquity" speaks of taking or resting the sin and consequent guilt from the people.

Lev 17:11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it for you on the altar to make atonement for your souls, for it is the blood that makes atonement by the life.

This underlines the importance of the shedding of blood in making atonement. The reason as to why "the blood... makes atonement by the life" appears to be given at the beginning of the verse – "the life of the flesh is in the blood". As such, by the shedding of its blood the creature's life was given in place of and so to make atonement for a person's life. (See

... for the life of a creature is in its blood – and as such blood is not to be eaten, p. 391.)

Lev 19:22 And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before the LORD for his sin that he has committed, and he shall be forgiven for the sin that he has committed.

Num 6:10-11a On the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two pigeons to the priest to the entrance of the tent of meeting, ¹¹and the priest shall offer one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, and make atonement for him, because he sinned by reason of the dead body.

Note that these regulations were for Nazirites, who made special vows of separation to God which meant that they could not be in close proximity to a dead body.

Num 15:27-28 If one person sins unintentionally, he shall offer a female goat a year old for a sin offering. ²⁸And the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the person who makes a mistake, when he sins unintentionally, to make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

2Chr 29:24 ... and the priests slaughtered them and made a sin offering with their blood on the altar, to make atonement for all Israel. For the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering should be made for all Israel.

✦ The concept of paying of a ransom to make atonement for one's life:

Ex 30:11-12, 15-16 The LORD said to Moses, ¹²“When you take the census of the people of Israel, then each shall give a ransom for his life to the LORD when you number them, that there be no plague among them when you number them.  ... ¹⁵The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less, than the half shekel, when you give the LORD's offering to make atonement for your lives. ¹⁶You shall take the atonement money from the people of Israel and shall give it for the service of the tent of meeting, that it may bring the people of Israel to remembrance before the LORD, so as to make atonement for your lives.”

This is not expressly saying that the ransom was to make atonement because of sin, but arguably this is suggested by the word “atonement” itself, particularly with the reference to the annual day of atonement in the preceding verse (v. 10). Alternatively, it may have in view the people's redemption from Egypt by God, whereby in redeeming them God in a sense bought the people. Thus the instructions here may signify that the people were in turn to pay God for their lives, redeeming or buying themselves from him – similar to the practice regarding firstborn sons in 13:13-16.

As with the concept of making atonement for sin, the concept of paying a ransom for people is paralleled in the NT by Jesus Christ's sacrifice of himself on behalf of people. His sacrifice is portrayed as a ransom for people, freeing them from sin and its consequences. See c) Jesus Christ's Death and Redemption from Sin, p. 596. See also God redeemed the Israelites out of Egypt to take them as his own . . ., p. 327.

The major offerings for making atonement: The burnt offering; . . .

See also:

- Lev 5:7-10 ↓

Leviticus chapters 1-7 contain the main parts of the law's stipulations for making what are understood as the five main offerings (and it is from these chapters that the extracts in this and in the following two subsections are taken). The five main offerings are the burnt offering (1:1-17); the grain offering (2:1-16); the peace offering (3:1-17); the sin offering (4:1-5:13); and the guilt offering (5:14-6:7). Following these sections are instructions largely for the priests (6:8-7:38). They repeat some aspects of the aforementioned sections, but also have directions regarding the parts of the sacrifices that remained, such as portions being eaten by the priests. The offerings that concern making atonement for people who have sinned are the burnt offering, the sin offering and the guilt offering.

Making atonement for was one of the main uses of a burnt offering (the subject of the following extract). The burnt offering appears to have been used in regard to one's sin in general, rather than in response to having committed a particular sin. Other kinds of uses for a burnt offering were: as an expression of devotion to God; as an expression of thanksgiving to God; and to accompany/supplement an appeal to God. It was the only offering where the whole of the animal was burnt up on the altar; as such it expressed one's complete devotion to God.

Lev 1:3-9 If his offering is a burnt offering from the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish. He shall bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting, that he may be accepted before the LORD. ⁴He shall lay his hand on the head of the burnt offering, and it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him. ⁵Then he shall kill the bull before the LORD, and Aaron's sons the priests shall bring the blood and throw the blood against the sides of the altar that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. ⁶Then he shall flay the burnt offering and cut it into pieces, ⁷and the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar and arrange wood on the fire. ⁸And Aaron's sons the priests shall arrange the pieces, the head, and the fat, on the wood that is on the fire on the altar; ⁹but its entrails and its legs he shall wash with water. And the priest shall burn all of it on the altar, as a burnt offering, a food offering^a with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

^a Or an offering by fire; so throughout Leviticus

Note that the fat was considered to be the choicest part and was singled out to be burnt as “an aroma pleasing to the LORD” (v. 9). The subsequent verses contain similar instructions regarding making a burnt offering of a sheep or goat (vv. 10-13), or of a dove or young pigeon (vv. 14-17).

... the sin offering; ...

The following extracts speak of sin offerings being made by an individual. Instructions are also given in Leviticus 4 regarding sin offerings for: “the anointed priest” (4:3-12); “the whole Israelite community” (4:13-21); and “a leader” (4:22-26).

Lev 4:27-31 If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD’s commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt,²⁸ or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed. ²⁹*And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering.* ³⁰*And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar.* ³¹*And all its fat he shall remove, as the fat is removed from the peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. And the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.*

With the animal being identified with the person, the animal’s blood signified the lifeblood of the person, poured out for the person’s sin (v. 30) – i.e. the person’s life being given in payment for his or her sin. As such the animal’s death would be accepted on the person’s behalf to make atonement for the person. The horns of the altar of burnt offering (v. 30) may have symbolized the authority embedded in the process of making of sin offerings for effecting atonement (cf. NSB), as was the case with the altar of incense. Note that “burn it” (v. 31) refers to the fat that had been removed.

Lev 5:5-6 ... when he realizes his guilt in any of these and confesses the sin he has committed, ⁶*he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation^b for the sin that he has committed, a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, for a sin offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin.*

^b Hebrew his guilt penalty; so throughout Leviticus

Lev 5:7-10 But if he cannot afford a lamb, then he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation for the sin that he has committed two turtledoves or two pigeons,^c one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. ⁸*He shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer first the one for the sin offering. He shall wring its head from its neck but shall not sever it completely, ⁹and he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering on the side of the altar, while the rest of the blood shall be drained out at the base of the altar; it is a sin offering.* ¹⁰*Then he shall offer the second for a burnt offering according to the rule. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin that he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.*

^c Septuagint two young pigeons; also verse 11

Note that a burnt offering is made here along with a sin offering, the two offerings being required in place of a single sin offering of greater value (cf. v. 6 ↑; Lev 4:28 ↑). Provision is subsequently made for very poor people (cf. vv. 11-13 ↓).

Lev 5:11-13 “But if he cannot afford two turtledoves or two pigeons, then he shall bring as his offering for the sin that he has committed a tenth of an ephah^d of fine flour for a sin offering. He shall put no oil on it and shall put no frankincense on it, for it is a sin offering. ¹²*And he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take a handful of it as its memorial portion and burn this on the altar, on the LORD’s food offerings; it is a sin offering.* ¹³*Thus the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed in any one of these things, and he shall be forgiven. And the remainder^e shall be for the priest, as in the grain offering.”*

^d An ephah was about 3/5 bushel or 22 liters

^e Septuagint; Hebrew it

... and the guilt offering

The guilt offering was quite similar to the sin offering, in both the process (cf. Lev 7:1-7; Lev 4:27-31 ↑) and purpose. The main difference appears to be that it was required in matters where restitution was quantifiable and so could be made for the wrongdoing. The guilt offering was made along with the restitution and a twenty percent surcharge. The sins concerned were in regard to such things as “holy things of the LORD” (Lev 5:15 ↓) and a neighbor’s property (cf. Lev 6:4 ↓).

Lev 5:15-16 If anyone commits a breach of faith and sins unintentionally in any of the holy things of the LORD, he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation, a ram without blemish out of the flock, valued^f in silver shekels,^g according to the shekel of the sanctuary, for a guilt offering. ¹⁶*He shall also* make restitution for what he has done amiss in the holy thing and shall add a fifth to it and give it to the priest. And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven. ^f

^f Or flock, or its equivalent

^g A shekel was about 2/5 ounce or 11 grams

Note that "holy things" could refer to previously required offerings or other quantifiable things involved in worship.

Lev 5:17-19 "If anyone sins, doing any of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, though he did not know it, then realizes his guilt, he shall bear his iniquity. ¹⁸He shall bring to the priest a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering, and the priest shall make atonement for him for the mistake that he made unintentionally, and he shall be forgiven. ¹⁹It is a guilt offering; he has indeed incurred guilt before^h the LORD." ^g

^h Or he has paid full compensation to

Lev 6:4-7 ... if he has sinned and has realized his guilt and will restore what he took by robbery or what he got by oppression or the deposit that was committed to him or the lost thing that he found ⁵or anything about which he has sworn falsely, he shall restore it in full and shall add a fifth to it, and give it to him to whom it belongs on the day he realizes his guilt. ⁶And he shall bring to the priest as his compensation to the LORD a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering. ⁷And the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD, and he shall be forgiven for any of the things that one may do and thereby become guilty. ^g

† God gave these regulations for the major offerings to Moses on Mount Sinai:

Lev 7:37-38 This is the law of the burnt offering, of the grain offering, of the sin offering, of the guilt offering, of the ordination offering, and of the peace offering, ³⁸which the LORD commanded Moses on Mount Sinai, on the day that he commanded the people of Israel to bring their offerings to the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai. ^g

The fact that God gave these offertory regulations to Moses on or at Mount Sinai shows that they were part of God's law. Note that the reference to the "ordination offering" (v. 37b) appears to anticipate the ordination of the priests and the commencement of their ministry in the subsequent two chapters.

Atonement was also made annually for all of the people

The procedures spoken of in the previous subsections were required following the committing of sin at any time – either by individuals or the nation as a whole. The Day of Atonement was to be observed just once each year, for the high priest to cleanse the nation as a whole of all sin. It was the most important observance of the OT rituals, the only time the high priest could enter the Most Holy Place.

Lev 16:17, 24 No one may be in the tent of meeting from the time he enters to make atonement in the Holy Place until he comes out and has made atonement for himself and for his house and for all the assembly of Israel. ^g ... ²⁴And he shall bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his garments and come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people and make atonement for himself and for the people. ^g

Lev 16:29-34 "And it shall be a statute to you forever that in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, you shall afflict yourselvesⁱ and shall do no work, either the native or the stranger who sojourns among you. ³⁰For on this day shall atonement be made for you to cleanse you. You shall be clean before the LORD from all your sins. ³¹It is a Sabbath of solemn rest to you, and you shall afflict yourselves; it is a statute forever. ³²And the priest who is anointed and consecrated as priest in his father's place shall make atonement, wearing the holy linen garments. ³³He shall make atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make atonement for the tent of meeting and for the altar, and he shall make atonement for the priests and for all the people of the assembly. ³⁴And this shall be a statute forever for you, that atonement may be made for the people of Israel once in the year because of all their sins." And Moses did as the LORD commanded him. ^g

ⁱ Or shall fast; also verse 31

As in the other extracts here, the priest referred to is the high priest.

Lev 23:26-28 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²⁷“Now on the tenth day of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement. It shall be for you a time of holy convocation, and you shall afflict yourselves and present a food offering to the LORD. ²⁸And you shall not do any work on that very day, for it is a Day of Atonement, to make atonement for you before the LORD your God. 📖

Heb 9:6-7 These preparations having thus been made, the priests go regularly into the first section, performing their ritual duties, ⁷but into the second only the high priest goes, and he but once a year, and not without taking blood, which he offers for himself and for the unintentional sins of the people. 📖

In v. 7, “the second” refers to the second section of the sanctuary – the Most Holy Place.

All kinds of offerings were only to be made at the one place, of God’s choosing. All offerings needed to be offered on the altar at the place of God’s presence amongst the people that was signified by the ark of the covenant. Initially this was at “the tent of meeting” (the tabernacle) and later at the temple. This was partly to ensure that the offerings were offered by the priests, God’s chosen mediators between the people and himself. Additionally, it safeguarded against inappropriate offerings and procedures – and against worship of other gods. (Note that in addition to offerings for sin, passages speaking of other offerings are included below.)

Ex 29:11 Then you shall kill the bull before the LORD at the entrance of the tent of meeting, ... 📖

Lev 1:3 If his offering is a burnt offering from the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish. He shall bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting, that he may be accepted before the LORD. 📖

Lev 6:25 Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed shall the sin offering be killed before the LORD; it is most holy. 📖

Lev 17:1-6, 8-9 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²“Speak to Aaron and his sons and to all the people of Israel and say to them, This is the thing that the LORD has commanded. ³*If any one of the house of Israel kills an ox or a lamb or a goat in the camp, or kills it outside the camp, ⁴and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to offer it as a gift to the LORD in front of the tabernacle of the LORD, bloodguilt shall be imputed to that man. He has shed blood, and that man shall be cut off from among his people. ⁵This is to the end that the people of Israel may bring their sacrifices that they sacrifice in the open field, that they may bring them to the LORD, to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and sacrifice them as sacrifices of peace offerings to the LORD. ⁶And the priest shall throw the blood on the altar of the LORD at the entrance of the tent of meeting and burn the fat for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. 📖 ... ⁸“And you shall say to them, *Any one of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn among them, who offers a burnt offering or sacrifice ⁹and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to offer it to the LORD, that man shall be cut off from his people.

Deut 12:5-6 But you shall seek the place that the LORD your God will choose out of all your tribes to put his name and make his habitationⁱ there. Deut 12:13-14, 17-18a Take care that you do not offer your burnt offerings at any place that you see, ¹⁴but at the place that the LORD will choose in one of your tribes, there you shall offer your burnt offerings, and there you shall do all that I am commanding you.  ... ¹⁷You may not eat within your towns the tithe of your grain or of your wine or of your oil, or the firstborn of your herd or of your flock, or any of your vow offerings that you vow, or your freewill offerings or the contribution that you present, ¹⁸but you shall eat them before the LORD your God in the place that the LORD your God will choose, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, and the Levite who is within your towns.

Note that some kinds of offerings were eaten by the people together at the place of God's presence (v. 18) as an act of worship and at times as a celebration.

Deut 12:26-27 But the holy things that are due from you, and your vow offerings, you shall take, and you shall go to the place that the LORD will choose, ²⁷and offer your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God. The blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but the flesh you may eat.

Animals brought as offerings were to be without any blemish

An offering had to be without defect to be deemed worthy to be offered to God and, in the case of an offering for sin, to be offered as a substitute for a person.

Ex 29:1, 14 Now this is what you shall do to them to consecrate them, that they may serve me as priests. Take one bull of the herd and two rams without blemish,  ... ¹⁴But the flesh of the bull and its skin and its dung you shall burn with fire outside the camp; it is a sin offering.

Num 29:8 ... but you shall offer a burnt offering to the LORD, a pleasing aroma: one bull from the herd, one ram, seven male lambs a year old: see that they are without blemish.

Deut 15:21 But if it has any blemish, if it is lame or blind or has any serious blemish whatever, you shall not sacrifice it to the LORD your God.

The sinner laid hands on the offering, identifying the animal with themselves

When making an offering for sin, a person would lay their hands on the head of the animal to be sacrificed. This was to signify its identification with the person. It could then be sacrificed as a substitute for the person, the offering of its life being accepted by God as a substitute for the life of the person, for their sin. Note that this practice may also have signified the transfer of the person's sins to the animal (cf. Lev 16:21-22 ↓).

Ex 29:10, 14 Then you shall bring the bull before the tent of meeting. Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands on the head of the bull. ... ¹⁴But the flesh of the bull and its skin and its dung you shall burn with fire outside the camp; it is a sin offering.

Note that this was part of the ceremony for the consecration of the priests.

On the annual Day of Atonement the high priest laid his hands on a goat, signifying the transfer of the people's sins onto the goat (v. 21).

- Lev 17:11 ↓
- Note: Further points about the significance of the shedding of Jesus Christ's blood, p. 595

The blood of animals sacrificed as offerings to make atonement for sinners, featured prominently in the instructions given for presenting the offerings. As commented earlier, the reason was the correlation of blood with life (as further discussed in the following subsection). As such, the blood signified the life of the animal, given as a substitute for the life of the sinner (as discussed in the previous subsection).

Ex 30:10 Aaron shall make atonement on its [the altar of incense's] horns once a year. With the blood of the sin offering of atonement he shall make atonement for it once in the year throughout your generations. It is most holy to the LORD.

Lev 1:4-5, 10-11, 14-15 He shall lay his hand on the head of the burnt offering, and it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him. ⁵Then he shall kill the bull before the LORD, and Aaron's sons the priests shall bring the blood and throw the blood against the sides of the altar that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. ... ¹⁰"If his gift for a burnt offering is from the flock, from the sheep or goats, he shall bring a male without blemish, ¹¹and he shall kill it on the north side of the altar before the LORD, and Aaron's sons the priests shall throw its blood against the sides of the altar. ... ¹⁴"If his offering to the LORD is a burnt offering of birds, then he shall bring his offering of turtledoves or pigeons. ¹⁵And the priest shall bring it to the altar and wring off its head and burn it on the altar. Its blood shall be drained out on the side of the altar.

Lev 4:16-21 Then the anointed priest shall bring some of the blood of the bull into the tent of meeting, ¹⁷and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD in front of the veil. ¹⁸And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar that is in the tent of meeting before the LORD, and the rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. ¹⁹And all its fat he shall take from it and burn on the altar. ²⁰Thus shall he do with the bull. As he did with the bull of the sin offering, so shall he do with this. And the priest shall make atonement for them, and they shall be forgiven. ²¹And he shall carry the bull outside the camp and burn it up as he burned the first bull; it is the sin offering for the assembly.

Lev 4:32-35 If he [a member of the community] brings a lamb as his offering for a sin offering, he shall bring a female without blemish ³³and lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill it for a sin offering in the place where they kill the burnt offering. ³⁴*Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar.* ³⁵And all its fat he shall remove as the fat of the lamb is removed from the sacrifice of peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar, on top of the LORD's food offerings. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

... for the life of a creature is in its blood – and as such blood is not to be eaten

See also:

- Note: Blood signifies life – and a person's life is taken by the shedding of their blood, p. 227

Blood is correlated with life largely because it sustains life. Because of the correlation, the people were not to eat blood – a command that NT believers continued to uphold (cf. Acts 15:20, 29 ↓; 21:25). The command was particularly pertinent in the context of making offerings. For in some kinds of animal offerings the meat was to be eaten, and so the people were required to first drain the blood from it.

Gen 9:4 But you shall not eat flesh with its life, that is, its blood.

This correlates a creature's blood with its life. As such it points to the concept of the life of a creature being in its blood.

Lev 17:10-14 If any one of the house of Israel or of the strangers who sojourn among them eats any blood, I will set my face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from among his people. ¹¹*For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it for you on the altar to make atonement for your souls, for it is the blood that makes atonement by the life.* ¹²*Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, No person among you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger who sojourns among you eat blood.* ¹³Any one also of the people of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn among them, who takes in hunting any beast or bird that may be eaten shall pour out its blood and cover it with earth. ¹⁴*For the life of every creature^m is its blood: its blood is its life.ⁿ Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, You shall not eat the blood of any creature, for the life of every creature is its blood. The parts of an offering's body were burnt or eaten

See also:

- Note: Priests and Levites were given parts of the people's offerings, God being their inheritance, p. 399

Depending on the type of offering, and sometimes on the reasons necessitating it, the parts of the sacrificed animal's body were either burnt as an offering to God or eaten by the priests and male members of their families.

Lev 1:6-9 Then he shall flay the burnt offering and cut it into pieces, ⁷and the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar and arrange wood on the fire. ⁸And Aaron's sons the priests shall arrange the pieces, the head, and the fat, on the wood that is on the fire on the altar; ⁹but its entrails and its legs he shall wash with water. And the priest shall burn all of it on the altar, as a burnt offering, a food offering^o with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

^o Or an offering by fire; so throughout Leviticus

Lev 4:8-12 And all the fat of the bull of the sin offering he shall remove from it, the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails ⁹and the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys ¹⁰(just as these are taken from the ox of the sacrifice of the peace offerings); and the priest shall burn them on the altar of burnt offering. ¹¹But the skin of the bull and all its flesh, with its head, its legs, its entrails, and its dung— ¹²all the rest of the bull—he shall carry outside the camp to a clean place, to the ash heap, and shall burn it up on a fire of wood. On the ash heap it shall be burned up.

These instructions concerned making a sin offering for the high priest and also applied to a sin offering for the whole Israelite community. In the case of a sin offering for a leader or that of a sin offering for a member of the community, only the fat was burnt (vv. 31, 35), with the body to be eaten by the priests and male family members (cf. Lev 6:26 ↓). Note that vv. 11-12 tell of the leftover parts being burnt up so as to be destroyed rather than as part of the sacrifice to God.

Lev 6:25-26, 29-30 Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed shall the sin offering be killed before the LORD; it is most holy. ²⁶The priest who offers it for sin shall eat it. In a holy place it shall be eaten, in the court of the tent of meeting.  ... ²⁹Every male among the priests may eat of it; it is most holy. ³⁰But no sin offering shall be eaten from which any blood is brought into the tent of meeting to make atonement in the Holy Place; it shall be burned up with fire.

Verse 30 speaks of why the whole of a sin offering made for the high priest or for the whole Israelite community was burned. In their case the blood was taken into the Holy Place (cf. 4:5-7, 16-18). As such the implication may be that the remainder of the offering was particularly holy, to the extent that it was not to be eaten. Additionally, it would have been inappropriate for the priests to eat of these offerings as their own sin was involved.

Lev 7:1-6 This is the law of the guilt offering. It is most holy. ²In the place where they kill the burnt offering they shall kill the guilt offering, and its blood shall be thrown against the sides of the altar. ³And all its fat shall be offered, the fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, ⁴the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins, and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys. ⁵The priest shall burn them on the altar as a food offering to the LORD; it is a guilt offering. ⁶Every male among the priests may eat of it. It shall be eaten in a holy place. It is most holy.

Num 18:8-10 Then the LORD spoke to Aaron, “Behold, I have given you charge of the contributions made to me, all the consecrated things of the people of Israel. I have given them to you as a portion and to your sons as a perpetual due. ⁹This shall be yours of the most holy things, reserved from the fire: every offering of theirs, every grain offering of theirs and every sin offering of theirs and every guilt offering of theirs, which they render to me, shall be most holy to you and to your sons. ¹⁰In a most holy place shall you eat it. Every male may eat it; it is holy to you.

Deut 12:27 ... and offer your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God. The blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but the flesh you may eat.

Note: Procedures for the Day of Atonement, involving the high priest entering the Most Holy Place

The proceedings for the Day of Atonement – featuring offerings – are described in Leviticus 16, extracts of which form this subsection.

Lev 16:2-5 ... and the LORD said to Moses, “Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat. ³But in this way Aaron shall come into the Holy Place: with a bull from the herd for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering. ⁴He shall put on the holy linen coat and shall have the linen undergarment on his body, and he shall tie the linen sash around his waist, and wear the linen turban; these are the holy garments. He shall bathe his body in water and then put them on. ⁵And he shall take from the congregation of the people of Israel two male goats for a sin offering, and one ram for a burnt offering.

The term “the Holy Place” (vv. 2, 3) refers to what is often called “the Most Holy Place” (GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). The bull (v. 3) and one of the goats (v. Lev 16:5) were for sin offerings – the bull for the high priest and his household (cf. v. 11 ↓) and the goat for the people (cf. v. 15 ↓). The ram that the high priest brought (v. 3) and the ram from the Israelite community (v. 5) were sacrificed last as burnt offerings for the high priest and the people (cf. v. 24 ↓) – along with the burning of the fat of the sin offering (cf. v. 25 ↓).

Lev 16:8-10 And Aaron shall cast lots over the two goats, one lot for the LORD and the other lot for Azazel.^p ⁹And Aaron shall present the goat on which the lot fell for the LORD and use it as a sin offering, ¹⁰but the goat on which the lot fell for Azazel shall be presented alive before the LORD to make atonement over it, that it may be sent away into the wilderness to Azazel.

^p The meaning of Azazel is uncertain; possibly the name of a place or a demon, traditionally a scapegoat; also verses 10, 26

The aspects involving the two goats in particular prefigured Jesus Christ's atoning sacrifice of himself for people's sin. One was sacrificed as a sin offering, signifying payment for the people's sin (v. 9; cf. vv. 15, 27). The other goat had the sins of the people symbolically placed on it and then sent away from the community (v. 10; cf. v. 21 ↓), signifying the removal of sin. Regarding the term "Azazel", see the text note on v. 8. As alluded to in the text note, the term is sometimes translated as "scapegoat" (NASB, NKJV, NLT).

Lev 16:11-14 Aaron shall present the bull as a sin offering for himself, and shall make atonement for himself and for his house. He shall kill the bull as a sin offering for himself. ¹²And he shall take a censer full of coals of fire from the altar before the LORD, and two handfuls of sweet incense beaten small, and he shall bring it inside the veil ¹³and put the incense on the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of the incense may cover the mercy seat that is over the testimony, so that he does not die. ¹⁴And he shall take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle it with his finger on the front of the mercy seat on the east side, and in front of the mercy seat he shall sprinkle some of the blood with his finger seven times.

Lev 16:15-17 Then he shall kill the goat of the sin offering that is for the people and bring its blood inside the veil and do with its blood as he did with the blood of the bull, sprinkling it over the mercy seat and in front of the mercy seat. ¹⁶Thus he shall make atonement for the Holy Place, because of the uncleannesses of the people of Israel and because of their transgressions, all their sins. And so he shall do for the tent of meeting, which dwells with them in the midst of their uncleannesses. ¹⁷No one may be in the tent of meeting from the time he enters to make atonement in the Holy Place until he comes out and has made atonement for himself and for his house and for all the assembly of Israel.

Because the Holy Place and the tent of meeting – along with the altar (cf. vv. 18-19 ↓; v. 20 ↓) – were among the sinful and often unclean people, atonement needed to be made for them.

Lev 16:18-19 Then he shall go out to the altar that is before the LORD and make atonement for it, and shall take some of the blood of the bull and some of the blood of the goat, and put it on the horns of the altar all around. ¹⁹And he shall sprinkle some of the blood on it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it and consecrate it from the uncleannesses of the people of Israel.

Lev 16:20-22 And when he has made an end of atoning for the Holy Place and the tent of meeting and the altar, he shall present the live goat. ²¹And Aaron shall lay both his hands on the head of the live goat, and confess over it all the iniquities of the people of Israel, and all their transgressions, all their sins. And he shall put them on the head of the goat and send it away into the wilderness by the hand of a man who is in readiness. ²²The goat shall bear all their iniquities on itself to a remote area, and he shall let the goat go free in the wilderness.

Lev 16:23-25, 27 Then Aaron shall come into the tent of meeting and shall take off the linen garments that he put on when he went into the Holy Place and shall leave them there. ²⁴And he shall bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his garments and come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people and make atonement for himself and for the people. ²⁵And the fat of the sin offering he shall burn on the altar. ... ²⁷And the bull for the sin offering and the goat for the sin offering, whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the Holy Place, shall be carried outside the camp. Their skin and their flesh and their dung shall be burned up with fire.

Verse 24b marks the final offerings in the process of making atonement, although the remains of the sin offerings still had to be removed and burnt up (v. 27).

God designated Aaron and his descendants as priests . . .

When God made his covenant with Israel, he instituted the Aaronic or Levitical priesthood as an integral aspect of the covenant law, in particular in regard to the regulations concerning the people's relationship with himself. Note that the term "Levitical priesthood" is indicative of Aaron and his descendants being of the Israelite tribe of Levi.

Ex 28:1-5, 41 Then bring near to you Aaron your brother, and his sons with him, from among the people of Israel, to serve me as priests—Aaron and Aaron's sons, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. ²And you shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother, for glory and for beauty. ³You shall speak to all the skillful, whom I have filled with a spirit of skill, that they make Aaron's garments to consecrate him for my priesthood. ⁴These are the garments that they shall make: a breastpiece, an ephod, a robe, a coat of checker work, a turban, and a sash. They shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother and his sons to serve me as priests. ⁵They shall receive gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen. . . . ⁴¹And you shall put them on Aaron your brother, and on his sons with him, and shall anoint them and ordain them and consecrate them, that they may serve me as priests. . . .

Note that God is addressing Moses here and in the following two references from Exodus.

Ex 29:8-9, 29-30 Then you shall bring his sons and put coats on them, ⁹and you shall gird Aaron and his sons with sashes and bind caps on them. And the priesthood shall be theirs by a statute forever. Thus you shall ordain Aaron and his sons. . . . ²⁹"The holy garments of Aaron shall be for his sons after him; they shall be anointed in them and ordained in them. ³⁰The son who succeeds him as priest, who comes into the tent of meeting to minister in the Holy Place, shall wear them seven days. . . .

In v. 30 "priest" refers to the high priest, of which there was to be only one at any one time.

Ex 40:12-15 Then you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tent of meeting and shall wash them with water ¹³and put on Aaron the holy garments. And you shall anoint him and consecrate him, that he may serve me as priest. ¹⁴You shall bring his sons also and put coats on them, ¹⁵and anoint them, as you anointed their father, that they may serve me as priests. And their anointing shall admit them to a perpetual priesthood throughout their generations. . . .

Num 3:2-3, 10 These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the firstborn, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. ³These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the anointed priests, whom he ordained to serve as priests. . . . ¹⁰And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall guard their priesthood. But if any outsider comes near, he shall be put to death. . . .

The ministry of the priests largely involved sacred duties carried out in God's sanctuary amongst the people. These duties were theirs alone, as v. 10b emphatically indicates (cf. Num 18:7 ↓).

Num 18:7 And you [Aaron] and your sons with you shall guard your priesthood for all that concerns the altar and that is within the veil; and you shall serve. I give your priesthood as a gift,^a and any outsider who comes near shall be put to death. . . .

Deut 18:5 For the LORD your God has chosen him out of all your tribes to stand and minister in the name of the LORD, him and his sons for all time. . . .

Neh 10:38a And the priest, the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites when the Levites receive the tithes. . . .

This illustrates that later priests were to descendants of Aaron.

... With their appointment, God is said to have made a covenant with the priests

Jer 33:18-22 ... and the Levitical priests shall never lack a man in my presence to offer burnt offerings, to burn grain offerings, and to make sacrifices forever.”¹⁹The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ²⁰“Thus says the LORD: If you can break my covenant with the day and my covenant with the night, so that day and night will not come at their appointed time, ²¹then also my covenant with David my servant may be broken, so that he shall not have a son to reign on his throne, and my covenant with the Levitical priests my ministers. ²²As the host of heaven cannot be numbered and the sands of the sea cannot be measured, so I will multiply the offspring of David my servant, and the Levitical priests who minister to me.”

Mal 2:4-6, 8 So shall you know that I have sent this command to you, that my covenant with Levi may stand, says the LORD of hosts. ⁵My covenant with him was one of life and peace, and I gave them to him. It was a covenant of fear, and he feared me. He stood in awe of my name. ⁶True instruction^r was in his mouth, and no wrong was found on his lips. He walked with me in peace and uprightness, and he turned many from iniquity. ... ⁸But you have turned aside from the way. You have caused many to stumble by your instruction. You have corrupted the covenant of Levi, says the LORD of hosts, ...

^r Or law; also verses 7, 8, 9

This may have in view in particular the covenant with the priest Phinehas (cf. Num 25:10-13 ↓), with both it and the covenant referred to here being described as ones of “peace” (v. 5; cf. Num 25:12 ↓).

Neh 13:29 Remember them, O my God, because they have desecrated the priesthood and the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

Num 18:19 All the holy contributions that the people of Israel present to the LORD I give to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual due. It is a covenant of salt forever before the LORD for you and for your offspring with you.

The reference to “a covenant” appears to have in view such provisions for the priests as mentioned here as being aspects of this covenant (cf. vv. 8-24), although it may also allude to wider aspects of the terms of God's appointment of the priests, with their designated responsibilities and privileges.

‡ God specifically made a covenant of a lasting priesthood with Phinehas, a grandson of Aaron:

Num 25:10-13 And the LORD said to Moses, ¹¹“Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, has turned back my wrath from the people of Israel, in that he was jealous with my jealousy among them, so that I did not consume the people of Israel in my jealousy. ¹²Therefore say, ‘Behold, I give to him my covenant of peace, ¹³and it shall be to him and to his descendants after him the covenant of a perpetual priesthood, because he was jealous for his God and made atonement for the people of Israel.’”

Phinehas had taken quick and decisive action against an Israelite who had defiantly sinned greatly against God (cf. vv. 6-8). This covenant appears to indicate that God's covenant with the priests would continue through Phinehas's line of Aaron.

The priests were responsible for God's sanctuary, the offerings and teaching the people . . .

The term “sanctuary” referred initially to the tabernacle or Tent of Meeting, then later to the temple. At times their inner rooms are in view in particular.

Num 3:38 Those who were to camp before the tabernacle on the east, before the tent of meeting toward the sunrise, were Moses and Aaron and his sons, guarding the sanctuary itself, to protect^s the people of Israel. And any outsider who came near was to be put to death.

Num 18:1, 5, 7-8 So the LORD said to Aaron, “You and your sons and your father's house with you shall bear iniquity connected with the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you shall bear iniquity connected with your priesthood. ... ⁵And you shall keep guard over the sanctuary and over the altar, that there may never again be wrath on the people of Israel. ... ⁷And you and your sons with you shall guard your priesthood for all that concerns the altar and that is within the veil; and you shall serve. I give your priesthood as a gift,^t and any outsider who comes near shall be put to death.” ⁸Then the LORD spoke to Aaron, “Behold, I have given you charge of the contributions made to me, all the consecrated things of the people of Israel. I have given them to you as a portion and to your sons as a perpetual due.”

^t Hebrew service of gift

Verse 1 appears to be speaking of the priests bearing guilt for any offenses in connection with the sanctuary and/or the priesthood. Such offenses would have included improper actions in the performing of the priest's work involving the holy things of God, and possibly also offenses of the people in regard to these things. In v. 7, the phrase "guard your priesthood" and that which follows appear to speak of watching over the priesthood so as to carefully fulfill the duties of it.

2Chr 35:2 He appointed the priests to their offices and encouraged them in the service of the house of the LORD.

Ezek 44:15-16 But the Levitical priests, the sons of Zadok, who kept the charge of my sanctuary when the people of Israel went astray from me, shall come near to me to minister to me. And they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, declares the Lord GOD. ¹⁶They shall enter my sanctuary, and they shall approach my table, to minister to me, and they shall keep my charge.

Note that this is from a latter OT prophecy, from Ezekiel. In telling of priestly duties being exclusively granted to priests who were descendants of Zadok (himself a descendant of Aaron), it speaks of priests being responsible for God's sanctuary and the offerings.

Lev 21:6 They shall be holy to their God and not profane the name of their God. For they offer the LORD's food offerings, the bread of their God; therefore they shall be holy.

Deut 33:10 They shall teach Jacob your rules and Israel your law; they shall put incense before you and whole burnt offerings on your altar.

This blessing bestowed on the tribe of Levi (cf. v. 8) appears to largely have the priests in particular in view.

Lev 10:10-11 You are to distinguish between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean, ¹¹and you are to teach the people of Israel all the statutes that the LORD has spoken to them by Moses.

As part of teaching the people God's decrees (v. 11), the priests were to teach them the distinctions spoken of in v. 10.

Mal 2:7 For the lips of a priest should guard knowledge, and people^u should seek instruction from his mouth, for he is the messenger of the LORD of hosts.

^u Hebrew they

Ezra 7:12a "Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Ezra the priest, the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven. Peace."

^v Aramaic Perfect (probably a greeting)

As a scribe of the Law, Ezra the priest was effectively a teacher of the Law (cf. NCV, NIV, NLT).

... The other Levites were given to the priests to assist them

Note that the Levites were set apart for God's service in part at least due to their commitment to God following the making of the golden calf (cf. Ex 32:23-29). Regarding this, Exodus 32:29 says: 'And Moses said, "Today you have been ordained for the service of the Lord, each one at the cost of his son and of his brother, so that he might bestow a blessing upon you this day."

Num 3:5-9 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ⁶"Bring the tribe of Levi near, and set them before Aaron the priest, that they may minister to him. ⁷They shall keep guard over him and over the whole congregation before the tent of meeting, as they minister at the tabernacle. ⁸They shall guard all the furnishings of the tent of meeting, and keep guard over the people of Israel as they minister at the tabernacle. ⁹And you shall give the Levites to Aaron and his sons; they are wholly given to him from among the people of Israel.

Num 4:19b, 27a Aaron and his sons shall go in and appoint them each to his task and to his burden,  ... ²⁷All the service of the sons of the Gershonites shall be at the command of Aaron and his sons, in all that they are to carry and in all that they have to do.

Note that different tribal clans of the Levites are being spoken of here. Some of the duties of the Levites were assigned to specific clans.

Num 18:2-4, 6 [God, to Aaron:] And with you bring your brothers also, the tribe of Levi, the tribe of your father, that they may join you and minister to you while you and your sons with you are before the tent of the testimony. ³They shall keep guard over you and over the whole tent, but shall not come near to the vessels of the sanctuary or to the altar lest they, and you, die. ⁴They shall join you and keep guard over the tent of meeting for all the service of the tent, and no outsider shall come near you.  ... ⁶And behold, I have taken your brothers the Levites from among the people of Israel. They are a gift to you, given to the LORD, to do the service of the tent of meeting.

Deut 10:8 At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD to stand before the LORD to minister to him and to bless in his name, to this day.

Deut 18:6-7 And if a Levite comes from any of your towns out of all Israel, where he lives—and he may come when he desires^w—to the place that the LORD will choose, ⁷and ministers in the name of the LORD his God, like all his fellow Levites who stand to minister there before the LORD, ...

^w Or lives—if he comes enthusiastically

Josh 18:7a The Levites have no portion among you, for the priesthood of the LORD is their heritage.

This appears to use “the priesthood” in a broad sense, referring to “the priestly service” (NIV®) that was the responsibility of all Levites in assisting the priests.

1Chr 23:25-32 For David said, “The LORD, the God of Israel, has given rest to his people, and he dwells in Jerusalem forever. ²⁶And so the Levites no longer need to carry the tabernacle or any of the things for its service.” ²⁷For by the last words of David the sons of Levi were numbered from twenty years old and upward. ²⁸For their duty was to assist the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the LORD, having the care of the courts and the chambers, the cleansing of all that is holy, and any work for the service of the house of God. ²⁹Their duty was also to assist with the showbread, the flour for the grain offering, the wafers of unleavened bread, the baked offering, the offering mixed with oil, and all measures of quantity or size. ³⁰And they were to stand every morning, thanking and praising the LORD, and likewise at evening, ³¹and whenever burnt offerings were offered to the LORD on Sabbaths, new moons, and feast days, according to the number required of them, regularly before the LORD. ³²Thus they were to keep charge of the tent of meeting and the sanctuary, and to attend the sons of Aaron, their brothers, for the service of the house of the LORD.

When the tabernacle was to be replaced by the temple in Jerusalem, David reassigned the duties of the Levites accordingly.

2Chr 29:34 But the priests were too few and could not flay all the burnt offerings, so until other priests had consecrated themselves, their brothers the Levites helped them, until the work was finished—for the Levites were more upright in heart than the priests in consecrating themselves.

Ezra 6:18 And they set the priests in their divisions and the Levites in their divisions, for the service of God at Jerusalem, as it is written in the Book of Moses.

✦ The Levites were set apart as God's own, in place of the firstborn Israelite males:

Num 8:14-18 Thus you shall separate the Levites from among the people of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine. ¹⁵And after that the Levites shall go in to serve at the tent of meeting, when you have cleansed them and offered them as a wave offering. ¹⁶For they are wholly given to me from among the people of Israel. Instead of all who open the womb, the firstborn of all the people of Israel, I have taken them for myself. ¹⁷For all the firstborn among the people of Israel are mine, both of man and of beast. On the day that I struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt I consecrated them for myself, ¹⁸and I have taken the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the people of Israel.

The priests made offerings for people when they sinned, to make atonement for them

The theme of this subsection is exemplified in many passages in the previous two sections of this chapter – a) Offerings for Atonement for Sinners, p. 384; and b) Aspects of Making Offerings for Sin, p. 388.

Lev 4:27-31 If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, ²⁸or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed. ²⁹And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering. ³⁰And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. ³¹And all its fat he shall remove, as the fat is removed from the peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. And the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

Lev 5:15-16 If anyone commits a breach of faith and sins unintentionally in any of the holy things of the LORD, he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation, a ram without blemish out of the flock, valued^x in silver shekels,^y according to the shekel of the sanctuary, for a guilt offering. ¹⁶He shall also make restitution for what he has done amiss in the holy thing and shall add a fifth to it and give it to the priest. And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven.

^x Or flock, or its equivalent

^y A shekel was about 2/5 ounce or 11 grams

Lev 19:22 And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before the LORD for his sin that he has committed, and he shall be forgiven for the sin that he has committed.

Num 15:27-28 If one person sins unintentionally, he shall offer a female goat a year old for a sin offering. ²⁸And the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the person who makes a mistake, when he sins unintentionally, to make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

1Chr 6:49 But Aaron and his sons made offerings on the altar of burnt offering and on the altar of incense for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.

2Chr 29:20-24 Then Hezekiah the king rose early and gathered the officials of the city and went up to the house of the LORD. ²¹And they brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for a sin offering for the kingdom and for the sanctuary and for Judah. And he commanded the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the LORD. ²²So they slaughtered the bulls, and the priests received the blood and threw it against the altar. And they slaughtered the rams, and their blood was thrown against the altar. And they slaughtered the lambs, and their blood was thrown against the altar. ²³Then the goats for the sin offering were brought to the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands on them, ²⁴and the priests slaughtered them and made a sin offering with their blood on the altar, to make atonement for all Israel. For the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering should be made for all Israel.

✦ The priests also were to intercede in prayer on behalf of the people:

Joel 2:17 Between the vestibule and the altar let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep and say, "Spare your people, O LORD, and make not your heritage a reproach, a byword among the nations.^z Why should they say among the peoples, 'Where is their God?'"

^z Or reproach, that the nations should rule over them

Apparently as a consequence of the people's sin (cf. vv. 12-13), an awesome plague of locusts had devastated the land. Thus here Joel relates God's call for the priests to pray for mercy on the people's behalf.

The high priest made atonement for Israel as a whole

Lev 4:13-21 If the whole congregation of Israel sins unintentionally^a and the thing is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and they do any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and they realize their guilt,^b ¹⁴when the sin which they have committed becomes known, the assembly shall offer a bull from the herd for a sin offering and bring it in front of the tent of meeting. ¹⁵And the elders of the congregation shall lay their hands on the head of the bull before the LORD, and the bull shall be killed before the LORD. ¹⁶Then the anointed priest shall bring some of the blood of the bull into the tent of meeting, ¹⁷and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD in front of the veil. ¹⁸And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar that is in the tent of meeting before the LORD, and the rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. ¹⁹And all its fat he shall take from it and burn on the altar. ²⁰Thus shall he do with the bull. As he did with the bull of the sin offering, so shall he do with this. And the priest shall make atonement for them, and they shall be forgiven. ²¹And he shall carry the bull outside the camp and burn it up as he burned the first bull; it is the sin offering for the assembly.

^a Or makes a mistake

^b Or suffer for their guilt, or are guilty; also verses 22, 27, and chapter 5

The "anointed priest" (v. 16) is the high priest, who is in view in the remainder of the passage.

Lev 9:7 Then Moses said to Aaron, "Draw near to the altar and offer your sin offering and your burnt offering and make atonement for yourself and for the people, and bring the offering of the people and make atonement for them, as the LORD has commanded."

Lev 16:17, 24, 32-34 No one may be in the tent of meeting from the time he [Aaron, the high priest] enters to make atonement in the Holy Place until he comes out and has made atonement for himself and for his house and for all the assembly of Israel.  ... ²⁴And he shall bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his garments and come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people and make atonement for himself and for the people.  ... ³²And the priest who is anointed and consecrated as priest in his father's place shall make atonement, wearing the holy linen garments. ³³He shall make atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make atonement for the tent of meeting and for the altar, and he shall make atonement for the priests and for all the people of the assembly. ³⁴And this shall be a statute forever for you, that atonement may be made for the people of Israel once in the year because of all their sins." And Moses did as the LORD commanded him.

Note that v. 32 refers to future high priests.

Heb 2:17 Therefore he had to be made like his brothers in every respect, so that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people.

This may well have primarily in view the high priest's work in making "atonement and propitiation" (AMP) for the people as a whole. Note that "propitiation" means to turn away the wrath of God against sinners.

The offering of incense by the priests

Sweet smelling incense was regularly offered by priests to God, primarily in being burned before him (cf. Ex 30:7-9 ↓), but also in being added to some other offerings (cf. Lev 2:1-2, 15-16 ↓). This was to honor God with such a beautiful and pleasing aroma. The fact that the incense was costly was also honoring to God, in it being offered up to him. The practice was probably also in part to counteract the smell from some of the sacrifices.

Ex 30:7-9 And Aaron shall burn fragrant incense on it. Every morning when he dresses the lamps he shall burn it, ⁸and when Aaron sets up the lamps at twilight, he shall burn it, a regular incense offering before the LORD throughout your generations. ⁹You shall not offer unauthorized incense on it, or a burnt offering, or a grain offering, and you shall not pour a drink offering on it.

This refers to the altar of incense, one of the two altars in the tabernacle and later in the temple – the other being the altar of burnt offering. The altar of incense was located in the Holy Place, before the veil that concealed the Most Holy Place. On it the high priest regularly burnt the sweet smelling incense before God.

Deut 33:10 They shall teach Jacob your rules and Israel your law; they shall put incense before you and whole burnt offerings on your altar.

1Chr 6:49 But Aaron and his sons made offerings on the altar of burnt offering and on the altar of incense for all the work of the Most Holy Place, and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.

2Chr 13:10-11a But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him. We have priests ministering to the LORD who are sons of Aaron, and Levites for their service. ¹¹They offer to the LORD every morning and every evening burnt offerings and incense of sweet spices, set out the showbread on the table of pure gold, and care for the golden lampstand that its lamps may burn every evening.

Lev 2:1-2, 15-16 When anyone brings a grain offering as an offering to the LORD, his offering shall be of fine flour. He shall pour oil on it and put frankincense on it ²and bring it to Aaron's sons the priests. And he shall take from it a handful of the fine flour and oil, with all of its frankincense, and the priest shall burn this as its memorial portion on the altar, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.  ... ¹⁵And you shall put oil on it and lay frankincense on it; it is a grain offering. ¹⁶And the priest shall burn as its memorial portion some of the crushed grain and some of the oil with all of its frankincense; it is a food offering to the LORD.

✦ Lamps of olive oil were to be kept burning before God by the priests:

Ex 27:20-21 You shall command the people of Israel that they bring to you pure beaten olive oil for the light, that a lamp may regularly be set up to burn. ²¹In the tent of meeting, outside the veil that is before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall tend it from evening to morning before the LORD. It shall be a statute forever to be observed throughout their generations by the people of Israel.

Note: Priests and Levites were given parts of the people's offerings, God being their inheritance

See also:

- The parts of an offering's body were burnt or eaten, p. 391

The priests and the other Levites were not given an inheritance of land when the Israelites conquered the promised land of Canaan, although they were given towns throughout the land (cf. Num 35:1-8; Josh 21:1-42). Instead God was to be their inheritance. One aspect of this inheritance was that much of what the Israelites gave to God in offerings – including parts of the sin and guilt offerings – was allocated to the priests and Levites, as provision for their households.

Num 18:8-15 Then the LORD spoke to Aaron, "Behold, I have given you charge of the contributions made to me, all the consecrated things of the people of Israel. I have given them to you as a portion and to your sons as a perpetual due. ⁹This shall be yours of the most holy things, reserved from the fire: every offering of theirs, every grain offering of theirs and every sin offering of theirs and every guilt offering of theirs, which they render to me, shall be most holy to you and to your sons.

¹⁰In a most holy place shall you eat it. Every male may eat it; it is holy to you. ¹¹This also is yours: the contribution of their gift, all the wave offerings of the people of Israel. I have given them to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual due. Everyone who is clean in your house may eat it.

¹²All the best of the oil and all the best of the wine and of the grain, the firstfruits of what they give to the LORD, I give to you.

¹³The first ripe fruits of all that is in their land, which they bring to the LORD, shall be yours. Everyone who is clean in your house may eat it. ¹⁴Every devoted thing in Israel shall be yours.

¹⁵Everything that opens the womb of all flesh, whether man or beast, which they offer to the LORD, shall be yours. Nevertheless, the firstborn of man you shall redeem, and the firstborn of unclean animals you shall redeem.

“Everything that opens the womb” (v. 15) refers to the firstborn of every womb.

Num 18:19-21, 24 All the holy contributions that the people of Israel present to the LORD I give to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual due. It is a covenant of salt forever before the LORD for you and for your offspring with you.” ²⁰And the LORD said to Aaron, “You shall have no inheritance in their land, neither shall you have any portion among them. I am your portion and your inheritance among the people of Israel. ²¹“To the Levites I have given every tithe in Israel for an inheritance, in return for their service that they do, their service in the tent of meeting,  ... ²⁴For the tithe of the people of Israel, which they present as a contribution to the LORD, I have given to the Levites for an inheritance. Therefore I have said of them that they shall have no inheritance among the people of Israel.”

Similar to v. 21, later v. 32 says of the tithes given to the Levites, “... it is your reward in return for your service in the tent of meeting.”

Deut 18:1-4 The Levitical priests, all the tribe of Levi, shall have no portion or inheritance with Israel. They shall eat the LORD’s food offerings^c as their^d inheritance. ²They shall have no inheritance among their brothers; the LORD is their inheritance, as he promised them. ³And this shall be the priests’ due from the people, from those offering a sacrifice, whether an ox or a sheep: they shall give to the priest the shoulder and the two cheeks and the stomach. ⁴The firstfruits of your grain, of your wine and of your oil, and the first fleece of your sheep, you shall give him.

^c Or the offerings by fire to the LORD

^d Hebrew his

Ezek 44:28-30 This shall be their inheritance: I am their inheritance: and you shall give them no possession in Israel; I am their possession. ²⁹They shall eat the grain offering, the sin offering, and the guilt offering, and every devoted thing in Israel shall be theirs. ³⁰And the first of all the firstfruits of all kinds, and every offering of all kinds from all your offerings, shall belong to the priests. You shall also give to the priests the first of your dough, that a blessing may rest on your house.

Josh 13:33 But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no inheritance; the LORD God of Israel is their inheritance, just as he said to them.

Josh 18:7a The Levites have no portion among you, for the priesthood of the LORD is their heritage.

In conjunction with the LORD being their inheritance, the priesthood of the LORD was likewise their heritage.

✦ From what was given to them, the Levites were to give a tithe as an offering:

Num 18:26 Moreover, you shall speak and say to the Levites, ‘When you take from the people of Israel the tithe that I have given you from them for your inheritance, then you shall present a contribution from it to the LORD, a tithe of the tithe.

d) Ceremonial Cleanness

Alongside the regulations governing atonement for sin, the law had regulations for ceremonial cleanness and uncleanness – of which the latter, at least at times, like sin required atonement. These regulations regarding cleanness were based on the need for God’s people to be holy as he is holy. Holiness is essential if God’s people are to exist with him, for he does not abide with nor tolerate that which is not holy.

The stipulations as to what denoted ceremonial uncleanness were – largely at least – based on what was physically dirty or unhealthy. In contrast to such things God’s own holiness involves absolute purity and perfection – morally and otherwise. Maintaining ceremonial cleanness in God's presence – particularly in deliberately approaching him, such as in worship – was in accordance with and an acknowledgement of God's holiness. As such the law demanded the Israelites be ceremonially clean.

Uncleanness also makes an apt parallel to and is correlated with that which is morally unholy. As such, maintaining ceremonial cleanness reinforced the need to maintain spiritual or moral cleanness – discerning and avoiding both sin and sources of it.

Subsections

- Because God is holy, his people must be holy – which included avoiding uncleanness
- Uncleanness largely came through contact with things that were unclean
- Creatures were designated as either clean or unclean for eating . . .
- . . . Other sources of uncleanness
- Uncleanness would defile God's dwelling place amidst his people – and so required isolation and cleansing
- While a person was unclean they could not participate in worship practices
- Cleansing typically involved washing and a purification period
- Uncleanness often required offerings for atonement
- Note: Spiritual purity is paralleled with cleanness, and sin with uncleanness

Because God is holy, his people must be holy – which included avoiding uncleanness

Lev 19:2 Speak to all the congregation of the people of Israel and say to them, You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy.

Lev 11:44-45 For I am the LORD your God. Consecrate yourselves therefore, and be holy, for I am holy. You shall not defile yourselves with any swarming thing that crawls on the ground. ⁴⁵For I am the LORD who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God. You shall therefore be holy, for I am holy.

Lev 20:24b-26 I am the LORD your God, who has separated you from the peoples. ²⁵*You shall therefore separate the clean beast from the unclean, and the unclean bird from the clean. You shall not make yourselves detestable by beast or by bird or by anything with which the ground crawls, which I have set* apart for you to hold unclean. ²⁶*You shall be holy to me, for I the LORD am holy and have separated you from the peoples, that you should be mine.*

Being holy involved being set apart (vv. 24b, 26) from not only unclean things and practices, but also from others who did not live as such (vv. 24b, 26b). This points to the need for believers today to be set apart from sinful practices and those who practice them.

Ex 22:31 You shall be consecrated to me. Therefore you shall not eat any flesh that is torn by beasts in the field; you shall throw it to the dogs.

To eat anything found dead or torn by wild animals would result in one becoming unclean (cf. Lev 2:8).

Deut 23:9, 12-14 When you are encamped against your enemies, then you shall keep yourself from every evil thing.  ...¹²You shall have a place outside the camp, and you shall go out to it. ¹³And you shall have a trowel with your tools, and when you sit down outside, you shall dig a hole with it and turn back and cover up your excrement. ¹⁴Because the LORD your God walks in the midst of your camp, to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you, therefore your camp must be holy, so that he may not see anything indecent among you and turn away from you.

Given the context, "every evil thing" (v. 9) appears to have primarily in view anything ritually unclean.

Lev 10:10-11 You are to distinguish between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean, ¹¹*and you are to teach the people of Israel all the statutes that the LORD has spoken to them by Moses.*

The "common" (v. 10) or unholy (cf. AMP, CEV, NCV, NIV, NKJV) quite possibly has particularly in view things that could not be used or involved in worship – and in the ministry of the priests (cf. v. 9). Note that Ezekiel 44:23 is similar to these verses. It says regarding the priests, "They shall teach my people the difference between the holy and the common, and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean."

Lev 15:31 "Thus you shall keep the people of Israel separate from their uncleanness, lest they die in their uncleanness by defiling my tabernacle that is in their midst."

If any of the Israelites were unclean, it would defile God's holy tabernacle among them (cf. Uncleanness would defile God's dwelling place amidst his people – and so required isolation and cleansing, p. 405).

Isa 52:11 Depart, depart, go out from there; touch no unclean thing; go out from the midst of her; purify yourselves, you who bear the vessels of the LORD.

The return from Babylonian exile appears to be primarily in view. God's people – in particular those who would carry the holy vessels which belonged to God's temple – were to avoid any "unclean thing".

Uncleanness largely came through contact with things that were unclean

Lev 5:2-3 ... or if anyone touches an unclean thing, whether a carcass of an unclean wild animal or a carcass of unclean livestock or a carcass of unclean swarming things, and it is hidden from him and he has become unclean, and he realizes his guilt; ³or if he touches human uncleanness, of whatever sort the uncleanness may be with which one becomes unclean, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, and realizes his guilt; ...

Num 19:22 And whatever the unclean person touches shall be unclean, and anyone who touches it shall be unclean until evening.

Lev 11:31-39 These are unclean to you among all that swarm. Whoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until the evening. ³²And anything on which any of them falls when they are dead shall be unclean, whether it is an article of wood or a garment or a skin or a sack, any article that is used for any purpose. It must be put into water, and it shall be unclean until the evening; then it shall be clean. ³³And if any of them falls into any earthenware vessel, all that is in it shall be unclean, and you shall break it. ³⁴Any food in it that could be eaten, on which water comes, shall be unclean. And all drink that could be drunk from every such vessel shall be unclean. ³⁵And everything on which any part of their carcass falls shall be unclean. Whether oven or stove, it shall be broken in pieces. They are unclean and shall remain unclean for you. ³⁶Nevertheless, a spring or a cistern holding water shall be clean, but whoever touches a carcass in them shall be unclean. ³⁷And if any part of their carcass falls upon any seed grain that is to be sown, it is clean, ³⁸but if water is put on the seed and any part of their carcass falls on it, it is unclean to you. ³⁹And if any animal which you may eat dies, whoever touches its carcass shall be unclean until the evening, ...

Note the exceptions given. A spring and a cistern were not deemed unclean (v. 36), perhaps because of the impracticalities involved and/or their large size minimizing any possibility of health issues. Dry seed did not become unclean (v. 37), in contrast to wet seed (v. 38), quite possibly because dry seeds had not begun to produce life and would not be affected.

Lev 15:2-7, 11 Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When any man has a discharge from his body,^e his discharge is unclean. ³And this is the law of his uncleanness for a discharge: whether his body runs with his discharge, or his body is blocked up by his discharge, it is his uncleanness. ⁴Every bed on which the one with the discharge lies shall be unclean, and everything on which he sits shall be unclean. ⁵And anyone who touches his bed shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. ⁶And whoever sits on anything on which the one with the discharge has sat shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. ⁷And whoever touches the body of the one with the discharge shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening.  ... ¹¹Anyone whom the one with the discharge touches without having rinsed his hands in water shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening.

^e Hebrew flesh; also verse 3

Lev 15:19, 24 When a woman has a discharge, and the discharge in her body is blood, she shall be in her menstrual impurity for seven days, and whoever touches her shall be unclean until the evening.  ... ²⁴And if any man lies with her and her menstrual impurity comes upon him, he shall be unclean seven days, and every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.

Lev 22:4b-6 Whoever touches anything that is unclean through contact with the dead or a man who has had an emission of semen, ⁵and whoever touches a swarming thing by which he may be made unclean or a person from whom he may take uncleanness, whatever his uncleanness may be— ⁶the person who touches such a thing shall be unclean until the evening and shall not eat of the holy things unless he has bathed his body in water.

Num 19:11 Whoever touches the dead body of any person shall be unclean seven days.

Lev 7:19a "Flesh that touches any unclean thing shall not be eaten. It shall be burned up with fire.

"Flesh" appears here to denote meat (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT).

Hag 2:12-13 "If someone carries holy meat in the fold of his garment and touches with his fold bread or stew or wine or oil or any kind of food, does it become holy?" The priests answered and said, "No." ¹³Then Haggai said, "If someone who is unclean by contact with a dead body touches any of these, does it become unclean?" The priests answered and said, "It does become unclean."

Creatures were designated as either clean or unclean for eating . . .

The groupings and the reasons given suggest that the distinctions between animals that were clean or unclean for eating were based on health reasons, although not all commentators would readily concur. Eating such unclean creatures would have left the Israelites vulnerable to disease. As such, making such distinctions was important for the people in keeping themselves holy. Note that contact with living animals that were unclean for eating did not make a person unclean, whereas contact with any dead animal did (apart from a clean animal that had been killed for food).

Lev 11:46-47 This is the law about beast and bird and every living creature that moves through the waters and every creature that swarms on the ground, ⁴⁷to make a distinction between the unclean and the clean and between the living creature that may be eaten and the living creature that may not be eaten.

Deut 14:3-8 You shall not eat any abomination. ⁴*These are the animals you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat, ⁵the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex,^f the antelope, and the mountain sheep. ⁶Every animal that parts the hoof and has the hoof cloven in two and chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat. ⁷Yet of those that chew the cud or have the hoof cloven you shall not eat these: the camel, the hare, and the rock badger, because they chew the cud but do not part the hoof, are unclean for you. ⁸And the pig, because it parts the hoof but does not chew the cud, is unclean for you. Their flesh you shall not eat, and their carcasses you shall not touch.*

^f Or addax

The precise meaning of "parts the hoof and has the hoof cloven in two" (v. 6) is debatable and thus the reason for the requirement is unclear. The requirement that edible animals chew the cud (v. 6) excludes meat-eating animals, which eat dead creatures and so are more likely to carry disease.

Deut 14:9-10 Of all that are in the waters you may eat these: whatever has fins and scales you may eat. ¹⁰And whatever does not have fins and scales you shall not eat; it is unclean for you.

Water creatures that do not have fins and scales are apparently more susceptible to such things as parasites.

Deut 14:11-18 You may eat all clean birds. ¹²But these are the ones that you shall not eat: the eagle,^g the bearded vulture, the black vulture, ¹³the kite, the falcon of any kind; ¹⁴every raven of any kind; ¹⁵the ostrich, the nighthawk, the sea gull, the hawk of any kind; ¹⁶the little owl and the short-eared owl, the barn owl ¹⁷and the tawny owl, the carrion vulture and the cormorant, ¹⁸the stork, the heron of any kind; the hoopoe and the bat.

^g The identity of many of these birds is uncertain

Such birds of prey of course have contact with dead animals.

Deut 14:19-21a And all winged insects are unclean for you; they shall not be eaten. ²⁰All clean winged things you may eat. ²¹"You shall not eat anything that has died naturally. You may give it to the sojourner who is within your towns, that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner. For you are a people holy to the LORD your God.

Lev 11:20-22, 27a "All winged insects that go on all fours are detestable to you. ²¹Yet among the winged insects that go on all fours you may eat those that have jointed legs above their feet, with which to hop on the ground. ²²Of them you may eat: the locust of any kind, the bald locust of any kind, the cricket of any kind, and the grasshopper of any kind.  ... ²⁷And all that walk on their paws, among the animals that go on all fours, are unclean to you.

Note that as insects have six legs, "go on all fours" (vv. 20, 21) may be a figure of speech.

Lev 11:42-44 Whatever goes on its belly, and whatever goes on all fours, or whatever has many feet, any swarming thing that swarms on the ground, you shall not eat, for they are detestable. ⁴³You shall not make yourselves detestable with any swarming thing that swarms, and you shall not defile yourselves with them, and become unclean through them. ⁴⁴For I am the LORD your God. Consecrate yourselves therefore, and be holy, for I am holy. You shall not defile yourselves with any swarming thing that crawls on the ground.

Verse 42 appears to be describing "little creatures that crawl or walk close to the ground" (CEV), i.e. worms, snakes, rodents and insects. Note that creatures that "swarm" move in a large or dense group.

... Other sources of uncleanness

Lev 12:2, 4-5 Speak to the people of Israel, saying, 'If a woman conceives and bears a male child, then she shall be unclean seven days. As at the time of her menstruation, she shall be unclean. ²...⁴*Then she shall continue for thirty-three days in the blood of her purifying.* She shall not touch anything holy, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purifying are completed. ⁵*But if she bears a female child, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her menstruation.* And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying for sixty-six days. ⁶

The reason for why giving birth rendered a woman ceremonially unclean appears to primarily concern her bleeding (v. 4; cf. v. 7). The expression "the blood of her purifying" speaks of the blood from childbirth from which she required purifying. Bodily discharges are prominent sources of ceremonial uncleanness (cf. Lev 15:2-4 ↓; Lev 15:16-19, 25 ↓). The stipulations concerning them may well have been partly health related.

Lev 13:2-3 When a person has on the skin of his body a swelling or an eruption or a spot, and it turns into a case of leprous^h disease on the skin of his body, then he shall be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests, ³and the priest shall examine the diseased area on the skin of his body. And if the hair in the diseased area has turned white and the disease appears to be deeper than the skin of his body, it is a case of leprous disease. When the priest has examined him, he shall pronounce him unclean. ⁴

^h Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases

Lev 13:51-52 Then he shall examine the disease on the seventh day. If the disease has spread in the garment, in the warp or the woof, or in the skin, whatever be the use of the skin, the disease is a persistent leprous disease; it is unclean. ⁵²And he shall burn the garment, or the warp or the woof, the wool or the linen, or any article made of skin that is diseased, for it is a persistent leprous disease. It shall be burned in the fire. ⁵³

The "disease" in a garment appears to have been a type of mildew – as was that spoken of below in a house (cf. Lev 14:43-46 ↓). Such mildew was unclean as it was both contaminating and destructive.

Lev 14:43-46 If the disease breaks out again in the house, after he has taken out the stones and scraped the house and plastered it, ⁴⁴then the priest shall go and look. And if the disease has spread in the house, it is a persistent leprous disease in the house; it is unclean. ⁴⁵And he shall break down the house, its stones and timber and all the plaster of the house, and he shall carry them out of the city to an unclean place. ⁴⁶*Moreover, whoever enters the house while it is shut up shall be unclean until the evening, ...* ⁴⁷

Lev 15:2-4 Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When any man has a discharge from his body,ⁱ his discharge is unclean. ³*And this is the law of his uncleanness for a discharge: whether his body runs with his discharge, or his body is blocked up by his discharge, it is his uncleanness.* ⁴*Every bed on which the one with the discharge lies shall be unclean, and everything on which he sits shall be unclean.* ⁵

ⁱ Hebrew flesh; also verse 3

It is not clear what the "discharge" is referring to. Possibilities include gonorrhoea and diarrhoea – or perhaps it is meant to be understood in a general sense.

Lev 15:16-19, 25 If a man has an emission of semen, he shall bathe his whole body in water and be unclean until the evening. ¹⁷*And every garment and every skin on which the semen comes shall be washed with water and be unclean until the evening.* ¹⁸*If a man lies with a woman and has an emission of semen, both of them shall bathe themselves in water and be unclean until the evening.* ¹⁹*When a woman has a discharge, and the discharge in her body is blood, she shall be in her menstrual impurity for seven days, and whoever touches her shall be unclean until the evening.* ²⁰...²⁵*If a woman has a discharge of blood for many days, not at the time of her menstrual impurity, or if she has a discharge beyond the time of her impurity, all the days of the discharge she shall continue in uncleanness. As in the days of her impurity, she shall be unclean.* ²⁶

Num 19:14-16 This is the law when someone dies in a tent: everyone who comes into the tent and everyone who is in the tent shall be unclean seven days. ¹⁵*And every open vessel that has no cover fastened on it is unclean.* ¹⁶*Whoever in the open field touches someone who was killed with a sword or who died naturally, or touches a human bone or a grave, shall be unclean seven days.* ¹⁷

Uncleanness would defile God's dwelling place amidst his people – and so required isolation and cleansing

Lev 15:31 “Thus you shall keep the people of Israel separate from their uncleanness, lest they die in their uncleanness by defiling my tabernacle that is in their midst.”

Num 5:1-3 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ²“Command the people of Israel that they put out of the camp everyone who is leprous^j or has a discharge and everyone who is unclean through contact with the dead. ³You shall put out both male and female, putting them outside the camp, that they may not defile their camp, in the midst of which I dwell.”

^j Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases; see Leviticus 13

Num 19:13, 20 Whoever touches a dead person, the body of anyone who has died, and does not cleanse himself, defiles the tabernacle of the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from Israel; because the water for impurity was not thrown on him, he shall be unclean. His uncleanness is still on him. ... ²⁰*If the man who is unclean does not cleanse himself, that person shall be cut off from the midst of the assembly, since he has defiled the sanctuary of the LORD. Because the water for impurity has not been thrown on him, he is unclean.*

This may be speaking of defiling the LORD'S sanctuary by: the unclean person's association with it, living in proximity to it; or the unclean person actually approaching it (cf. NCV), presumably in endeavoring to carry out an act of worship (as per the theme of the following subsection).

Lev 13:45-46 The leprous person who has the disease shall wear torn clothes and let the hair of his head hang loose, and he shall cover his upper lip^k and cry out, ‘Unclean, unclean.’ ⁴⁶*He shall remain unclean as long as he has the disease. He is unclean. He shall live alone. His dwelling shall be outside the camp.*

^k Or mustache

A person with an infectious disease was to act as specified in v. 45 to warn others so that they would stay away, keeping the person separate from them.

Deut 23:10-11 If any man among you becomes unclean because of a nocturnal emission, then he shall go outside the camp. He shall not come inside the camp, ¹¹but when evening comes, he shall bathe himself in water, and as the sun sets, he may come inside the camp.

Num 31:19, 24 Encamp outside the camp seven days. Whoever of you has killed any person and whoever has touched any slain, purify yourselves and your captives on the third day and on the seventh day. ... ²⁴*You must wash your clothes on the seventh day, and you shall be clean. And afterward you may come into the camp.*

While a person was unclean they could not participate in worship practices

Ex 30:18-21 “You shall also make a basin of bronze, with its stand of bronze, for washing. You shall put it between the tent of meeting and the altar, and you shall put water in it, ¹⁹with which Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and their feet. ²⁰When they go into the tent of meeting, or when they come near the altar to minister, to burn a food offering¹ to the LORD, they shall wash with water, so that they may not die. ²¹They shall wash their hands and their feet, so that they may not die. It shall be a statute forever to them, even to him and to his offspring throughout their generations.”

¹ Or an offering by fire

The priests were to wash themselves prior to entering God's sanctuary, presumably to both ensure and signify that they were ceremonially clean.

Lev 7:20-21 ... but the person who eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of the LORD's peace offerings while an uncleanness is on him, that person shall be cut off from his people. ²¹And if anyone touches an unclean thing, whether human uncleanness or an unclean beast or any unclean detestable creature, and then eats some flesh from the sacrifice of the LORD's peace offerings, that person shall be cut off from his people.

Eating of the peace offering signified peace and communion with God. As such it was in essence an act of worship, for which one needed to be ceremonially clean. The same applied to the priests eating of the offerings (cf. Lev 22:3-6 ↓).

Lev 12:4 Then she shall continue for thirty-three days in the blood of her purifying. She shall not touch anything holy, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purifying are completed.

Lev 22:3-6 Say to them, ‘If any one of all your offspring throughout your generations approaches the holy things that the people of Israel dedicate to the LORD, while he has an uncleanness, that person shall be cut off from my presence: I am the LORD. ⁴None of the offspring of Aaron who has a leprous disease or a discharge may eat of the holy things until he is clean. Whoever touches anything that is unclean through contact with the dead or a man who has had an emission of semen, ⁵and whoever touches a swarming thing by which he may be made unclean or a person from whom he may take uncleanness, whatever his uncleanness may be— ⁶the person who touches such a thing shall be unclean until the evening and shall not eat of the holy things unless he has bathed his body in water.’

Num 9:6 And there were certain men who were unclean through touching a dead body, so that they could not keep the Passover on that day, and they came before Moses and Aaron on that day.

1Sam 20:24-26 So David hid himself in the field. And when the new moon came, the king sat down to eat food. ²⁵The king sat on his seat, as at other times, on the seat by the wall. Jonathan sat opposite,^m and Abner sat by Saul’s side, but David’s place was empty. ²⁶Yet Saul did not say anything that day, for he thought, “Something has happened to him. He is not clean; surely he is not clean.”

^m Compare Septuagint; Hebrew stood up

The New Moon festival was an aspect of Israel’s worship of God. Saul presumed that David did not participate in it because of uncleanness.

2Chr 23:19 He stationed the gatekeepers at the gates of the house of the LORD so that no one should enter who was in any way unclean.

2Chr 30:17 For there were many in the assembly who had not consecrated themselves. Therefore the Levites had to slaughter the Passover lamb for everyone who was not clean, to consecrate it to the LORD.

Many of the people had not consecrated themselves, which here points to them not being ceremonially clean. Thus the Levites – who had consecrated themselves (cf. v. 15) – had to perform the act of worship for them.

✦ Objects such as the altar had to be purified and consecrated prior to being used in worship:

Ex 29:36-37 ... and every day you shall offer a bull as a sin offering for atonement. Also you shall purify the altar, when you make atonement for it, and shall anoint it to consecrate it. ³⁷Seven days you shall make atonement for the altar and consecrate it, and the altar shall be most holy. Whatever touches the altar shall become holy.

Note that the other subsections in this chapter section contain a good number of other examples illustrating the truth of this subheading’s teaching.

Lev 12:5 But if she bears a female child, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her menstruation. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying for sixty-six days.

Lev 14:2-3, 8-9 This shall be the law of the leprous person for the day of his cleansing. He shall be brought to the priest, ³and the priest shall go out of the camp, and the priest shall look. Then, if the case of leprous disease is healed in the leprous person,  ... ⁸And he who is to be cleansed shall wash his clothes and shave off all his hair and bathe himself in water, and he shall be clean. And after that he may come into the camp, but live outside his tent seven days. ⁹And on the seventh day he shall shave off all his hair from his head, his beard, and his eyebrows. He shall shave off all his hair, and then he shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and he shall be clean.

Verse 8 speaks of a period of semi-isolation, not living in close proximity with others.

Lev 15:7, 13 And whoever touches the body of the one with the discharge shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening.  ... ¹³“And when the one with a discharge is cleansed of his discharge, then he shall count for himself seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes. And he shall bathe his body in fresh water and shall be clean.”

Lev 17:15 And every person who eats what dies of itself or what is torn by beasts, whether he is a native or a sojourner, shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening; then he shall be clean.

Num 19:16-19 Whoever in the open field touches someone who was killed with a sword or who died naturally, or touches a human bone or a grave, shall be unclean seven days. ¹⁷*For the unclean they shall take some ashes of the burnt sin offering, and freshⁿ water shall be added in a vessel.* ¹⁸*Then a clean person shall take hyssop and dip it in the water and sprinkle it on the tent and on all the furnishings and on the persons who were there and on whoever touched the bone, or the slain or the dead or the grave.* ¹⁹*And the clean person shall sprinkle it on the unclean on the third day and on the seventh day. Thus on the seventh day he shall cleanse him, and he shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, and at evening he shall be clean.*

ⁿ Hebrew living

The hyssop (v. 18) is a shrub of the mint family which has medicinal properties, possibly the reason for its use.

✦ Objects that had become unclean were cleansed or broken:

Lev 11:31-33 These are unclean to you among all that swarm. Whoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until the evening. ³²*And anything on which any of them falls when they are dead shall be unclean, whether it is an article of wood or a garment or a skin or a sack, any article that is used for any purpose. It must be put into water, and it shall be unclean until the evening; then it shall be clean.* ³³*And if any of them falls into any earthenware vessel, all that is in it shall be unclean, and you shall break it.*

Uncleanness often required offerings for atonement

Uncleanness was contrary to God's holiness and, in accordance, also to his law. As such atonement for uncleanness was required.

Lev 5:1-6 If anyone sins in that he hears a public adjuration to testify, and though he is a witness, whether he has seen or come to know the matter, yet does not speak, he shall bear his iniquity; ²*or if anyone touches an unclean thing, whether a carcass of an unclean wild animal or a carcass of unclean livestock or a carcass of unclean swarming things, and it is hidden from him and he has become unclean, and he realizes his guilt;* ³*or if he touches human uncleanness, of whatever sort the uncleanness may be with which one becomes unclean, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, and* realizes his guilt; ⁴*or if anyone utters with his lips a rash oath to do evil or to do good, any sort of rash oath that people swear, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, and he realizes his guilt in any of these;* ⁵*when he realizes his guilt in any of these and confesses the sin he has committed,* ⁶*he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation^o for the sin that he has committed, a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, for a sin offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin.*

^o Hebrew his guilt penalty; so throughout Leviticus

This portrays uncleanness as sin, or at least akin to sin. For examples of uncleanness (vv. 2-3) are listed with other sins (vv. 1, 4), they are referred to as sin (vv. 5-6), and they required a sin offering for atonement (v. 6). Each of the following passages from Leviticus also speak of types of uncleanness requiring a sin offering in order to make atonement.

Lev 12:6-8 “And when the days of her purifying are completed, whether for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting a lamb a year old for a burnt offering, and a pigeon or a turtledove for a sin offering, ⁷and he shall offer it before the LORD and make atonement for her. Then she shall be clean from the flow of her blood. This is the law for her who bears a child, either male or female. ⁸And if she cannot afford a lamb, then she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons,^p one for a burnt offering and the other for a sin offering. And the priest shall make atonement for her, and she shall be clean.”

^p Septuagint two young pigeons

Note that in accordance with v. 8, Luke 2:22-24 records Mary bringing such a sacrifice after Jesus' birth.

Lev 14:10-11, 19-20 And on the eighth day he shall take two male lambs without blemish, and one ewe lamb a year old without blemish, and a grain offering of three tenths of an ephah^q of fine flour mixed with oil, and one log^r of oil. ¹¹*And the priest who cleanses him shall set the man who is to be cleansed and these things before the LORD, at the entrance of the tent of meeting.*  ... ¹⁹*The priest shall offer the sin offering, to make atonement for him who is to be cleansed from his uncleanness. And afterward he shall kill the burnt offering.* ²⁰*And the priest shall offer the burnt offering and the grain offering on the altar. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be clean.*

^q An ephah was about 3/5 bushel or 22 liters

^r A log was about 1/3 quart or 0.3 liter

These are part of the regulations for the cleansing of a diseased person (cf. vv. 2-3, 8-9 ↑).

Lev 15:13-15 And when the one with a discharge is cleansed of his discharge, then he shall count for himself seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes. And he shall bathe his body in fresh water and shall be clean. ¹⁴And on the eighth day he shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons and come before the LORD to the entrance of the tent of meeting and give them to the priest. ¹⁵And the priest shall use them, one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD for his discharge.

Lev 15:28-30 But if she is cleansed of her discharge, she shall count for herself seven days, and after that she shall be clean. ²⁹And on the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons and bring them to the priest, to the entrance of the tent of meeting. ³⁰And the priest shall use one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for her before the LORD for her unclean discharge.

‡ A leper Jesus healed was to offer the sacrifices for cleansing:

Mark 1:41-44 Moved with pity, he stretched out his hand and touched him and said to him, “I will; be clean.” ⁴²And immediately the leprosy left him, and he was made clean. ⁴³And Jesus sternly charged him and sent him away at once, ⁴⁴and said to him, “See that you say nothing to anyone, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer for your cleansing what Moses commanded, for a proof to them.”

^s Greek he; also verse 45

Jesus’ ministry took place under the old covenant. Thus he required that the man observe the regulations regarding sacrifices for cleansing.

Job 33:9 You say, ‘I am pure, without transgression; I am clean, and there is no iniquity in me.’

Ps 24:3-4 Who shall ascend the hill of the LORD? And who shall stand in his holy place? ⁴He who has clean hands and a pure heart, who does not lift up his soul to what is false and does not swear deceitfully.

Prov 20:9 Who can say, “I have made my heart pure; I am clean from my sin”?

Ps 51:3, 7 For I know my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me.  ... ⁷Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Here as in some of the following passages, cleansing from sin is paralleled with cleansing from ceremonial uncleanness.

Isa 1:15-16 When you spread out your hands, I will hide my eyes from you; even though you make many prayers, I will not listen; your hands are full of blood. ¹⁶Wash yourselves; make yourselves clean; remove the evil of your deeds from before my eyes; cease to do evil, ...

Ezek 36:25 I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean from all your uncleannesses, and from all your idols I will cleanse you.

Isa 35:8 And a highway shall be there, and it shall be called the Way of Holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it. It shall belong to those who walk on the way; even if they are fools, they shall not go astray.^t

^t Or if they are fools, they shall not wander in it

This contrasts holiness with uncleanness. As such it associates holiness or spiritual purity with cleanness, and sin with uncleanness.

Isa 52:11 Depart, depart, go out from there; touch no unclean thing; go out from the midst of her; purify yourselves, you who bear the vessels of the LORD.

The phrase “no unclean thing” here quite possibly refers figuratively to – or is at least inclusive of – sinful things rather than simply or only ceremonially unclean things.

Lev 16:16 Thus he shall make atonement for the Holy Place, because of the uncleannesses of the people of Israel and because of their transgressions, all their sins. And so he shall do for the tent of meeting, which dwells with them in the midst of their uncleannesses.

Here uncleanness and sin are at least being associated. The implication may well be that the rebellion and sin of the Israelites contributed to their unclean state.

Isa 64:5b-6a Behold, you were angry, and we sinned; in our sins we have been a long time, and shall we be saved?^u ⁶We have all become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous deeds are like a polluted garment.

^u Or in your ways is continuance, that we might be saved

Lam 1:8 Jerusalem sinned grievously; therefore she became filthy; all who honored her despise her, for they have seen her nakedness; she herself groans and turns her face away.

Ezek 36:17 Son of man, when the house of Israel lived in their own land, they defiled it by their ways and their deeds. Their ways before me were like the uncleanness of a woman in her menstrual impurity.

Matt 23:25-28 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you clean the outside of the cup and the plate, but inside they are full of greed and self-indulgence. ²⁶*You blind Pharisee! First clean the inside of the cup and the plate, that the outside also may be clean.* ²⁷*Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs, which outwardly appear beautiful, but within are full of dead people's bones and all uncleanness.* ²⁸*So you also outwardly appear righteous to others, but within you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.*

In vv. 25-26 Jesus uses a metaphor based on the cleaning of cups and plates or dishes, to teach that if the Jewish leaders would cleanse their inner selves, then their outward behavior would also be clean in God's sight.

e) Epilogue: Israel's Persistence in Sin

Despite the Mosaic Law's provision for Israel's sin, the Israelites as a whole persisted in sin – rebelling against God and breaking his covenant with them. This showed that ultimately the law was not sufficient to deal with sin.

Israel's sin and rebellion in the wilderness

God gave Israel his law early on in its journey from Egypt to the promised land. Despite this, Israel regularly sinned and rebelled against God throughout its wilderness journey.

Deut 9:7, 16, 22 Remember and do not forget how you provoked the LORD your God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day you came out of the land of Egypt until you came to this place, you have been rebellious against the LORD. . . . ¹⁶*And I looked, and behold, you had sinned against the LORD your God. You had made yourselves a golden^v calf. You had turned aside quickly from the way that the LORD had commanded you.* . . . ²²*At Taberah also, and at Massah and at Kibroth-hattaavah you provoked the LORD to wrath.*

Ps 78:17-19, 40-41, 56 Yet they sinned still more against him, rebelling against the Most High in the desert. ¹⁸*They tested God in their heart by demanding the food they craved.* ¹⁹*They spoke against God, saying, "Can God spread a table in the wilderness?"* . . . ⁴⁰*How often they rebelled against him in the wilderness and grieved him in the desert!* ⁴¹*They tested God again and again and provoked the Holy One of Israel.* . . . ⁵⁶*Yet they tested and rebelled against the Most High God and did not keep his testimonies, . . .*

Ps 95:7b-10 Today, if you hear his voice, ⁸*do not harden your hearts, as at Meribah, as on the day at Massah in the wilderness,* ⁹*when your fathers put me to the test and put me to the proof, though they had seen my work.* ¹⁰*For forty years I loathed that generation and said, "They are a people who go astray in their heart, and they have not known my ways."*

Ezek 20:13a But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness. They did not walk in my statutes but rejected my rules, by which, if a person does them, he shall live; and my Sabbaths they greatly profaned.

Neh 9:16-19a "But they and our fathers acted presumptuously and stiffened their neck and did not obey your commandments. ¹⁷*They refused to obey and were not mindful* of the wonders that you performed among them, but they stiffened their neck and appointed a leader to return to their slavery in Egypt. But you are a God ready to forgive, gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, and did not forsake them. ¹⁸Even when they had made for themselves a golden^w calf and said, 'This is your God who brought you up out of Egypt,' and had committed great blasphemies, ¹⁹you in your great mercies did not forsake them in the wilderness.

✦ The people's refusal to go in and take the land – and the consequences:

Num 13:31; 14:2-3, 26-33 Then the men who had gone up with him said, "We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we are."  ... ^{14:2}And all the people of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron. The whole congregation said to them, "Would that we had died in the land of Egypt! Or would that we had died in this wilderness! ³Why is the LORD bringing us into this land, to fall by the sword? Our wives and our little ones will become a prey. Would it not be better for us to go back to Egypt?"  ... ²⁶And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, ²⁷"How long shall this wicked congregation grumble against me? I have heard the grumblings of the people of Israel, which they grumble against me. ²⁸Say to them, 'As I live, declares the LORD, what you have said in my hearing I will do to you: ²⁹your dead bodies shall fall in this wilderness, and of all your number, listed in the census from twenty years old and upward, who have grumbled against me, ³⁰not one shall come into the land where I swore that I would make you dwell, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun. ³¹But your little ones, who you said would become a prey, I will bring in, and they shall know the land that you have rejected. ³²But as for you, your dead bodies shall fall in this wilderness. ³³And your children shall be shepherds in the wilderness forty years and shall suffer for your faithlessness, until the last of your dead bodies lies in the wilderness."

Israel's sin and unfaithfulness during the time of the judges

See also:

- 1Sam 8:7-8

The "judges" – from which the book of Judges takes its name – were the occasional leaders of Israel during the time following Joshua (and the settling of the promised land) until the death of Samuel, Israel's last judge. The Israelites were often unfaithful to God during this time, whereupon God would use their enemies to punish them – leading them to repent. Then God would raise up a judge to unite the scattered tribes of Israel to repel the common enemy and bring the Israelites back to worshipping him.

Judg 2:10-15 And all that generation also were gathered to their fathers. And there arose another generation after them who did not know the LORD or the work that he had done for Israel. ¹¹And the people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and served the Baals. ¹²And they abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They went after other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were around them, and bowed down to them. And they provoked the LORD to anger. ¹³They abandoned the LORD and served the Baals and the Ashtaroth. ¹⁴So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he gave them over to plunderers, who plundered them. And he sold them into the hand of their surrounding enemies, so that they could no longer withstand their enemies. ¹⁵Whenever they marched out, the hand of the LORD was against them for harm, as the LORD had warned, and as the LORD had sworn to them. And they were in terrible distress.

Judg 2:16-22 Then the LORD raised up judges, who saved them out of the hand of those who plundered them. ¹⁷Yet they did not listen to their judges, for they whored after other gods and bowed down to them. They soon turned aside from the way in which their fathers had walked, who had obeyed the commandments of the LORD, and they did not do so. ¹⁸Whenever the LORD raised up judges for them, the LORD was with the judge, and he saved them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge. For the LORD was moved to pity by their groaning because of those who afflicted and oppressed them. ¹⁹But whenever the judge died, they turned back and were more corrupt than their fathers, going after other gods, serving them and bowing down to them. They did not drop any of their practices or their stubborn ways. ²⁰So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he said, "Because this people has transgressed my covenant that I commanded their fathers and have not obeyed my voice, ²¹I will no longer drive out before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died, ²²in order to test Israel by them, whether they will take care to walk in the way of the LORD as their fathers did, or not."

Judg 17:6 In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

The second part of the verse indicates that the people were doing what they wanted, rather than what was right in God's eyes. The verse is repeated verbatim in the last verse of Judges (21:25), reflecting generally on the period of the Judges.

✦ Samuel's godly leadership of Israel:

1Sam 7:3-6, 15-16 And Samuel said to all the house of Israel, "If you are returning to the LORD with all your heart, then put away the foreign gods and the Ashtaroth from among you and direct your heart to the LORD and serve him only, and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines."⁴ So the people of Israel put away the Baals and the Ashtaroth, and they served the LORD only.⁵ Then Samuel said, "Gather all Israel at Mizpah, and I will pray to the LORD for you."⁶ So they gathered at Mizpah and drew water and poured it out before the LORD and fasted on that day and said there, "We have sinned against the LORD." And Samuel judged the people of Israel at Mizpah. ¶ ...¹⁵ Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life.¹⁶ And he went on a circuit year by year to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah. And he judged Israel in all these places. ¶

Israel's sinful demand for a king – and the choice of Saul

Israel's demand for a king was sinful as it was in effect a rejection of God as her king. But nevertheless the kingship was part of God's overall plan for Israel (cf. Deut 17:14-15) and God allowed its institution.

1Sam 8:4-9 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah⁵ and said to him, "Behold, you are old and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now appoint for us a king to judge us like all the nations."⁶ But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." And Samuel prayed to the LORD.⁷ And the LORD said to Samuel, "Obey the voice of the people in all that they say to you, for they have not rejected you, but they have rejected me from being king over them."⁸ According to all the deeds that they have done, from the day I brought them up out of Egypt even to this day, forsaking me and serving other gods, so they are also doing to you.⁹ Now then, obey their voice; only you shall solemnly warn them and show them the ways of the king who shall reign over them." ¶

1Sam 10:17-21a, 24 Now Samuel called the people together to the LORD at Mizpah.¹⁸ And he said to the people of Israel, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and I delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all the kingdoms that were oppressing you.'¹⁹ But today you have rejected your God, who saves you from all your calamities and your distresses, and you have said to him, 'Set a king over us.' Now therefore present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes and by your thousands."²⁰ Then Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was taken by lot.²¹ He brought the tribe of Benjamin near by its clans, and the clan of the Matrites was taken by lot;^x and Saul the son of Kish was taken by lot. ¶ ...²⁴ And Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see him whom the LORD has chosen? There is none like him among all the people." And all the people shouted, "Long live the king!" ¶

^x Septuagint adds finally he brought the family of the Matrites near, man by man

1Sam 12:12-20 And when you saw that Nahash the king of the Ammonites came against you, you said to me, 'No, but a king shall reign over us,' when the LORD your God was your king.¹³ And now behold the king whom you have chosen, for whom you have asked; behold, the LORD has set a king over you.¹⁴ If you will fear the LORD and serve him and obey his voice and not rebel against the commandment of the LORD, and if both you and the king who reigns over you will follow the LORD your God, it will be well.¹⁵ But if you will not obey the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then the hand of the LORD will be against you and your king.^y¹⁶ Now therefore stand still and see this great thing that the LORD will do before your eyes.¹⁷ Is it not wheat harvest today? I will call upon the LORD, that he may send thunder and rain. And you shall know and see that your wickedness is great, which you have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking for yourselves a king."¹⁸ So Samuel called upon the LORD, and the LORD sent thunder and rain that day, and all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.¹⁹ And all the people said to Samuel, "Pray for your servants to the LORD your God, that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins this evil, to ask for ourselves a king."²⁰ And Samuel said to the people, "Do not be afraid; you have done all this evil. Yet do not turn aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart. ¶

✦ Saul's failure as king:

1Sam 15:10-11a, 19, 23, 27-28 The word of the LORD came to Samuel:¹¹ "I regret that I have made Saul king, for he has turned back from following me and has not performed my commandments." ¶ ... [Samuel, to Saul:]¹⁹ Why then did you not obey the voice of the LORD? Why did you pounce on the spoil and do what was evil in the sight of the LORD?" ¶ ...²³ For rebellion is as the sin of divination, and presumption is as iniquity and idolatry. Because you have rejected the word of the LORD, he has also rejected you from being king.”  ... ²⁷As Samuel turned to go away, Saul seized the skirt of his robe, and it tore. ²⁸And Samuel said to him, “The LORD has torn the kingdom of Israel from you this day and has given it to a neighbor of yours, who is better than you.

Saul was instructed to totally destroy the Amalekites and everything that belonged to them for what they had done to Israel (cf. v. 3), but he failed to do so (v. 19; cf. v. 9). In v. 28 Samuel makes reference to David, who would follow Saul as king and be faithful to God (cf. f\) God's Dealings and Covenant with David, p. 352). David would in turn be followed by his son Solomon.

Solomon's unfaithfulness and the consequent division of the kingdom under his son, Rehoboam . . .

1Ki 11:1-6 Now King Solomon loved many foreign women, along with the daughter of Pharaoh: Moabite, Ammonite, Edomite, Sidonian, and Hittite women, ²from the nations concerning which the LORD had said to the people of Israel, “You shall not enter into marriage with them, neither shall they with you, for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods.” Solomon clung to these in love. ³He had 700 wives, princesses, and 300 concubines. And his wives turned away his heart. ⁴For when Solomon was old his wives turned away his heart after other gods, and his heart was not wholly true to the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father. ⁵For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. ⁶So Solomon did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and did not wholly follow the LORD, as David his father had done.

1Ki 11:9-13 And the LORD was angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice ¹⁰and had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods. But he did not keep what the LORD commanded. ¹¹Therefore the LORD said to Solomon, “Since this has been your practice and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I have commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom from you and will give it to your servant. ¹²Yet for the sake of David your father I will not do it in your days, but I will tear it out of the hand of your son. ¹³However, I will not tear away all the kingdom, but I will give one tribe to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem that I have chosen.”

1Ki 11:31-33, 39 And he [the prophet Ahijah] said to Jeroboam, “Take for yourself ten pieces, for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Behold, I am about to tear the kingdom from the hand of Solomon and will give you ten tribes’ ³²(but he shall have one tribe, for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel), ³³because they have^z forsaken me and worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of Moab, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, and they have not walked in my ways, doing what is right in my sight and keeping my statutes and my rules, as David his father did.  ... ³⁹And I will afflict the offspring of David because of this, but not forever.”

^z Septuagint, Syriac, Vulgate he has; twice in this verse

Note that Solomon may well be primarily in view in v. 33a (cf. text note, CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

1Ki 12:1-5, 12-16 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. ²And as soon as Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it (for he was still in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon), then Jeroboam returned from^a Egypt. ³And they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel came and said to Rehoboam, ⁴“Your father made our yoke heavy. Now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke on us, and we will serve you.” ⁵He said to them, “Go away for three days, then come again to me.” So the people went away.  ... ¹²So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king said, “Come to me again the third day.” ¹³And the king answered the people harshly, and forsaking the counsel that the old men had given him, ¹⁴he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying, “My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke. My father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.” ¹⁵So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of affairs brought about by the LORD that he might fulfill his word, which the LORD spoke by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat. ¹⁶And when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, “What portion do we have in David? We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse. To your tents, O Israel! Look now to your own house, David.” So Israel went to their tents.

^a Septuagint, Vulgate (compare 2 Chronicles 10:2); Hebrew lived in 1Ki 12:19-24 So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day. ²⁰And when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. There was none that followed the house of David but the tribe of Judah only. ²¹When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, 180,000 chosen warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. ²²But the word of God came to Shemaiah the man of God: ²³"Say to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, ²⁴*Thus says the LORD, You shall not go up or fight against your relatives the people of Israel. Every man return to his home, for this thing is from me.*" So they listened to the word of the LORD and went home again, according to the word of the LORD.

Note that although the tribe of Benjamin is not mentioned initially as remaining loyal to Rehoboam (v. 20), it would appear that it soon did so, or that at least a notable portion of it did (v. 21). As such, Benjamin is often mentioned along with Judah in the remainder of OT history, even in the return from the Babylonian exile (cf. Ezra 1:5; 4:1; 10:9; Neh 1:4-9, 36).

. . . Jeroboam's subsequent archetypical apostasy in the northern kingdom

Following the division of Israel, Jeroboam was the first king of the breakaway northern kingdom, which was simply called "Israel". Jeroboam was concerned that if his people went to worship at the temple in Jerusalem – in the southern kingdom of Judah – he would risk losing his kingdom. He thus decided to institute false gods and an alternative system of worship. The false worship that Jeroboam instituted persisted throughout the existence of the northern kingdom of Israel, until the kingdom's demise.

1Ki 12:26-32 And Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom will turn back to the house of David. ²⁷If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the temple of the LORD at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will turn again to their lord, to Rehoboam king of Judah, and they will kill me and return to Rehoboam king of Judah." ²⁸*So the king took counsel and made two calves of gold. And he said to the people, "You have gone up to Jerusalem long enough. Behold your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt."* ²⁹*And he set one in Bethel, and the other he put in Dan.* ³⁰*Then this thing became a sin, for the people went as far as Dan to be before one.*^b ³¹*He also made temples on high places and appointed priests from among all the people, who were not of the Levites.* ³²*And Jeroboam appointed a feast on the fifteenth day of the eighth month like the feast that was in Judah, and he offered sacrifices on the altar. So he did in Bethel,* sacrificing to the calves that he made. And he placed in Bethel the priests of the high places that he had made.

^b Septuagint went to the one at Bethel and to the other as far as Dan

1Ki 13:33-34 After this thing Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but made priests for the high places again from among all the people. Any who would, he ordained to be priests of the high places. ³⁴*And this thing became sin to the house of Jeroboam, so as to cut it off and to destroy it from the face of the earth.*

1Ki 16:1-3, 18-19, 25-26, 30-31 And the word of the LORD came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha [king of Israel], saying, ²"Since I exalted you out of the dust and made you leader over my people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins, ³behold, I will utterly sweep away Baasha and his house, and I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.  ... ¹⁸And when Zimri [king of Israel] saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king's house and burned the king's house over him with fire and died, ¹⁹because of his sins that he committed, doing evil in the sight of the LORD, walking in the way of Jeroboam, and for his sin which he committed, making Israel to sin.  ... ²⁵Omri [king of Israel] did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and did more evil than all who were before him. ²⁶*For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in the sins that he made Israel to sin, provoking the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their idols.*  ... ³⁰And Ahab [king of Israel] the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD, more than all who were before him. ³¹*And as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat,* he took for his wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Sidonians, and went and served Baal and worshiped him.

Here in one chapter four kings of Israel – Baasha, Zimri, Omri and the infamous Ahab – are each said to have followed the unfaithful ways of Jeroboam.

2Ki 17:21-23 When he had torn Israel from the house of David, they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. And Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD and made them commit great sin. ²²*The people of Israel walked in all the sins that Jeroboam did. They did not depart from them,* ²³until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he had spoken by all his servants the prophets. So Israel was exiled from their own land to Assyria until this day.

‡ The southern kingdom of Judah also was unfaithful to God:

2Chr 12:1-2 When the rule of Rehoboam was established and he was strong, he abandoned the law of the LORD, and all Israel with him. ²*In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, because they had been unfaithful to the LORD, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem ...*

Here "Israel" refers in particular to the people of Judah (cf. CEV, NCV).

Some kings in Judah did lead the people in godly ways . . .

2Chr 14:2-5 ^c And Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God. ³*He took away the foreign altars and the high places and broke down the pillars and cut down the Asherim* ⁴*and commanded Judah to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, and to keep the law and the commandment.* ⁵*He also took out of all the cities of Judah the high places and the incense altars. And the kingdom had rest under him.*

^c Ch 14:1 in Hebrew

Verses 3, 5 speak of Asa removing things involved in worship of false gods.

2Chr 15:9-17 And he [King Asa] gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and those from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon who were residing with them, for great numbers had deserted to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him. ¹⁰*They were gathered at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa.* ¹¹*They sacrificed to the LORD on that day from the spoil that they had brought 700 oxen and 7,000 sheep.* ¹²*And they entered into a covenant to seek the LORD, the God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soul,* ¹³*but that whoever would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, should be put to death, whether young or old, man or woman.* ¹⁴*They swore an oath to the LORD with a loud voice and with shouting and with trumpets and with horns.* ¹⁵*And all Judah rejoiced over the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and had sought him with their whole desire, and he was found by them, and the LORD gave them rest all around.* ¹⁶*Even Maacah, his mother, King Asa removed from being queen mother because she had made a detestable image for Asherah. Asa cut down her image, crushed it, and burned it at the brook Kidron.* ¹⁷*But the high places were not taken out of Israel. Nevertheless, the heart of Asa was wholly true all his days.*

2Chr 19:4, 8-10a Jehoshaphat lived at Jerusalem. And he went out again among the people, from Beersheba to the hill country of Ephraim, and brought them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers.  ... ⁸*Moreover, in Jerusalem Jehoshaphat appointed certain Levites and priests and heads of families of Israel, to give judgment for the LORD and to decide disputed cases. They had their seat at Jerusalem.* ⁹*And he charged them: "Thus you shall do in the fear of the LORD, in faithfulness, and with your whole heart: ¹⁰whenever a case comes to you from your brothers who live in their cities, concerning bloodshed, law or commandment, statutes or rules, then you shall warn them, that they may not incur guilt before the LORD and wrath may not come upon you and your brothers.*

2Ki 18:3-7a And he [King Hezekiah] did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that David his father had done. ⁴*He removed the high places and broke the pillars and cut down the Asherah. And he broke in pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for until those days the people of Israel had made offerings to it (it was called Nehushtan).* ⁴ ⁵*He trusted in the LORD, the God of Israel, so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah after him, nor among those who were before him.* ⁶*For he held fast to the LORD. He did not depart from following him, but kept the commandments that the LORD commanded Moses.* ⁷*And the LORD was with him; wherever he went out, he prospered.*

^d Nehushtan sounds like the Hebrew for both bronze and serpent

2Ki 23:1-3, 21-25 Then the king [Josiah] sent, and all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem were gathered to him. ²*And the king went up to the house of the LORD, and with him all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the priests and the prophets, all the people, both small and great. And he read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in the house of the LORD.* ³*And the king stood by the pillar and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people joined in the covenant.*  ... ²¹*And the king commanded all the people, "Keep the Passover to the LORD your God, as it is written in this Book of the Covenant."* ²²*For no such Passover had been kept since the days of the judges who judged Israel, or during all the days of the kings of Israel or of the kings of Judah.* ²³*But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah this Passover was kept to the LORD in Jerusalem.* ²⁴*Moreover, Josiah put away the mediums and the necromancers and the household gods and the idols and all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, that he might establish the words of the law that were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.* ²⁵*Before him there was no king* like him, who turned to the LORD with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses, nor did any like him arise after him.

... but ultimately both kingdoms of Israel failed to keep God's laws and broke his covenant

2Ki 17:15-16 They despised his statutes and his covenant that he made with their fathers and the warnings that he gave them. They went after false idols and became false, and they followed the nations that were around them, concerning whom the LORD had commanded them that they should not do like them. ¹⁶And they abandoned all the commandments of the LORD their God, and made for themselves metal images of two calves; and they made an Asherah and worshiped all the host of heaven and served Baal.

2Ki 18:11-12 The king of Assyria carried the Israelites away to Assyria and put them in Halah, and on the Habor, the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, ¹²because they did not obey the voice of the LORD their God but transgressed his covenant, even all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded. They neither listened nor obeyed.

Ps 78:9-10, 37 The Ephraimites, armed with^e the bow, turned back on the day of battle. ¹⁰They did not keep God's covenant, but refused to walk according to his law.  ... ³⁷Their heart was not steadfast toward him; they were not faithful to his covenant.

^e Hebrew armed and shooting

Jer 11:10 They have turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, who refused to hear my words. They have gone after other gods to serve them. The house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken my covenant that I made with their fathers.

Jer 31:31-32 Behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah, ³²not like the covenant that I made with their fathers on the day when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, my covenant that they broke, though I was their husband, declares the LORD.

Ezek 16:59 For thus says the Lord GOD: I will deal with you as you have done, you who have despised the oath in breaking the covenant, ...

Hos 6:7 But like Adam they transgressed the covenant; there they dealt faithlessly with me.

Hos 8:1 Set the trumpet to your lips! One like a vulture is over the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant and rebelled against my law.

With the reference to a "vulture" Hosea portrays Israel's enemy as being poised to attack her.

✦ So, Israel failed to fulfill the law and gain righteousness:

Rom 9:31 ... but that Israel who pursued a law that would lead to righteousness^f did not succeed in reaching that law.

^f Greek a law of righteousness

Note: The people polluted and defiled the land by their sin

Ps 106:38 ... they poured out innocent blood, the blood of their sons and daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, and the land was polluted with blood.

Jer 3:2b, 9 You have polluted the land with your vile whoredom.  ... ⁹Because she took her whoredom lightly, she polluted the land, committing adultery with stone and tree.

The final clause refers to Israel's unfaithfulness to God in worshipping idols – made of stone and wood.

Jer 16:18 But first I will doubly repay their iniquity and their sin, because they have polluted my land with the carcasses of their detestable idols, and have filled my inheritance with their abominations.

Jer 2:7 And I brought you into a plentiful land to enjoy its fruits and its good things. But when you came in, you defiled my land and made my heritage an abomination.

Ezek 36:17-18 Son of man, when the house of Israel lived in their own land, they defiled it by their ways and their deeds. Their ways before me were like the uncleanness of a woman in her menstrual impurity. ¹⁸So I poured out my wrath upon them for the blood that they had shed in the land, for the idols with which they had defiled it.

✦ The people had been warned not to pollute the land:

Num 35:33 You shall not pollute the land in which you live, for blood pollutes the land, and no atonement can be made for the land for the blood that is shed in it, except by the blood of the one who shed it.

I. Basics

The fact that God does and will judge us is one of the Bible's key teachings, without which the significance of other key Bible teachings is lost – notably that of salvation. An understanding of it is also vital to understanding God himself. Additionally, bear in mind that God's judgment – being just and righteous – actually gives his people much reason to be encouraged.

God is judge . . .

Ps 50:6 The heavens declare his righteousness, for God himself is judge! Selah

Ps 75:7 ... but it is God who executes judgment, putting down one and lifting up another.

Deut 1:17a You shall not be partial in judgment. You shall hear the small and the great alike. You shall not be intimidated by anyone, for the judgment is God's.

Ultimately judgment belongs to God. As such, when making judgments, judges are in a real sense “judging in the place of God” (NLT).

Judg 11:27 I therefore have not sinned against you, and you do me wrong by making war on me. The LORD, the Judge, decide this day between the people of Israel and the people of Ammon.

The LORD is “the Judge” – the one to whom judgment ultimately belongs.

John 8:50 Yet I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge.

Heb 12:23b ... to God, the judge of all, and to the spirits of the righteous made perfect, ...

James 4:12 There is only one lawgiver and judge, he who is able to save and to destroy. But who are you to judge your neighbor?

God is being spoken of here (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

Dan 7:9-10 As I looked, thrones were placed, and the Ancient of Days took his seat; his clothing was white as snow, and the hair of his head like pure wool; his throne was fiery flames; its wheels were burning fire. ¹⁰A stream of fire issued and came out from before him; a thousand thousands served him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him; the court sat in judgment, and the books were opened.

This depicts God taking his seat (v. 9) as the supreme judge in the heavenly court, to judge the figures or kingdoms in question (cf. vv. 3-8), whose deeds have been recorded in the books that were opened (v. 10).

Ps 82:1 God has taken his place in the divine council; in the midst of the gods he holds judgment: ...

The phrases “the divine council” and “in the midst of the gods” appear to portray angelic beings surrounding God's throne as he begins to make judgment, as the supreme judge.

Gen 18:25 Far be it from you to do such a thing, to put the righteous to death with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?

This is part of Abraham's appeal to God to spare the righteous amidst the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah from looming judgment.

Ps 94:2 Rise up, O judge of the earth; repay to the proud what they deserve!

1Sam 2:10 The adversaries of the LORD shall be broken to pieces; against them he will thunder in heaven. The LORD will judge the ends of the earth; he will give strength to his king and exalt the power^a of his anointed.

Ps 58:11 Mankind will say, "Surely there is a reward for the righteous; surely there is a God who judges on earth." 📖

Ps 98:9 ... before the LORD, for he comes to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness, and the peoples with equity. 📖

Jer 25:29b You shall not go unpunished, for I am summoning a sword against all the inhabitants of the earth, declares the LORD of hosts. 📖

The reference is to God's judgment of other nations of Jeremiah's time.

God makes judgments in the world

1Chr 16:12, 14 Remember the wondrous works that he has done, his miracles and the judgments he uttered, 📖 ... ¹⁴He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth. 📖

Although we may still long for God's judgment on certain matters, the Bible asserts that God does make judgments in the world in the present time – the extent of which we will not know in this life.

Ps 7:11 God is a righteous judge, and a God who feels indignation every day. 📖

With the preceding description of God as a "righteous judge", the latter part of this verse may have in view God expressing his wrath in judgment every day (cf. CEV, NIV).

Ps 48:10-11 As your name, O God, so your praise reaches to the ends of the earth. Your right hand is filled with righteousness. ¹¹Let Mount Zion be glad! Let the daughters of Judah rejoice because of your judgments! 📖

Ps 75:8 For in the hand of the LORD there is a cup with foaming wine, well mixed, and he pours out from it, and all the wicked of the earth shall drain it down to the dregs. 📖

God's judgment is pictured as a cup of wine (cf. Jer 25:15-16 ↓) – "foaming" and "well mixed", i.e. very potent.

Ps 76:8-9 From the heavens you uttered judgment; the earth feared and was still, ⁹when God arose to establish judgment, to save all the humble of the earth. Selah 📖

Isa 26:9b For when your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world learn righteousness. 📖

Gen 6:7, 13, 17 So the LORD said, "I will blot out man whom I have created from the face of the land, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens, for I am sorry that I have made them." 📖 ... ¹³And God said to Noah, "I have determined to make an end of all flesh,^b for the earth is filled with violence through them. Behold, I will destroy them with the earth. 📖 ... ¹⁷For behold, I will bring a flood of waters upon the earth to destroy all flesh in which is the breath of life under heaven. Everything that is on the earth shall die. 📖

^b Hebrew The end of all flesh has come before me

God judges nations

Ps 7:8a The LORD judges the peoples ... 📖

Ps 110:6 He will execute judgment among the nations, filling them with corpses; he will shatter chiefs^c over the wide earth. 📖

^c Or the head

Isa 2:4 He shall judge between the nations, and shall decide disputes for many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore. 📖

The end of the age is in view here.

Isa 34:5 For my sword has drunk its fill in the heavens; behold, it descends for judgment upon Edom, upon the people I have devoted to destruction. 📖

Note that the first clause may be referring to either: God's "sword" or means of judgment being prepared in heaven (cf. AMP, GNT); the appearance of this "sword" in the skies (cf. CEV text note), ready to descend; or the fate of the skies in the end times.

Isa 63:6 I trampled down the peoples in my anger; I made them drunk in my wrath, and I poured out their lifeblood on the earth. 📖

Jer 25:15-16, 31-32 Thus the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: "Take from my hand this cup of the wine of wrath, and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. ¹⁶They shall drink and stagger and be crazed because of the sword that I am sending among them." 📖 ... ³¹The clamor will resound to the ends of the earth, for the LORD has an indictment against the nations; he is entering into judgment with all flesh, and the wicked he will put to the sword, declares the LORD.' ³²"Thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, disaster is going forth from nation to nation, and a great tempest is stirring from the farthest parts of the earth! 📖

Jer 51:9, 56 We would have healed Babylon, but she was not healed. Forsake her, and let us go each to his own country, for her judgment has reached up to heaven and has been lifted up even to the skies. ... ⁵⁶*for a destroyer has come upon her, upon Babylon; her warriors are taken; their bows are broken in pieces, for the LORD is a God of recompense; he will surely repay.*

Joel 3:2, 12-13 I will gather all the nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. And I will enter into judgment with them there, on behalf of my people and my heritage Israel, because they have scattered them among the nations and have divided up my land, ... ¹²*Let the nations stir themselves up and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; for there I will sit to judge all the surrounding nations.* ¹³*Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe. Go in, tread, for the winepress is full. The vats overflow, for their evil is great.*

Here and in the following two passages, God's final judgment appears to be ultimately in view.

Obad 1:15-16 For the day of the LORD is near upon all the nations. As you have done, it shall be done to you; your deeds shall return on your own head. ¹⁶*For as you have drunk on my holy mountain, so all the nations shall drink continually; they shall drink and swallow, and shall be as though they had never been.*

Zeph 3:8 "Therefore wait for me," declares the LORD, "for the day when I rise up to seize the prey. For my decision is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out upon them my indignation, all my burning anger; for in the fire of my jealousy all the earth shall be consumed."

Ezek 33:20b O house of Israel, I will judge each of you according to his ways.

Ps 7:8 The LORD judges the peoples; judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness and according to the integrity that is in me.

Here David asks God to vindicate him by his judgment (cf. NASB).

Ps 75:7 ... but it is God who executes judgment, putting down one and lifting up another.

Isa 66:16 For by fire will the LORD enter into judgment, and by his sword, with all flesh; and those slain by the LORD shall be many.

This has in view judgment of the wicked in the end times – either at the beginning of a millennium (see the introductory comments on f\) Jesus Christ's Universal Rule, p. 717, and its first subsection, Prelude: The thousand years) or in God's final judgment.

Heb 12:23b ... to God, the judge of all, and to the spirits of the righteous made perfect, ...

Gen 4:9-12 Then the LORD said to Cain, "Where is Abel your brother?" He said, "I do not know; am I my brother's keeper?" ¹⁰And the LORD said, "What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood is crying to me from the ground. ¹¹And now you are cursed from the ground, which has opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand. ¹²When you work the ground, it shall no longer yield to you its strength. You shall be a fugitive and a wanderer on the earth."

Gen 31:53 The God of Abraham and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge between us. So Jacob swore by the Fear of his father Isaac, ...

Acts 13:10-11 ... and said, "You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord? ¹¹And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a time." Immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and he went about seeking people to lead him by the hand.

Job 21:22 Will any teach God knowledge, seeing that he judges those who are on high?

The phrase "those who are on high" refers to authorities (cf. CEV), or at least individuals with great influence or importance. Possibly "the angels in heaven" (NirV®) are in view.

Isa 24:21 On that day the LORD will punish the host of heaven, in heaven, and the kings of the earth, on the earth.

Dan 4:31-33 While the words were still in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, "O King Nebuchadnezzar, to you it is spoken: The kingdom has departed from you, ³²and you shall be driven from among men, and your dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field. And you shall be made to eat grass like an ox, and seven periods of time shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules the kingdom of men and gives it to whom he will.”³³Immediately the word was fulfilled against Nebuchadnezzar. He was driven from among men and ate grass like an ox, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven till his hair grew as long as eagles’ feathers, and his nails were like birds’ claws.

Dan 5:24-28, 30 “Then from his presence the hand was sent, and this writing was inscribed. ²⁵And this is the writing that was inscribed: MENE, MENE, TEKEL, and PARSIN. ²⁶This is the interpretation of the matter: MENE, God has numbered^d the days of your kingdom and brought it to an end; ²⁷*TEKEL, you have been weighed^e in the balances and found wanting;* ²⁸*PERES, your kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians.”^f  ... ³⁰That very night Belshazzar the Chaldean king was killed. *

^d MENE sounds like the Aramaic for numbered

^e TEKEL sounds like the Aramaic for weighed

^f PERES (the singular of Parsin) sounds like the Aramaic for divided and for Persia

Rev 6:15-17 Then the kings of the earth and the great ones and the generals and the rich and the powerful, and everyone, slave^g and free, hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains, ¹⁶calling to the mountains and rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who is seated on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb, ¹⁷for the great day of their wrath has come, and who can stand?”

Deut 33:21 He chose the best of the land for himself, for there a commander’s portion was reserved; and he came with the heads of the people, with Israel he executed the justice of the LORD, and his judgments for Israel.

Ps 50:4-5 He calls to the heavens above and to the earth, that he may judge his people: ⁵“Gather to me my faithful ones, who made a covenant with me by sacrifice!”

God judged his people according to his covenant with them, reflected in this psalm by his implied criticism and exhortations to the people in general (cf. vv. 7-15); and his stinging attack and threat of destruction to the wicked amongst them (cf. vv. 16-23).

Isa 3:14 The LORD will enter into judgment with the elders and princes of his people: “It is you who have devoured^h the vineyard, the spoil of the poor is in your houses.

^h Or grazed over; compare Exodus 22:5

Isa 33:22 For the LORD is our judge; the LORD is our lawgiver; the LORD is our king; he will save us.

The OT concept of “judge” encompassed other governing roles besides just judicial functions, as is arguably alluded to by this verse.

Ezek 20:35-36 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples, and there I will enter into judgment with you face to face. ³⁶*As I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will enter into judgment with you, declares the Lord GOD.*

Ezek 34:20-22 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD to them: Behold, I, I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. ²¹Because you push with side and shoulder, and thrust at all the weak with your horns, till you have scattered them abroad, ²²I will rescueⁱ my flock; they shall no longer be a prey. And I will judge between sheep and sheep.

ⁱ Or save

Heb 10:30 For we know him who said, “Vengeance is mine; I will repay.” And again, “The Lord will judge his people.”

A reference in v. 27 to the fearful judgment awaiting apostates, implies that the final judgment is primarily in view here (as is the case with the following reference).

James 2:12-13 So speak and so act as those who are to be judged under the law of liberty. ¹³For judgment is without mercy to one who has shown no mercy. Mercy triumphs over judgment.

Here “the law” may well be referring to ‘the royal law found in Scripture, “Love your neighbor as yourself,”’ (v. 8), or the law or teachings of the second covenant – including Jesus’ teaching and the OT as interpreted by the NT. Although it is a law that sets us free rather than being a burden to obey, by the same token judgment by such a law will be more demanding.

God judges evil spiritual powers

Gen 3:14-15 The LORD God said to the serpent, "Because you have done this, cursed are you above all livestock and above all beasts of the field; on your belly you shall go, and dust you shall eat all the days of your life. ¹⁵I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring^j and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel."

^j Hebrew seed; so throughout Genesis

This serpent that tempted Eve (cf. vv. 1-7) is generally considered to be representative of or even a manifestation of Satan. As such, the judgment of it and the implications for its "offspring" appears to have an application to Satan and evil powers.

1Tim 3:6 He must not be a recent convert, or he may become puffed up with conceit and fall into the condemnation of the devil.

The reference to the condemnation of the devil most likely is speaking of facing the same judgment as the devil does. Another interpretation is that it is referring to falling from a high position just as the devil is understood to have done.

Rev 20:10 ... and the devil who had deceived them was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet were, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

Isa 24:21 On that day the LORD will punish the host of heaven, in heaven, and the kings of the earth, on the earth.

Evil spiritual powers are in view in the first part of this verse.

2Pet 2:4 For if God did not spare angels when they sinned, but cast them into hell^k and committed them to chains^l of gloomy darkness to be kept until the judgment; ...

^k Greek Tartarus

Evil angels are spoken of here and in Jude 1:6 below.

Jude 1:6 And the angels who did not stay within their own position of authority, but left their proper dwelling, he has kept in eternal chains under gloomy darkness until the judgment of the great day—

✦ God's judgment on the Egyptian gods:

Num 33:4 ... while the Egyptians were burying all their firstborn, whom the LORD had struck down among them. On their gods also the LORD executed judgments.

The "judgments" on the Egyptian gods may in part at least have in view God striking down the firstborn of all the Egyptians. For the writer may have meant that in striking such a telling blow on the Egyptians, the LORD proved the uselessness of their gods. Alternatively he may have simply meant that such a punishment was a judgment on the Egyptians and in a sense on the supposed gods that they trusted in.

1Pet 4:16-17 Yet if anyone suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in that name. ¹⁷For it is time for judgment to begin at the household of God; and if it begins with us, what will be the outcome for those who do not obey the gospel of God?

The judgment of the family of God (v. 17) apparently refers to the persecution that believers were experiencing (v. 16), a form of disciplinary or purifying judgment.

Isa 4:3-4 And he who is left in Zion and remains in Jerusalem will be called holy, everyone who has been recorded for life in Jerusalem, ⁴when the Lord shall have washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion and cleansed the bloodstains of Jerusalem from its midst by a spirit of judgment and by a spirit of burning.^q

^q Or purging

The term "spirit of judgment" (v. 4) alludes to actual judgment (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NIRV), cleansing Jerusalem of wickedness. This judgment would lead to the cleansing of God's people as a whole (cf. Ezek 20:36, 38 ↓).

Ezek 20:36, 38 As I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will enter into judgment with you, declares the Lord God. ... ³⁸I will purge out the rebels from among you, and those who transgress against me. I will bring them out of the land where they sojourn, but they shall not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

Such purging of the rebellious from amongst God's people (v. 38) – by his judgment (v. 36) – was a cleansing of the people.

Mal 3:1-5 Behold, I send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts. ²But who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap. ³He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, and they will bring offerings in righteousness to the LORD.^r ⁴Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasing to the LORD as in the days of old and as in former years. ⁵"Then I will draw near to you for judgment. I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, against the adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those who oppress the hired worker in his wages, the widow and the fatherless, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me, says the LORD of hosts.

^r Or and they will belong to the LORD, bringers of an offering in righteousness

This seems to be speaking of God judging his people (v. 5a), through Jesus Christ on his return (vv. 2-4). By this judgment God will purify his people (vv. 2b-3), dealing with all living among them who do evil (v. 5). Note that in referring to "the Lord", 1 Corinthians 11:28-32 above is probably also speaking of judgment by Jesus Christ.

2Pet 2:9 ... then the Lord knows how to rescue the godly from trials,^s and to keep the unrighteous under punishment until the day of judgment, ...

^s Or temptations

This can be interpreted as either: meaning that God persistently punishes such unrighteous people even prior to judgment day; or as speaking of them being kept for their ultimate punishment – spiritual death – to be pronounced on judgment day.

2Pet 3:7 But by the same word the heavens and earth that now exist are stored up for fire, being kept until the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly.

To save God’s people

Ex 6:6 Say therefore to the people of Israel, ‘I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment.’

1Sam 24:15 May the LORD therefore be judge and give sentence between me and you, and see to it and plead my cause and deliver me from your hand.

Ps 76:8-9 From the heavens you uttered judgment; the earth feared and was still, ⁹when God arose to establish judgment, to save all the humble of the earth. Selah

The “humble of the earth” appears to refer to the “oppressed of the earth” (GNT, NKJV, NRSV), although the “humble” (NASB) or the afflicted amongst God’s people (cf. NIV) may primarily be in view.

Isa 34:8 For the LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of recompense for the cause of Zion.

The final clause encompasses God’s salvation or defense of his people (cf. CEV, GNT; Jer 51:36).

Ezek 34:20-22 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD to them: Behold, I, I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. ²¹Because you push with side and shoulder, and thrust at all the weak with your horns, till you have scattered them abroad, ²²I will rescue^y my flock; they shall no longer be a prey. And I will judge between sheep and sheep.

^y Or save

God would make judgments concerning the powerful and weak among his people (his “flock”). He would thus save his flock from the powerful among them who mistreated the others.

Dan 7:21-22 As I looked, this horn made war with the saints and prevailed over them,²² until the Ancient of Days came, and judgment was given for the saints of the Most High, and the time came when the saints possessed the kingdom.

Ps 36:6 Your righteousness is like the mountains of God; your judgments are like the great deep; man and beast you save, O LORD.

Note that God’s people are not exclusively in view in this verse and Isaiah 51:5 below.

Isa 51:5 My righteousness draws near, my salvation has gone out, and my arms will judge the peoples; the coastlands hope for me, and for my arm they wait.

To vindicate God’s people

1Ki 8:32 ... then hear in heaven and act and judge your servants, condemning the guilty by bringing his conduct on his own head, and vindicating the righteous by rewarding him according to his righteousness.

Jer 51:9-10 We would have healed Babylon, but she was not healed. Forsake her, and let us go each to his own country, for her judgment has reached up to heaven and has been lifted up even to the skies. ¹⁰The LORD has brought about our vindication; come, let us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God.

Deut 32:36 For the LORD will vindicate^z his people and have compassion on his servants, when he sees that their power is gone and there is none remaining, bond or free.

^z Septuagint judge

God’s judgment, in favor of his people, may be in view here in association with his vindication of his people, as suggested by the alternative rendering in the text note (cf. NIV, NKJV, NLT). Note that the latter part of the verse may well have the exile in view.

Ps 9:4 For you have maintained my just cause; you have sat on the throne, giving righteous judgment.

The upholding of one’s “just cause” is indicative of vindication.

Ps 58:10-11 The righteous will rejoice when he sees the vengeance; he will bathe his feet in the blood of the wicked. ¹¹Mankind will say, "Surely there is a reward for the righteous; surely there is a God who judges on earth."

Verse 1 speaks of the vindication before others of God's righteous people, established by God's judgment (v. 10).

Mic 7:8-9 Rejoice not over me, O my enemy; when I fall, I shall rise; when I sit in darkness, the Lord will be a light to me. ⁹I will bear the indignation of the LORD because I have sinned against him, until he pleads my cause and executes judgment for me. He will bring me out to the light; I shall look upon his vindication.

Zion recognizes her suffering from her enemy is for her sin. But she expresses confidence that God will execute judgment for her and against her enemy – freeing and vindicating her.

Mal 3:16-18 Then those who feared the LORD spoke with one another. The LORD paid attention and heard them, and a book of remembrance was written before him of those who feared the LORD and esteemed his name. ¹⁷"They shall be mine, says the LORD of hosts, in the day when I make up my treasured possession, and I will spare them as a man spares his son who serves him. ¹⁸*Then once more you shall see the distinction between the righteous and the wicked, between one who serves God and one who does not serve him.*

By God in his judgment (v. 17) making such a "distinction between the righteous and the wicked" (v. 18), the righteous will be vindicated with their ways proven right. Note that God's final judgment appears to be in view.

^e Some manuscripts the Lord

Ezek 14:7-8 For any one of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn in Israel, who separates himself from me, taking his idols into his heart and putting the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and yet comes to a prophet to consult me through him, I the LORD will answer him myself. ⁸And I will set my face against that man; I will make him a sign and a byword and cut him off from the midst of my people, and you shall know that I am the LORD.

Any such person who forsook God would be made “a sign” in the sense that the judgment inflicted on him would be an example and warning to others.

Num 16:35-40 And fire came out from the LORD and consumed the 250 men offering the incense. ³⁶f Then the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ³⁷“Tell Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest to take up the censers out of the blaze. Then scatter the fire far and wide, for they have become holy. ³⁸As for the censers of these men who have sinned at the cost of their lives, let them be made into hammered plates as a covering for the altar, for they offered them before the LORD, and they became holy. Thus they shall be a sign to the people of Israel.” ³⁹So Eleazar the priest took the bronze censers, which those who were burned had offered, and they were hammered out as a covering for the altar, ⁴⁰to be a reminder to the people of Israel, so that no outsider, who is not of the descendants of Aaron, should draw near to burn incense before the LORD, lest he become like Korah and his company—as the LORD said to him through Moses.

^f Ch 17:1 in Hebrew

Some of the people had challenged the authority of Moses and Aaron – including some Levites who counter to God’s law were trying to assume the priesthood in addition to their established duties (cf. vv. 8-10). As such they had treated the LORD with contempt (cf. v. 30). Consequently they were punished (v. 35; cf. vv. 28-33; Num 26:9-10 ↓). The guilty Levites had been using censers to burn incense (a role of the priests) at the time of the punishment (v. 35). These were to be refashioned and used as a sign (v. 38) and reminder (v. 40) of their sin and judgment.

Num 26:9-10 The sons of Eliab: Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. These are the Dathan and Abiram, chosen from the congregation, who contended against Moses and Aaron in the company of Korah, when they contended against the LORD ¹⁰and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up together with Korah, when that company died, when the fire devoured 250 men, and they became a warning.

Gen 18:25 Far be it from you to do such a thing, to put the righteous to death with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?

Abraham correctly asserted that God would not, in his judgment, wrongly treat the righteous and the wicked alike.

Isa 11:4 ... but with righteousness he shall judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth; and he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall kill the wicked.

In implementing his judgments God will deal with the plight of the poor and needy with righteousness and equity/justice – which often involves punishment of the wicked.

God judges righteously

See also:

- b\) Righteousness and Justice [God's], p. 59

God judges righteously in both the evaluations he makes and in the resulting punishment – or rewards – that he imposes.

Ps 7:11 God is a righteous judge, and a God who feels indignation every day.

Ps 9:4, 7-8 For you have maintained my just cause; you have sat on the throne, giving righteous judgment. ... ⁷But the LORD sits enthroned forever; he has established his throne for justice, ⁸and he judges the world with righteousness; he judges the peoples with uprightness.

Acts 17:31 ... because he has fixed a day on which he will judge the world in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.

Rom 2:5 But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God's righteous judgment will be revealed.

Rom 3:5-6 But if our unrighteousness serves to show the righteousness of God, what shall we say? That God is unrighteous to inflict wrath on us? (I speak in a human way.) ⁶By no means! For then how could God judge the world?

In v. 5, possibly anticipating an interjection to his previous argument (cf. v. 4), Paul puts forward the question that if people's unrighteousness allows God's righteousness to be seen more clearly, is God unjust in executing his judgment on them? Paul emphatically denies that this is case (v. 6).

2Thes 1:5 This is evidence of the righteous judgment of God, that you may be considered worthy of the kingdom of God, for which you are also suffering—

Rev 15:4 Who will not fear, O Lord, and glorify your name? For you alone are holy. All nations will come and worship you, for your righteous acts have been revealed.

God's judgments appear to be primarily in view.

Ps 50:6 The heavens declare his righteousness, for God himself is judge! Selah

This poetically speaks of the heavens proclaiming God's righteousness such as he demonstrates in his judgments.

Isa 10:22 For though your people Israel be as the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will return. Destruction is decreed, overflowing with righteousness.

God's judgments, no matter how devastating, are always righteous (cf. Dan 9:7, 14).

Dan 9:7, 14 To you, O Lord, belongs righteousness, but to us open shame, as at this day, to the men of Judah, to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, those who are near and those who are far away, in all the lands to which you have driven them, because of the treachery that they have committed against you. ... ¹⁴*Therefore the LORD has kept ready the calamity and has brought it upon us, for the LORD our God is righteous in all the works that he has done, and we have not obeyed his voice.*

God does not show favoritism in his judgment

1Pet 1:17 And if you call on him as Father who judges impartially according to each one's deeds, conduct yourselves with fear throughout the time of your exile, ...

Col 3:25 For the wrongdoer will be paid back for the wrong he has done, and there is no partiality.

Rom 2:9-11 There will be tribulation and distress for every human being who does evil, the Jew first and also the Greek, ¹⁰but glory and honor and peace for everyone who does good, the Jew first and also the Greek. ¹¹*For God shows no partiality.*

2Chr 19:7 Now then, let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Be careful what you do, for there is no injustice with the LORD our God, or partiality or taking bribes.

In giving instructions to judges he had appointed, Jehoshaphat implies that with God's judgment "there is no injustice ... or partiality or taking bribes".

Job 34:19 ... who shows no partiality to princes, nor regards the rich more than the poor, for they are all the work of his hands?

God's judgment is in view.

Ps 67:4 Let the nations be glad and sing for joy, for you judge the peoples with equity and guide the nations upon earth. Selah

As "equi" means "equally", the latter part of the verse indicates that God judges all people equally or "fairly" (NCV™, NLT).

Ps 75:2 At the set time that I appoint I will judge with equity.

God judges people with knowledge of all their deeds

See also:

- Prov 24:12 ↓

A key factor as to why God's judgment is just is that he judges people with knowledge of all their deeds – as well as of all their thoughts and motives (as per the following subsection). As such he can make judgments with knowledge of all the relevant information.

1Sam 2:3 Talk no more so very proudly, let not arrogance come from your mouth; for the LORD is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.

God "knows everything" (NCV™, NIV; cf. CEV). In view of this, the last clause probably implies that God can therefore judge all deeds. And so the verse reflects the fact that judges people with knowledge of all their deeds.

Ps 11:4, 6-7 The LORD is in his holy temple; the LORD's throne is in heaven; his eyes see, his eyelids test the children of man. ... ⁶*Let him rain coals on the wicked; fire and sulfur and a scorching wind shall be the portion of their cup.* ⁷*For the LORD is righteous; he loves righteous deeds; the upright shall behold his face.*

God observes and "tests" or assesses all people and all that they do (v. 4) – and judges accordingly (vv. 6-7a).

Jer 16:17-18 For my eyes are on all their ways. They are not hidden from me, nor is their iniquity concealed from my eyes. ¹⁸*But first I will doubly repay their iniquity and their sin, because they have polluted my land with the carcasses of their detestable idols, and have filled my inheritance with their abominations.*

Knowing all that people do, God judges and repays accordingly (cf. Jer 32:19 ↓).

Jer 32:19 ... great in counsel and mighty in deed, whose eyes are open to all the ways of the children of man, rewarding each one according to his ways and according to the fruit of his deeds.

Heb 4:13 And no creature is hidden from his sight, but all are naked and exposed to the eyes of him to whom we must give account.

God takes into account thoughts and motives

See also:

- God knows all people's "hearts" and minds, p. 41

1Sam 16:6-7 When they came, he looked on Eliab and thought, "Surely the LORD's anointed is before him." ⁷*But the LORD said to Samuel, "Do not look on his appearance or on the height of his stature, because I have rejected him. For the LORD sees not as man sees: man looks on the outward appearance, but the LORD looks on the heart."*

Prov 16:2 All the ways of a man are pure in his own eyes, but the LORD weighs the spirit.

People's ability to evaluate their own ways is limited and superficial (cf. Prov 21:2a ↓) – in contrast to God's ability to evaluate or judge people.

Prov 21:2 Every way of a man is right in his own eyes, but the LORD weighs the heart.

Prov 24:11-12 Rescue those who are being taken away to death; hold back those who are stumbling to the slaughter. ¹²*If you say, "Behold, we did not know this," does not he who weighs the heart perceive it? Does not he who keeps watch over your soul know it, and will he not repay man according to his work?*

There is no point in deceitfully claiming to not know about a matter that we should have done something about, as God knows our thoughts and will judge us accordingly.

Jer 11:20 But, O LORD of hosts, who judges righteously, who tests the heart and the mind, let me see your vengeance upon them, for to you have I committed my cause.

In judging righteously God analyses the heart and mind.

Jer 17:10 "I the LORD search the heart and test the mind,ⁱ to give every man according to his ways, according to the fruit of his deeds."

ⁱ Hebrew kidneys

Luke 16:15 And he said to them, "You are those who justify yourselves before men, but God knows your hearts. For what is exalted among men is an abomination in the sight of God."

This suggests that there is no point trying to justify oneself in God's sight, as he already knows our hearts.

1Thes 2:4 ... but just as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, so we speak, not to please man, but to please God who tests our hearts.

✦ God's Messiah will not judge merely by what he sees and hears:

Isa 11:3-4 And his delight shall be in the fear of the LORD. He shall not judge by what his eyes see, or decide disputes by what his ears hear, ⁴*but with righteousness he shall judge the poor, and decide with equity for the meek of the earth;* and he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall kill the wicked.

God's judgments are correct

In saying that God's judgment is right or true – or based on truth – the following verses make clear that, along with being righteous, God's judgment is correct. God does not just attempt to judge rightly; he succeeds.

John 8:16 Yet even if I do judge, my judgment is true, for it is not I alone who judge, but I and the Fatherⁱ who sent me.

ⁱ Some manuscripts he

Jesus Christ states that his decisions are right because God is with him. The implication is that God's judgments are always right and correct.

Rev 16:7 And I heard the altar saying, "Yes, Lord God the Almighty, true and just are your judgments!"

Rev 19:2 ... for his judgments are true and just; for he has judged the great prostitute who corrupted the earth with her immorality, and has avenged on her the blood of his servants."^k

1Pet 1:17 And if you call on him as Father who judges impartially according to each one's deeds, conduct yourselves with fear throughout the time of your exile, ...

Ezek 7:3-4, 27 Now the end is upon you, and I will send my anger upon you; I will judge you according to your ways, and I will punish you for all your abominations. ⁴And my eye will not spare you, nor will I have pity, but I will punish you for your ways, while your abominations are in your midst. Then you will know that I am the LORD.  ... ²⁷The king mourns, the prince is wrapped in despair, and the hands of the people of the land are paralyzed by terror. According to their way I will do to them, and according to their judgments I will judge them, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

The term "their judgments" (v. 27) would appear to refer to judgments expressed in their treatment of others (cf. CEV).

Ezek 18:20, 30 The soul who sins shall die. The son shall not suffer for the iniquity of the father, nor the father suffer for the iniquity of the son. The righteousness of the righteous shall be upon himself, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himself.  ... ³⁰"Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways, declares the Lord GOD. Repent and turn from all your transgressions, lest iniquity be your ruin."^m

^mOr lest iniquity be your stumbling block

Ezek 35:11 ... therefore, as I live, declares the Lord GOD, I will deal with you according to the anger and envy that you showed because of your hatred against them. And I will make myself known among them, when I judge you.

Isa 65:6-7 Behold, it is written before me: "I will not keep silent, but I will repay; I will indeed repay into their bosom both your iniquities and your fathers' iniquities together, says the LORD; because they made offerings on the mountains and insulted me on the hills, I will measure into their bosom payment for their former deeds."ⁿ

ⁿ Or I will first measure their payment into their bosom

Zec 1:6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? So they repented and said, As the LORD of hosts purposed to deal with us for our ways and deeds, so has he dealt with us.

Rev 18:6 Pay her back as she herself has paid back others, and repay her double for her deeds; mix a double portion for her in the cup she mixed.

Ruth 2:11-12 But Boaz answered her, "All that you have done for your mother-in-law since the death of your husband has been fully told to me, and how you left your father and mother and your native land and came to a people that you did not know before. ¹²*The LORD repay you for what you have done, and a full reward be given you by the LORD, the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to take refuge!*"

As well as repaying wickedness, God repays good deeds.

✦ God will surely repay people for their deeds:

Jer 51:56 ... for a destroyer has come upon her, upon Babylon; her warriors are taken; their bows are broken in pieces, for the LORD is a God of recompense; he will surely repay.

God repays people's deeds with fitting recompense

The following passages speak of God's judicial punishment paralleling the crime committed – suggesting that God repays people's deeds with fitting recompense.

2Thes 1:6 ... since indeed God considers it just to repay with affliction those who afflict you, ...

Jer 14:16 And the people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and sword, with none to bury them—they, their wives, their sons, and their daughters. For I will pour out their evil upon them.

Joel 3:6-8 You have sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks in order to remove them far from their own border. ⁷Behold, I will stir them up from the place to which you have sold them, and I will return your payment on your own head. ⁸I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabeans, to a nation far away, for the LORD has spoken.

Hab 2:8 Because you have plundered many nations, all the remnant of the peoples shall plunder you, for the blood of man and violence to the earth, to cities and all who dwell in them.

Hab 2:15-16 Woe to him who makes his neighbors drink—you pour out your wrath and make them drunk, in order to gaze at their nakedness! ¹⁶You will have your fill of shame instead of glory. Drink, yourself, and show your uncircumcision! The cup in the LORD's right hand will come around to you, and utter shame will come upon your glory!

2Pet 2:12-13a But these, like irrational animals, creatures of instinct, born to be caught and destroyed, blaspheming about matters of which they are ignorant, will also be destroyed in their destruction, ¹³suffering wrong as the wage for their wrongdoing.

The terms “wrong” and “wrongdoing” are very general but their similarity arguably reflects that God repays people's deeds with fitting recompense.

Rev 16:4-6 The third angel poured out his bowl into the rivers and the springs of water, and they became blood. ⁵And I heard the angel in charge of the waters^o say, “Just are you, O Holy One, who is and who was, for you brought these judgments. ⁶For they have shed the blood of saints and prophets, and you have given them blood to drink. It is what they deserve!”

^o Greek angel of the waters

✦ A person's end will correspond to their deeds:

2Cor 11:15 So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds.

God gives fair warning of punishment for not obeying him . . .

2Ki 17:22-23 The people of Israel walked in all the sins that Jeroboam did. They did not depart from them, ²³until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he had spoken by all his servants the prophets. So Israel was exiled from their own land to Assyria until this day.

2Chr 36:15-16 The LORD, the God of their fathers, sent persistently to them by his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling place. ¹⁶But they kept mocking the messengers of God, despising his words and scoffing at his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD rose against his people, until there was no remedy.

God had persistently warned his people through his messengers (v. 15) to turn from sin or face devastating consequences – which eventuated (v. 16).

Neh 9:29-30 And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey. ³⁰Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets. Yet they would not give ear. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.

Jer 6:7-8, 17 As a well keeps its water fresh, so she keeps fresh her evil; violence and destruction are heard within her; sickness and wounds are ever before me. ⁸*Be warned, O Jerusalem, lest I turn from you in disgust, lest I make you a desolation, an uninhabited land.*  ... ¹⁷*I set watchmen over you, saying, 'Pay attention to the sound of the trumpet!' But they said, 'We will not pay attention.'*

The “sound of the trumpet” (v. 17) alludes to warning of war and approaching judgment (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV).

Jer 11:7-8 For I solemnly warned your fathers when I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, warning them persistently, even to this day, saying, Obey my voice. ⁸Yet they did not obey or incline their ear, but everyone walked in the stubbornness of his evil heart. Therefore I brought upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did not.

Heb 12:25 See that you do not refuse him who is speaking. For if they did not escape when they refused him who warned them on earth, much less will we escape if we reject him who warns from heaven.

Possibly “him who warned them on earth” refers to Moses (cf. NLT), but a number of commentators are not convinced. What is clear is that the judgment inflicted on those who had ignored this earlier warning/s underlines the need to heed God’s warnings of judicial punishment in the current era, with people now having a greater revelation in the light of the new covenant and so a greater responsibility.

... Thus God allows for repentance and for punishment to be averted

Jer 18:7-8 If at any time I declare concerning a nation or a kingdom, that I will pluck up and break down and destroy it, and if that nation, concerning which I have spoken, turns from its evil, I will relent of the disaster that I intended to do to it.

Note that what is said here regarding nations is also applicable to individuals.

Jer 26:2-6, 13 “Thus says the LORD: Stand in the court of the LORD’s house, and speak to all the cities of Judah that come to worship in the house of the LORD all the words that I command you to speak to them; do not hold back a word. ³It may be they will listen, and every one turn from his evil way, that I may relent of the disaster that I intend to do to them because of their evil deeds. ⁴You shall say to them, ‘Thus says the LORD: If you will not listen to me, to walk in my law that I have set before you, ⁵and to listen to the words of my servants the prophets whom I send to you urgently, though you have not listened, ⁶then I will make this house like Shiloh, and I will make this city a curse for all the nations of the earth.’”  ... ¹³Now therefore mend your ways and your deeds, and obey the voice of the LORD your God, and the LORD will relent of the disaster that he has pronounced against you.

Jer 26:18-19 “Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and said to all the people of Judah: ‘Thus says the LORD of hosts, “Zion shall be plowed as a field; Jerusalem shall become a heap of ruins, and the mountain of the house a wooded height.’ ¹⁹Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him to death? Did he not fear the LORD and entreat the favor of the LORD, and did not the LORD relent of the disaster that he had pronounced against them? But we are about to bring great disaster upon ourselves.”

Jer 36:3 It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the disaster that I intend to do to them, so that every one may turn from his evil way, and that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin.

Ezek 18:32 For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone, declares the Lord GOD; so turn, and live.

Note that the first half of the verse indicates that God takes no joy in inflicting such judgment. He would much rather that people heeded his warnings to repent and so live.

Jonah 3:1-10 Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah the second time, saying, ²“Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and call out against it the message that I tell you.” ³So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was an exceedingly great city,^p three days’ journey in breadth.^q ⁴Jonah began to go into the city, going a day’s journey. And he called out, “Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown!” ⁵*And the people of Nineveh believed God. They called for a fast and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them to the least of them.* ⁶*The word reached^r the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, removed his robe, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.* ⁷*And he issued a proclamation and published through Nineveh, “By the decree of the king and his nobles: Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste anything. Let them not feed or drink water, ⁸but let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and let them call out mightily to God. Let everyone turn from his evil way and from the violence that is in his hands.* ⁹*Who knows? God may turn and relent and turn from his fierce anger, so that we may not perish.”* ¹⁰*When God saw what they did, how they turned from their evil way, God relented of the disaster that he had said he would do to them, and he did not do it.*

Note that the fasting and the use of sackcloth (vv. 5-8) were expressions of sorrow and repentance.

Zeph 2:1-3 Gather together, yes, gather, O shameless nation, ²before the decree takes effect^s—before the day passes away like chaff—before there comes upon you the burning anger of the LORD, before there comes upon you the day of the anger of the LORD. ³*Seek the LORD, all you humble of the land, who do his just commands;^t seek righteousness; seek humility;*

^t Or who carry out his judgment

‡ It is due to his kindness that God gives people opportunity to repent and avoid judgment:

Rom 2:3-4 Do you suppose, O man—you who judge those who practice such things and yet do them yourself—that you will escape the judgment of God? ⁴Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance?

Making judgments on other people only makes people more liable to God's judgment (v. 3). For people to do so suggests that they wrongly think that they will escape God's judgment (v. 3b) and/or that they are showing contempt for God's "kindness, tolerance and patience" (v. 4a). People should instead recognize that they themselves are under God's judgment (particularly if they judge others) and that God in his kindness is – for now – giving them opportunity to repent and avoid judgment.

Note: In effect, it is people's own actions that brings God's punishment on themselves

God makes himself known by his judgment

Ezek 35:10-11 Because you said, ‘These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will take possession of them’—although the LORD was there—¹¹therefore, as I live, declares the Lord GOD, I will deal with you according to the anger and envy that you showed because of your hatred against them. And I will make myself known among them, when I judge you.

By his judgment of Edom, God would make himself known – i.e. make known that he exists and that he is God.

Ps 9:16 The LORD has made himself known; he has executed judgment; the wicked are snared in the work of their own hands. Higgaion.^v Selah

^v Probably a musical or liturgical term

Ezek 38:22-23 With pestilence and bloodshed I will enter into judgment with him, and I will rain upon him and his hordes and the many peoples who are with him torrential rains and hailstones, fire and sulfur. ²³*So I will show my greatness and my holiness and make myself known in the eyes of many nations. Then they will know that I am the LORD.*

Ezek 39:6-7 I will send fire on Magog and on those who dwell securely in the coastlands, and they shall know that I am the LORD. ⁷*“And my holy name I will make known in the midst of my people Israel, and I will not let my holy name be profaned anymore. ✦ God’s judgment causes people to fear him and recognize what he has done:

Ps 64:7-9 But God shoots his arrow at them [the wicked]; they are wounded suddenly. ⁸They are brought to ruin, with their own tongues turned against them; all who see them will wag their heads. ⁹*Then all mankind fears; they tell what God has brought about and ponder what he has done.*

God’s judgment shows his might and his sovereignty . . .

Ex 6:6 Say therefore to the people of Israel, ‘I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment.

God’s might would be evident in his “great acts of judgment” against Egypt.

Isa 33:12-13 *And the peoples will be as if burned to lime, like thorns cut down, that are burned in the fire.*¹³*Hear, you who are far off, what I have done; and you who are near, acknowledge my might.*

Rom 9:22 What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience vessels of wrath prepared for destruction, ...

This speaks of God willingness (cf. NASB) to show his wrath – presumably by executing his judgment – and so “make known his power”. Note that Paul makes the point that rather than quickly executing judgment, God bears with great patience the persons who are objects of his wrath, until the proper time for his judgment.

Rev 18:8 For this reason her plagues will come in a single day, death and mourning and famine, and she will be burned up with fire; for mighty is the Lord God who has judged her.

Ps 59:13 ... consume them in wrath; consume them till they are no more, that they may know that God rules over Jacob to the ends of the earth. Selah

It is debatable as to whether David is asking God to judge enemy nations (cf. v. 8) or Saul and his men who were trying to kill him (cf. the superscription/title of the psalm). Either way, God’s judgment would reveal to all nations that he was sovereign – in particular, as noted here, sovereign over Israel. The following verses likewise indicate or reflect that God’s judgment shows his sovereignty.

Ps 83:17-18 Let them be put to shame and dismayed forever; let them perish in disgrace, ¹⁸*that they may know that you alone, whose name is the LORD, are the Most High over all the earth.*

Psa 96:10 Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns! Yes, the world is established; it shall never be moved; he will judge the peoples with equity."

This points to the fact that God's reign will be seen in his judgment of the peoples.

Ezek 20:33, 36 As I live, declares the Lord GOD, surely with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with wrath poured out I will be king over you.  ... ³⁶*As I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will enter into judgment with you, declares the Lord GOD.*

God would assert his sovereignty over his people – "I will be king over you" (v. 33) – in his judgment.

God's judgment makes known that he is the LORD – the only true God, the supreme being who has power over all people and all creation.

Ex 7:5 The Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring out the people of Israel from among them.

God's plagues against Egypt (cf. Ex 10:2 ) were in a real sense judgments (cf. 6:6). They would vividly illustrate the fact that he is the LORD, both to the Egyptians (as indicated here) and to the Israelites (cf. Ex 10:1-2 ) .

Ex 10:1-2 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants, that I may show these signs of mine among them, ²and that you may tell in the hearing of your son and of your grandson how I have dealt harshly with the Egyptians and what signs I have done among them, that you may know that I am the LORD."

- God's saving of his people reveals God's glory, p. 924

Note that in the subheading, "glory" is used in two different senses. God's awesome judgment reflects his own awesome glory that is such an integral aspect of his being (cf. b) God's Glory, p. 13). God's judgment also brings him glory in the sense that he is glorified through people exalting him because of his judgment.

Ezek 28:21-22 Son of man, set your face toward Sidon, and prophesy against her ²²and say, Thus says the Lord GOD: "Behold, I am against you, O Sidon, and I will manifest my glory in your midst. And they shall know that I am the LORD when I execute judgments in her and manifest my holiness in her; ...

Ezek 39:4, 13, 21 You [Gog] shall fall on the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes and the peoples who are with you. I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured.  ... ¹³All the people of the land will bury them, and it will bring them renown on the day that I show my glory, declares the Lord GOD.  ... ²¹"And I will set my glory among the nations, and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.

Isa 59:18-19 According to their deeds, so will he repay, wrath to his adversaries, repayment to his enemies; to the coastlands he will render repayment. ¹⁹So they shall fear the name of the LORD from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sun; for he will come like a rushing stream,^x which the wind of the LORD drives.

Hab 2:12-14 Woe to him who builds a town with blood and founds a city on iniquity! ¹³Behold, is it not from the LORD of hosts that peoples labor merely for fire, and nations weary themselves for nothing? ¹⁴For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

God determined that all that the nations – primarily the Babylonians – had labored to build would go up in flames (vv. 12-13). His devastating accomplishment of this would result in his glory being known throughout the earth (v. 14). Some commentators assert that this is speaking primarily of the glory of God's presence being manifested (and so known) throughout the earth. This will be emphatically the case once and for all when he crushes his enemies at the end of the age.

Rev 19:1-2 After this I heard what seemed to be the loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, crying out, "Hallelujah! Salvation and glory and power belong to our God, ²for his judgments are true and just; for he has judged the great prostitute who corrupted the earth with her immorality, and has avenged on her the blood of his servants."^y

^y Greek bondservants; also verse 5

God's judgment results in people attributing glory – here along with salvation and power – as belonging to God. As such God's judgment both displays his own glory and brings him glory. The latter – that God's judgment brings him glory – is reflected in the following verses.

Rev 14:7 And he said with a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come, and worship him who made heaven and earth, the sea and the springs of water."

Isa 33:10, 12 "Now I will arise," says the LORD, "now I will lift myself up; now I will be exalted.  ... ¹²And the peoples will be as if burned to lime, like thorns cut down, that are burned in the fire."

God's punishment of the wicked (v. 12), asserting his supreme authority and power, exalts God (v. 10) and so brings him glory.

And the nations shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel.

God would show himself to be the Holy One in Israel by destroying those who attack his people Israel (cf. Ezek 38:16, 22-23

Lev 10:1-3 Now Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, each took his censer and put fire in it and laid incense on it and offered unauthorized^b fire before the LORD, which he had not commanded them. ²And fire came out from before the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD. ³Then Moses said to Aaron, “This is what the LORD has said, ‘Among those who are near me I will be sanctified, and before all the people I will be glorified.’” And Aaron held his peace.

^b Or strange

The clause “I will be sanctified” (v. 3) either means “I will show myself holy” (NIV®, NLT, NRSV) or “I must be respected as holy” (NCV™; cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NASB, NKJV). A similar point can be made to “I will be glorified” (v. 3). The actions of Nadab and Abihu were apparently contrary to previous instructions from God, as in the case of the men of Beth Shemesh, in 1 Samuel 6:19-20 immediately below. God’s holiness demands obedience and honor – emphatically enforced here and in 1 Samuel 6:19-20 below by his judgment.

1Sam 6:19-20 And he struck some of the men of Beth-shemesh, because they looked upon the ark of the LORD. He struck seventy men of them,^c and the people mourned because the LORD had struck the people with a great blow. ²⁰Then the men of Beth-shemesh said, “Who is able to stand before the LORD, this holy God? And to whom shall he go up away from us?”

^c Hebrew of the people seventy men, fifty thousand men

The ark signified the very presence of God (cf. Lev 10:1-3

. Such is God’s holiness that sinful, unworthy people cannot look upon him and live (cf. comment on Ex 3:11, 20 in . . . In some sense, God is said to have been “seen”, p. 7). The men’s action was also irreverent and dishonoring to God. As such, God in his holiness would not tolerate them and their act, bringing the severe consequence (v. 19), evidencing his holiness (v. 20).

God’s judgment displays his anger

The following verses do not specifically state that God’s judgment displays his anger, but they all illustrate – as do numerous others – that God’s anger is manifested in his judgment of the wicked.

Isa 13:9, 13 Behold, the day of the LORD comes, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger, to make the land a desolation and to destroy its sinners from it. ... ¹³Therefore I will make the heavens tremble, and the earth will be shaken out of its place, at the wrath of the LORD of hosts in the day of his fierce anger.

Note that in v. 13 God appears to speak of himself in both the first and third persons.

Isa 63:3 I have trodden the winepress alone, and from the peoples no one was with me; I trod them in my anger and trampled them in my wrath; their lifeblood^d spattered on my garments, and stained all my apparel.

^d Or their juice; also verse 6

Mic 5:15 And in anger and wrath I will execute vengeance on the nations that did not obey.

Zeph 3:7b-8 But all the more they were eager to make all their deeds corrupt. ⁸“Therefore wait for me,” declares the LORD, “for the day when I rise up to seize the prey. For my decision is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out upon them my indignation, all my burning anger; for in the fire of my jealousy all the earth shall be consumed.

The use of “decision” (v. 8) alludes to judgment, in which God’s incredible anger will manifest itself on the whole world.

Rom 2:5, 8 But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God’s righteous judgment will be revealed. ... ⁸but for those who are self-seeking^e and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury.

^e Or contentious

Rev 14:19-20 So the angel swung his sickle across the earth and gathered the grape harvest of the earth and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. ²⁰And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress, as high as a horse's bridle, for 1,600 stadia.^f

^f About 184 miles; a stadion was about 607 feet or 185 meters

Note: God's restraint of his judgment shows his compassion and love

See also:

- . . . Due to his mercy and compassion, God limits his people's punishment, p. 877

2Ki 13:23 But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion on them, and he turned toward them, because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, nor has he cast them from his presence until now.

Because of his graciousness and compassion God was long-suffering toward the Israelites, unwilling to promptly execute the punishments entailed in his covenant with them, allowing them time to turn back to him. (cf. NSB)

Ps 78:38 Yet he, being compassionate, atoned for their iniquity and did not destroy them; he restrained his anger often and did not stir up all his wrath.

Lam 3:31-32 For the Lord will not cast off forever, ³²but, though he cause grief, he will have compassion according to the abundance of his steadfast love; ...

Hos 11:8-9 How can I give you up, O Ephraim? How can I hand you over, O Israel? How can I make you like Admah? How can I treat you like Zeboiim? My heart recoils within me; my compassion grows warm and tender. ⁹I will not execute my burning anger; I will not again destroy Ephraim; for I am God and not a man, the Holy One in your midst, and I will not come in wrath.^g

^g Or into the city

Admah and Zeboiim were cities that were totally destroyed in the judgment executed on Sodom and Gomorrah (cf. Deut 29:23). Because of his compassion God would not carry out judgment to such an extent on his people.

Neh 9:26-31 Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against you and cast your law behind their back and killed your prophets, who had warned them in order to turn them back to you, and they committed great blasphemies.

²⁷Therefore you gave them into the hand of their enemies, who made them suffer. And in the time of their suffering they cried out to you and you heard them from heaven, and according to your great mercies you gave them saviors who saved them from the hand of their enemies. ²⁸But after they had rest they did evil again before you, and you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies, so that they had dominion over them. Yet when they turned and cried to you, you heard from heaven, and many times you delivered them according to your mercies. ²⁹And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey. ³⁰Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets. Yet they would not give ear. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. ³¹Nevertheless, in your great mercies you did not make an end of them or forsake them, for you are a gracious and merciful God.

Allied with God's compassion are his graciousness (cf. 2Ki 13:23 ↑; Jonah 4:2 ↓) and his mercy (cf. Jonah 4:2 ↓). As such these are likewise spoken of as evident in God's restraint of his judgment (v. 31).

Jonah 3:10; 4:1-2 When God saw what they did, how they turned from their evil way, God relented of the disaster that he had said he would do to them, and he did not do it.  ^{4:1}But it displeased Jonah exceedingly,^h and he was angry. ²And he prayed to the LORD and said, "O LORD, is not this what I said when I was yet in my country? That is why I made haste to flee to Tarshish; for I knew that you are a gracious God and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, and relenting from disaster."

^h Hebrew it was exceedingly evil to Jonah

‡ In his kindness, God gives people opportunity to repent (and escape judgment):

Rom 2:3-4 Do you suppose, O man—you who judge those who practice such things and yet do them yourself—that you will escape the judgment of God? ⁴Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance?

II. The Manifestation of God's Judgment

The topic of God's judgment – particularly its manifestation – is often avoided, as it contains much that is anything but "nice". However it contains some of the most awe-inspiring teaching, and even reason for hope for God's people.

Angels

See also:

- a) Prologue: Judgments Preceding Jesus Christ's Return, p. 692

1Chr 21:15a And God sent the angel to Jerusalem to destroy it, but as he was about to destroy it, the LORD saw, and he relented from the calamity. And he said to the angel who was working destruction, "It is enough; now stay your hand."

Ps 78:49 He let loose on them his burning anger, wrath, indignation, and distress, a company of destroying angels.

This is referring to the last of the ten Egyptians plagues – the death of every firstborn male – carried out by angels.

Zec 6:1-8 Again I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, four chariots came out from between two mountains. And the mountains were mountains of bronze. ²The first chariot had red horses, the second black horses, ³the third white horses, and the fourth chariot dappled horses—all of them strong.^a ⁴Then I answered and said to the angel who talked with me,

"What are these, my lord?" ⁵And the angel answered and said to me, "These are going out to the four winds of heaven, after presenting themselves before the LORD of all the earth. ⁶The chariot with the black horses goes toward the north country, the white ones go after them, and the dappled ones go toward the south country." ⁷When the strong horses came out, they were impatient to go and patrol the earth. And he said, "Go, patrol the earth." So they patrolled the earth. ⁸Then he cried to me, "Behold, those who go toward the north country have set my Spirit at rest in the north country."

^a Or and the fourth chariot strong dappled horses

The "chariots" are angelic spirits (v. 5) sent throughout the earth by the angel speaking in the vision (v. 7), to carry out God's judgment. Note that v. 8 suggests that the works of judgment in the north appeased God's wrath (cf. GNT, NASB, NLT).

Matt 13:40-42 Just as the weeds are gathered and burned with fire, so will it be at the close of the age. ⁴¹The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will gather out of his kingdom all causes of sin and all law-breakers, ⁴²and throw them into the fiery furnace. In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

1Cor 10:10 ... nor grumble, as some of them did and were destroyed by the Destroyer.

The "Destroyer" is likely an angel who carried out God's judgment during the exodus.

Acts 12:23 Immediately an angel of the Lord struck him down, because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

Rev 8:5 Then the angel took the censer and filled it with fire from the altar and threw it on the earth, and there were peals of thunder, rumblings,^b flashes of lightning, and an earthquake.

^b Or voices, or sounds

Note that judgments spoken of in Revelation (cf. Rev 14:19-20 ↓; Rev 15:5-16:4 ↓) are generally from apocalyptic visions, much of which is symbolic.

Rev 14:19-20 So the angel swung his sickle across the earth and gathered the grape harvest of the earth and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. ²⁰And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress, as high as a horse's bridle, for 1,600 stadia.^c

^c About 184 miles; a stadion was about 607 feet or 185 meters

For comment, see Rev 14:18-20 – under Horrific consequences . . . , p. 450.

Rev 15:5-8; 16:1-4 After this I looked, and the sanctuary of the tent^d of witness in heaven was opened, ⁶and out of the sanctuary came the seven angels with the seven plagues, clothed in pure, bright linen, with golden sashes around their chests. ⁷And one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God who lives forever and ever, ⁸and the sanctuary was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power, and no one could enter the sanctuary until the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.  ^{16:1}Then I heard a loud voice from the temple telling the seven angels, “Go and pour out on the earth the seven bowls of the wrath of God.” ²So the first angel went and poured out his bowl on the earth, and harmful and painful sores came upon the people who bore the mark of the beast and worshiped its image. ³The second angel poured out his bowl into the sea, and it became like the blood of a corpse, and every living thing died that was in the sea. ⁴The third angel poured out his bowl into the rivers and the springs of water, and they became blood.

^d Or tabernacle

The judgments enacted by the other four of the seven angels are contained in vv. 8-21. Further examples of angels carrying out God's judgments are contained elsewhere in Revelation.

Num 16:30-33 But if the LORD creates something new, and the ground opens its mouth and swallows them up with all that belongs to them, and they go down alive into Sheol, then you shall know that these men have despised the LORD.” ³¹And as soon as he had finished speaking all these words, the ground under them split apart. ³²And the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, with their households and all the people who belonged to Korah and all their goods. ³³So they and all that belonged to them went down alive into Sheol, and the earth closed over them, and they perished from the midst of the assembly.

Deut 28:22-24 The LORD will strike you with wasting disease and with fever, inflammation and fiery heat, and with drought^h and with blight and with mildew. They shall pursue you until you perish. ²³And the heavens over your head shall be bronze, and the earth under you shall be iron. ²⁴The LORD will make the rain of your land powder. From heaven dust shall come down on you until you are destroyed.

Jer 8:17 For behold, I am sending among you serpents, adders that cannot be charmed, and they shall bite you,” declares the LORD.

Ezek 38:22 With pestilence and bloodshed I will enter into judgment with him, and I will rain upon him and his hordes and the many peoples who are with him torrential rains and hailstones, fire and sulfur.

Joel 1:4 What the cutting locust left, the swarming locust has eaten. What the swarming locust left, the hopping locust has eaten, and what the hopping locust left, the destroying locust has eaten.

Luke 21:11 There will be great earthquakes, and in various places famines and pestilences. And there will be terrors and great signs from heaven.

Note that judgment is not necessarily the primary aim of all these events.

✦ The judgment inflicted on Sodom and Gomorrah:

Gen 19:24-25 Then the LORD rained on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from the LORD out of heaven. ²⁵And he overthrew those cities, and all the valley, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and what grew on the ground.

Rulers . . .

For he is the servant of God, an avenger who carries out God's wrath on the wrongdoer.*

1Chr 5:26 So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, the spirit of Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and he took them into exile, namely, the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, and brought them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river Gozan, to this day.

Isa 7:20 In that day the Lord will shave with a razor that is hired beyond the River—with the king of Assyria—the head and the hair of the feet, and it will sweep away the beard also.

The shaving imagery may be metaphorical, alluding to the humiliation of such shaving of the body, while actually referring to the removing or destroying of such things as their crops, livestock and the people themselves (cf. NLT).

Ezek 29:18, 20 Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made his army labor hard against Tyre. Every head was made bald, and every shoulder was rubbed bare, yet neither he nor his army got anything from Tyre to pay for the labor that he had performed against her. ... ²⁰*I have given him the land of Egypt as his payment for which he labored, because they worked for me, declares the Lord GOD.*

Jer 51:11 Sharpen the arrows! Take up the shields! The LORD has stirred up the spirit of the kings of the Medes, because his purpose concerning Babylon is to destroy it, for that is the vengeance of the LORD, the vengeance for his temple.

. . . and nations

Hab 1:6, 12b [God:] For behold, I am raising up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, who march through the breadth of the earth, to seize dwellings not their own. ... ¹² ... [Habakkuk:] O LORD, you have ordained them as a judgment, and you, O Rock, have established them for reproof.

2Ki 24:2 And the LORD sent against him bands of the Chaldeans and bands of the Syrians and bands of the Moabites and bands of the Ammonites, and sent them against Judah to destroy it, according to the word of the LORD that he spoke by his servants the prophets.

2Chr 24:24 Though the army of the Syrians had come with few men, the LORD delivered into their hand a very great army, because Judah¹ had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. Thus they executed judgment on Joash.

Isa 9:11-12 But the LORD raises the adversaries of Rezin against him, and stirs up his enemies. ¹²The Syrians on the east and the Philistines on the west devour Israel with open mouth. For all this his anger has not turned away, and his hand is stretched out still.

Note that Rezin (v. 11) was king of Aram, at this point allied with the northern kingdom of Israel.

Jer 5:15-17 Behold, I am bringing against you a nation from afar, O house of Israel, declares the LORD. It is an enduring nation; it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language you do not know, nor can you understand what they say. ¹⁶Their quiver is like an open tomb; they are all mighty warriors. ¹⁷They shall eat up your harvest and your food; they shall eat up your sons and your daughters; they shall eat up your flocks and your herds; they shall eat up your vines and your fig trees; your fortified cities in which you trust they shall beat down with the sword.

Jer 25:9 ... behold, I will send for all the tribes of the north, declares the LORD, and for Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, my servant, and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants, and against all these surrounding nations. I will devote them to destruction, and make them a horror, a hissing, and an everlasting desolation.

Jer 50:9 For behold, I am stirring up and bringing against Babylon a gathering of great nations, from the north country. And they shall array themselves against her. From there she shall be taken. Their arrows are like a skilled warrior who does not return empty-handed.

Jer 51:27-29 Set up a standard on the earth; blow the trumpet among the nations; prepare the nations for war against her; summon against her the kingdoms, Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz; appoint a marshal against her; bring up horses like bristling locusts. ²⁸Prepare the nations for war against her, the kings of the Medes, with their governors and deputies, and every land under their dominion. ²⁹The land trembles and writhes in pain, for the LORD's purposes against Babylon stand, to make the land of Babylon a desolation, without inhabitant.

God's own people

Josh 7:25 And Joshua said, "Why did you bring trouble on us? The LORD brings trouble on you today." And all Israel stoned him with stones. They burned them with fire and stoned them with stones.

Josh 11:16-20 So Joshua took all that land, the hill country and all the Negeb and all the land of Goshen and the lowland ¹⁷from Mount Halak, which rises toward Seir, as far as Baalgad in the Valley of Lebanon below Mount Hermon. And he captured all their kings and struck them and put them to death. ¹⁸Joshua made war a long time with all those kings. ¹⁹There was not a city that made peace with the people of Israel except the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon. They took them all in battle. ²⁰For it was the LORD's doing to harden their hearts that they should come against Israel in battle, in order that they should be devoted to destruction and should receive no mercy but be destroyed, just as the LORD commanded Moses.

God used the Israelites to bring his judgment on the inhabitants of Canaan once their sin was "complete" (cf. Gen 15:16).

Ps 149:6-9 Let the high praises of God be in their throats and two-edged swords in their hands, ⁷to execute vengeance on the nations and punishments on the peoples, ⁸to bind their kings with chains and their nobles with fetters of iron, ⁹to execute on them the judgment written! This is honor for all his godly ones. Praise the LORD!

This presumably has in view judgment on the previous nations of Canaan or later enemies of Israel.

Ezek 25:14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall do in Edom according to my anger and according to my wrath, and they shall know my vengeance, declares the Lord GOD.

2Ki 5:26-27 But he [the prophet Elisha] said to him, "Did not my heart go when the man turned from his chariot to meet you? Was it a time to accept money and garments, olive orchards and vineyards, sheep and oxen, male servants and female servants? ²⁷Therefore the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your descendants forever." So he went out from his presence a leper, like snow.

This and the following two references from Acts are examples of God's people pronouncing God's immediate judgment. As such they are in a sense at least the means of God's judicial retribution – or part thereof.

Acts 5:9-10 But Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord? Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out."¹⁰Immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. When the young men came in they found her dead, and they carried her out and buried her beside her husband.

Acts 13:8-11 But Elymas the magician (for that is the meaning of his name) opposed them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith. ⁹But Saul, who was also called Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him ¹⁰and said, "You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord? ¹¹And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a time." Immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and he went about seeking people to lead him by the hand.

b) Characteristics of God's Judicial Retribution

Note that not all instances of God's judicial retribution display all of the following characteristics – certainly not to the extent of which they are spoken of here. Much of the judgment spoken of in this section is conclusive in its purpose, bringing the finality of death – as opposed to, for example, God's disciplinary judgment.

Awesome power . . .

Ex 6:6 Say therefore to the people of Israel, 'I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment.

Such "great acts of judgment" involve "mighty power" (CEV, NLT).

Isa 5:26-30 He will raise a signal for nations far away, and whistle for them from the ends of the earth; and behold, quickly, speedily they come! ²⁷*None is weary, none stumbles, none slumbers or sleeps, not a waistband is loose, not a sandal strap broken; ²⁸their arrows are sharp, all their bows bent, their horses' hoofs seem like flint, and their wheels like the whirlwind. ²⁹Their roaring is like a lion, like young lions they roar; they growl and seize their prey; they carry it off, and none can rescue. ³⁰They will growl over it on that day, like the growling of the sea. And if one looks to the land, behold, darkness and distress; and the light is darkened by its clouds.*

As with some of the following passages, this speaks of God using powerful foreign armies to execute his judgment.

Isa 10:17-18, 33 The light of Israel will become a fire, and his Holy One a flame, and it will burn and devour his [the Assyrian king's] thorns and briers in one day. ¹⁸*The glory of his forest and of his fruitful land the LORD will destroy, both soul and body, and it will be as when a sick man wastes away.*  ... ³³*Behold, the Lord GOD of hosts will lop the boughs with terrifying power; the great in height will be hewn down, and the lofty will be brought low.*

The thorns, briers (v. 17), forests, fields (v. 18), boughs (v. 33) refer primarily to the Assyrian troops – although quite possibly the "glory of his forest and of his fruitful land" allude to the splendor of the Assyrian empire itself. Such is the "terrifying power" (v. 33) of God's judicial retribution, God would completely destroy the Assyrian forces in a single day (v. 17).

Isa 13:4-5 The sound of a tumult is on the mountains as of a great multitude! The sound of an uproar of kingdoms, of nations gathering together! The LORD of hosts is mustering a host for battle. ⁵They come from a distant land, from the end of the heavens, the LORD and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land.

ⁱ Or earth; also verse 9

Isa 27:1 In that day the LORD with his hard and great and strong sword will punish Leviathan the fleeing serpent, Leviathan the twisting serpent, and he will slay the dragon that is in the sea.

Leviathan is taken from Canaanite mythology. There are differing ideas as to what it represents here. Possibilities include wicked nations, evil powers and even Satan.

Isa 29:5-7 But the multitude of your foreign foes shall be like small dust, and the multitude of the ruthless like passing chaff. And in an instant, suddenly, you will be visited by the LORD of hosts with thunder and with earthquake and great noise, with whirlwind and tempest, and the flame of a devouring fire. ⁷And the multitude of all the nations that fight against Ariel, all that fight against her and her stronghold and distress her, shall be like a dream, a vision of the night.

"Ariel" (v. 7) refers to Jerusalem. The LORD would come to her aid with awesome power and effect.

Jer 25:30-32 You, therefore, shall prophesy against them all these words, and say to them: "The LORD will roar from on high, and from his holy habitation utter his voice; he will roar mightily against his fold, and shout, like those who tread grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth. ³¹*The clamor* will resound to the ends of the earth, for the LORD has an indictment against the nations; he is entering into judgment with all flesh, and the wicked he will put to the sword, declares the LORD.' ³²"Thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, disaster is going forth from nation to nation, and a great tempest is stirring from the farthest parts of the earth! [B]

The "great tempest" (v. 32) denotes a very powerful force – the Babylonians – and/or its destructive effects.

Ezek 14:21 For thus says the Lord GOD: How much more when I send upon Jerusalem my four disastrous acts of judgment, sword, famine, wild beasts, and pestilence, to cut off from it man and beast! [B]

The awesome power of these four "severe judgments" (NASB, NKJV) would be felt by Jerusalem, with them causing devastating consequences.

Joel 2:1-2 Blow a trumpet in Zion; sound an alarm on my holy mountain! Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble, for the day of the LORD is coming; it is near, ²a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and thick darkness! Like blackness there is spread upon the mountains a great and powerful people; their like has never been before, nor will be again after them through the years of all generations. [B]

This speaks of an immense locust plague that God used for inflicting his judgment, utterly devastating the land.

Rev 18:8 For this reason her plagues will come in a single day, death and mourning and famine, and she will be burned up with fire; for mighty is the Lord God who has judged her. [B]

Num 24:21-23 And he looked on the Kenite, and took up his discourse and said, "Enduring is your dwelling place, and your nest is set in the rock. ²²*Nevertheless, Kain shall be burned when Asshur takes you away captive.*" ²³*And he took up his discourse and said, "Alas, who shall live when God does this?"* [B]

The rhetorical question (v. 23) implies that no one can resist or endure God's judgment.

Joel 2:11 The LORD utters his voice before his army, for his camp is exceedingly great; he who executes his word is powerful. For the day of the LORD is great and very awesome; who can endure it? [B]

Mal 3:2 But who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap. [B]

This seems to be speaking of God judging his people through Jesus Christ on his return, in which he will purify them and take action against the evil among them (cf. vv. 2b-5). God and Jesus Christ are also both in view in Revelation 6:17 immediately below.

Rev 6:16b-17 "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who is seated on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb, ¹⁷*for the great day of their wrath has come, and who can stand?"* [B]

Isa 47:11 But evil shall come upon you, which you will not know how to charm away; disaster shall fall upon you, for which you will not be able to atone; and ruin shall come upon you suddenly, of which you know nothing. [B]

Jer 51:53, 58 Though Babylon should mount up to heaven, and though she should fortify her strong height, yet destroyers would come from me against her, declares the LORD. [B] ... ⁵⁸"Thus says the LORD of hosts: The broad wall of Babylon shall be leveled to the ground, and her high gates shall be burned with fire. The peoples labor for nothing, and the nations weary themselves only for fire." [B]

The last part of v. 58 refers to peoples of the nations used as slaves by Babylon in building its defenses. All their efforts will be for nothing in the face of God's overwhelming judgment.

Amos 2:13-15 Behold, I will press you down in your place, as a cart full of sheaves presses down. ¹⁴*Flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not retain his strength, nor shall the mighty save his life;* ¹⁵*he who handles the bow shall not stand, and he who is swift of foot shall not save himself, nor shall he who rides the horse save his life;* ... [B]

Amos 5:6 Seek the LORD and live, lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph, and it devour, with none to quench it for Bethel, ... [B]

Mic 2:3 Therefore thus says the LORD: behold, against this family I am devising disaster,^k from which you cannot remove your necks, and you shall not walk haughtily, for it will be a time of disaster. [B]

^k The same Hebrew word can mean evil or disaster, depending on the context

✦ The effects of God's judgment on his people would be incurable:

Jer 30:12-13, 15 For thus says the LORD: Your hurt is incurable, and your wound is grievous. ¹³*There is none to uphold your cause, no medicine for your wound, no healing for you.* ☞ ... ¹⁵*Why do you cry out over your hurt? Your pain is incurable.* Because your guilt is great, because your sins are flagrant, I have done these things to you. ☞

Jeremiah figuratively illustrates that no one or nothing (apart from God himself) could cure the people's plight resulting from God's judgment. He makes the same point with similar imagery in 8:22 and 14:19.

The two scenes in v. 19 illustrate how inescapable judgment will be on "the day of the LORD" (vv. 18, 20), showing that while fleeing one danger people would be beset by another. Isaiah 24:18a has a similar illustration: "He who flees at the sound of the terror shall fall into the pit, and he who climbs out of the pit shall be caught in the snare."

‡ All people for whom God's judgment is intended will succumb to it:

Ezek 6:12 He who is far off shall die of pestilence, and he who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who is left and is preserved shall die of famine. Thus I will spend my fury upon them. 📖

Behold, the LORD is riding on a swift cloud and comes to Egypt; and the idols of Egypt will tremble at his presence, and the heart of the Egyptians will melt within them. 📖 ... ¹⁶*In that day the Egyptians will be like women, and tremble with fear before the hand that the LORD of hosts shakes over them.* ¹⁷*And the land of Judah will become a terror to the Egyptians. Everyone to whom it is mentioned will fear because of the purpose that the LORD of hosts has purposed against them.* 📖

Note that the last clause refers to what God is planning against Egypt.

Isa 21:2-4 A stern vision is told to me; the traitor betrays, and the destroyer destroys. Go up, O Elam; lay siege, O Media; all the sighing she has caused I bring to an end. ³*Therefore my loins are filled with anguish; pangs have seized me, like the pangs of a woman in labor; I am bowed down so that I cannot hear; I am dismayed so that I cannot see.* ⁴*My heart staggers; horror has appalled me; the twilight I longed for has been turned for me into trembling.* 📖

In vv. 3-4, either: Babylon is portrayed as speaking; or Isaiah is speaking – staggering and trembling because the vision of Babylon's downfall (v. 2) is so dire and terrifying. Note that v. 3a probably portrays anguish more than terror, and as such is more pertinent to the following subsection.

Isa 28:18-19 Then your covenant with death will be annulled, and your agreement with Sheol will not stand; when the overwhelming scourge passes through, you will be beaten down by it. ¹⁹As often as it passes through it will take you; for morning by morning it will pass through, by day and by night; and it will be sheer terror to understand the message. 📖

Jer 4:9 "In that day, declares the LORD, courage shall fail both king and officials. The priests shall be appalled and the prophets astounded." 📖

Such would be God's judgment that the priests and the prophets would be "shocked and terrified" (CEV).

Ezek 22:14 Can your courage endure, or can your hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with you? I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it. 📖

This implies that no one's courage would endure nor would anyone remain strong in the face of God's awesome and terrifying judgment.

Ezek 32:10 I will make many peoples appalled at you, and the hair of their kings shall bristle with horror because of you, when I brandish my sword before them. They shall tremble every moment, every one for his own life, on the day of your downfall. 📖

God's judgment on Egypt would be so staggering that the surrounding nations would be terrified by it.

Jer 46:5b They are dismayed and have turned backward. Their warriors are beaten down and have fled in haste; they look not back— terror on every side! declares the LORD. 📖

Ezek 21:7 And when they say to you, "Why do you groan?" you shall say, "Because of the news that it is coming. Every heart will melt, and all hands will be feeble; every spirit will faint, and all knees will be weak as water. Behold, it is coming, and it will be fulfilled," declares the Lord GOD. 📖

Nah 2:10 Desolate! Desolation and ruin! Hearts melt and knees tremble; anguish is in all loins; all faces grow pale! 📖

Heb 10:26-27, 30-31 For if we go on sinning deliberately after receiving the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins, ²⁷*but a fearful expectation of* judgment, and a fury of fire that will consume the adversaries.  ... ³⁰For we know him who said, "Vengeance is mine; I will repay." And again, "The Lord will judge his people." ³¹It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

^a Hebrew weeping goes up with weeping

^r Septuagint (compare Isaiah 15:5) heard the cry

Luhith and Horonaim were likely towns or places in Moab. The references to "the ascent of Luhith" and "the descent of Horonaim" appear to speak of God's retribution encompassing all of Moab, i.e. the heights and depths of Moab.

Jer 49:23-24 Concerning Damascus: "Hamath and Arpad are confounded, for they have heard bad news; they melt in fear, they are troubled like the sea that cannot be quiet. ²⁴Damascus has become feeble, she turned to flee, and panic seized her; anguish and sorrows have taken hold of her, as of a woman in labor.

Rev 9:5-6 They were allowed to torment them for five months, but not to kill them, and their torment was like the torment of a scorpion when it stings someone. ⁶And in those days people will seek death and will not find it. They will long to die, but death will flee from them.

Rev 14:18-20 And another angel came out from the altar, the angel who has authority over the fire, and he called with a loud voice to the one who had the sharp sickle, "Put in your sickle and gather the clusters from the vine of the earth, for its grapes are ripe." ¹⁹So the angel swung his sickle across the earth and gathered the grape harvest of the earth and threw it into the great winepress of the wrath of God. ²⁰And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress, as high as a horse's bridle, for 1,600 stadia.^b

^b About 184 miles; a stadion was about 607 feet or 185 meters

This is probably speaking of the final judgment, although some suggest that it may have in view the judgments of the end times. The trampling of grapes in a winepress was an OT symbol of God's wrath and judgment on people (cf. Isa 63:3). The amount of shed blood is likely hyperbole, symbolizing incredible slaughter.

Gen 7:20-23 The waters prevailed above the mountains, covering them fifteen cubits^c deep. ²¹And all flesh died that moved on the earth, birds, livestock, beasts, all swarming creatures that swarm on the earth, and all mankind. ²²Everything on the dry land in whose nostrils was the breath of life died. ²³He blotted out every living thing that was on the face of the ground, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens. They were blotted out from the earth. Only Noah was left, and those who were with him in the ark.

Deut 32:22 For a fire is kindled by my anger, and it burns to the depths of Sheol, devours the earth and its increase, and sets on fire the foundations of the mountains.

This portrays judgment on Israel for breaking the covenant. It illustrates that there are no limitations to God's wrath and the effects that it can have.

Isa 30:13-14 ... therefore this iniquity shall be to you like a breach in a high wall, bulging out, and about to collapse, whose breaking comes suddenly, in an instant; ¹⁴and its breaking is like that of a potter's vessel that is smashed so ruthlessly that among its fragments not a shard is found with which to take fire from the hearth, or to dip up water out of the cistern.

This most likely means that the figurative wall of their sin would collapse, bringing their destruction – destruction so complete that nothing of value will be left (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT).

Jer 4:20, 23-26 Crash follows hard on crash; the whole land is laid waste. Suddenly my tents are laid waste, my curtains in a moment.  ... ²³I looked on the earth, and behold, it was without form and void; and to the heavens, and they had no light. ²⁴I looked on the mountains, and behold, they were quaking, and all the hills moved to and fro. ²⁵I looked, and behold, there was no man, and all the birds of the air had fled. ²⁶I looked, and behold, the fruitful land was a desert, and all its cities were laid in ruins before the LORD, before his fierce anger.

This portrays the complete devastation of Judah.

Jer 12:11-12, 17 They have made it a desolation; desolate, it mourns to me. The whole land is made desolate, but no man lays it to heart. ¹²Upon all the bare heights in the desert destroyers have come, for the sword of the LORD devours from one end of the land to the other; no flesh has peace.  ... ¹⁷But if any nation will not listen, then I will utterly pluck it up and destroy it, declares the LORD.

Jer 19:10-11 Then you shall break the flask in the sight of the men who go with you, ¹¹and shall say to them, "Thus says the LORD of hosts: So will I break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel, so that it can never be mended. Men shall bury in Topheth because there will be no place else to bury.

Jer 50:26 Come against her from every quarter; open her granaries; pile her up like heaps of grain, and devote her to destruction; let nothing be left of her.

Jer 51:26, 37 No stone shall be taken from you for a corner and no stone for a foundation, but you shall be a perpetual waste, declares the LORD.  ... ³⁷and Babylon shall become a heap of ruins, the haunt of jackals, a horror and a hissing, without inhabitant.

Ezek 7:11b None of them shall remain, nor their abundance, nor their wealth; neither shall there be preeminence among them.^d 📖

^d The meaning of this last Hebrew sentence is uncertain

Ezek 28:18-19 By the multitude of your iniquities, in the unrighteousness of your trade you profaned your sanctuaries; so I brought fire out from your midst; it consumed you, and I turned you to ashes on the earth in the sight of all who saw you. ¹⁹*All who know you among the peoples are appalled at you; you have come to a dreadful end and shall be no more forever.* 📖

This speaks of the king of Tyre. Similarly 26:21 says of Tyre itself: "I will bring you to a horrible end and you will be no more. You will be sought, but you will never again be found, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Ezek 32:15 When I make the land of Egypt desolate, and when the land is desolate of all that fills it, when I strike down all who dwell in it, then they will know that I am the LORD. 📖

Obad 1:5-6, 9, 18 If thieves came to you, if plunderers came by night— how you have been destroyed!— would they not steal only enough for themselves? If grape gatherers came to you, would they not leave gleanings? ⁶How Esau has been pillaged, his treasures sought out! 📖 ... ⁹And your mighty men shall be dismayed, O Teman, so that every man from Mount Esau will be cut off by slaughter. 📖 ... ¹⁸The house of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau stubble; they shall burn them and consume them, and there shall be no survivor for the house of Esau, for the LORD has spoken. 📖

Unlike the aftermath of robbery or grape picking (v. 5), there would be nothing left of value in what was Edom (v. 6).

Zeph 3:6 I have cut off nations; their battlements are in ruins; I have laid waste their streets so that no one walks in them; their cities have been made desolate, without a man, without an inhabitant. 📖

The implication of the rhetorical questions in vv 17-18 is that such things do not happen very often at all.

Ps 10:5-6 His ways prosper at all times; your judgments are on high, out of his sight; as for all his foes, he puffs at them. ⁶He says in his heart, "I shall not be moved; throughout all generations I shall not meet adversity." 📖

Ps 73:3-5, 12 For I was envious of the arrogant when I saw the prosperity of the wicked. ⁴For they have no pangs until death; their bodies are fat and sleek. ⁵They are not in trouble as others are; they are not stricken like the rest of mankind. 📖 ... ¹²Behold, these are the wicked; always at ease, they increase in riches. 📖

Ecc 7:15 In my vain life I have seen everything. There is a righteous man who perishes in his righteousness, and there is a wicked man who prolongs his life in his evildoing. 📖

Here and below in 8:14 the writer is not necessarily saying that this is generally the case, but the implication is that the fact that it happens at all seems quite unjust.

Ecc 8:14 There is a vanity that takes place on earth, that there are righteous people to whom it happens according to the deeds of the wicked, and there are wicked people to whom it happens according to the deeds of the righteous. I said that this also is vanity. 📖

Mal 3:15 And now we call the arrogant blessed. Evildoers not only prosper but they put God to the test and they escape. 📖

God shows goodness to the wicked – even their prosperity ultimately comes from him

Isa 26:10 If favor is shown to the wicked, he does not learn righteousness; in the land of uprightness he deals corruptly and does not see the majesty of the LORD. 📖

The verse suggests that at times such "favor" is shown to the wicked. This "favor" more than likely refers to God's merciful continuing provision, providing such things as rain for crops (cf. Matt 5:44-45 ↓), vital to the prosperity of the wicked.

Matt 5:44-45 But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, ⁴⁵so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. 📖

Luke 6:35 But love your enemies, and do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return, and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he is kind to the ungrateful and the evil. 📖

Job 12:6-9 The tents of robbers are at peace, and those who provoke God are secure, who bring their god in their hand.^f ⁷"But ask the beasts, and they will teach you; the birds of the heavens, and they will tell you; ⁸or the bushes of the earth,^g and they will teach you; and the fish of the sea will declare to you. ⁹Who among all these does not know that the hand of the LORD has done this? 📖

^f The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain

^g Or speak to the earth

The meaning of the Hebrew for the last clause of v. 6 is unclear. It may be speaking of God's provision for them (cf. AMP, NASB, NIV text note, NKJV, NRSV text note), pointing to the concept that the prosperity of the wicked comes from God. Verse 9 affirms this concept, referring to people's circumstances being given them by God's "hand" – including that of the wicked who prosper, and righteous Job's miserable lot.

Job 22:18 Yet he filled their houses with good things— but the counsel of the wicked is far from me. 📖

Job 24:21-23 They wrong the barren, childless woman, and do no good to the widow. ²²*Yet God^h prolongs the life of the mighty by his power; they rise up when they despair of life. ²³He gives them security, and they are supported, and his eyes are upon their ways.* 📖

Ps 17:13b-14 Deliver my soul from the wicked by your sword, ¹⁴from men by your hand, O LORD, from *men of the world whose portion is in this life.*ⁱ You fill their womb with treasure;^j they are satisfied with children, and they leave their abundance to their infants. 📖

ⁱ Or from men whose portion in life is of the world

^j Or As for your treasured ones, you fill their womb

Jer 12:2 You plant them, and they take root; they grow and produce fruit; you are near in their mouth and far from their heart. 📖

‡ God is good to everyone:

Ps 145:9 The LORD is good to all, and his mercy is over all that he has made. 📖

Matthew 5:44-45 and Luke 6:35b above also speak of this.

Questioning of God's apparent lack of judgment regarding the wicked

Jer 12:1 Righteous are you, O LORD, when I complain to you; yet I would plead my case before you. Why does the way of the wicked prosper? Why do all who are treacherous thrive?

Hab 1:3-4, 13 Why do you make me see iniquity, and why do you idly look at wrong? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. ⁴So the law is paralyzed, and justice never goes forth. For the wicked surround the righteous; so justice goes forth perverted.  ... ¹³You who are of purer eyes than to see evil and cannot look at wrong, why do you idly look at traitors and remain silent when the wicked swallows up the man more righteous than he?

Verses 3-4 are part of Habakkuk's first complaint about God allowing the wicked and injustice to prevail in Judah. After hearing God's reply that he has appointed the ruthless Babylonians to execute judgment on Judah (cf. vv. 5-11), Habakkuk then questions why these people who are even more wicked should be allowed to swallow up the people of Judah (v. 13).

Job 24:1, 12 Why are not times of judgment kept by the Almighty, and why do those who know him never see his days?  ... ¹²From out of the city the dying groan, and the soul of the wounded cries for help; yet God charges no one with wrong.

In v. 1, "his days" refers to days of God's judgment.

Ps 10:1-2 Why, O LORD, do you stand far away? Why do you hide yourself in times of trouble? ²In arrogance the wicked hotly pursue the poor; let them be caught in the schemes that they have devised.

Ps 94:3 O LORD, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked exult?

Mal 2:17 You have wearied the LORD with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delights in them." Or by asking, "Where is the God of justice?"

This verse serves as a warning that we should be wary of questioning God – or at least of how we question him.

✦ A somewhat frustrated wish that God would destroy the wicked:

Ps 139:19a Oh that you would slay the wicked, O God!

However, the situation of the wicked is precarious

Job 8:14-15 His confidence is severed, and his trust is a spider's web.^k ¹⁵*He leans against his house, but it does not stand; he lays hold of it, but it does not endure.*

^k Hebrew house

This speaks of the fragility of both the prosperity and security of the wicked.

Job 24:24 They are exalted a little while, and then are gone; they are brought low and gathered up like all others; they are cut off like the heads of grain.

Job 20:4-5, 22 Do you not know this from of old, since man was placed on earth, ⁵that the exulting of the wicked is short, and the joy of the godless but for a moment?  ... ²²*In the fullness of his sufficiency he will be in distress; the hand of everyone in misery will come against him.*

Verse 5 speaks of the relative brevity of the happiness of the wicked.

Ps 37:35-36 *I have seen a wicked, ruthless man, spreading himself like a green laurel tree.*¹ ³⁶*But he passed away,*^m and behold, he was no more; though I sought him, he could not be found.

¹ The identity of this tree is uncertain

^m Or But one passed by

Ps 92:6-7 The stupid man cannot know; the fool cannot understand this: ⁷that though the wicked sprout like grass and all evildoers flourish, they are doomed to destruction forever; ...

The psalmist probably is referring to the wicked being destroyed in their life on earth, with their destruction being forever. Obviously his words are very applicable to the fate that awaits the wicked on judgment day.

Isa 26:11 O LORD, your hand is lifted up, but they do not see it. Let them see your zeal for your people, and be ashamed. Let the fire for your adversaries consume them.

Although the wicked are not aware of it, God's judgment looms.

ⁿ Or to the thousandth generation

The latter part of v. 7 appears to speak of the ongoing effects of severe punishment still being felt by future generations. Some commentators think that it alludes to the sin itself filtering through to later generations, and so being accompanied by appropriate punishment – although this would not apply to repentant children.

^a Septuagint and I will repay

That which God has "laid up in store" and sealed in his "treasuries" (v. 34) refers either to: the injustices of Israel's enemies against her (cf. CEV) – implying he will not forget them; or God's sure plans to take revenge on these enemies, as referred to in v. 35.

Ps 37:12-13 The wicked plots against the righteous and gnashes his teeth at him, ¹³*but the Lord laughs at the wicked, for he sees that his day is coming.* ☞

Note that God's laughter and contempt for the wicked is also mentioned elsewhere in Scripture (cf. Job 12:21; Ps 2:4; 59:8; Prov 1:26; Nah 3:6).

Ps 75:2 At the set time that I appoint I will judge with equity. ☞

God sets an appointed time to exact judgment on the wicked (cf. vv. 4-5).

Prov 16:4 The LORD has made everything for its purpose, even the wicked for the day of trouble. ☞

The "day of trouble" is that of God's punishment of the wicked.

Ecc 3:17 I said in my heart, God will judge the righteous and the wicked, for there is a time for every matter and for every work. ☞

Just as God has set a time for every activity and deed, so he has set a time in which he will bring to judgment the wicked (and the righteous).

The reference is to Babylon.

Jer 51:6, 13, 33 "Flee from the midst of Babylon; let every one save his life! Be not cut off in her punishment, for this is the time of the LORD's vengeance, the repayment he is rendering her." ☞ ... ¹³O you who dwell by many waters, rich in treasures, your end has come; the thread of your life is cut. ☞ ... ³³*For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing floor at the time when* it is trodden; yet a little while and the time of her harvest will come."

Verse 33 speaks of the approaching time of Babylon's judgment, in which she will be thrashed, the product of her deeds.

Ezek 21:28-29 And you, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites and concerning their reproach; say, A sword, a sword is drawn for the slaughter. It is polished to consume and to flash like lightning—²⁹while they see for you false visions, while they divine lies for you—to place you on the necks of the profane wicked, whose day has come, the time of their final punishment.

Ezek 24:14 I am the LORD. I have spoken; it shall come to pass; I will do it. I will not go back; I will not spare; I will not relent; according to your ways and your deeds you will be judged, declares the Lord GOD.

Mic 7:4 The best of them is like a brier, the most upright of them a thorn hedge. The day of your watchmen, of your punishment, has come; now their confusion is at hand.

The “watchmen” are the prophets, who had warned of a coming day of God's judgment – a day now at hand.

Matt 13:24-30 He put another parable before them, saying, “The kingdom of heaven may be compared to a man who sowed good seed in his field, ²⁵but while his men were sleeping, his enemy came and sowed weeds^s among the wheat and went away. ²⁶So when the plants came up and bore grain, then the weeds appeared also. ²⁷And the servants^t of the master of the house came and said to him, ‘Master, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have weeds?’ ²⁸He said to them, ‘An enemy has done this.’ So the servants said to him, “Then do you want us to go and gather them?” ²⁹But he said, ‘No, lest in gathering the weeds you root up the wheat along with them. ³⁰Let both grow together until the harvest, and at harvest time I will tell the reapers, Gather the weeds first and bind them in bundles to be burned, but gather the wheat into my barn.’”

^s Probably darnel, a wheat-like weed

^t Greek bondservants; also verse 28

The “weeds” referred to were quite possibly darnel (cf. text note), which in the early stages of growth looks like wheat, but can easily be distinguished later. God delays final consummate judgment of “the sons of the evil one” (cf. v. 38) until the time of the end of the age. Verse 29 implies that this is in part at least to avoid undue harm to his own, who are in the midst of these “weeds”.

Acts 7:6-7 And God spoke to this effect—that his offspring would be sojourners in a land belonging to others, who would enslave them and afflict them four hundred years. ⁷“But I will judge the nation that they serve,” said God, “and after that they shall come out and worship me in this place.”

The Israelites suffered at the hands of the Egyptians for four hundred years before God's appointed time for judgment on the Egyptians eventuated.

Rev 6:9-11 When he opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the witness they had borne. ¹⁰*They cried out with a loud voice, “O Sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long before you will judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?”* ¹¹*Then they were each given a white robe and told to rest a little longer, until the number of their fellow servants^u and their brothers^v should be complete, who were to be killed as they themselves had been.*

^u Greek fellow bondservants

^v Or brothers and sisters. The plural Greek word adelphoi (translated “brothers”) refers to siblings in a family. In New Testament usage, depending on the context, adelphoi may refer either to men or to both men and women who are siblings (brothers and sisters) in God's family, the church

... God's silence in the face of wickedness is followed by his judgment

Isa 42:13-14 The LORD goes out like a mighty man, like a man of war he stirs up his zeal; he cries out, he shouts aloud, he shows himself mighty against his foes. ¹⁴*For a long time I have held my peace; I have kept still and restrained myself; now I will cry out like a woman in labor; I will gasp and pant.*

The final statement (v. 14b) is alluding to God's zeal in executing judgment on his enemies (v. 13) and/or in bringing forth his people out of exile (cf. v. 16).

Isa 57:11-13a Whom did you dread and fear, so that you lied, and did not remember me, did not lay it to heart? Have I not held my peace, even for a long time, and you do not fear me? ¹²*I will declare your righteousness and your deeds, but they will not profit you.* ¹³*When you cry out, let your collection of idols deliver you!*

God had kept silent for some time and the people's wickedness had grown (v. 11). But the time had come – or was approaching – for God to intervene (v. 12). Note that in v. 12 “righteousness” is used with irony. The people either wrongly saw themselves as righteous, or pretended to be so.

Isa 65:6-7 Behold, it is written before me: “I will not keep silent, but I will repay; I will indeed repay into their bosom ⁷both your iniquities and your fathers' iniquities together, says the LORD; because they made offerings on the mountains and insulted me on the hills, I will measure into their bosom payment for their former deeds.”^x

Job 34:26, 29 He strikes them for their wickedness in a place for all to see,  ... ²⁹When he is quiet, who can condemn? When he hides his face, who can behold him, whether it be a nation or a man?—

Elihu asserts that God does punish the wicked (v. 26), while acknowledging that God does have the right to remain silent (v. 29a) when he sees fit.

‡ Despite the smugness of the wicked, the psalmist confidently looked to God to act:

Ps 10:11-15 He [the wicked man] says in his heart, “God has forgotten, he has hidden his face, he will never see it.” [The psalmist:] ¹²Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up your hand; forget not the afflicted. ¹³Why does the wicked renounce God and say in his heart, “You will not call to account”? ¹⁴But you do see, for you note mischief and vexation, that you may take it into your hands; to you the helpless commits himself; you have been the helper of the fatherless. ¹⁵Break the arm of the wicked and evildoer; call his wickedness to account till you find none.

God destroys the wicked

1Sam 2:9 He will guard the feet of his faithful ones, but the wicked shall be cut off in darkness, for not by might shall a man prevail.

Ps 9:5, 17 You have rebuked the nations; you have made the wicked perish; you have blotted out their name forever and ever.  ... ¹⁷The wicked shall return to Sheol, all the nations that forget God.

Ps 52:1a, 5 Why do you boast of evil, O mighty man?  ... ⁵But God will break you down forever; he will snatch and tear you from your tent; he will uproot you from the land of the living. Selah

Ps 73:16-20 But when I thought how to understand this, it seemed to me a wearisome task, ¹⁷until I went into the sanctuary of God; then I discerned their end. ¹⁸Truly you set them in slippery places; you make them fall to ruin. ¹⁹How they are destroyed in a moment, swept away utterly by terrors! ²⁰Like a dream when one awakes, O Lord, when you rouse yourself, you despise them as phantoms.

In v. 16 the psalmist is referring to trying to understand the prosperity of the wicked, which he found oppressive – till he understood their final destiny (vv. 17-19).

Ps 75:8 For in the hand of the LORD there is a cup with foaming wine, well mixed, and he pours out from it, and all the wicked of the earth shall drain it down to the dregs.

As noted earlier, the “cup with foaming wine” signifies God's potent judgment. The wicked will have no choice but to suffer all of it, drinking it down to the last drop.

Ps 94:23 He will bring back on them their iniquity and wipe them out for their wickedness; the LORD our God will wipe them out.

Ps 119:119 All the wicked of the earth you discard like dross, therefore I love your testimonies.

Ps 145:20 The LORD preserves all who love him, but all the wicked he will destroy.

Prov 21:12 The Righteous One observes the house of the wicked; he throws the wicked down to ruin.

Isa 3:11 Woe to the wicked! It shall be ill with him, for what his hands have dealt out shall be done to him.

^z Some manuscripts pits

^a Some manuscripts an example to those who were to be ungodly

^b Or temptations

Verse 9b could be meaning that God persistently punishes the ungodly even prior to judgment day. Alternatively it may be speaking of them being kept for their ultimate punishment to be pronounced on judgment day.

‡ The wicked do experience the wrath of God in this life:

Rom 1:18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth.

While the wrath of God spoken of here may also anticipate that of the final judgment, it appears to be speaking of the present. Paul may have in mind God giving people over to the natural consequences of sin (cf. vv. 24, 26, 28) and/or particular acts of judgment.

Prov 11:21, 31 Be assured, an evil person will not go unpunished, but the offspring of the righteous will be delivered. ... ³¹*If the righteous is repaid on earth, how much more the wicked and the sinner!*

Opinions differ on whether the first clause in v. 31 is referring to the righteous being rewarded for their goodness, or to even them receiving some punishment for their sin. Either way it makes the point that the ungodly and sinners will certainly receive their due punishment.

Passages referring to "the day of the LORD" largely speak of a time of God's intervention and judgment – usually in what was then the near future or at the end of the age, or with links to both. It is generally understood by Christians that prophecies of "the day of the LORD" – or of such a "day" of God's reckoning – will be consummately fulfilled at the end of the age.

Isa 13:6, 9-13 Wail, for the day of the LORD is near; as destruction from the Almighty^d it will come! ☞ ... ⁹*Behold, the day of the LORD comes, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger, to make the land a desolation and to destroy its sinners from it.* ¹⁰*For the stars of the heavens and their constellations will not give their light; the sun will be dark at its rising, and the moon will not shed its light.* ¹¹*I will punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; I will put an end to the pomp of the arrogant, and lay low the pompous pride of the ruthless.* ¹²*I will make people more rare than fine gold, and mankind than the gold of Ophir.* ¹³*Therefore I will make the heavens tremble, and the earth will be shaken out of its place, at the wrath of the LORD of hosts in the day of his fierce anger.* ☞

^d The Hebrew words for destruction and almighty sound alike

Ezek 30:1-3 The word of the LORD came to me: ²*“Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the Lord GOD: ‘Wail, ‘Alas for the day!’* ³*For the day is near, the day of the LORD is near; it will be a day of clouds, a time of doom for^e the nations.* ☞

^e Hebrew lacks doom for

Joel 1:15 Alas for the day! For the day of the LORD is near, and as destruction from the Almighty^f it comes. ☞

^f Destruction sounds like the Hebrew for Almighty

Joel 2:1-2a, 11, 31 Blow a trumpet in Zion; sound an alarm on my holy mountain! Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble, for the day of the LORD is coming; it is near, ²a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and thick darkness! ☞ ... ¹¹The LORD utters his voice before his army, for his camp is exceedingly great; he who executes his word is powerful. For the day of the LORD is great and very awesome; who can endure it? ☞ ... ³¹*The sun shall be turned to darkness, and the moon to blood, before the great and awesome day of the LORD comes.* ☞ Verses 2:1-2a, 11 speak of a day of judgment on Judah through a great locust plague. It is used to point to and reflect “the great and awesome day of the LORD” (v. 31) that will come upon all nations.

Joel 3:12-14 Let the nations stir themselves up and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat; for there I will sit to judge all the surrounding nations. ¹³*Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe. Go in, tread, for the winepress is full. The vats overflow, for their evil is great.* ¹⁴*Multitudes, multitudes, in the valley of decision! For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.* ☞

The Valley of Jehoshaphat (v. 12) seems to be symbolic for a location where God will implement his ultimate judgment on the nations who have oppressed his people (cf. vv. 2-6). The illustrations in v. 13 depict God implementing his judgment as him cutting down the nations – that in their wickedness are “ripe” for harvest – and trampling them in his winepress of judgment.

Amos 5:18, 20 Woe to you who desire the day of the LORD! Why would you have the day of the LORD? It is darkness, and not light, ☞ ... ²⁰*Is not the day of the LORD darkness, and not light, and gloom with no brightness in it?* ☞

Some of the wicked in Israel longed for “the day of the LORD”, with its deliverance of God’s people. But they were unaware that it would bring judgment on their own wickedness and unfaithfulness.

Obad 1:15-16 For the day of the LORD is near upon all the nations. As you have done, it shall be done to you; your deeds shall return on your own head. ¹⁶*For as you have drunk on my holy mountain, so all the nations shall drink continually; they shall drink and swallow, and shall be as though they had never been.* ☞

“For as you have drunk on my holy mountain” (v. 16a) may in the context of the book of Obadiah portray the neighboring Edomites’ gloating over the destruction of Jerusalem. Alternatively, possibly the enemy nations who destroyed Jerusalem are being referred to. Irrespective of which is the case, the verses speak of a wider implication that concerns all nations. Their fete will parallel these depictions, with them having to “drink” of God’s judgment (v. 16b).

Zeph 1:7-10, 14-18 Be silent before the Lord GOD! For the day of the LORD is near; the LORD has prepared a sacrifice and consecrated his guests. ⁸*And on the day of the LORD’s sacrifice— ‘I will punish the officials and the king’s sons and all who array themselves in foreign attire.* ⁹*On that day I will punish everyone who leaps over the threshold, and those who fill their master’s^s house with violence and fraud.* ¹⁰*“On that day,” declares the LORD, “a cry will be heard from the Fish Gate, a wail from the Second Quarter, a loud crash from the hills.* ☞ ... ¹⁴*The great day of the LORD is near, near and hastening fast; the sound of the day of the LORD is bitter; the mighty man cries aloud there.* ¹⁵*A day of wrath is that day, a day of distress and anguish, a day of ruin and devastation, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and thick darkness,* ¹⁶*a day of trumpet blast and battle cry against the fortified cities and against the lofty battlements.* ¹⁷*I will bring distress on mankind, so that they shall walk like the blind, because they have sinned against the LORD; their blood shall be poured out like dust, and their flesh like dung.* ¹⁸*Neither their silver nor their gold shall be* able to deliver them on the day of the wrath of the LORD. In the fire of his jealousy, all the earth shall be consumed; for a full and sudden end he will make of all the inhabitants of the earth.

g Or their Lord's

In vv. 7-10, God's judgment on Judah is in view. This was fulfilled in the Babylonian conquest of Judah, although it is not necessarily without an eschatological application. Verses 14-18 speak of God's judgment of all nations, with a more obvious eschatological application. The phrase "all the inhabitants of the earth" (v. 18) appears to be somewhat figurative, with the ungodly presumably being in view.

2Pet 3:7, 10 But by the same word the heavens and earth that now exist are stored up for fire, being kept until the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly. ...¹⁰But the day of the Lord will come like a thief, and then the heavens will pass away with a roar, and the heavenly bodies^h will be burned up and dissolved, and the earth and the works that are done on it will be exposed.ⁱ

The context is "the great and awesome day of the LORD" (v. 31 †).

In the Bible, the term "the righteous" basically denotes God's people, those who live in accordance with God's laws and will. The OT particularly often contrasts the wicked and their circumstances with the righteous and their circumstances. Some of the following contrasting repayments for the wicked and the righteous are natural or intrinsic outcomes of their actions. Other outcomes are spoken of as being directly due to God's intervention and judgment.

Bear in mind that OT verses often speak of what were ramifications of wickedness/disobedience and blessings of righteousness/obedience under the first covenant. Generally these have a spiritual application under the new covenant and also an application to the afterlife. Also note that verses from OT wisdom literature speaking of outcomes of wickedness and righteousness often contain what are considered to be generalizations.

The wicked reap what they sow . . .

All of the wicked face destruction in the next life. As this and the following subsections show, many also suffer consequences for their actions in this life.

Job 4:8 As I have seen, those who plow iniquity and sow trouble reap the same.

Prov 22:8 Whoever sows injustice will reap calamity, and the rod of his fury will fail.

Hos 8:7 For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind. The standing grain has no heads; it shall yield no flour; if it were to yield, strangers would devour it.

Israel had broken the covenant and turned to idols (cf. vv. 1-6). They had sown the "wind", possibly in the sense that what they had done was hollow and futile. Furthermore, it produced the "whirlwind" of God's judgment, through Assyria. The second and third statements may be figurative – implying that their deeds would yield nothing useful and that even if something of some value was produced, it would be taken from them.

Hos 10:13a You have plowed iniquity; you have reaped injustice; you have eaten the fruit of lies.

Here "reaped injustice" appears to refer to the injustice inflicted by oppressors (cf. AMP), with devastation by enemies prophesied against Israel (cf. vv. 13b-15).

Prov 14:14 The backslider in heart will be filled with the fruit of his ways, and a good man will be filled with the fruit of his ways.

Gal 6:7 Do not be deceived: God is not mocked, for whatever one sows, that will he also reap.

... The wicked are brought down by their own evil deeds

Note that the following subsection, in contrasting the outcomes of righteousness with those of wickedness, contains a number of verses that further indicate that the wicked reap what they sow and "are brought down by their own wickedness" (Prov 1:5 ↓).

Ps 7:15-16 He makes a pit, digging it out, and falls into the hole that he has made. ¹⁶His mischief returns upon his own head, and on his own skull his violence descends.

Verse 15 speaks, perhaps metaphorically, of a wicked man making a trap for others (cf. Ps 9:15 ↓).

Ps 9:15-16 The nations have sunk in the pit that they made; in the net that they hid, their own foot has been caught. ¹⁶The LORD has made himself known; he has executed judgment; the wicked are snared in the work of their own hands. Higgsaion.^j Selah

^j Probably a musical or liturgical term

Ps 37:14-15 The wicked draw the sword and bend their bows to bring down the poor and needy, to slay those whose way is upright; ¹⁵their sword shall enter their own heart, and their bows shall be broken.

Jesus also speaks of the ramifications for those who "draw the sword", saying: "For all who take the sword will perish by the sword" (Matt 26:52b).

Prov 1:18 ... but these men lie in wait for their own blood; they set an ambush for their own lives.

Practices such as attempting to kill others will ultimately lead to one's own death.

Prov 5:22 The iniquities of the wicked ensnare him, and he is held fast in the cords of his sin.

Prov 21:7 The violence of the wicked will sweep them away, because they refuse to do what is just.

Jer 2:19 Your evil will chastise you, and your apostasy will reprove you. Know and see that it is evil and bitter for you to forsake the LORD your God; the fear of me is not in you, declares the Lord GOD of hosts.

Joel 3:4 What are you to me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the regions of Philistia? Are you paying me back for something? If you are paying me back, I will return your payment on your own head swiftly and speedily.

Obad 1:15 For the day of the LORD is near upon all the nations. As you have done, it shall be done to you; your deeds shall return on your own head.

Jude 1:10 But these people blaspheme all that they do not understand, and they are destroyed by all that they, like unreasoning animals, understand instinctively.

Following their evil instincts would destroy these people.

✦ God catches the "wise" in their own craftiness:

Job 5:13 He catches the wise in their own craftiness, and the schemes of the wily are brought to a quick end.

God traps those who are "cunning" (GNT) or "wicked" (NCV™) – "who think they are wise" (NLT) – in their own crafty schemes.

In contrast to the wicked, the righteous reap what is good

Prov 10:16 The wage of the righteous leads to life, the gain of the wicked to sin.

"The wages of the righteous" and "the gain of the wicked" refer to the outcomes of righteousness and wickedness.

Prov 11:3-6, 18, 27, 30 The integrity of the upright guides them, but the crookedness of the treacherous destroys them.

⁴Riches do not profit in the day of wrath, but righteousness delivers from death. ⁵The righteousness of the blameless keeps his way straight, but the wicked falls by his own wickedness.

⁶The righteousness of the upright delivers them, but the treacherous are taken captive by their lust.  ... ¹⁸The wicked earns deceptive wages, but one who sows righteousness gets a sure reward.  ... ²⁷Whoever diligently seeks good seeks favor,^k but evil comes to him who searches for it.  ... ³⁰The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and whoever captures souls is wise.

¹⁸The wicked earns deceptive wages, but one who sows righteousness gets a sure reward.  ... ²⁷Whoever diligently seeks good seeks favor,^k but evil comes to him who searches for it.  ... ³⁰The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and whoever captures souls is wise.

³⁰The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and whoever captures souls is wise.

^k Or acceptance

The wicked man's wages are probably described as "deceptive" (v. 18) because although they at first seem fine, they can bring trouble (cf. Prov 15:6 ↓) and do not last. In v. 27a "seeks good" is probably speaking of trying to do what is good and right (cf. CEV), in contrast to planning evil – which incurs harm (v. 27b).

Prov 12:13 An evil man is ensnared by the transgression of his lips, but the righteous escapes from trouble.

Prov 13:6 Righteousness guards him whose way is blameless, but sin overthrows the wicked.

Prov 14:14 The backslider in heart will be filled with the fruit of his ways, and a good man will be filled with the fruit of his ways.

Prov 15:6 In the house of the righteous there is much treasure, but trouble befalls the income of the wicked.

The income of the wicked is presumably that which is gained by evil means.

Prov 14:22 Do they not go astray who devise evil? Those who devise good meet^l steadfast love and faithfulness.

^l Or show

The term "go astray" in effect means to "err... and wander from the way of life" (AMP).

Prov 21:21 Whoever pursues righteousness and kindness will find life, righteousness, and honor.

Prov 28:10 Whoever misleads the upright into an evil way will fall into his own pit, but the blameless will have a goodly inheritance.

Prov 29:6 An evil man is ensnared in his transgression, but a righteous man sings and rejoices.

Isa 3:10 Tell the righteous that it shall be well with them, for they shall eat the fruit of their deeds.

Isa 32:8 But he who is noble plans noble things, and on noble things he stands.

The term "stands" likely means to "stand firm" (GNT).

Isa 32:17 And the effect of righteousness will be peace, and the result of righteousness, quietness and trust^m forever.

^mOr security

Hos 10:12 Sow for yourselves righteousness; reap steadfast love; break up your fallow ground, for it is the time to seek the LORD, that he may come and rain righteousness upon you.

The expression "break up your fallow ground" possibly speaks of preparing oneself (primarily by repentance) to be productive and/or for blessing. Doing the things listed would result in God him making his presence known, showering "righteousness" on his people. Here "righteousness" may refer to God righteously fulfilling his promises by showering blessings on his people (cf. GNT) or saving them (cf. CEV). Alternatively it may mean that God would make them righteous.

1Ki 3:6 *And Solomon said, "You have shown great and steadfast love to your servant David my father, because he walked before you in faithfulness, in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart toward you. 1Sam 26:23 The LORD rewards every man for his righteousness and his faithfulness, for the LORD gave you into my hand today, and I would not put out my hand against the LORD's anointed.

Ps 5:12 For you bless the righteous, O LORD; you cover him with favor as with a shield.

Ps 18:24 So the LORD has rewarded me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his sight.

Prov 3:33 The LORD's curse is on the house of the wicked, but he blesses the dwelling of the righteous.

Prov 10:6 Blessings are on the head of the righteous, but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence.

"Blessings" from God are presumably primarily in view.

Job 36:7 He does not withdraw his eyes from the righteous, but with kings on the throne he sets them forever, and they are exalted.

The second half of the verse speaks metaphorically of God's great blessing of the righteous.

Ps 97:11 Light is sownⁿ for the righteous, and joy for the upright in heart.

ⁿ Most Hebrew manuscripts; one Hebrew manuscript, Septuagint, Syriac, Jerome Light dawns

"Light" would appear to refer to the "light of his [God's] favor" (NirV®).

Prov 15:19 The way of a sluggard is like a hedge of thorns, but the path of the upright is a level highway.

This implies that the path of the righteous is easy to progress along (cf. Isa 26:7 ↓).

Isa 26:7 The path of the righteous is level; you make level the way of the righteous.

Ps 92:12-15 The righteous flourish like the palm tree and grow like a cedar in Lebanon. ¹³They are planted in the house of the LORD; they flourish in the courts of our God. ¹⁴They still bear fruit in old age; they are ever full of sap and green, ¹⁵to declare that the LORD is upright; he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

This largely speaks of the prosperity of the righteous, flourishing through their relationship with God. Proverbs 11:28 below uses similar imagery.

Prov 11:28 Whoever trusts in his riches will fall, but the righteous will flourish like a green leaf.

God takes care of the righteous, in contrast to the wicked

Ps 1:6 ... for the LORD knows the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked will perish.

The term translated as "knows" may have the sense "watches over" (NIV®, NLT).

Ps 32:10 Many are the sorrows of the wicked, but steadfast love surrounds the one who trusts in the LORD.

Ps 34:15-17, 19-20 The eyes of the LORD are toward the righteous and his ears toward their cry. ¹⁶The face of the LORD is against those who do evil, to cut off the memory of them from the earth. ¹⁷When the righteous cry for help, the LORD hears and delivers them out of all their troubles. ... ¹⁹Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the LORD delivers him out of them all. ²⁰He keeps all his bones; not one of them is broken.

Ps 37:16-17, 32-33, 39-40 Better is the little that the righteous has than the abundance of many wicked. ¹⁷For the arms of the wicked shall be broken, but the LORD upholds the righteous. ... ³²The wicked watches for the righteous and seeks to put him to death. ³³The LORD will not abandon him to his power or let him be condemned when he is brought to trial. ... ³⁹The salvation of the righteous is from the LORD; he is their stronghold in the time of trouble. ⁴⁰The LORD helps them and delivers them; he delivers them from the wicked and saves them, because they take refuge in him.

Ps 55:22 Cast your burden on the LORD, and he will sustain you; he will never permit the righteous to be moved.

Ps 140:13 Surely the righteous shall give thanks to your name; the upright shall dwell in your presence.

The thanks of the righteous and the assertion that the upright will live before God, both attest to God's saving care of them (cf. v. 12).

Ps 146:9 The LORD watches over the sojourners; he upholds the widow and the fatherless, but the way of the wicked he brings to ruin.

Prov 10:3, 29 The LORD does not let the righteous go hungry, but he thwarts the craving of the wicked.  ... ²⁹*The way of the LORD is a stronghold to the blameless, but destruction to evildoers.*

In v. 3, “the craving of the wicked” probably alludes to “the desire of the wicked” (AMP; cf. CEV, GNT, NCV). In v. 29, “The way of the LORD” refers either to the way God does things or the way he would have people live. With either meaning this verse attests to both: God’s protection of the righteous; and the ruin of the wicked being ultimately caused by God and/or their disregard for his commands. Hosea 14:9b makes a similar point to v. 29 – “... the ways of the LORD are right, and the upright walk in them, but transgressors stumble in them.”

Prov 11:8 The righteous is delivered from trouble, and the wicked walks into it instead.

God may well be in view here and in 12:21 immediately below, as being behind such outcomes.

Prov 12:21 No ill befalls the righteous, but the wicked are filled with trouble.

Note that the book of Proverbs (as with the book of Job) contains many observations or insights that are generally true, i.e. generalizations. Obviously the first clause is not always the case.

Prov 15:29 The LORD is far from the wicked, but he hears the prayer of the righteous.

See also Note: It is vital for prayer that we live righteously . . ., p. 1220.

Prov 18:10 The name of the LORD is a strong tower; the righteous man runs into it and is safe.

The righteous look to the LORD for protection and find in him a strong refuge.

Matt 6:31-33 Therefore do not be anxious, saying, ‘What shall we eat?’ or ‘What shall we drink?’ or ‘What shall we wear?’ ³²For the Gentiles seek after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them all. ³³But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be added to you.

✦ The path of the righteous is like light, in contrast to the darkness of the way of the wicked:

Prov 4:18-19 But the path of the righteous is like the light of dawn, which shines brighter and brighter until full day. ¹⁹*The way of the wicked is like deep darkness; they do not know over what they stumble.*

The way of the wicked is like walking in great darkness (v. 19) – hazardous and insecure. This contrasts to the way of the righteous which is likened to light, blessed with God’s favor (cf. Ps 97:11 ). For the righteous this contrast is taken further in Psalms 112:4, which speaks of light being given to the righteous amidst darkness (i.e. in dark times): “Light dawns in the darkness for the upright; he is gracious, merciful, and righteous.” Again God is probably in view as the ultimate source of such “light”.

The future of the righteous contrasts with the end of the wicked . . .

Ps 37:1-2, 9-10, 17-20, 28, 37-38 Fret not yourself because of evildoers; be not envious of wrongdoers! ²For they will soon fade like the grass and wither like the green herb.  ... ⁹For the evildoers shall be cut off, but those who wait for the LORD shall inherit the land. ¹⁰In just a little while, the wicked will be no more; though you look carefully at his place, he will not be there.  ... ¹⁷For the arms of the wicked shall be broken, but the LORD upholds the righteous. ¹⁸The LORD knows the days of the blameless, and their heritage will remain forever; ¹⁹they are not put to shame in evil times; in the days of famine they have abundance. ²⁰But the wicked will perish; the enemies of the LORD are like the glory of the pastures; they vanish—like smoke they vanish away.  ... ²⁸For the LORD loves justice; he will not forsake his saints. They are preserved forever, but the children of the wicked shall be cut off.  ... ³⁷Mark the blameless and behold the upright, for there is a future for the man of peace. ³⁸But transgressors shall be altogether destroyed; the future of the wicked shall be cut off.

In v. 9, “the land” refers primarily to the promised land of Canaan. Verse 18a speaks of God having the future of the blameless well in hand, watching over them throughout their lives (cf. NCV, NIV).

Ps 52:6-7 The righteous shall see and fear, and shall laugh at him, saying, ⁷*“See the man who would not make God his refuge, but trusted in the abundance of his riches and sought refuge in his own destruction!”*^o

^o Or in his work of destruction

“See the man” (v. 7) presumably refers to the wicked man’s grave (cf. v. 5). The meaning given by the text note on v. 7 has support amongst other translations (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT).

Ps 58:10-11 The righteous will rejoice when he sees the vengeance; he will bathe his feet in the blood of the wicked.
¹¹Mankind will say, "Surely there is a reward for the righteous; surely there is a God who judges on earth."

Ps 75:10 All the horns of the wicked I will cut off; but the horns of the righteous shall be lifted up.

It is debatable who the speaker is here. But most likely it is either God (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, Nlrv, NLT) or one speaking of God. The "horns" speak of strength.

Ps 112:6-10 For the righteous will never be moved; he will be remembered forever. ⁷He is not afraid of bad news; his heart is firm, trusting in the LORD. ⁸His heart is steady; he will not be afraid, until he looks in triumph on his adversaries. ⁹He has distributed freely; he has given to the poor; his righteousness endures forever; his horn is exalted in honor. ¹⁰The wicked man sees it and is angry; he gnashes his teeth and melts away; the desire of the wicked will perish!

Prov 10:7, 24-25 The memory of the righteous is a blessing, but the name of the wicked will rot. ... ²⁴What the wicked dreads will come upon him, but the desire of the righteous will be granted. ²⁵When the tempest passes, the wicked is no more, but the righteous is established forever.

Verse 7a appears to speak of the blessing of being well remembered, as reflected by the contrasting end of "the name of the wicked" in the subsequent clause (v. 7b).

Prov 11:19 Whoever is steadfast in righteousness will live, but he who pursues evil will die.

This speaks of a righteous person having a security of life, although it also has an application to the afterlife.

Prov 12:7 The wicked are overthrown and are no more, but the house of the righteous will stand.

The "house" (cf. Prov 14:11 ↓) either denotes the family of the righteous in particular (cf. GNT, NCV, NLT) or the righteous and all that they have.

Prov 14:11 The house of the wicked will be destroyed, but the tent of the upright will flourish.

Prov 24:16 ... for the righteous falls seven times and rises again, but the wicked stumble in times of calamity.

Prov 28:18 Whoever walks in integrity will be delivered, but he who is crooked in his ways will suddenly fall.

References to the wicked falling, generally have their ruin or destruction in view.

Isa 58:8 Then shall your light break forth like the dawn, and your healing shall spring up speedily; your righteousness shall go before you; the glory of the LORD shall be your rear guard.

The clause "your righteousness shall go before you" implies that one's righteousness leads to the security of one's future. However note that "your righteousness" may instead here be a reference to God.

Ecc 8:12-13 Though a sinner does evil a hundred times and prolongs his life, yet I know that it will be well with those who fear God, because they fear before him. ¹³But it will not be well with the wicked, neither will he prolong his days like a shadow, because he does not fear before God.

The apparent contradiction that a wicked person "prolongs his life" (v. 12), but "neither will he prolong his days like a shadow" (v. 13) has a few possible explanations, including: the latter may be a reference to life beyond the grave; the writer may be alternating between a notable exception (v. 12) and a generalization (v. 13); and after the first assertion the writer may be quoting a common proverb (vv. 12b-13; cf. CEV, GNT), which he does not necessarily agree with.

Ezek 18:20 The soul who sins shall die. The son shall not suffer for the iniquity of the father, nor the father suffer for the iniquity of the son. The righteousness of the righteous shall be upon himself, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon himself.

People will be rewarded according to their own deeds, with the righteous receiving the outcomes of their righteousness and the wicked receiving the outcomes of their wickedness.

Matt 13:40-43 Just as the weeds are gathered and burned with fire, so will it be at the close of the age. ⁴¹The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will gather out of his kingdom all causes of sin and all law-breakers, ⁴²and throw them into the fiery furnace. In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth. ⁴³Then the righteous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears, let him hear.

Rom 2:7-10 ... to those who by patience in well-doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, he will give eternal life; ⁸but for those who are self-seeking^p and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury. ⁹There will be tribulation and distress for every human being who does evil, the Jew first and also the Greek, ¹⁰but glory and honor and peace for everyone who does good, the Jew first and also the Greek.

^p Or contentious

Ps 17:13b-15 Deliver my soul from the wicked by your sword, ¹⁴from men by your hand, O LORD, from men of the world whose portion is in this life.^q You fill their womb with treasure;^r they are satisfied with children, and they leave their abundance to their infants. ¹⁵As for me, I shall behold your face in righteousness; when I awake, I shall be satisfied with your likeness.

^q Or from men whose portion in life is of the world

^r Or As for your treasured ones, you fill their womb

Verse 14a points out that what good things the wicked may obtain, are limited to this life – the afterlife holds nothing good for them. Verse 15 may well have the afterlife in view (cf. God's people will see God, p. 745). Note that similar to v. 15, Psalms 11:7 says, "...the upright shall behold his face."

Prov 14:32 The wicked is overthrown through his evildoing, but the righteous finds refuge in his death.

The meaning of the Hebrew of the final clause is somewhat unclear (cf. CEV text note). As translated here, it points to the righteous – in contrast to the wicked – having hope or protection in death. On a similar theme Isaiah 57:2 says of the righteous man, "he enters into peace; they rest in their beds who walk in their uprightness."

Ps 1:4-5 The wicked are not so, but are like chaff that the wind drives away. ⁵Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous; ...

Verse 5 is saying that the wicked will be condemned on the day of judgment and so will have no place with the righteous (cf. CEV, GNT, NLT). Here "the judgment" is probably not referring primarily to God's final judgment, but it is very much applicable to it.

2Thes 2:11-12 Therefore God sends them a strong delusion, so that they may believe what is false, ¹²in order that all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

✦ Righteousness leads to life:

Prov 12:28 In the path of righteousness is life, and in its pathway there is no death.

Here "life" probably refers to a secure and fulfilled life, rather than eternal life – although it is certainly applicable to it.

The wicked and ungodly are bereft of hope

Job 8:11-13 Can papyrus grow where there is no marsh? Can reeds flourish where there is no water? ¹²While yet in flower and not cut down, they wither before any other plant. ¹³Such are the paths of all who forget God; the hope of the godless shall perish.

Job 11:20 But the eyes of the wicked will fail; all way of escape will be lost to them, and their hope is to breathe their last.

The last clause appears to mean that the only hope of the wicked will be to die.

Job 27:8 For what is the hope of the godless when God cuts him off, when God takes away his life?

Prov 10:28 The hope of the righteous brings joy, but the expectation of the wicked will perish.

Note that the "expectation" of the wicked is contrasted with the "hope" of the righteous, the two terms being similar (cf. Prov 11:7 ↓).

Prov 11:7, 23 When the wicked dies, his hope will perish, and the expectation of wealth^s perishes too.  ... ²³The desire of the righteous ends only in good; the expectation of the wicked in wrath.

^s Or of his strength, or of iniquity

Prov 24:20 ... for the evil man has no future; the lamp of the wicked will be put out.

Eph 2:12 ... remember that you were at that time separated from Christ, alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world.

1Thes 4:13 But we do not want you to be uninformed, brothers, about those who are asleep, that you may not grieve as others do who have no hope.

✦ What will the wicked do "when the end comes"?:

Jer 5:31 ... the prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests rule at their direction; my people love to have it so, but what will you do when the end comes?

The implication is that the wicked will have no recourse at the time of God's judgment.

Discourses on perils that the wicked typically face

The first three of the following passages are extracts from discourses given by each of Job's three friends – using often poetically heightened images. The discourse from which the fourth extract comes is attributed to Job, but some scholars attribute it to one his three friends, Zophar. The reasons for this possibility is that it would complete the cycles of speeches – Zophar otherwise having one speech less than the other two friends – and that the theology is more consistent with his than Job's. For in the chapters following each his friends' discourses, Job basically rejects their simplified view that the wicked always suffer as such and the righteous always have pleasant lives.

Job 15:20-30, 32-34 The wicked man writhes in pain all his days, through all the years that are laid up for the ruthless. ²¹Dreadful sounds are in his ears; in prosperity the destroyer will come upon him. ²²He does not believe that he will return out of darkness, and he is marked for the sword. ²³He wanders abroad for bread, saying, 'Where is it?' He knows that a day of darkness is ready at his hand; ²⁴distress and anguish terrify him; they prevail against him, like a king ready for battle. ²⁵Because he has stretched out his hand against God and defies the Almighty, ²⁶running stubbornly against him with a thickly bossed shield; ²⁷because he has covered his face with his fat and gathered fat upon his waist ²⁸and has lived in desolate cities, in houses that none should inhabit, which were ready to become heaps of ruins; ²⁹he will not be rich, and his wealth will not endure, nor will his possessions spread over the earth;^t ³⁰he will not depart from darkness; the flame will dry up his shoots, and by the breath of his mouth he will depart.  ... ³²It will be paid in full before his time, and his branch will not be green. ³³He will shake off his unripe grape like the vine, and cast off his blossom like the olive tree. ³⁴For the company of the godless is barren, and fire consumes the tents of bribery.

^t Or nor will his produce bend down to the earth

Job 18:5-19 Indeed, the light of the wicked is put out, and the flame of his fire does not shine. ⁶The light is dark in his tent, and his lamp above him is put out. ⁷His strong steps are shortened, and his own schemes throw him down. ⁸For he is cast into a net by his own feet, and he walks on its mesh. ⁹A trap seizes him by the heel; a snare lays hold of him. ¹⁰A rope is hidden for him in the ground, a trap for him in the path. ¹¹Terrors frighten him on every side, and chase him at his heels. ¹²His strength is famished, and calamity is ready for his stumbling. ¹³It consumes the parts of his skin; the firstborn of death consumes his limbs. ¹⁴He is torn from the tent in which he trusted and is brought to the king of terrors. ¹⁵In his tent dwells that which is none of his; sulfur is scattered over his habitation. ¹⁶His roots dry up beneath, and his branches wither above. ¹⁷His memory perishes from the earth, and he has no name in the street. ¹⁸He is thrust from light into darkness, and driven out of the world. ¹⁹He has no posterity or progeny among his people, and no survivor where he used to live.

The terms "light" and "lamp" (vv. 5, 6) symbolize wellbeing and life. Verse 13 may well be referring to disease (cf. AMP, GNT, NASB, NCV, NLT, NRSV), with the term "the firstborn of death" perhaps speaking of disease as death's main weapon. The title "the king of terrors" (v. 14) most likely refers to death itself (cf. AMP, GNT, NCV).

Job 20:6-8, 14-18, 20-29 Though his height mount up to the heavens, and his head reach to the clouds, he will perish forever like his own dung; those who have seen him will say, 'Where is he?' ⁸He will fly away like a dream and not be found; he will be chased away like a vision of the night.  ... ¹⁴yet his food is turned in his stomach; it is the venom of cobras within him. ¹⁵He swallows down riches and vomits them up again; God casts them out of his belly. ¹⁶He will suck the poison of cobras; the tongue of a viper will kill him. ¹⁷He will not look upon the rivers, the streams flowing with honey and curds. ¹⁸He will give back the fruit of his toil and will not swallow it down; from the profit of his trading he will get no enjoyment.  ... ²⁰"Because he knew no contentment in his belly, he will not let anything in which he delights escape him. ²¹There was nothing left after he had eaten; therefore his prosperity will not endure. ²²In the fullness of his sufficiency he will be in distress; the hand of everyone in misery will come against him. ²³To fill his belly to the full, God^u will send his burning anger against him and rain it upon him into his body. ²⁴He will flee from an iron weapon; a bronze arrow will strike him through. ²⁵It is drawn forth and comes out of his body; the glittering point comes out of his gallbladder; terrors come upon him. ²⁶Utter darkness is laid up for his treasures; a fire not fanned will devour him; what is left in his tent will be consumed. ²⁷The heavens will reveal his iniquity, and the earth will rise up against him. ²⁸The possessions of his house will be carried away, dragged off in the day of God's^v wrath. ²⁹This is the wicked man's portion from God, the heritage decreed for him by God."

Verses 14-16 appear to portray ill-gained riches bringing the downfall of the wicked.

Job 27:13-23 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage that oppressors receive from the Almighty: ¹⁴If his children are multiplied, it is for the sword, and his descendants have not enough bread. ¹⁵Those who survive him the pestilence buries, and his widows do not weep. ¹⁶Though he heap up silver like dust, and pile up clothing like clay, ¹⁷he may pile it up, but the righteous will wear it, and the innocent will divide the silver. ¹⁸He builds his house like a moth's, like a booth that a watchman makes. ¹⁹He goes to bed rich, but will do so no more; he opens his eyes, and his wealth is gone. ²⁰Terrors overtake him like a flood; in the night a whirlwind carries him off. ²¹The east wind lifts him up and he is gone; it sweeps him out of his place. ²²It^w hurls at him without pity; he flees from its^x power in headlong flight. ²³It claps its hands at him and hisses at him from its place.

‡ There is no peace for the wicked:

Isa 57:20-21 But the wicked are like the tossing sea; for it cannot be quiet, and its waters toss up mire and dirt. ²¹There is no peace," says my God, "for the wicked."

In the same vein, Isaiah 59:8 – quoted in Romans 3:17 – says, "The way of peace they do not know, and there is no justice in their paths; they have made their roads crooked; no one who treads on them knows peace."

Note: Further contrasts between the righteous and the wicked

Ps 107:42 The upright see it and are glad, and all wickedness shuts its mouth.

God's acts of judgment (cf. vv. 39-40) and salvation (cf. v. 41) lead the upright to rejoice, while silencing the wicked.

Prov 10:20, 32 The tongue of the righteous is choice silver; the heart of the wicked is of little worth.  ... ³²The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable, but the mouth of the wicked, what is perverse.

Verse 20b means that the thoughts of the wicked are of little value.

Prov 15:28 The heart of the righteous ponders how to answer, but the mouth of the wicked pours out evil things.

Prov 11:10-11 When it goes well with the righteous, the city rejoices, and when the wicked perish there are shouts of gladness. ¹¹By the blessing of the upright a city is exalted, but by the mouth of the wicked it is overthrown.

Verse 11b appears to be referring to the wicked within a city bringing it to ruin by their deceitful and malicious talk.

Prov 12:3 No one is established by wickedness, but the root of the righteous will never be moved.

Prov 12:5-6 The thoughts of the righteous are just; the counsels of the wicked are deceitful. ⁶The words of the wicked lie in wait for blood, but the mouth of the upright delivers them.

Prov 12:26 One who is righteous is a guide to his neighbor,^y but the way of the wicked leads them astray.

^y Or The righteous chooses his friends carefully

Prov 21:15 When justice is done, it is a joy to the righteous but terror to evildoers.

Prov 21:29 A wicked man puts on a bold face, but the upright gives thought to^z his ways.

^z Or establishes

This appears to be implying that the wicked may put on a brave front in the face of what is often perilous circumstances resulting from their evil deeds, but the upright have the confidence and security that comes from giving careful, righteous thought to their ways.

Prov 28:1 The wicked flee when no one pursues, but the righteous are bold as a lion.

This appears to be speaking of a wicked person's guilt and accompanying fear of getting caught, producing persistent apprehension.

Hab 2:4 Behold, his soul is puffed up; it is not upright within him, but the righteous shall live by his faith.^a

^a Or faithfulness

This contrasts the proud Babylonians with the righteous who will live by their faith in God or faithfulness (cf. text note, AMP, GNT).

✦ Through righteousness a nation becomes great – in contrast to the dishonor of sin:

Prov 14:34 Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

Many times God called and warned his wayward people, through his prophets

2Ki 17:13 Yet the LORD warned Israel and Judah by every prophet and every seer, saying, "Turn from your evil ways and keep my commandments and my statutes, in accordance with all the Law that I commanded your fathers, and that I sent to you by my servants the prophets."

Note that the final clause appears to be speaking of the prophets handing on or repeating God's law to various generations of Israel (cf. CEV, GNT), subsequent to the law's initial revelation.

2Chr 24:19 Yet he [God] sent prophets among them to bring them back to the LORD. These testified against them, but they would not pay attention.

2Chr 36:15 The LORD, the God of their fathers, sent persistently to them by his messengers, because he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling place.

Neh 9:26, 29-30 Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against you and cast your law behind their back and killed your prophets, who had warned them in order to turn them back to you, and they committed great blasphemies.
... ²⁹And you warned them in order to turn them back to your law. Yet they acted presumptuously and did not obey your commandments, but sinned against your rules, which if a person does them, he shall live by them, and they turned a stubborn shoulder and stiffened their neck and would not obey. ³⁰Many years you bore with them and warned them by your Spirit through your prophets. Yet they would not give ear. Therefore you gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands.

Jer 3:12 Go, and proclaim these words toward the north, and say, "'Return, faithless Israel, declares the LORD. I will not look on you in anger, for I am merciful, declares the LORD; I will not be angry forever.

Jer 6:8 Be warned, O Jerusalem, lest I turn from you in disgust, lest I make you a desolation, an uninhabited land.

Jer 11:7 For I solemnly warned your fathers when I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, warning them persistently, even to this day, saying, Obey my voice.

Jer 25:4-6 You have neither listened nor inclined your ears to hear, although the LORD persistently sent to you all his servants the prophets, ⁵saying, "Turn now, every one of you, from his evil way and evil deeds, and dwell upon the land that the LORD has given to you and your fathers from of old and forever. ⁶Do not go after other gods to serve and worship them, or provoke me to anger with the work of your hands. Then I will do you no harm.'

Jer 26:4-6 You shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD: If you will not listen to me, to walk in my law that I have set before you, ⁵and to listen to the words of my servants the prophets whom I send to you urgently, though you have not listened, ⁶then I will make this house like Shiloh, and I will make this city a curse for all the nations of the earth.'

Jer 36:3 It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the disaster that I intend to do to them, so that every one may turn from his evil way, and that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin.

✦ Israel's unsurpassed, appalling act of exchanging their glorious God for worthless idols:

Jer 2:11-13 Has a nation changed its gods, even though they are no gods? But my people have changed their glory for that which does not profit. ¹²Be appalled, O heavens, at this; be shocked, be utterly desolate, declares the LORD, ¹³for my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that can hold no water.

Note that in v. 13 useless idols are likened to wells or reservoirs that are cracked and therefore useless for holding water.

2Ki 21:12-15 ... therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Behold, I am bringing upon Jerusalem and Judah such disaster^b that the ears of everyone who hears of it will tingle. ¹³And I will stretch over Jerusalem the measuring line of Samaria, and the plumb line of the house of Ahab, and I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. ¹⁴And I will forsake the remnant of my heritage and give them into the hand of their enemies, and they shall become a prey and a spoil to all their enemies, ¹⁵because they have done what is evil in my sight and have provoked me to anger, since the day their fathers came out of Egypt, even to this day.

^b Or evil

The "measuring line" and the "plumb line" (v. 13) symbolized God's measures for standards used in his judgment.

Isa 65:12 I will destine you to the sword, and all of you shall bow down to the slaughter, because, when I called, you did not answer; when I spoke, you did not listen, but you did what was evil in my eyes and chose what I did not delight in.

Jer 7:24-34 But they did not obey or incline their ear, but walked in their own counsels and the stubbornness of their evil hearts, and went backward and not forward. ²⁵From the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt to this day, I have persistently sent all my servants the prophets to them, day after day. ²⁶Yet they did not listen to me or incline their ear, but stiffened their neck. They did worse than their fathers. ²⁷"So you shall speak all these words to them, but they will not listen to you. You shall call to them, but they will not answer you. ²⁸And you shall say to them, "This is the nation that did not obey the voice of the LORD their God, and did not accept discipline; truth has perished; it is cut off from their lips. ²⁹"Cut off your hair and cast it away; raise a lamentation on the bare heights, for the LORD has rejected and forsaken the generation of his wrath." ³⁰"For the sons of Judah have done evil in my sight, declares the LORD. They have set their detestable things in the house that is called by my name, to defile it. ³¹And they have built the high places of Topheth, which is in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I did not command, nor did it come into my mind. ³²Therefore, behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when it will no more be called Topheth, or the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter; for they will bury in Topheth, because there is no room elsewhere. ³³And the dead bodies of this people will be food for the birds of the air, and for the beasts of the earth, and none will frighten them away. ³⁴And I will silence in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, for the land shall become a waste.

Jer 13:10, 14 This evil people, who refuse to hear my words, who stubbornly follow their own heart and have gone after other gods to serve them and worship them, shall be like this loincloth, which is good for nothing.  ... ¹⁴And I will dash them one against another, fathers and sons together, declares the LORD. I will not pity or spare or have compassion, that I should not destroy them.

Jer 15:6-7 You have rejected me, declares the LORD; you keep going backward, so I have stretched out my hand against you and destroyed you— I am weary of relenting. ⁷I have winnowed them with a winnowing fork in the gates of the land; I have bereaved them; I have destroyed my people; they did not turn from their ways.

Mic 6:13, 16 Therefore I strike you with a grievous blow, making you desolate because of your sins.  ... ¹⁶For you have kept the statutes of Omri,^c and all the works of the house of Ahab; and you have walked in their counsels, that I may make you a desolation, and your^d inhabitants a hissing; so you shall bear the scorn of my people.

‡ Israel was even more sinful than the surrounding nations – and would suffer accordingly:

Ezek 5:5-9 Thus says the Lord GOD: This is Jerusalem. I have set her in the center of the nations, with countries all around her. ⁶And she has rebelled against my rules by doing wickedness more than the nations, and against my statutes more than the countries all around her; for they have rejected my rules and have not walked in my statutes. ⁷Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Because you are more turbulent than the nations that are all around you, and have not walked in my statutes or obeyed my rules, and have not^e even acted according to the rules of the nations that are all around you, ⁸therefore thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I, even I, am against you. And I will execute judgments^f in your midst in the sight of the nations. ⁹And because of all your abominations I will do with you what I have never yet done, and the like of which I will never do again.

^e Some Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac lack not

^f The same Hebrew expression can mean obey rules, or execute judgments, depending on the context

Note that Daniel 9:12 in the following subsection attests to the fulfillment of the prophecy in v. 9.

The temple and Jerusalem were destroyed

2Ki 25:8-10, 13-15 In the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month—that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon—Nebuzaradan, the captain of the bodyguard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. ⁹And he burned the house of the LORD and the king's house and all the houses of Jerusalem; every great house he burned down. ¹⁰And all the army of the Chaldeans, who were with the captain of the guard, broke down the walls around Jerusalem.  ... ¹³And the pillars of bronze that were in the house of the LORD, and the stands and the bronze sea that were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces and carried the bronze to Babylon. ¹⁴And they took away the pots and the shovels and the snuffers and the dishes for incense and all the vessels of bronze used in the temple service, ¹⁵the fire pans also and the bowls. What was of gold the captain of the guard took away as gold, and what was of silver, as silver.

2Chr 36:18-19 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king and of his princes, all these he brought to Babylon. ¹⁹And they burned the house of God and broke down the wall of Jerusalem and burned all its palaces with fire and destroyed all its precious vessels.

Ps 74:2-7 Remember your congregation, which you have purchased of old, which you have redeemed to be the tribe of your heritage! Remember Mount Zion, where you have dwelt. ³Direct your steps to the perpetual ruins; the enemy has destroyed everything in the sanctuary! ⁴Your foes have roared in the midst of your meeting place; they set up their own signs for signs. ⁵They were like those who swing axes in a forest of trees.⁸ ⁶And all its carved wood they broke down with hatchets and hammers. ⁷They set your sanctuary on fire; they profaned the dwelling place of your name, bringing it down to the ground.

⁸ The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain

The "sanctuary" (vv. 3, 7) was God's temple, his "dwelling place" (v. 7).

Ps 79:1 O God, the nations have come into your inheritance; they have defiled your holy temple; they have laid Jerusalem in ruins.

Isa 64:10-11 Your holy cities have become a wilderness; Zion has become a wilderness, Jerusalem a desolation. ¹¹Our holy and beautiful^h house, where our fathers praised you, has been burned by fire, and all our pleasant places have become ruins.

^h Or holy and glorious

Jer 44:4-6 Yet I persistently sent to you all my servants the prophets, saying, 'Oh, do not do this abomination that I hate!' ⁵But they did not listen or incline their ear, to turn from their evil and make no offerings to other gods. ⁶Therefore my wrath and my anger were poured out and kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, and they became a waste and a desolation, as at this day.

Lam 2:1-8, 17 How the Lord in his anger has set the daughter of Zion under a cloud! He has cast down from heaven to earth the splendor of Israel; he has not remembered his footstool in the day of his anger. ²The Lord has swallowed up without mercy all the habitations of Jacob; in his wrath he has broken down the strongholds of the daughter of Judah; he has brought down to the ground in dishonor the kingdom and its rulers. ³He has cut down in fierce anger all the might of Israel; he has withdrawn from them his right hand in the face of the enemy; he has burned like a flaming fire in Jacob, consuming all around. ⁴He has bent his bow like an enemy, with his right hand set like a foe; and he has killed all who were delightful in our eyes in the tent of the daughter of Zion; he has poured out his fury like fire. ⁵The Lord has become like an enemy; he has swallowed up Israel; he has swallowed up all its palaces; he has laid in ruins its strongholds, and he has multiplied in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation. ⁶He has laid waste his booth like a garden, laid in ruins his meeting place; the LORD has made Zion forget festival and Sabbath, and in his fierce indignation has spurned king and priest. ⁷The Lord has scorned his altar, disowned his sanctuary; he has delivered into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they raised a clamor in the house of the LORD as on the day of festival. ⁸The LORD determined to lay in ruins the wall of the daughter of Zion; he stretched out the measuring line; he did not restrain his hand from destroying; he caused rampart and wall to lament; they languished together. ... ¹⁷The LORD has done what he purposed; he has carried out his word, which he commanded long ago; he has thrown down without pity; he has made the enemy rejoice over you and exalted the might of your foes.

The terms "daughter of Zion" (vv. 1, 4, 8) and "daughter of Judah" (vv. 2, 5) signify Jerusalem and her people.

✦ Nothing had ever been done like what was done to Jerusalem:

Dan 9:12 He has confirmed his words, which he spoke against us and against our rulers who ruled us,ⁱ by bringing upon us a great calamity. For under the whole heaven there has not been done anything like what has been done against Jerusalem.

God's judgment on unfaithful Israel culminated in exile from the promised land

See also:

- ... Their destruction would culminate in exile from the promised land, p. 339

Note that the two Israelite kingdoms were conquered at different times. The northern kingdom of Israel was conquered by the Assyrians, who captured the main city of Samaria in 722 B.C. Later the Babylonians destroyed the southern kingdom of Judah, with the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 B.C. On both occasions the conquering nations exiled the Israelite people.

2Ki 17:5-8, 18-23 Then the king of Assyria invaded all the land and came to Samaria, and for three years he besieged it. ⁶In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria captured Samaria, and he carried the Israelites away to Assyria and placed them in Halah, and on the Habor, the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes. ⁷And this occurred because the people of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, who had brought them up out of the land of Egypt from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods ⁸and walked in the customs of the nations whom the LORD drove out before the people of Israel, and in the customs that the kings of Israel had practiced. ... ¹⁸Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel and removed them out of his sight. None was left but the tribe of Judah only. ¹⁹Judah also did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the customs that Israel had introduced. ²⁰And the LORD rejected all the descendants of Israel and afflicted them and gave them into the hand of plunderers, until he had cast them out of his sight. ²¹When he had torn Israel from the house of David, they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. And Jeroboam drove Israel from following the LORD and made them commit great sin. ²²The people of Israel walked in all the sins that Jeroboam did. They did not depart from them, ²³until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he had spoken by all his servants the prophets. So Israel was exiled from their own land to Assyria until this day.

Note that v. 21a is referring to the division of Israel into two kingdoms.

2Ki 25:10-12 And all the army of the Chaldeans, who were with the captain of the guard, broke down the walls around Jerusalem. ¹¹And the rest of the people who were left in the city and the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon, together with the rest of the multitude, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried into exile. ¹²But the captain of the guard left some of the poorest of the land to be vinedressers and plowmen.

2Chr 36:20 He took into exile in Babylon those who had escaped from the sword, and they became servants to him and to his sons until the establishment of the kingdom of Persia, ...

1Chr 9:1a And Judah was taken into exile in Babylon because of their breach of faith.

Jer 16:12-13 ... and because you have done worse than your fathers, for behold, every one of you follows his stubborn, evil will, refusing to listen to me. ¹³Therefore I will hurl you out of this land into a land that neither you nor your fathers have known, and there you shall serve other gods day and night, for I will show you no favor.

Jer 52:27-30 And the king of Babylon struck them down, and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was taken into exile out of its land. ²⁸This is the number of the people whom Nebuchadnezzar carried away captive: in the seventh year, 3,023 Judeans; ²⁹in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar he carried away captive from Jerusalem 832 persons; ³⁰in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Judeans 745 persons; all the persons were 4,600.

The people of Judah were exiled to Babylon in three stages, with the final one following the actual destruction of Jerusalem.

Hos 9:3, 17 They shall not remain in the land of the LORD, but Ephraim shall return to Egypt, and they shall eat unclean food in Assyria.  ... ¹⁷My God will reject them because they have not listened to him; they shall be wanderers among the nations.

The northern kingdom of Israel was sometimes referred to by the name of its leading tribe, Ephraim (v. 3).

Mic 4:10 Writhe and groan,^j O daughter of Zion, like a woman in labor, for now you shall go out from the city and dwell in the open country; you shall go to Babylon. There you shall be rescued; there the LORD will redeem you from the hand of your enemies.

✦ The resettlement of the former northern kingdom of Israel with foreigners, with the resultant false worship:

2Ki 17:24, 28-29, 32-34 And the king of Assyria brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the people of Israel. And they took possession of Samaria and lived in its cities.  ... ²⁸So one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and lived in Bethel and taught them how they should fear the LORD. ²⁹But every nation still made gods of its own and put them in the shrines of the high places that the Samaritans had made, every nation in the cities in which they lived.  ... ³²They also feared the LORD and appointed from among themselves all sorts of people as priests of the high places, who sacrificed for them in the shrines of the high places. ³³So they feared the LORD but also served their own gods, after the manner of the nations from among whom they had been carried away. ³⁴To this day they do according to the former manner. They do not fear the LORD, and they do not follow the statutes or the rules or the law or the commandment that the LORD commanded the children of Jacob, whom he named Israel.

Foreign national groups were settled in the former northern kingdom of Israel, the whole region also being known as Samaria. They intermarried with the Israelites who had remained. These foreigners brought their pagan worship practices (vv. 29, 33-34), which were intermingled with some attempt to worship the true God (vv. 28, 33). Thus later the people of Judah, the Jews, came to look down on the people of Samaria, the Samaritans, as not being true Israelites and because of their false worship.

However, God would not completely destroy Israel . . .

Isa 65:8 Thus says the LORD: "As the new wine is found in the cluster, and they say, 'Do not destroy it, for there is a blessing in it,' so I will do for my servants' sake, and not destroy them all.

Jer 5:10, 18 Go up through her vine rows and destroy, but make not a full end; strip away her branches, for they are not the LORD's.  ... ¹⁸"But even in those days, declares the LORD, I will not make a full end of you.

Verse 10 is speaking symbolically of the nation as a whole.

Jer 30:11 For I am with you to save you, declares the LORD; I will make a full end of all the nations among whom I scattered you, but of you I will not make a full end. I will discipline you in just measure, and I will by no means leave you unpunished.

Jer 31:35-37 Thus says the LORD, who gives the sun for light by day and the fixed order of the moon and the stars for light by night, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar— the LORD of hosts is his name: ³⁶*"If this fixed order departs from before me, declares the LORD, then shall the offspring of Israel cease from being a nation before me forever."* ³⁷*Thus says the LORD: "If the heavens above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth below can be explored, then I will cast off all the offspring of Israel for all that they have done, declares the LORD."*

Amos 9:8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are upon the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from the surface of the ground, except that I will not utterly destroy the house of Jacob," declares the LORD.

God would destroy "the sinful kingdom" of Israel, but would not totally destroy its people.

Jer 4:27 For thus says the LORD, "The whole land shall be a desolation; yet I will not make a full end.

As with his people, God would ruin the land – but not completely.

... God promised to spare a remnant of Israel

2Ki 19:30-31 And the surviving remnant of the house of Judah shall again take root downward and bear fruit upward. ³¹*For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and out of Mount Zion a band of survivors. The zeal of the LORD will do this.*

Note that apart from the use of "the LORD of hosts" in the last statement, this promise is repeated verbatim in Isaiah 37:31-32.

Ezra 9:8, 13, 15 But now for a brief moment favor has been shown by the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant and to give us a secure hold^k within his holy place, that our God may brighten our eyes and grant us a little reviving in our slavery. ... ¹³And after all that has come upon us for our evil deeds and for our great guilt, seeing that you, our God, have punished us less than our iniquities deserved and have given us such a remnant as this, ... ¹⁵O LORD, the God of Israel, you are just, for we are left a remnant that has escaped, as it is today. Behold, we are before you in our guilt, for none can stand before you because of this.

^k Hebrew nail, or tent-pin

Note that v. 13b suggests that in sparing a remnant God had punished the people of Israel less than they had deserved (cf. NLT).

Isa 6:13 And though a tenth remain in it, it will be burned¹ again, like a terebinth or an oak, whose stump remains when it is felled." The holy seed^m is its stump.

^m Or offspring

The "holy seed" are the faithful few. They are the "stump" that would remain, from which Israel would grow again (cf. Isa 17:6 ↓).

Isa 8:18 Behold, I and the children whom the LORD has given me are signs and portents in Israel from the LORD of hosts, who dwells on Mount Zion.

The meanings of Isaiah's name (Yahweh saves) and his sons' names – one of which was Shear-Jashub (a remnant will return) signified that a remnant of the people would be saved.

Isa 17:6 Gleanings will be left in it, as when an olive tree is beaten— two or three berries in the top of the highest bough, four or five on the branches of a fruit tree, declares the LORD God of Israel.

Like an olive tree or a fruit tree would have just a few olives or pieces of fruit left after reaping, a remnant of Israel's people would be left after God's judgment of her.

Jer 50:20 In those days and in that time, declares the LORD, iniquity shall be sought in Israel, and there shall be none, and sin in Judah, and none shall be found, for I will pardon those whom I leave as a remnant.

Ezek 6:8a "Yet I will leave some of you alive.

Note that there are a number of other verses in which God promises to return the people of Israel and/or Judah to his land. Many of these appear to be speaking (primarily at least) of a return to a restored Israel of the end times. Many such verses can be found in the above cross references. A number of the following passages also can be applied to this still future restoration of Israel.

Jer 23:7-8 "Therefore, behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when they shall no longer say, 'As the LORD lives who brought up the people of Israel out of the land of Egypt,'⁸ but 'As the LORD lives who brought up and led the offspring of the house of Israel out of the north country and out of all the countries where heⁿ had driven them.' Then they shall dwell in their own land."

ⁿ Septuagint; Hebrew I

Isa 35:10 And the ransomed of the LORD shall return and come to Zion with singing; everlasting joy shall be upon their heads; they shall obtain gladness and joy, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

Ezek 20:41-42 As a pleasing aroma I will accept you, when I bring you out from the peoples and gather you out of the countries where you have been scattered. And I will manifest my holiness among you in the sight of the nations. ⁴²And you shall know that I am the LORD, when I bring you into the land of Israel, the country that I swore to give to your fathers.

Ezek 34:11-13 For thus says the Lord GOD: Behold, I, I myself will search for my sheep and will seek them out. ¹²As a shepherd seeks out his flock when he is among his sheep that have been scattered, so will I seek out my sheep, and I will rescue them from all places where they have been scattered on a day of clouds and thick darkness. ¹³And I will bring them out from the peoples and gather them from the countries, and will bring them into their own land. And I will feed them on the mountains of Israel, by the ravines, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

Jer 27:21-22 ... thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that are left in the house of the LORD, in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem: ²²They shall be carried to Babylon and remain there until the day when I visit them, declares the LORD. Then I will bring them back and restore them to this place.

This is speaking about furnishings of the temple rather than the people themselves, but it is also applicable to the people, being reflective of their circumstances.

Mic 4:10 Writhe and groan,^o O daughter of Zion, like a woman in labor, for now you shall go out from the city and dwell in the open country; you shall go to Babylon. There you shall be rescued; there the LORD will redeem you from the hand of your enemies.

^o Or push

✚ God promised to bring the exiles from Judah back after seventy years in Babylon:

Jer 29:10 For thus says the LORD: When seventy years are completed for Babylon, I will visit you, and I will fulfill to you my promise and bring you back to this place.

Jeremiah had earlier spoken of the exile lasting seventy years in Babylon in 25:11-12 (cf. 2Chr 36:21; Dan 9:2).

Jews did return to the land – rebuilding the temple and Jerusalem's walls

After 70 years of captivity in Babylon (cf. 2Chr 36:21; Zec 1:12; 7:5), descendants of the southern Israelite kingdom of Judah did return to the land. They were known as "Jews", the term coming from the name "Judah".

Ezra 1:1-8, 11 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and also put it in writing: ²Thus says Cyrus king of Persia: The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he has charged me to build him a house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah. ³Whoever is among you of all his people, may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and rebuild the house of the LORD, the God of Israel—he is the God who is in Jerusalem. ⁴And let each survivor, in whatever place he sojourns, be assisted by the men of his place with silver and gold, with goods and with beasts, besides freewill offerings for the house of God that is in Jerusalem." ⁵Then rose up the heads of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, everyone whose spirit God had stirred to go up to rebuild the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem. ⁶And all who were about them aided them with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, with beasts, and with costly wares, besides all that was freely offered. ⁷Cyrus the king also brought out the vessels of the house of the LORD that Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and placed in the house of his gods. ⁸Cyrus king of Persia brought these out in the charge of Mithredath the treasurer, who counted them out to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah.  ... ¹¹all the vessels of gold and of silver were 5,400. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up, when the exiles were brought up from Babylonia to Jerusalem.

This marked the beginning of the return of exiles to Judah. Note that Sheshbazzar (vv. 8, 11) appears to have been the designated governor of Judah (cf. CEV, GNT), or at least the official who initially led or oversaw the returning exiles.

Ezra 2:1-2 Now these were the people of the province who came up out of the captivity of those exiles whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried captive to Babylonia. They returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his own town. ²*They came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel: ...*

The subsequent verses (cf. vv. 3-63) contain a list numbering the returning exiles in their clans.

Ezra 2:64-68, 70 The whole assembly together was 42,360, ⁶⁵besides their male and female servants, of whom there were 7,337, and they had 200 male and female singers. ⁶⁶Their horses were 736, their mules were 245, ⁶⁷their camels were 435, and their donkeys were 6,720. ⁶⁸Some of the heads of families, when they came to the house of the LORD that is in Jerusalem, made freewill offerings for the house of God, to erect it on its site.  ... ⁷⁰Now the priests, the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the temple servants lived in their towns, and all the rest of Israel^p in their towns.

^p Hebrew all Israel

Ezra 3:1-3 When the seventh month came, and the children of Israel were in the towns, the people gathered as one man to Jerusalem. ²Then arose Jeshua the son of Jozadak, with his fellow priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel with his kinsmen, and they built the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings on it, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God. ³They set the altar in its place, for fear was on them because of the peoples of the lands, and they offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD, burnt offerings morning and evening.

Ezra 6:14-16 And the elders of the Jews built and prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. They finished their building by decree of the God of Israel and by decree of Cyrus and Darius and Artaxerxes king of Persia; ¹⁵and this house was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king. ¹⁶And the people of Israel, the priests and the Levites, and the rest of the returned exiles, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy.

This is speaking of the rebuilding of the temple. Note that this was later replaced piecemeal largely by Herod the Great, who began his work in 20-19 B.C. Herod's temple took 46 years to complete (cf. John 2:20).

Neh 2:17-18 Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in, how Jerusalem lies in ruins with its gates burned. Come, let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer suffer derision." ¹⁸And I told them of the hand of my God that had been upon me for good, and also of the words that the king had spoken to me. And they said, "Let us rise up and build." So they strengthened their hands for the good work.

Neh 6:15-16 So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of the month Elul, in fifty-two days. ¹⁶And when all our enemies heard of it, all the nations around us were afraid and fell greatly in their own esteem, for they perceived that this work had been accomplished with the help of our God.

✦ Jesus' prophecy of the destruction of the temple:

Luke 21:5-6 And while some were speaking of the temple, how it was adorned with noble stones and offerings, he said, "As for these things that you see, the days will come when there will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down."

This prophecy was fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Romans captured Jerusalem and burned the temple, the one built largely by Herod the Great.

Note: Because God remembers his covenant with Abraham, God cares for and is merciful to Israel

Ex 2:23-25 During those many days the king of Egypt died, and the people of Israel groaned because of their slavery and cried out for help. Their cry for rescue from slavery came up to God. ²⁴And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob. ²⁵God saw the people of Israel—and God knew.

The last phrase indicates that God took notice (cf. NASB, NKJV, NRSV) of his people's predicament, and implies that he was concerned for them (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NLT). Note that God's covenant with Abraham was confirmed with his son Isaac and his grandson Jacob.

Ex 6:2-8 God spoke to Moses and said to him, "I am the LORD. ³I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, as God Almighty,⁴ but by my name the LORD I did not make myself known to them. ⁴I also established my covenant with them to give them the land of Canaan, the land in which they lived as sojourners. ⁵Moreover, I have heard the groaning of the people of Israel whom the Egyptians hold as slaves, and I have remembered my covenant. ⁶Say therefore to the people of Israel, 'I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment. ⁷I will take you to be my people, and I will be your God, and you shall know that I am the LORD your God, who has brought you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians. ⁸I will bring you into the land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. I will give it to you for a possession. I am the LORD.”

⁹ Hebrew El Shaddai

Lev 26:40-45 “But if they confess their iniquity and the iniquity of their fathers in their treachery that they committed against me, and also in walking contrary to me, ⁴¹so that I walked contrary to them and brought them into the land of their enemies—if then their uncircumcised heart is humbled and they make amends for their iniquity, ⁴²then I will remember my covenant with Jacob, and I will remember my covenant with Isaac and my covenant with Abraham, and I will remember the land. ⁴³But the land shall be abandoned by them and enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies desolate without them, and they shall make amends for their iniquity, because they spurned my rules and their soul abhorred my statutes. ⁴⁴Yet for all that, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not spurn them, neither will I abhor them so as to destroy them utterly and break my covenant with them, for I am the LORD their God. ⁴⁵But I will for their sake remember the covenant with their forefathers, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the nations, that I might be their God: I am the LORD.”

In v. 45 and probably also in v. 44, it is God's covenant made at Sinai with the Israelites that is primarily in view. Like the aforementioned covenant with Abraham and the other patriarchs (v. 42), because of God's faithfulness to it he would remember it and mercifully care for the people. Note that God's promise to remember his covenant with the rebellious Israelites was dependant on them repenting (vv. 40-41).

Deut 4:31 For the LORD your God is a merciful God. He will not leave you or destroy you or forget the covenant with your fathers that he swore to them.

God's covenant with Abraham and the other patriarchs is probably the one spoken of here.

2Ki 13:22-23 Now Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz. ²³But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion on them, and he turned toward them, because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them, nor has he cast them from his presence until now.

Ps 105:7-11, 42-45 He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth. ⁸He remembers his covenant forever, the word that he commanded, for a thousand generations, ⁹the covenant that he made with Abraham, his sworn promise to Isaac, ¹⁰which he confirmed to Jacob as a statute, to Israel as an everlasting covenant, ¹¹saying, “To you I will give the land of Canaan as your portion for an inheritance.” ... ⁴²For he remembered his holy promise, and Abraham, his servant. ⁴³So he brought his people out with joy, his chosen ones with singing. ⁴⁴And he gave them the lands of the nations, and they took possession of the fruit of the peoples' toil, ⁴⁵that they might keep his statutes and observe his laws. Praise the LORD!

Luke 1:68-75 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he has visited and redeemed his people ⁶⁹and has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David, ⁷⁰as he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, ⁷¹that we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us; ⁷²to show the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant, ⁷³the oath that he swore to our father Abraham, to grant us ⁷⁴that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear, ⁷⁵in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

✦ God acted faithfully in all that happened to Israel:

Neh 9:33 Yet you have been righteous in all that has come upon us, for you have dealt faithfully and we have acted wickedly.

Despite Israel's great guilt, God acted faithfully; he did not forsake them (vv. 7-32).

I. The Messiah's Identity

The OT Scriptures speak of a leader chosen and sent by God to save his people and to reign forever. This leader is known as the "Christ" or the "Messiah" – which are Greek and Hebrew terms respectively, meaning the "anointed" or the "Anointed One". In NT times the Jews looked forward to the Messiah's coming and many still do today. But the NT provides compelling evidence that this Messiah was in fact Jesus Christ.

Note that this chapter is in a sense a prologue to the whole of Part C. God and the World: Jesus Christ, as Jesus being the Christ or Messiah undergirds many of the topics.

a) The Promise of a Messiah in OT Scripture

Note that in addition to the references in this section, there are a number of other OT passages that are understood to refer to the Messiah, many of which appear in the subsections cross-referenced immediately above and at the beginning of some of the following subsections.

Subsections

- The OT Scriptures speak of a coming anointed one of God, who would have God's Spirit on him . . .
- . . . They describe him as a remarkable chosen servant of God
- The OT promises that such a one would arise as a great ruler of Israel
- The OT says the ruler will bring justice and salvation to the nations

- The OT also says he would suffer and die, for people's sins – but then be raised and exalted

The OT Scriptures speak of a coming anointed one of God, who would have God's Spirit on him . . .

Ps 2:2 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD and against his Anointed, saying, ...

This was composed for the coronation of Davidic kings, but is understood to be messianic – ultimately speaking of the Messiah.

Dan 9:24-26a "Seventy weeks^a are decreed about your people and your holy city, to finish the transgression, to put an end to sin, and to atone for iniquity, to bring in everlasting righteousness, to seal both vision and prophet, and to anoint a most holy place.^b ²⁵Know therefore and understand that from the going out of the word to restore and build Jerusalem to the coming of an anointed one, a prince, there shall be seven weeks. Then for sixty-two weeks it shall be built again with squares and moat, but in a troubled time. ²⁶And after the sixty-two weeks, an anointed one shall be cut off and shall have nothing.

^a Or sevens; also twice in verse 25 and once in verse 26

^b Or thing, or one

The text note at the end of v. 24 indicates that "to anoint a most holy place" may be referring to the anointing of a most holy "one" – i.e. the Messiah, spoken of in the subsequent verses. As the ESV text stands, quite possibly the consecration of a future temple of God is in view. Verse 26a was fulfilled in Jesus Christ's death. Regarding the "weeks", many scholars understand the term to denote seven years – and thus the seventy "weeks" (v. 24) to be 490 years. However there is a lack of agreement as to what periods of time are being referred to. Note that "to seal both vision and prophet" (v. 24) is usually understood as meaning to confirm and/or fulfill prophecies (cf. CEV, GNT, NCV, NLT).

Ps 45:6-7 Your throne, O God, is forever and ever. The scepter of your kingdom is a scepter of uprightness; ⁷you have loved righteousness and hated wickedness. Therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions; ...

Psalm 45 is seen as messianic, as borne out in v. 6a.

Ps 132:17 There I will make a horn to sprout for David; I have prepared a lamp for my anointed. 📖

Probably "my anointed" refers at least primarily to David, but it is often understood to ultimately be speaking of the coming messianic anointed one of God – "My Anointed" (NKJV).

Isa 61:1 The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me, because the LORD has anointed me to bring good news to the poor;^c he has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound;^d ... 📖

^c Or afflicted

^d Or the opening [of the eyes] to those who are blind; Septuagint and recovery of sight to the blind

These words are prophetically attributed to the Messiah.

Isa 11:1-2 There shall come forth a shoot from the stump of Jesse, and a branch from his roots shall bear fruit. ²*And the Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and might, the Spirit of knowledge and the fear of the LORD.* 📖

Isa 42:1b I have put my Spirit upon him; he will bring forth justice to the nations. 📖

... They describe him as a remarkable chosen servant of God

Isa 42:1a Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; ... 📖

Isa 49:1-3, 5-7 Listen to me, O coastlands, and give attention, you peoples from afar. The LORD called me from the womb, from the body of my mother he named my name. ²He made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand he hid me; he made me a polished arrow; in his quiver he hid me away. ³And he said to me, "You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will be glorified." 📖 ... ⁵And now the LORD says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him; and that Israel might be gathered to him— for I am honored in the eyes of the LORD, and my God has become my strength— ⁶he says: "It is too light a thing that you should be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to bring back the preserved of Israel; I will make you as a light for the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth." ⁷Thus says the LORD, the Redeemer of Israel and his Holy One, to one deeply despised, abhorred by the nation, the servant of rulers: "Kings shall see and arise; princes, and they shall prostrate themselves; because of the LORD, who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you." 📖

^e Or I will display my beauty

Verse 2 speaks of God readying the one he had called for the decisive work ahead. In v. 3 "Israel" is usually understood to be a reference to the messianic servant, quite possibly as the one who would embody and accomplish all that Israel should have been and done in bringing God's salvation to all nations.

Isa 52:13 Behold, my servant shall act wisely;^f he shall be high and lifted up, and shall be exalted. 📖

^f Or shall prosper

Isa 53:11 Out of the anguish of his soul he shall see^g and be satisfied; by his knowledge shall the righteous one, my servant, make many to be accounted righteous, and he shall bear their iniquities. 📖

^g Masoretic Text; Dead Sea Scroll he shall see light

Hag 2:23 On that day, declares the LORD of hosts, I will take you, O Zerubbabel my servant, the son of Shealtiel, declares the LORD, and make you like a^h signet ring, for I have chosen you, declares the LORD of hosts. 📖

^h Hebrew the

Many understand Zerubbabel – an ancestor of Jesus Christ (cf. Matt 1:12-13) – to be spoken of here as foreshadowing the Messiah. This is reflected in him being "chosen" by God and being described as God's "servant" and "signet ring" – the latter term implying that he was representative of God's authority, to implement his will.

Zec 3:8 Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, you and your friends who sit before you, for they are men who are a sign: behold, I will bring my servant the Branch. 📖

The term "the Branch" is a messianic title (cf. Zec 6:12-13 ↴).

✦ The Jews also spoke of "the Christ of God, his Chosen One":

Luke 23:35 And the people stood by, watching, but the rulers scoffed at him, saying, "He saved others; let him save himself, if he is the Christ of God, his Chosen One!" 📖

Here the Jewish rulers refer to OT teaching of the coming of God's Christ, speaking of him as the one chosen by God.

The OT promises that such a one would arise as a great ruler of Israel

See also:

Gen 49:10 The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from between his feet, until tribute comes to him;ⁱ and to him shall be the obedience of the peoples.

- ⁱ By a slight revocalization; a slight emendation yields (compare Septuagint, Syriac, Targum) until he comes to whom it belongs; Hebrew until Shiloh comes, or until he comes to Shiloh

Particularly in view of the text note (cf. AMP, NCV, NIV, NLT), this is commonly understood to refer to a great ruler coming from the tribe of Judah. Both this and the following prophecy from Numbers 24:17-19 may have been initially fulfilled in David, but probably both primarily or ultimately refer to the promised, divinely appointed leader.

Num 24:17-19 I see him, but not now; I behold him, but not near: a star shall come out of Jacob, and a scepter shall rise out of Israel; it shall crush the foreheadⁱ of Moab and break down all the sons of Sheth. ¹⁸Edom shall be dispossessed; Seir also, his enemies, shall be dispossessed. Israel is doing valiantly. ¹⁹And one from Jacob shall exercise dominion and destroy the survivors of cities!

- ⁱ Hebrew corners [of the head]

This speaks of the messianic leader of Israel crushing Israel's enemies, exercising dominion beyond Israel.

Jer 30:21 Their prince shall be one of themselves; their ruler shall come out from their midst; I will make him draw near, and he shall approach me, for who would dare of himself to approach me? declares the LORD.

Dan 9:25a Know therefore and understand that from the going out of the word to restore and build Jerusalem to the coming of an anointed one, a prince, there shall be seven weeks.

In this context, "a prince" speaks of a significant ruler of Israel.

Mic 5:2 ^kBut you, O Bethlehem Ephrathah, who are too little to be among the clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me one who is to be ruler in Israel, whose coming forth is from of old, from ancient days.

- ^k Ch 5:1 in Hebrew

Zec 6:11-13 Take from them silver and gold, and make a crown, and set it on the head of Joshua, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest. ¹²And say to him, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, "Behold, the man whose name is the Branch: for he shall branch out from his place, and he shall build the temple of the LORD. ¹³*It is he who shall build the temple of the LORD and shall bear royal honor, and shall sit and rule on his throne. And there shall be a priest on his throne, and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.*"

This crowning of the high priest (v. 11) is understood to be symbolic, portraying the messianic King-Priest who would build the temple of God (v. 12). The final statement (v. 13b) affirms that this leader will combine and bring harmony between the two offices of Priest and King (cf. AMP). Note that the temple of God (v. 12) is quite possibly a reference to the church, although some consider it to represent a millennial temple.

Zec 9:9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, your king is coming to you; righteous and having salvation is he, humble and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey.

Zec 10:4 From him [Judah] shall come the cornerstone, from him the tent peg, from him the battle bow, from him every ruler—all of them together.

A number of commentators understand this to be messianic. The terms "cornerstone" and "tent peg" invoke thoughts of a supportive mainstay; the "battle bow" signifies might against enemies. Arguably "every ruler" looks forward to the ultimate ruler, the Messiah.

Mal 3:1 Behold, I send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts.

This verse points to the messianic ruler – "the Lord" – bringing a new covenant, between God and his people.

Ps 80:16-18 They have burned it with fire; they have cut it down; may they perish at the rebuke of your face! ¹⁷But let your hand be on the man of your right hand, the son of man whom you have made strong for yourself! ¹⁸*Then we shall not turn back from you; give us life, and we will call upon your name!*

Verse 16a speaks of Israel, God's people (v. 16b). The nation of Israel may also be in view in v. 17 (cf. vv. 14-15). Alternatively v. 17 may speak of a Davidic king – possibly in particular the Messiah, through whom the nation would be given life (v. 18). This is perhaps supported by the use of the term "the son of man", which was commonly used by Jesus Christ as a reference to himself. But note that v. 15 speaks of Israel with similar terminology – "the son whom you made strong for yourself".

Ezek 21:25-27 And you, O profane¹ wicked one, prince of Israel, whose day has come, the time of your final punishment, ²⁶thus says the Lord GOD: Remove the turban and take off the crown. Things shall not remain as they are. Exalt that which is low, and bring low that which is exalted. ²⁷A ruin, ruin, ruin I will make it. This also shall not be, until he comes, the one to whom judgment belongs, and I will give it to him.

¹ Or slain; also verse 29

Some commentators understand the "turban" to refer to the high priesthood. This being the case, with the reference also to the "crown", these verses would point to the dual role of high priest and king of the one to come (cf. Zec 6:13 ). Verse 27 appears to be speaking of Jerusalem and/or Israel being made a ruin, until the one comes "to whom judgment belongs" – the Messiah, to whom the right to rule would be given (v. 27; cf. AMP, NCV, Nlrv). Note, however, that in light of the rendering in some translations of v. 27b, Nebuchadnezzar could be in view (cf. CEV, GNT) as the ruler of the Babylonians who would sack Jerusalem.

Isa 42:1-4, 6-7 Behold my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my Spirit upon him; he will bring forth justice to the nations. ²He will not cry aloud or lift up his voice, or make it heard in the street; ³a bruised reed he will not break, and a faintly burning wick he will not quench; he will faithfully bring forth justice. ⁴He will not grow faint or be discouraged^m till he has established justice in the earth; and the coastlands wait for his law.  ... ⁶"I am the LORD; I have called you in righteousness; I will take you by the

^mOr bruised

Verse 4b appears to speak of "foreign nations" (CEV; cf. GNT, NCV, NLT) putting their hope in the Messiah's "law" or rule to bring justice and salvation. Note that these verses are part of the first of Isaiah's four "servant songs" – possibly extending to v. 9. The others are in 49:1-7 or 1-13 (extracts of which follow); 50:4-9 or 4-11; and 52:13-53:12. Some consider that 61:1-3, or 1-11 to be a fifth "servant song". Most commentators understand each of these to be primarily speaking of the Messiah, the divinely appointed leader.

Isa 49:5-6 And now the LORD says, he who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him; and that Israel might be gathered to him— for I am honored in the eyes of the LORD, and my God has become my strength— ⁶he says: "It is too light a thing that you should be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to bring back the preserved of Israel; I will make you as a light for the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth."

Isa 52:15 ... so shall he sprinkleⁿ many nations; kings shall shut their mouths because of him; for that which has not been told them they see, and that which they have not heard they understand.

ⁿ Or startle

The meaning of the Hebrew term translated here as "sprinkle" is not clear (cf. NRSV text note). It possibly means "cleanse" (NLT text note) – as "sprinkle" implies – in which case "sprinkle many nations" would have in view the cleansing and consequent salvation of the Gentiles by the Messiah.

Isa 55:4 Behold, I made him a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander for the peoples.

This is either referring to the Messiah or back to David (cf. v. 3) as "one (One) who shall testify of salvation" to the peoples (AMP). Even if David is primarily in view, the prophecy is ultimately fulfilled in the Messiah.

Ezek 17:22-23 Thus says the Lord GOD: "I myself will take a sprig from the lofty top of the cedar and will set it out. I will break off from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one, and I myself will plant it on a high and lofty mountain. ²³*On the mountain height of Israel will I plant it, that it may bear branches and produce fruit and become a noble cedar. And* under it will dwell every kind of bird; in the shade of its branches birds of every sort will nest.

This is understood to be a messianic promise. The “sprig” (v. 22) – i.e. a small stem – likely symbolizes the Messiah, who is thus portrayed as being given a place of authority above all others. The birds (v. 23b) most likely represent other nations or people from them, who would find shelter in the messianic kingdom produced by the “sprig”. As such this points to the Messiah’s salvation – and even his justice – for all peoples.

Isa 9:1-2 ^oBut there will be no gloom for her who was in anguish. In the former time he brought into contempt the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but in the latter time he has made glorious the way of the sea, the land beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the nations.^p ^q*The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light; those who dwelt in a land of deep darkness, on them has light shined.*

^q Ch 9:1 in Hebrew

The Messiah is in view here (cf. vv. 6-7) as bringing light – effectively the light of salvation – to Gentiles.

Isa 51:4-5 Give attention to me, my people, and give ear to me, my nation; for a law^r will go out from me, and I will set my justice for a light to the peoples. ⁵My righteousness draws near, my salvation has gone out, and my arms will judge the peoples; the coastlands hope for me, and for my arm they wait.

^r Or for teaching; also verse 7

This speaks of God bringing justice and salvation to the nations. However the references elsewhere in Isaiah to God’s messianic servant bringing justice (cf. Isa 11:4 ↑; Isa 42:1-4 ↑) and salvation (cf. Isa 49:6 ↑) – and “light” (cf. Isa 42:6 ↑; Isa 49:6 ↑) – point to God doing this through the work of the Messiah.

‡ The OT Scriptures speak of God giving the Messiah sovereign authority and of all peoples serving him:

Dan 7:13-14 I saw in the night visions, and behold, with the clouds of heaven there came one like a son of man, and he came to the Ancient of Days and was presented before him. ¹⁴*And to him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom, that all peoples, nations, and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom one that shall not be destroyed.*

The OT speaks of the ruler crushing the wicked

Isa 11:4b ... he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he shall kill the wicked.

Isa 49:1-2 Listen to me, O coastlands, and give attention, you peoples from afar. The LORD called me from the womb, from the body of my mother he named my name. ²*He made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand he hid me; he made me a polished arrow; in his quiver he hid me away.*

Particularly in view of the imagery in 11:4b above, this may well point to the Messiah inflicting judgment on the wicked (vv. 8-9; cf. Rev 19:15). However a number of commentators understand it to be speaking primarily of the power and incisiveness of the Messiah’s words.

Ps 2:6-9 [God:] “As for me, I have set my King on Zion, my holy hill.” ⁷I will tell of the decree: The LORD said to me, “You are my Son; today I have begotten you. ⁸*Ask of me, and I will make the nations your heritage, and the ends of the earth your possession.* ⁹*You shall break^s them with a rod of iron and dash them in pieces like a potter’s vessel.”*

^s Revocalization yields (compare Septuagint) You shall rule

Like the following two references (21:8-9; 110:5-6), this is from a psalm concerning a Davidic king and with messianic applications. Installed by God as King in Zion (v. 6), the Messiah will assert his authority over the nations (vv. 8-9). In so doing, he will shatter the wicked among them (v. 9b; cf. Rev 19:15).

Ps 21:8-9 Your hand will find out all your enemies; your right hand will find out those who hate you. ⁹*You will make them as a blazing oven when you appear. The LORD will swallow them up in his wrath, and fire will consume them.*

The final statement (v. 9b) speaks of the manifestation of God’s wrath with the appearance of the Davidic king.

Ps 110:5-6 The Lord is at your right hand; he will shatter kings on the day of his wrath. ⁶*He will execute judgment among the nations, filling them with corpses; he will shatter chiefs^t over the wide earth.*

^t Or the head

Note that the “Lord” (v. 5) refers either to God, as he crushes rulers through his Messiah, or to the Messiah himself, referred to in v. 1 both as “Lord” and as being seated at God’s right hand as may be the case here in v. 5a.

Hag 2:21-23 “Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying, I am about to shake the heavens and the earth, ²²*and to overthrow the throne of kingdoms. I am about to destroy* the strength of the kingdoms of the nations, and overthrow the chariots and their riders. And the horses and their riders shall go down, every one by the sword of his brother. ²³On that day, declares the LORD of hosts, I will take you, O Zerubbabel my servant, the son of Shealtiel, declares the LORD, and make you like a^u signet ring, for I have chosen you, declares the LORD of hosts.”

^u Hebrew the

As commented earlier, many understand Zerubbabel here as foreshadowing the Messiah. The passage quite possibly ultimately points to the day of the LORD when God's Messiah will come with his authority and the earthly powers will be crushed.

Mal 3:1-2, 5 Behold, I send my messenger, and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the LORD of hosts. ²But who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap. ... ⁵“Then I will draw near to you for judgment. I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, against the adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those who oppress the hired worker in his wages, the widow and the fatherless, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me, says the LORD of hosts.

This is generally understood as referring to the Messiah's coming and God's judgment through him. The wicked who have done things such as those things mentioned in v. 5 will not be able to endure or stand on that day.

The ruler would be a descendant of King David, in accordance with God's promise to David 1Chr 17:11-14 When your [David's] days are fulfilled to walk with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, one of your own sons, and I will establish his kingdom. ¹²He shall build a house for me, and I will establish his throne forever. ¹³I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son. I will not take my steadfast love from him, as I took it from him who was before you, ¹⁴but I will confirm him in my house and in my kingdom forever, and his throne shall be established forever.

This is God's promise to David, as referred to in the above subheading, of a permanent kingdom under a godly and powerful king from David's line. It speaks initially of David's son Solomon, but the promise is understood to be consummately fulfilled in Jesus Christ. In vv. 12, 14, the "house" refers firstly to the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem; in a messianic context it is readily applicable to God's people, the church.

Ps 132:11, 17-18 The LORD swore to David a sure oath from which he will not turn back: "One of the sons of your body^v I will set on your throne. ... ¹⁷There [in Zion] I will make a horn to sprout for David; I have prepared a lamp for my anointed. ¹⁸His enemies I will clothe with shame, but on him his crown will shine."

^v Hebrew of your fruit of the womb

As is the case with the other passages in this subsection, this is understood to be messianic. The "horn" and "lamp" (v. 17) speak of the strength ("horn") and continuation ("lamp") of David's dynasty, and would be embodied by the Messiah. The "lamp" metaphor appears to come from or allude to God's promise to David that he would "always have a lamp before me in Jerusalem" (1Ki 11:36).

Isa 11:1 There shall come forth a shoot from the stump of Jesse, and a branch from his roots shall bear fruit.

Jesse was David's father. The "stump of Jesse" refers to the family or line of David – likening David's line to the remains of a tree that had been "cut down" (GNT), primarily in reference to the fall of Jerusalem (587 B.C.).

Isa 16:5 ... then a throne will be established in steadfast love, and on it will sit in faithfulness in the tent of David one who judges and seeks justice and is swift to do righteousness.

Jer 23:5 Behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when I will raise up for David a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land.

Jer 33:14-17, 25-26 "Behold, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when I will fulfill the promise I made to the house of Israel and the house of Judah. ¹⁵In those days and at that time I will cause a righteous Branch to spring up for David, and he shall execute justice and righteousness in the land. ¹⁶In those days Judah will be saved, and Jerusalem will dwell securely. And this is the name by which it will be called: 'The LORD is our righteousness.' ¹⁷"For thus says the LORD: David shall never lack a man to sit on the throne of the house of Israel, ... ²⁵Thus says the LORD: If I have not established my covenant with day and night and the fixed order of heaven and earth, ²⁶then I will reject the offspring of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his offspring to rule over the offspring of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes and will have mercy on them.”

Mark 12:35 And as Jesus taught in the temple, he said, “How can the scribes say that the Christ is the son of David?”

Jesus is not questioning that the Christ is the son of David, but using this acknowledged truth to begin making a point.

John 7:42 Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the offspring of David, and comes from Bethlehem, the village where David was?

Acts 2:29-30 Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. ³⁰Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, ...

‡ Jesus' followers associated him with the promised establishment of David's kingdom:

Mark 11:9-10 And those who went before and those who followed were shouting, “Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! ¹⁰*Blessed is the coming kingdom of our father David!* Hosanna in the highest!”

The OT also says he would suffer and die, for people's sins – but then be raised and exalted

Isa 50:6 I gave my back to those who strike, and my cheeks to those who pull out the beard; I hid not my face from disgrace and spitting.

This appears to anticipate the suffering of the messianic servant detailed shortly afterwards in Isaiah, in the extracts below.

Isa 52:13-15 Behold, my servant shall act wisely;^w he shall be high and lifted up, and shall be exalted. ¹⁴*As many were*

Isaiah 52:13-53:12 (cf. Isa 53:1-12 ↓) is the fourth of Isaiah's “servant songs”. It depicts the sufferings of the messianic servant and the resulting atonement for God's people. It has been called “the gospel in the OT” and is quoted in the NT more than any other OT passage. Verse 13 speaks of the Messiah's exaltation. In speaking of the Messiah being exalted (cf. v. 15) after dying (cf. v. 14), such references imply that he would be raised to life (cf. Isa 53:10-12 ↓). Regarding the use of “sprinkle” (v. 15a), see the earlier comment under The OT says the ruler will bring justice and salvation to the nations, p. 485. The remainder of v. 15 indicates that such will be the exaltation of the messianic servant that kings will be “speechless with amazement” (GNT) when they see his exaltation, and understand who he is and what he has accomplished.

Isa 53:3-12 He was despised and rejected^y by men; a man of sorrows,^z and acquainted with^a grief;^b and as one from whom men hide their faces^c he was despised, and we esteemed him not. ⁴*Surely he has borne our sorrows and carried our sorrows; yet we esteemed him stricken, smitten by God, and afflicted.* ⁵*But he was wounded for our transgressions; he was crushed for our iniquities; upon him was the chastisement that brought us peace, and with his stripes we are healed.* ⁶*All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned—every one—to his own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all.* ⁷*He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, and like a sheep that before its shearers is silent, so he opened not his mouth.* ⁸*By oppression and judgment he was taken away; and as for his generation, who considered that he was cut off out of the land of the living, stricken for the transgression of my people?* ⁹*And they made his grave with the wicked and with a rich man in his death, although he had done no violence, and there was no deceit in his mouth.* ¹⁰*Yet it was the will of the LORD to crush him; he has put him to grief;^d when his soul makes^e an offering for guilt, he shall see his offspring; he shall prolong his days; the will of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.* ¹¹*Out of the anguish of his soul he shall see^f and be satisfied; by his knowledge shall the righteous one, my servant, make many to be accounted righteous, and he shall bear their iniquities.* ¹²*Therefore I will divide him a portion with the many,^g and he shall divide the spoil with the strong,^h because* he poured out his soul to death and was numbered with the transgressors; yet he bore the sin of many, and makes intercession for the transgressors.

The clause "laid on him the iniquity of us all" (v. 6) may well allude to the High Priest on the Day of Atonement (Lev 16) placing his hands on the scapegoat and confessing Israel's sins, symbolically placing these sins on it. Verse 10 appears to speak of God raising his messianic servant to life (following his death): "... he shall see his offspring; he shall prolong his days ..." The term "his offspring" (v. 10b) refers to the messianic servant's spiritual descendants – those who would be given life through him. The resurrection of the Messiah is further spoken of in vv. 11-12. The phrase rendered "by his knowledge" (v. 11) may mean "because of what he has experienced" (NLT) or "by knowledge of him" (NIV® text note). All these alternatives are pertinent.

Dan 9:26a And after the sixty-two weeks, an anointed one shall be cut off and shall have nothing.

Zec 12:10 And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and pleas for mercy, so that, when they look on me, on him whom they have pierced, they shall mourn for him, as one mourns for an only child, and weep bitterly over him, as one weeps over a firstborn.

This speaks of the people of Israel grieving over the Messiah whom they had killed. The phrase "when they look on me" could possibly be speaking of them looking "to" him (cf. NIV text note) in faith, or physically looking on him, presumably on his return. The latter interpretation in particular implies that the Messiah would be raised from death to life.

Zec 13:7 "Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, against the man who stands next to me," declares the LORD of hosts. "Strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered; I will turn my hand against the little ones."

The "shepherd" is the Messiah, spoken of here as being killed or executed.

✦ The OT Scriptures say that the Christ will remain forever:

John 12:34a So the crowd answered him, "We have heard from the Law that the Christ remains forever."

Note that the cross references at the start of this and the previous subsection speak further of the everlasting reign of the Christ or Messiah.

Luke 23:35 And the people stood by, watching, but the rulers scoffed at him, saying, "He saved others; let him save himself, if he is the Christ of God, his Chosen One!"

Here the Jewish leaders make reference to Jesus' claims about himself, the validity of which they had failed to grasp.

1Pet 1:20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you ...

The term "foreknown" suggests that Christ was chosen (cf. AMP, CEV, GNT, NCV, NIV, NKJV, NLT, NRSV).

1Pet 2:4, 6 As you come to him, a living stone rejected by men but in the sight of God chosen and precious,  ... ⁶*For it stands in Scripture: "Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone, a cornerstone chosen and precious, and whoever believes in him will not be put to shame."*

This portrays Jesus Christ as God's chosen "stone" (vv. 4, 6), the prophesied chosen "cornerstone" on which God's people would depend (v. 6).

Acts 3:20 ... that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ appointed for you, Jesus, ...

Heb 3:1-2 Therefore, holy brothers,^j you who share in a heavenly calling, consider Jesus, the apostle and high priest of our confession, ²*who was faithful to him who appointed him,* just as Moses also was faithful in all God's^k house.

^j Or brothers and sisters; also verse 12

^k Greek his; also verses 5, 6

As "apostle" means "one who is sent", the reference to "Jesus, the apostle" (v. 1) has messianic overtones. Consequently the reference in v. 2 to Jesus Christ being appointed by God as apostle and high priest (cf. AMP) can be understood to point to him being the Messiah appointed by God.

John 10:36 ... do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, 'I am the Son of God'?

Here Jesus speaks of himself as the one God had "consecrated" – "set apart" (AMP, NIV) – in effect the one whom God had chosen (cf. NCV, NLT) and appointed.

Jesus Christ is the one anointed by God, with the Holy Spirit . . .

See also:

Luke 2:10-12 And the angel said to them, "Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. ¹¹For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. ¹²And this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger."

Such references to Jesus as "Christ" mean that he is "the Anointed One", as is underscored here by the expanded title "Christ the Lord". Note that the terms "Christ" (Greek) and "Messiah" (Hebrew) both mean the "Anointed One".

Acts 4:26-27 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord and against *his Anointed*¹— ²⁷for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, ...

¹ Or Christ

In v. 26 the believers are quoting from Psalm 2, applying "his Anointed" to Jesus Christ – as they make clear in v. 27.

Matt 3:16-17 And when Jesus was baptized, immediately he went up from the water, and behold, the heavens were opened to him,^m *and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming to rest on him;*¹⁷ and behold, a voice from heaven said, "This is my beloved Son,ⁿ with whom I am well pleased."

^m Some manuscripts omit to him

ⁿ Or my Son, my (or the) Beloved

The descending of the Holy Spirit onto Jesus at his baptism was God's anointing of Jesus for his mission (cf. Acts 10:38 ↓) – somewhat similar to the Holy Spirit in the OT coming upon some people at the start of their ministries, empowering them. This also marked Jesus as the Messiah – the "Anointed One" – fulfilling OT prophecies that God would bestow his Spirit on the Messiah (cf. Matt 12:18 ↓; Luke 4:17-19, 21 ↓).

John 1:32 And John bore witness: "I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on him."

Acts 10:38 ... how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him.

The coupling of the Holy Spirit and power may well be pointing to Jesus' anointing with the Holy Spirit empowering him for his mission.

Matt 12:15-19 Jesus, aware of this, withdrew from there. And many followed him, and he healed them all ¹⁶and ordered them not to make him known. ¹⁷This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: ¹⁸"Behold, my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved with whom my soul is well pleased. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles. ¹⁹He will not quarrel or cry aloud, nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets; ...

The quotation, which finishes in v. 21, is from Isaiah 42:1-4. It is applied here to Jesus, asserting him to be the Messiah, the one on whom God had bestowed his Spirit.

Luke 4:17-19, 21 And the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written, ¹⁸"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, ¹⁹to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."  ... ²¹And he began to say to them, "Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing."

Mark 1:24 "What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God."

The title "the Holy One of God" (cf. John 6:69 ) is a messianic title.

John 6:69 ... and we have believed, and have come to know, that you are the Holy One of God.

Acts 3:14 But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, ...

Note that this may be speaking primarily of Jesus' pure and righteous character – in contrast to the murderer Barabbas – rather than primarily of his messiahship. But it would appear to at least point to the latter.

Acts 13:35 Therefore he says also in another psalm, "You will not let your Holy One see corruption."

Paul is applying this quotation to Jesus Christ (cf. vv. 30-37).

Acts 3:20 ... that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ appointed for you, Jesus, ...

This speaks of Jesus being the Christ – God's "chosen Messiah" (CEV; cf. GNT, NCV).

✦ All who believe that Jesus is the Christ are "born of God":

1Jn 5:1 Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ has been born of God, and everyone who loves the Father loves whoever has been born of him.

The OT Scriptures testify to Jesus being the Messiah, the Christ

This and the following two subsections are composed mainly of NT references asserting that the OT Scriptures as a whole testify to Jesus Christ being the Messiah and to aspects of his messiahship. The following chapter section, cross-referenced immediately above, largely contains NT references citing particular OT Scriptures as evidencing that Jesus Christ is the Messiah.

Acts 18:28 ... for he powerfully refuted the Jews in public, showing by the Scriptures that the Christ was Jesus.

John 1:45 Philip found Nathanael and said to him, "We have found him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph."

Philip was convinced that the OT testimony about the Christ matched the man Jesus from Nazareth.

John 5:39, 46 You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me,  ... ⁴⁶For if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for he wrote of me.

Jesus implies that the OT writings showed that he was the Messiah. (Note that Moses is generally accredited with writing the first five books of the OT.)

John 12:41 Isaiah said these things because he saw his glory and spoke of him. 📖

This may indicate that Isaiah spoke of Jesus as the Messiah (cf. vv. 37-40; NLT).

Acts 28:23 When they had appointed a day for him, they came to him at his lodging in greater numbers. From morning till evening he expounded to them, testifying to the kingdom of God and trying to convince them about Jesus both from the Law of Moses and from the Prophets. 📖

Paul tried to convince the Jews in Rome that Jesus was the Messiah of the OT scriptures (cf. Acts 18:28 †).

For the OT speaks of the sufferings and resurrection of the Christ as fulfilled in Jesus . . .

See also:

- 1Pet 1:10-12 ↓
- The OT also says he would suffer and die, for people's sins – but then be raised and exalted, p. 488

Acts 17:2-3 And Paul went in, as was his custom, and on three Sabbath days he reasoned with them from the Scriptures, explaining and proving that it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead, and saying, "This Jesus, whom I proclaim to you, is the Christ." 📖

Matt 26:24, 52-56 The Son of Man goes as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been better for that man if he had not been born. 📖 ... ⁵²Then Jesus said to him, "Put your sword back into its place. For all who take the sword will perish by the sword. ⁵³Do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father, and he will at once send me more than twelve legions of angels? ⁵⁴But how then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must be so?" ⁵⁵At that hour Jesus said to the crowds, "Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs to capture me? Day after day I sat in the temple teaching, and you did not seize me. ⁵⁶But all this has taken place that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled." Then all the disciples left him and fled. 📖

Jesus accepted his fate that the OT Scriptures prophesied so that the Scriptures would be fulfilled.

Luke 24:25-27, 44-47 And he said to them, "O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! ²⁶Was it not necessary that the Christ should suffer these things and enter into his glory?" ²⁷And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself. 📖 ... ⁴⁴Then he said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled." ⁴⁵Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, ⁴⁶and said to them, "Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead, ⁴⁷and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. 📖

Jesus' suffering, death, resurrection – and subsequent ascension – showed emphatically that he did indeed fulfill the prophecies of the Scriptures referred to here – leading to the ensuing fulfillment of that spoken of in v. 47.

John 20:9 ... for as yet they did not understand the Scripture, that he must rise from the dead. 📖

Acts 2:29-33 Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. ³⁰Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, ³¹he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that he was not abandoned to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption. ³²This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. ³³Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing. 📖

In vv. 30-31, Peter asserts that David had spoken (cf. vv. 35-38) of the Christ being resurrected to assume the Davidic throne, as the descendant whom God had promised David would be placed on his throne. In vv. 32-33, Peter implies that God's resurrection of Jesus Christ and his exaltation of Christ to his right hand (pointing to Christ's enthronement) shows him to be the one of whom David had spoken.

Acts 3:15, 17-18 ... and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. 📖 ... ¹⁷"And now, brothers, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. ¹⁸But what God foretold by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer, he thus fulfilled. 📖

The title "the Author of life" (v. 15) refers to Jesus Christ (cf. vv. 13-14).

Acts 13:27-33 For those who live in Jerusalem and their rulers, because they did not recognize him nor understand the utterances of the prophets, which are read every Sabbath, fulfilled them by condemning him. ²⁸And though they found in him no guilt worthy of death, they asked Pilate to have him executed. ²⁹And when they had carried out all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree and laid him in a tomb. ³⁰But God raised him from the dead, ³¹and for many days he appeared to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses to the people. ³²And we bring you the good news that what God promised to the fathers, ³³this he has fulfilled to us their children by raising Jesus, as also it is written in the second Psalm, “You are my Son, today I have begotten you.”

In vv. 27-29 Paul indicates that the sufferings of the Messiah were foretold in the OT Scriptures and that these were fulfilled in Jesus Christ. In v. 32, “what God promised to the fathers” is obviously a reference to OT promises and prophecies of the Messiah, but precisely what aspects of these and how God fulfilled them “by raising Jesus” (v. 33) is debatable. The phrase “raising Jesus” (v. 33) is taken by some to refer to God sending Jesus, viewing the quotation from Psalm 2:7 as referring to Jesus’ birth. But more often it is understood to be speaking of Jesus’ resurrection – in keeping with the subsequent verses – with Psalm 2:7 being fulfilled in the Father begetting (cf. AMP, NASB, NKJV, NRSV) or giving life to the Son, God raising Jesus from death to life. Possibly it refers to Jesus’ resurrection along with his ensuing exaltation and lordship. For further comment see Acts 13:32-37 in Prophecies fulfilled in Jesus’ resurrection, p. 500.

Acts 26:22-23 To this day I have had the help that comes from God, and so I stand here testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses said would come to pass: ²³that the Christ must suffer and that, by being the first to rise from the dead, he would proclaim light both to our people and to the Gentiles.

As Jesus fulfilled these prophecies – which Paul implies in this chapter of Acts – they showed that he was the Christ.

1Cor 15:3-5 For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures, ⁴that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures, ⁵and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve.

The following references refer to the OT speaking of salvation, or aspects of it, coming through the Messiah. Additionally, they assert or imply that Jesus was this messianic savior, who would or did bring these OT prophecies of salvation to fruition.

Luke 1:69-70 ... and [God] has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David, ⁷⁰as he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, ...

Here Zechariah refers to the messianic salvation prophesied in the writings of the prophets (v. 70), as coming through Jesus (cf. vv. 76-79) – the “horn of salvation” from the line of David (v. 69).

Luke 2:25-32 Now there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon, and this man was righteous and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. ²⁶And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord’s Christ. ²⁷And he came in the Spirit into the temple, and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the Law, ²⁸he took him up in his arms and blessed God and said, ²⁹“Lord, now you are letting your servant^o depart in peace, according to your word; ³⁰for my eyes have seen your salvation ³¹that you have prepared in the presence of all peoples, ³²a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and for glory to your people Israel.”

^o Greek bondservant

In vv. 31-32 Simeon alludes to OT messianic prophecies of the Messiah bringing salvation to all people (cf. Isa 42:6; 49:6), seeing the fulfillment of them in Jesus. Note that in v. 25 “the consolation of Israel” refers to the comfort and salvation (vv. 30-32) associated with the coming of the Messiah.

John 5:39-40 You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me, ⁴⁰yet you refuse to come to me that you may have life.

In conjunction with speaking of the Scriptures as testifying to him being the Christ, Jesus may be implying that the Scriptures indicated that eternal life – a key aspect of salvation – would come through him, the Christ, the one who can give life (v. 40).

Acts 10:43 To him all the prophets bear witness that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name.

Rom 3:21-22a But now the righteousness of God has been manifested apart from the law, although the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it— ²²the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe.

Rom 16:25-26 Now to him who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery that was kept secret for long ages ²⁶*but has now been disclosed and through the prophetic writings has been made known* to all nations, according to the command of the eternal God, to bring about the obedience of faith—

The “mystery of the plan of redemption” (AMP) – redemption which comes through Jesus Christ – has been made known through the writings of the prophets.

1Pet 1:10-12 Concerning this salvation, the prophets who prophesied about the grace that was to be yours searched and inquired carefully, ¹¹*inquiring what person or time the Spirit of Christ in them was indicating when he predicted the sufferings of Christ and the subsequent glories.* ¹²*It was revealed to them that they were serving not themselves but you, in the things that have now been announced to you through those who preached the good news to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, things into which angels long to look.*

The “glories” (v. 11) most likely primarily refers to those of Christ (cf. CEV, NLT), but some see them as also encompassing those associated with believers’ salvation (v. 10a). The “things” (v. 12) refers to the various aspects of the gospel message of salvation – including Christ’s sufferings and the subsequent “glories”.

Acts 3:24 And all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and those who came after him, also proclaimed these days.

Broadly speaking, there are two ways in which prophecies are spoken of as being fulfilled by Jesus Christ. One is that prophecies or predictions were accomplished or came true in Jesus’ life. The other is that aspects of his life have marked parallels in OT Scripture which they thus fulfill in the sense that they correspond to them and reveal a deeper, more complete meaning in them. Matt 1:18-23 Now the birth of Jesus Christ^p took place in this way. When his mother Mary had been betrothed^a to Joseph, before they came together she was found to be with child from the Holy Spirit. ¹⁹And her husband Joseph, being a just man and unwilling to put her to shame, resolved to divorce her quietly. ²⁰But as he considered these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, “Joseph, son of David, do not fear to take Mary as your wife, for that which is conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit. ²¹She will bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins." ²²All this took place to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet: ²³"Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall call his name Immanuel" (which means, God with us).

^p Some manuscripts of the Christ

^q That is, legally pledged to be married

The conception of Jesus through the Holy Spirit (vv. 18b, 20b) fulfilled Isaiah 7:14, which is understood to point to the Messiah being born of a virgin. In regard to the relevance of the latter part of the prophecy in v. 23b, possibly Matthew was implying a correlation between the meanings of "Jesus" (v. 21) and "Immanuel" (v. 23b). The former means "the LORD saves", and the latter "God with us" (v.23b).

Matt 2:1-6 Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men^r from the east came to Jerusalem, ²saying, "Where is he who has been born king of the Jews? For we saw his star when it rose^s and have come to worship him." ³When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him; ⁴and assembling all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born. ⁵They told him, "In Bethlehem of Judea, for so it is written by the prophet: ⁶"And you, O Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, are by no means least among the rulers of Judah; for from you shall come a ruler who will shepherd my people Israel."

Matt 2:13-15 Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Rise, take the child and his mother, and flee to Egypt, and remain there until I tell you, for Herod is about to search for the child, to destroy him." ¹⁴And he rose and took the child and his mother by night and departed to Egypt ¹⁵and remained there until the death of Herod. This was to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet, "Out of Egypt I called my son."

Matt 2:22-23 But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there, and being warned in a dream he withdrew to the district of Galilee. ²³And he went and lived in a city called Nazareth, that what was spoken by the prophets might be fulfilled: "He shall be called a Nazarene."

The prophecy in question is not a quotation from a particular verse, as perhaps intimated by Matthew's general reference to the "prophets". One of the more prominent interpretations of this is that Matthew had in view the portrayal of the Christ in the prophets (and Psalms) as being despised, and correlated this with Nazareth being renowned as despised by many people of the time.

✦ The prophecy fulfilled in Herod's attempt to kill Jesus:

Matt 2:16-18 Then Herod, when he saw that he had been tricked by the wise men, became furious, and he sent and killed all the male children in Bethlehem and in all that region who were two years old or under, according to the time that he had ascertained from the wise men. ¹⁷Then was fulfilled what was spoken by the prophet Jeremiah: ¹⁸"A voice was heard in Ramah, weeping and loud lamentation, Rachel weeping for her children; she refused to be comforted, because they are no more."

In addition to the prophecies fulfilled in Jesus' life and ministry below, note that the above cross reference shows how Jesus also fulfilled prophecies regarding God bestowing his Spirit on the Messiah (cf. The OT Scriptures speak of a coming anointed one of God, who would have God's Spirit on him . . ., p. 482), for the Messiah's work.

Matt 4:12-16 Now when he heard that John had been arrested, he withdrew into Galilee. ¹³And leaving Nazareth he went and lived in Capernaum by the sea, in the territory of Zebulun and Naphtali, ¹⁴so that what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled: ¹⁵"The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles— ¹⁶the people dwelling in darkness have seen a great light, and for those dwelling in the region and shadow of death, on them a light has dawned."

Matt 8:16-17 That evening they brought to him many who were oppressed by demons, and he cast out the spirits with a word and healed all who were sick. ¹⁷This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: "He took our illnesses and bore our diseases."

Matt 11:2-5 Now when John heard in prison about the deeds of the Christ, he sent word by his disciples ³and said to him, "Are you the one who is to come, or shall we look for another?" ⁴And Jesus answered them, "Go and tell John what you hear and see: ⁵the blind receive their sight and the lame walk, lepers^t are cleansed and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and the poor have good news preached to them.

^t Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases; see Leviticus 13

Jesus' reply to the enquiry as to whether he was the promised Christ, alludes to prophecies regarding the work of the Christ – e.g. Isaiah 35:5-6; 61:1 (cf. Luke 4:17-21 ↓) – implying that he was fulfilling them, as the Christ.

Matt 12:14-21 But the Pharisees went out and conspired against him, how to destroy him. ¹⁵Jesus, aware of this, withdrew from there. And many followed him, and he healed them all ¹⁶and ordered them not to make him known. ¹⁷This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: ¹⁸“Behold, my servant whom I have chosen, my beloved with whom my soul is well pleased. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles. ¹⁹He will not quarrel or cry aloud, nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets; ²⁰a bruised reed he will not break, and a smoldering wick he will not quench, until he brings justice to victory; ²¹and in his name the Gentiles will hope.”

Matthew may be meaning that Jesus fulfilled the prophecy (vv. 18-20) in two ways. Firstly, Jesus was not antagonistic and avoided unnecessary confrontation (vv. 14-16); and secondly, he was not loud, even avoiding publicity (v. 16). These aspects of his approach were in accordance with – and in fulfillment of – the quoted prophecy of the messianic servant (vv. 19-20).

Matt 13:34-35 All these things Jesus said to the crowds in parables; indeed, he said nothing to them without a parable. ³⁵This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet:^u “I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter what has been hidden since the foundation of the world.”

^u Some manuscripts Isaiah the prophet

Luke 4:17-21 And the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written, ¹⁸“The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, ¹⁹to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor.” ²⁰And he rolled up the scroll and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him. ²¹And he began to say to them, “Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing.”

Jesus' claim to fulfill the messianic prophecy of one who would be anointed by God with the Holy Spirit to carry out God's messianic work (vv. 18-19) was supported by his proclamation of the good news of God's salvation and in his healing works, whereby he liberated people from various kinds of bondage. The release from sin that Jesus would accomplish was a further aspect of his fulfillment of this prophecy.
